Bargain hunters gear up for citywide garage sale

The city-wide garage sale isn't until May 4 and 5, but the Heart of Oklahoma Chamber of Commerce is already fielding calls from people who want their sale included on the map.

Mandy Davis, chief executive officer at the chamber, said the city is waiving its garage sale permit fee for the annual event.

More than 40 garage sales were registered with the chamber in 2017.

Davis said the chamber will continue to take those calls through Wednesday.

On May 3, the chamber will publish the garage sale map on social media.

In addition, printed copies of the map will be available at Purcell City Hall and the chamber office on Main Street.

Dibble attendees selected

Four Dibble High School students will attend Boys State and Girls State during May and June.

Selected for Boys State are Hunter Corley and Colton Evans.

Girls State participants will be Elizabeth Baker and Alexandria Elledge.

Corley is active in FFA and has won numerous awards showing livestock. He also plays football, basketball and baseball. He spent a week in Germany on a mission trip and will be going to Belgium this summer.

His post-high school plans include attending college and majoring in engineering. He is the son of Richard and Dana Corley.

Evans maintains a 4.0 grade point average and is active in showing livestock and public speaking in FFA. He loves basketball and is active in his church.

Following high school, he wants to major in computer science or engineering. He is the son of Jeff and Stacey Evans.

Baker is active in several organizations, including FFA, leadership and sports. She is very excited at the opportunity to learn more about government and develop her leadership skills. She is the daughter of Jennifer French and Ben Baker.

Elledge earns straight A's and attends the Health Careers Explore Program at Mid-America Technology Center. At Dibble, she is an officer of National Honor Society, Student Council and FCCLA. She is also a member of Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Johnson-O'Malley and National Technical Honor Society.

After graduation, she plans a career as a pediatric registered nurse. She is the daughter of

Keeping an eye out for ants

ODAFF and OSU surveying for unwanted fire ants

In response to the recent wildland fires in Oklahoma, an outpouring of hay donations to help feed the many farm animals is being experienced in the area. This continued outstanding show of support comes from not only Oklahomans, but also friends from across the nation.

During this time, steps need to be taken to prevent any unwanted consequences such as movement of red imported fire ants (RIFA) from restricted areas.

As a result, the Oklahoma Department of Agriculture, Food and Forestry (ODAFF) along with Oklahoma State University Extension will be surveying sites for the red imported fire ant where this hay is stored. This will consist of placing RIFA bait tubes when temperatures are between 65°F and 95°F. This is important because if temperatures are too cold or too hot, the fire ants will not be as active.

In about 40 to 45 days when the wildland fire situation has hopefully settled some and when the weather is more appropriate, ODAFF will hold a public meeting with producers to help educate them about the eradication of fire ants in order to keep the area free of fire ant restrictions.

Under what conditions can baled hay leave the quarantine area without restrictions?

Baled hay that meets any of the requirements below is not regulated and has no movement restrictions:

* For baled hay that is stacked, all bales except the bottom layer that is in direct contact with the ground.

* Hay that is cut, baled, loaded, and shipped without storage.

* Baled hay that is stored on an impervious surface such as hard pan (highly compressed soil), asphalt, concrete, etc.

* Baled hay that is stored elevated above the soil on pallets or tires or stored on landscaping cloth placed over the soil.

As a reminder, stored hay bales not touching the soil are assumed to be free of fire ants.

The red imported fire ant was imported into the USA around the 1930's and has spread to infest more than 260 million acres of land primarily in 11 southeastern states, including all or portions of Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Texas and Oklahoma.

In Texas, the red imported fire ant is thought to have an estimated economic impact of $1.2 billion annually. These fire ants are pests of urban, agricultural and wildlife areas and can pose a serious health threat to plants and animals including humans.

As a result of the impact that the red imported fire ant poses, U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) has established a quarantine.

Under that quarantine, the following are regulated items:

- Imported fire ant queens and reproducing colonies of imported fire ants.

Unforgettable night

I can remember December 31, 2011 like it was yesterday. Young parents John Denny and Emily needed a break from their new addition to the family and had made plans to spend New Years with buddies from college in Dallas.

They had “hired” Gracie and me to take care of the eight month old baby for the weekend.

No problem.

In fact, we were way on board for such duty and had been anticipating the event for several days. Much anticipation.

Everything was pretty much hunky dory as the younger Montgomerys took off for Big D.

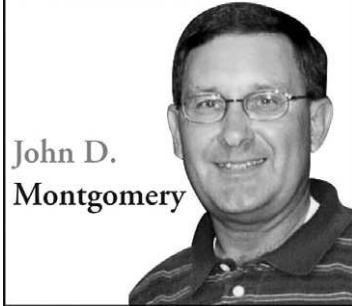

Jack, Gracie and I were playing and having a big time until disaster struck.

You see, there was a very contagious virus curling its way through the town of Purcell.

It would strike on a moments notice. No warning and no prior symptoms but very contagious and would take over your priorities.

There was no way of leaving the confines of your bathroom until the virus ran its course.

Editor's Notebook

John D.
Montgomery

Well, about 4 p.m. with the conversation centering on if we wanted to order pizza for supper, it struck Gracie.

“Oh no,” she said all of a sudden.

She had come down with it and we both knew Jack had to be taken out of our house.

So, Jack and I went to John Denny and Emily’s house up the street so we could be quarantined.

There I was wanting to care for my spouse but knowing the infant needed to be away from the infected grandmother.

That was a long night.

The wind howled from the north creaking every piece of wood in the younger Montgom-ery’s house. I wanted to call to check on Gracie but didn’t want to wake her if she was sleeping.

Also there was this little matter of me taking care of an eight month old all by myself.

I wasn’t schooled in baby sitting as a teen but did help out with our two boys. But this was different. Age had slipped me and my years as a young parent.

All of Jack’s PJs were button ups so every diaper change was challenge. I was afraid to go to sleep in case Jack came down with the virus.

Heck, I didn’t even know the doctor’s number to call if he did get sick.

I had enlisted Bill Moakley next door since he used the same pediatrician for Brady that Emily and John Denny used for Jack.

He even came and sat while Jack slept so I could acquire some Gatorade for Gracie.

All worked out. I wrestled with Jack till he flaked out. Gracie got better by the next day and neither Jack nor I caught the bug.

Jack won’t have any recollection, but I will never forget that night.

NEWS FROM CAPITOL HILL

Addressing Syria

Congressman Tom Cole

For the past 17 years, the United States has been engaged in several military conflicts, primarily, but not exclusively, in the Middle East. Most recently, the United States worked in concert with British and French military forces, allies and NATO, to strike targets in Syria.

This response to Syrian President Bashar al-Assad’s use of chemical weapons was an appropriate use of force well within the bounds of the authorities granted to the President of the United States in Article II of the Constitution.

The strike was conducted in direct support of international laws that have banned the use of chemical weapons since their widespread use during World War I.

However, the Syrian people continue to suffer from violence and Assad’s illegal use of sarin and chlorine gas. In addition to the recent military response, a similar military reprisal was directed by President Trump in April 2017.

At that time, the target was Syria’s Shayrat air base, which was the origin of the sarin nerve agent used by Assad to murder innocent men, women and children of his own people. He has not been deterred.

Bashar al-Assad is an unfit dictator who continues to enjoy the support of both Russia and Iran. Iran’s involvement in Syria has increased in intensity since the conflict began and continues to provide the Syrian government with crucial ground support.

Russia has supported the Syrian regime even though it has guaranteed that Syria’s commitment to get rid of chemical weapons will be met. The most recent choice of targets was carefully made for their connection to the presence of chemical weapons in Syria rather than striking at Assad himself or to diminish Iran’s presence in the country. The United States and its allies were justified in their swift response and delivered a clear message to Russia and Iran for supporting the brutal Assad regime.

Going forward, the United States must link military operations to a definitive strategy that has public support. Secretary of Defense James Mattis has been on record asking for as much and believes our service members that are in harm’s way deserve nothing less than the explicit backing of Congress in furtherance of military operations.

Simply put, Congress must explicitly provide the authority to “declare war” or, in the context of the post 9/11 era, use military force.

Since 2001, the U.S. has engaged terrorists and insur-gencies across the Middle East under an Authorization for the Use of Military Force (AUMF) passed by Congress on Sept. 14, 2001. It granted the President the authority to use all necessary force against nations and terrorist organizations that planned or committed terrorist attacks.

A second AUMF was passed on October 11, 2002, which gave the President additional authority to defend the United States against continuing Iraqi threats and to enforce all relevant United Nations Security Council resolutions relating to Iraq.

However, we cannot keep the American military engaged in conflict in areas outside the original scope of authorities without Congressional debate.

I continue to urge the Congressional Leadership to allow debate on establishing a new AUMF in relation to Syria and other conflict zones around the world.

The President and his military advisors should have maximum flexibility to strategize and confront our adversaries, but Congress should also fulfill a constitutional role when committing our troops to military engagements.

If we seek to put our men and women in uniform in harm’s way, a clear mission must be delivered to them. An AUMF will give them that.

Your Views

Up to the task

Oklahoman Jim Bridenstine was sworn in Monday as the National Aeronautics and Space Administration’s 13th administrator.

Although his nomination and subsequent Senate confirmation were contentious, it’s time to congratulate the former congressman from Oklahoma’s 1st District and see what he can do.

Unlike his predecessors, Bridenstine was confirmed April 19 by the narrowest possible margin, 50-49, and that only after Arizona Republican Jeff Flake switched his vote to affirmative and Illinois Democrat Tammy Duckworth – who felt strongly enough that she wheeled her 10-day-old baby onto the Senate floor – put in a last-minute opposition vote.

Many who opposed Bridenstine’s appointment argued that the NASA administrator should be a space professional rather than a politician. His predecessor, Charles Bolden, was a space shuttle pilot with four flights covering more than 28 days in space to his credit and a U.S. Marine Corps major general. Bolden’s predecessor, Michael Griffin, holds seven academic degrees, including a BA in physics, an engineering MS in aerospace science, and a Ph.D. in aerospace engineering. He worked in NASA’s Applied Physics Lab and the Strategic Defense Initiative Organization, and was the associate administrator for exploration. Dan Goldin spent 25 years in the space industry before he was appointed to head NASA in 1992.

Sean O’Keefe, who ran NASA from 2001-2004, was not a space professional when he was appointed. He had been comptroller of the Department of Defense, secretary of the Navy, and, for the first year of George W. Bush’s presidency, deputy director, Office of Management and Budget. His reputation rested on fiscal responsibility and a knack for reducing costs. Although his NASA tenure was troubled – the space shuttle Columbia accident and ensuing investigation were on his watch – his competency in the lead role was never questioned.

Bridenstine takes the helm with degrees from Rice and Cornell, a nine-year active-duty run as a Navy fighter pilot, five as a reserve and three with the Air National Guard. He also has six years of experience on Capitol Hill. That makes him at least as well qualified as O’Keefe and likely better able to navigate the politics of space exploration.

Bridenstine is now a space professional with a huge project looming in the manned Orion spacecraft set to launch atop a new class of rocket in just three to five years. There’s no evidence to suggest he isn’t up to the task.

The tale of Bullet and Nathan

Way back when we dwelled among the Texans, Brice came home with two little hamsters.

They were gifts from a fourth-grade friend whose female hamster had provided him with a surplus of babies.

(I pause briefly to ask:

Baby cats are called kittens, baby turkeys are called poults, baby possums are called disgusting. What are baby hamsters called?)

Brice claimed one of the hamsters as his own and named it Bullet, reflecting the optimism that only fourth graders can have.

The other he gave to Britany. A second-grader, she named hers Nathan.

The hamsters turned out to be more entertaining than I thought they would.

We bought a cage with a couple of plastic tunnels and a large wire wheel. They would scurry through the tunnels, stuff food into their cheeks until they stretched, run for hours on the wheel and generally be pretty cute.

We bought a couple of hamster balls and let them roll around the house.

One day, someone left the lid off the cage and the two hamsters got out.

We retrieved Bullet quickly. As I recall, he trapped himself in the bath tub and tried to scramble up the shower curtain when Dianna reached in to turn on the water.

Nathan, though, was elusive.

A few days went by without sightings and I had given him up for dead. Then one night, I was walking down the hall and peripherally saw a little ball of fur scurry under the dining room hutch.

Nathan!

The hutch had cutouts on the bottom and I was able to reach under and grab him.

As I announced, perhaps too loudly, that I had captured Nathan, he bit my finger and I dropped him.

He hit the floor pretty hard and didn’t move immediately, so I scooped him up and - oh, no!

What is this red froth on his mouth?

Blood from internal injuries?

Had I killed Nathan?

This would be most distressing to Britany, who had just come from her room to see.

It was then that Nathan harked a small oval tablet out of his cheek pouch.

It still had a reddish tint, the faintest smell of chocolate and the outline of a letter.

The letter M, in a typeface often seen on candy wrappers. A red M&M, scavenged from who knows where.

MOVIES WITH DAVE

By David Stull

It's the calm before the storm. Every movie for the past month has been trying to avoid the film releasing this upcoming weekend like their box office life depends on it.

Frankly, I can't say I blame them. I'd avoid releasing the same day as an "Avengers" film too if I were in their position.

But more on that next week. There's still new movies to talk about, two of which happen to be comedies.

So no sense waiting around, let's get right to it.

When a border dispute between the United States and Canada arises, the Super Troopers are called in to set up a new Highway Patrol station in the area. Unconventional police work and wacky hijinks ensue.

Now this is a sequel that's been a long time coming.

It's been a little over 16 years since the original "Super Troopers" was released. Over the years it's become a highly quoted, cult classic comedy. Or at least it has in some circles.

From what I can find, it seems like another installment of the series has been in the works for over a decade.

Fast forward to 2015 and the comedy troupe behind "Super Troopers" finally struck a deal with Fox Searchlight to distribute a long awaited sequel, but only if the group managed to raise $2 million themselves.

So they decided to turn to the fans and started a crowdfunding campaign. They had hoped to hit their monstrous goal of $2 million in 30 days time. That in itself would have been no small feat.

It only took them 26 hours. In the end the campaign raised $4.7 million, making it one of the most successful crowdfunding operations of all time.

So with that kind of crazy outpouring from fans, how did the final product end up turning out?

Well, I guess it wasn't the worst comedy I've ever seen at least.

In a lot of ways it feels exactly like the original. Maybe a little too much in fact.

A large amount of the comedy and even entire sections of the story feel like a complete rehash of the first one.

Instead of a fierce rivalry with a local police force like in the original, this time it's a fierce rivalry with the local Canadian Mounties.

Honestly, it felt kind of strange. The way the story played out almost seemed old fashioned. Like a late 90s/early 2000s comedy.

I guess they were going for the exact same vibe of the original.

I'm sure plenty of people will feel nostalgic for a comedy like this, including many old "Super Troopers" fans, but to me all these tired tropes and old quirks just made the film feel dated.

All that said though, the overall plot was never the strongest aspect of these kind of comedies. For the most part, the narrative here is just a vague framework for wild antics to take place.

And this movie certainly does have a wealth of antics.

Like the original, there's plenty of slapstick to go around, plus there are more puns than you can shake a stick at.

There's also a ton of callbacks to gags from the first one, including pulling over unsuspecting motorists and playing a variety of pranks on them.

And I'm not going to lie, I thought it was all pretty funny, at least for the most part.

Sure, not every joke was a hit, but there were still a fair amount of laugh out loud moments sprinkled throughout the film.

It's not exactly high brow humor though. This is definitely one movie where your brain is best left turned off.

Overall I'd say there's enough fun here to keep fans of the original happy. It's not groundbreaking comedy, but it's not trying to be either.

Plus the cast is just as charming as they were over a decade and a half ago.

Either way I thought it was a pretty fun experience.

People looking for a smart comedy should look elsewhere though.

"Super Troopers 2" is rated R.

Next is "Traffik."

Hoping to enjoy a romantic weekend together, Brea (Paula Patton) and John (Omar Epps) travel to a friend's lavish estate deep in the mountains.

Along the way, the couple becomes the target of a cutthroat biker gang and unknowingly stumble upon a terrible secret.

Alone and without cell signal, Brea and John are forced to fight for their lives against the gang who will stop at nothing to keep their horrible dealings hidden.

It feels like there's two separate films smushed together into one here.

The first half is an uninteresting romance between two bland leads who, throughout this weekend, can't manage to get a single moment of alone time without being harrassed by well meaning friends or unfriendly bikers.

The second half is a poorly executed horror movie with our previously mentioned bland leads fighting for their lives against a secret cabal of human traffickers.

This film is so tonally mismatched it almost feels cartoony at times.

I know the director wanted to shine a spotlight on the terrifying reality of human trafficking, a noble effort to be sure, but I just couldn't take his film seriously.

I think I disliked just about every single character in the film.

Our leads are more annoying than endearing. And when they're not being annoying they're just plain boring.

Frankly I couldn't care less what happened to them. They just weren't compelling to me in the slightest.

But bland main characters is just the beginning. It's the villains that really ruin this movie.

Frankly they feel like bad guys from a Saturday morning cartoon. Totally over-the-top and completely incompetent.

If you're trying to tackle a hard hitting subject like human trafficking in a serious manner, making the human traffickers seem real and threatening is more important than anything else.

Sadly the bad guys here just aren't realistic enough to take seriously.

All that and I haven't even gotten to my least favorite part of the movie. Nope, that would be the camera work.

It's like the cinematographer was drunk when he shot this. The framing seemed almost random at times.

They even filmed one scene upside down. Why? Who knows. It didn't transition into anything clever and it certainly didn't give the audience an interesting perspective on the moment. It was just upside down for no reason.

And then there's the slow-mo.

It's like the director thinks that adding slow-motion to a scene makes it instantly dramatic. Why do I think this? Because just about every other scene is shown in slow-motion.

This isn't 1999 and you aren't filming "The Matrix." For heaven's sake, cut it out. Save the slow-mo for the major scenes. Don't waste it by using it every five minutes.

I know the director meant well by making this film, but I really can't recommend his movie to anyone.

"Traffik" is rated R.

Last this week is "I Feel Pretty."

Renee Bennett (Amy Schumer), a woman who struggles every day with feelings of deep insecurity and low self-esteem due to her appearance, suddenly wakes up from a fall believing she's been granted the looks of a supermodel.

Suddenly filled with confidence thanks to her new perceived appearance, Renee is empowered to live her life fearlessly, but what will happen when she realizes her looks never changed?

My goodness was this a painful movie to sit through.

Let my start by saying I don't hate Amy Schumer. I thought she was pretty funny in 2015's "Trainwreck." Sure, her comedy might be fairly hit or miss for me, but I have enjoyed her work in the past.

That said, I frankly despise the character she plays here.

Renee Bennett is the most vapid, self-obsessed, shallow person I've seen in quite a while.

That's how she is before hitting her head and she's the same way after.

Everything to her is all about looks.

Sure, at the very end of the film she has a realization about confidence being more importance than beauty, but we hardly get a chance to know this changed Renee.

We spend over an hour and a half with what is essentially a clumsy version of the evil queen from "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

We have to wait until the end, and I'm saying the very end, like the last five minutes of the film, for her to finally have a change of heart.

Up until then, her looks are all that matters to her.

It just doesn't feel earned.

It'd be like if the entire story of "A Christmas Carol" was about Scrooge obsessing over money and enjoying in the benefits of being rich. Then on the very last page he has a sudden realization making him have a change of heart, and the story ends with Scrooge giving a feel good speech about the meaning of Christmas.

Sure, it might be a great speech with a really a good, heartfelt message, but it would hardly feel earned.

Honestly I have more sympathy for Michelle Williams's character, who plays Renee's boss. I cared much more about her struggles as an out-of-touch CEO, at least compared to vain obsessions of Renee.

And all that's just Schumer's character. I've barely touched the actual comedy.

I hope you like uncomfortable, cringe inducing humor, because this movie is loaded with it.

The run is Saturday, May 5, at 7 a.m. at Purcell Lake. To register go to thedriven.net and find the Keeler Run For A Cure event.

Here's a great dessert recipe.

Lemon Crumb Cake

1 cup butter, softened, divided
2-1/2 cups flour, divided
3 oz. pkg. Jell-O Lemon Flavor Gelatin

1/4 cup packed brown sugar
1 tsp. baking powder
1/4 tsp. baking soda
3/4 cup granulated sugar
3 eggs
2/3 cup sour cream
2 tsp. lemon zest

Heat oven to 350°.

Melt 1/2 cup butter. Mix 1-1/4 cups flour, dry gelatin mix and brown sugar in medium bowl until blended. Stir in melted butter; set aside.

Mix remaining flour, baking powder and baking soda until blended.

Beat remaining butter and granulated sugar in large bowl with mixer until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Blend in sour cream and lemon zest. Gradually beat in baking powder mixture.

Spoon into 9-inch round pan sprayed with cooking spray; top with gelatin mixture.

Bake 40 to 45 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool completely.

Purcell Senior Citizens

By Fredda Perry

It is still cool but we did get much needed rain and the sun has come out during the day. The weatherman is predicting more rain and I am sure he is right since the Arts Festival is this week in Oklahoma City. Like the Oklahoma State Fair, the Arts Festival brings rain.

The number of meals served is becoming more consistent each day. We are averaging between 40 and 50 meals served per day. As long as we keep close to this number, our center will not be in danger closing.

Anyone 60 or older is invited to visit the center where there is always something cooking and plenty of activities. Individuals under 60 are welcome to visit the center. The only difference is meals for people 60 and over are $2 and $5.85 for those under 60. This is set by ASCOG, a state entity which governs all senior citizen centers. Remember, if you plan to eat lunch at the center, you will need to call the kitchen at 527-9462 the day before or by 8 a.m. the day you plan to eat.

Activities are continuing on a regular schedule. The seniors have especially enjoyed the exercise class held Monday, Wednesday and Friday and walking on Tuesday and Thursday. We have seen a difference in some of the ladies since we started the exercise class.

The senior garage sale for this week will be Thursday, April 26, and Friday, April 27, starting at 8 a.m. and lasting until 3 p.m. We have several eight foot tables and two good White sewing machines. Come by and check it out. Please do not leave donations on the patio without calling Hester at 990-1840.

Thursday is bingo day every week. Bingo starts promptly at 10 a.m. Everyone needs to be in their chair at 10 a.m. so the games can begin on time. Everyone is a winner before we are finished. We have been having a full house each week. Thursday morning is an exciting time at the center as we usually have new people.

If you know someone who needs help with their noon meal at their home, call the Delta Nutrition Center at 527-9462 and ask for John, the site manager. Once an application has been submitted, the site manager will do an evaluation and if you meet the criteria, meals will begin being delivered to your home.

Need a place to have a special event? The center is available for $70 a day. If you're interested call 527-5070 and ask for Fredda or Hester. Call early so you can get the date you want.

Menu for the week of April 30-May 4:

Monday—Taco salad with taco meat, beans and cheese garnish, green salad, corn, corn chips, dessert.

Tuesday—Baked chicken, herb boiled potatoes, spinach, rolls, applesauce.

Wednesday—Fish sandwich, fish filet with cheese slice, baked beans, oven fried okra, mixed fruit salad.

Thursday—Chicken and dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, capri blend veggies, sweet potato dessert.

Friday—Closed.

Thought for the Week: What happens after always counts more than what happens before.

Lexington Community News

By Hazel Shockey Daniels

The Lexington Senior Citizen meal program is going strong. Every day we look forward to seeing a lot more of our neighbors coming in to enjoy the good food and friendship.

This community service began when the bridge was down for about a year. Watch for the menu in The Purcell Register and hard copies will be available at the desk in the Center.

We are thankful to Loving Care for looking out for our blood pressure and blood sugar levels once a month. The exercise program is available to senior adults free of charge and you can call Sue Peery or ask at the Center for this information.

Invite your friends to go the center in Lexington, and just tell them to find out for themselves if the food is as good as everyone says.

Lunch is served from 11 a.m.-12:30 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday for a $6 donation. To-go orders are $7. The lunch is open to the public and home cooked and served by the volunteers at Lexington Community Center, 131 S. Main.

All menus are subject to change.

Menu for April 26, May 2 and 3:

Thursday, April 26—Hamburger steak with onions, mashed potatoes with gravy, fried okra, cabbage, rolls, salad, banana pudding.

Wednesday, May 2—Meatloaf, fried potatoes, peas and carrots, fried okra, rolls, salad bar, strawberry cake.

Thursday, May 3—Fried chicken, mashed potatoes and gravy, green beans, corn, rolls, salad bar, bread pudding.

Obituaries

Cleveland “Matt” Mattingly Jr.

Funeral Services for Cleveland “Matt” Mattingly, Jr., 89, of Washington will be held at 10 a.m. Friday, April 27, 2018 at the First Baptist Church, Washington, Okla. Interment will be at the Washington Cemetery under the direction of the Wilson-Little Funeral Home in Purcell.

Mr. Mattingly passed away Monday, April 23, 2018 in Purcell.

Matt was born on February 22, 1929 in Maysville, Okla. He was the youngest of five children born to Cleve Land Mattingly and Lydia Kathryn (Franks) Mattingly.

Matt grew up in the Arnoldview community, southwest of Purcell where he attended school until the eighth grade. He then attended high school at Wayne, graduating with the class of 1947.

On August 6, 1953, in Purcell, Matt married the love of his life, Peggy Jean Maynard. Together Matt and Peggy raised five children, Johnny, Mark, Patricia, Tim and Stephen.

Matt joined the U. S. Army in 1948 and proudly served his country for 21 years. He first was trained as a military policeman and later transitioned to the Army Security Agency. During his 21 years in the service he lived three years in Germany, Japan three years, Massachusetts, Oklahoma and several other states.

After retiring in 1969, Matt moved his family to Washington, Okla., and began his second career in the heating and air conditioning industry. After attending Sooner Trade School in Oklahoma City, he worked four years for Gordon’s Heat and Air. Then in 1974 he went to work for the State of Oklahoma and worked at the Lexington Inmate Training Center until he retired. After retiring from the State, Matt worked many years for himself in the heat and air business.

Matt was a faithful Christian man and was ordained as a Deacon into the Baptist Church in 1965. For the past 49 years he has been a member and served as a Deacon at Washington First Baptist Church. Throughout his life, Matt enjoyed fishing, but most of all he enjoyed watching grandkids and keeping up with all of their activities.

He is preceded in death by his parents, Cleve and Lydia Mattingly; two brothers, Lev and Pete Mattingly; one sister, Mary Vieux; one infant sister, Opal Mattingly and one great-granddaughter, Willow Boggs.

He is survived by his wife, Peggy of the home; five children, Johnny Mattingly and wife, Holly, of Purcell, Mark Mattingly and wife, Beverly, of Elgin, Patricia Delich and husband, Mark, of Lansing, Kan., Tim Mattingly and wife, Shelley, of Noble, and Stephen Mattingly and wife, Heidi, of Gladstone, Mo.; 14 grandchildren; 12 great-grandchildren; many nieces, nephews and many other loving relatives and friends.

You may send online condolences to the family at wilsonlittle.com.

Gladys Marie Sawyer

Memorial Services for Gladys Marie Sawyer, 92, of Moore, formerly of Lexington and Purcell, were held Wednesday, April 25, 2018 at the Wilson-Little Funeral Home Chapel. Services will be under the direction of the Wilson-Little Funeral Home in Purcell.

Mrs. Sawyer passed away Wednesday, April 18, 2018, at the Norman Regional Healthplex.

Gladys was born to George and Emma (Pierce) Mills on October 8, 1925 in Oklahoma City and was an only child. Gladys was raised in Oklahoma City and graduated high school in 1943 from Capitol Hill.

She married Glen Robert Sawyer. They had four children, sons, David and Glen Jr., and daughters, Susan and Jeriann. Gladys worked at a variety of jobs, some of which included Southwestern Bell, Oklahoma Hardware, TG&Y and the Oklahoma Tax Commission, before retiring from Walmart in 2014.

She dearly loved her children and her grandchildren: Kirk Henderson, Kara Meyer, Chad Pearson, Jennifer Pearson and her great-grandchildren: Kara and Audrey. Known to countless many, she was affectionately called “Grandma” around the Lexington and Purcell area.

She will forever be remembered for being unapologetically herself, unafraid and indifferent to being unliked by some. She was also known for her infectious smile and her outstanding independence and orneriness. She loved fiercely and was greatly loved by all who knew her.

She was preceded in death by her son, David Sawyer; her husband, Glen Robert Sawyer and her parents, George and Emma Mills.

Gladys is survived by her daughters, Susan Pearson of Moore and Jeriann Henderson of Bartlesville, Okla.; son, Glen Sawyer of Sacramento, Calif.; daughter-in-law, Marge Sawyer; four grandchildren, Chad Pearson and fiancé, Shawna Marvel, Jennifer Pearson and boyfriend, Riley Pierce, Kirk Henderson and wife, Sandy Henderson, and Kara Meyer and husband, Joe Meyer; two great-grandchildren, Kara and Audrey, with another on the way, as well as a host of other family and friends.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to the American Cancer Society or to the Cleveland County Habitat for Humanity.

USDA adjusts disaster assistance to help Oklahoma producers

Oklahoma producers who planted wheat after the final planting date in October for the Livestock Forage Disaster Program (LFP) may still be eligible this year for payments at a reduced rate.

As one of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's disaster assistance programs, LFP provides compensation to eligible livestock producers who have suffered grazing losses because of drought or fire.

USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA) also moved the 2019 final planting date to October 15 for Oklahoma producers, which was formerly October 1 or October 10, depending on the county in Oklahoma. Bill Northey, USDA's Under Secretary for Farm Production and Conservation, made the announcement from Leedey, Okla., where he met with producers impacted by natural disasters.

"Prolonged severe drought and wildfires have impacted the availability of adequate forage and water sources for livestock and, in some cases, impacted 2018 cropping decisions for many ranchers and farmers," Northey said. "USDA offers several disaster programs intended to provide relief to producers affected by severe weather conditions, and we want to make it easy for producers to use these tools to recover."

While the final planting date for the 2018 crop year will not change, county committees in Oklahoma are now authorized to adjust livestock carrying capacity under LFP for late-planted wheat, which is similar to the process used under the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP).

Beginning next year, Oklahoma producers will be allowed to plant small seeded grains for forage like wheat later in the fall and still be eligible for payments under the Livestock Forage Disaster Program (LFP).

Oklahoma producers interested in LFP or other USDA disaster assistance programs should contact their local USDA service center: <https://www.fsa.usda.gov/ok>.

Dave:

Just about every scene is just people dealing with Renee's delusion. It's downright unpleasant to sit through and sadly it makes up the large majority of this film's comedy. If it was possible to die from second hand embarrassment, I would have been six feet under within the first 15 minutes. Like I said at the beginning, this film was a painful to watch. At least it was for me. In my theater there seemed to be quite a few woman in the audience who found Schumer's antics entertaining. I suppose like most comedies your mileage will vary. Frankly, I had an awful time, but if you really enjoy Schumer's work you might at least enjoy parts of this film. It's certainly nothing I'd want to experience ever again though. "I Feel Pretty" is rated PG-13.

Sponsoring the horseshoe tournament is Sooner Heat and Air.

And who better to sponsor a car show, always a popular attraction at '89-er Day, than Patriot Ford?

Tri-State Gunfighters from Wagoner are returning to Lexington with thrilling re-enactments.

Those performances are sponsored by Mid-State Housing and Lexington Nursing Home.

There will also be a quilt show, according to Mandy Davis, chief executive officer with the Heart of Oklahoma Chamber of Commerce.

Davis said a new carnival, Sam's Amusements, is coming to town for the annual festival.

Saturday's weather forecast calls for clear skies and 72 degrees, with just a hint of a southerly breeze.

Claunch:

those '89-ers were poised to lay claim to homesteads and town lots on some 2 million prairie acres.

There was no parade, no carnival and if there were gunfights, the bullets were real and the participants weren't play acting.

In short, there's little resemblance between the '89-er of 1889 and the '89-er Day participant of 2018.

According to the Oklahoma Historical Society, the largest numbers of would-be settlers were camped in the Kansas border towns, primarily Arkansas City and Caldwell.

Others waited at the south boundary at Purcell in the Chickasaw Nation.

April 22, 1889, was a Monday, the day after Easter.

It was a bright and clear day and some 50,000 people surrounded the Unassigned Lands, waiting for the noon signal.

Seventy-six of that number waited on horseback at Ingram Crossing near Wayne. The only woman in the group was 24-year-old Emma Claunch, a school teacher at Wayne.

The crossing was known to be narrow and deep. Years later, she recalled the day's events in a Hugo newspaper article.

"Some of the horses went out of sight," she said, "but mine swam shallow. I was not afraid anyway and I didn't hurry, for I knew I couldn't crowd my horse in water."

The South Canadian River safely crossed, Emma raced her horse four miles to stake a quarter section east of what is now Lexington.

She ran up her flag on the land, then rested two hours until surveyors from Purcell arrived and platted the homestead.

Early the next morning, Emma returned to her land accompanied by a man with a team. The man plowed a small area, enough to make a showing.

Emma helped to build a one-room shack to serve as a home.

On April 24, Emma traveled to Guthrie to file on her land. The line of like-minded settlers, all male, stretched more than 300 feet in front of her.

Emma accepted the assistance of a lawyer and paid a $5 fee and by virtue of her gender moved to the head of the line.

The next day, she returned to her homestead to find it occupied by a squatter.

It took four years and every cent she could raise to fight his claim to her land. The case went all the way to the Supreme Court where Emma finally prevailed.

Emma lived on her land with her parents, two younger brothers and a sister until she married M.E. Stull 10 years to the day after she made the run.

The newlyweds bought land adjoining the original homestead and lived there until their three children were born.

In 1922, they moved to Hugo where they invested in property.

"I'm like the wandering Jew who wants to get back to Jerusalem," she said. "I want to go back to my homestead. For anyone who goes through with all the trials and hardships as I did to get something, one can't help but love it."

Ball:

Ball twice struck the victim's face with his closed fist. When the woman attempted to call 911 on her cell phone, Ball reportedly took the phone before she could complete the call.

The victim told investigators that Ball threatened to cause her more pain if she did anything. When she asked Ball to let her go, he reportedly told her to jump out.

When they reached Moore, Ball exited the interstate and pulled into an abandoned lot. There he attempted to persuade the victim into rekindling their relationship. The woman told police she agreed, knowing that was her only way of returning to Purcell.

They returned to Purcell where Ball dropped her off at a convenience store around 5:30 p.m.

The victim told police Ball had been physically violent with her in the past, but she never reported those incidents.

On Monday, the victim was granted an emergency order of protection against Ball.

Police report Ball is believed to be driving a 1999 Green Toyota Camry four door with Oklahoma license DYY804.

"Ball has connections in Texas and may be en route there," police report. "He has a violent history and may be armed. Do not approach the suspect but call 911."

Wreck:

the driver, Lindsey Posey, 33, of Noble, were both taken by ambulance to OU Medical Center where they were treated and released.

A fifth passenger, a 12-year-old boy, wasn't injured.

According to Oklahoma Highway Patrol Trooper Shayne Ballard, Posey was driving a 1999 Dodge Durango southbound and was near mile marker 89 when the vehicle had a tire failure.

The SUV ran off the road to the right, hitting a concrete culvert.

It overturned an unknown number of times before coming to rest on its top.

The single vehicle wreck occurred shortly before 4 p.m.

It isn't known if the occupants were wearing seat belts. Assisting Ballard at the scene were Troopers Aaron Nickel, Jeff Cummings and Craig Ellis and the Purcell police and fire departments.

Swayze breaks school record

Breaks her own mark in meet last week in Ardmore

Cold and windy conditions at Ardmore on Friday didn't hinder Purcell's athletes from performing at a high level.

Haylee Swayze broke her own school record in the 400 meter dash, clocking a 56.75 that shattered her old standard of 57.56.

The 1600 meter relay quartet of Chelsea Spain, Liz Caralampio, Kora Keith and Swayze missed the school record by .85, recording a time of 4:04.85.

"I couldn't be more pleased with the way our ladies competed and the times they posted.

"Cold and windy are horrible conditions for doing anything outside, much less running in a track meet," head coach Greg Dillard said.

Purcell pins 7-5 loss on Warriors in finals

John D. Montgomery
The Purcell Register

Thanks to a three run fifth inning and clutch pitching, Purcell held off Washington for the title in the 30th annual Heart of Oklahoma Tournament last Friday.

Washington drew first blood in the finals last Friday and eventually led three to zip before Purcell got on the board with two runs in the bottom of the second.

The Dragons pushed across a single run in both the third and fourth frames before the back breaking fifth inning.

Fernando Auz's solo home run in the third knotted the contest at three all.

In the bottom of the fifth, Auz, Gunner Fink and Cooper Frankenberg all scored for the Dragons.

That pushed the Dragon advantage to 7-3.

The Warriors tallied twice in the sixth to narrow the gap but were unable to score again.

"The game had a playoff type atmosphere feel," Purcell Head Coach Cole Sharp said.

"This is why you play the game," Sharp continued. "It was the most people I have ever seen at a baseball game in Purcell. It was fun to be a part of."

Ethan Wayland got the start on the mound for the Dragons and went five innings of two-hit ball while striking out 11 Warriors.

"I thought Ethan calmed himself down after the first two innings giving up the three runs," Sharp said. He refocused, attacked the zone and really challenged the hitters the next three innings."

have played in Washington this season.

Brewer said Class 4A is a deep class this season with any number of teams who can play at a high level.

"It's pretty wide open with teams 4-13," he said.

Brewer said his team performed as expected in the District tournament when they dispatched CCS and Hennessey.

They defeated CCS 18-3 in the first game.

They then spanked Hennessey 12-0 and 12-0 in their double header.

"We took care of business and that was the key," Brewer said.

He said Maddie Brown had a great tournament for the Warriors.

"Maddie Brown is the best gamer we have," Brewer said.

"She hits with intent and plays defense with intent. The others can do it when they want to but she always does it. She is up there with some of my best competitors I've coached."

Brown is hitting around .650 for the year.

"If you're in the mid to upper .600s you're pretty special," Brewer said.

"She's having the best year of anyone I've seen in slow pitch."

Brewer said Jillian Willige has been solid this year.

"She leads us in hits with about 80," Brewer said. "She plays her game and resets the offense for us."

The coach said Hope Maden has 70 hits this season.

Brewer also pointed to the play of a couple of freshmen for part of his team's success this year.

"Kinzie Schultz and Emma Curry have stepped up as of late."

Brewer said for Regionals he'll put senior Hanna Brown back in the leadoff spot.

"I'm moving her back to one hole," Brewer said.

"We're doing well. I'm proud of this team and the adversity we've overcome. The seniors need to enjoy it."

The seniors on the team are Maddie Brown, Hanna Brown and Callie Pratt.

"Callie Pratt is a jack of all trades. I call on her to do everything from pinch run to play in the field," Brewer said.

"We're where we want to be, we're playing for something."

The Warriors are 25-15 this season.

"Jake threw well for us. He went six good innings, but we can't have those errors and mistakes in the District tournament," said Sharp.

Junior Rodney Gray led the team at the plate, going 3-4 with an RBI.

Bryer Norman, Cooper Chick and Brazell each added two hits.

Game two of Districts was a 12-2 loss to Elmore City that ended the Bulldogs' season.

Skipper Sharp said that the game wasn't going right for them and when he pulled Gray after three innings, the wheels fell off and Elmore City pulled away.

"I'm proud of these kids. They battled all year. I couldn't ask for a better group to coach," said Sharp.

Brazell and Gray had the only two hits of the game.

Monday night the Bulldogs snagged a 16-14 win over Central Marlow, their tenth of the season.

"This was a crazy game," said Sharp.

Wayne got up 6-5 in the third, then the Bronchos went on a run and held a 13-6 lead.

Then, the bats came alive for Wayne as they scored 10 runs in the final two innings to seal the win.

"This was a good win for us. The kids never gave up. We set a goal during the season to get 10 wins and I'm proud of them for working hard to achieve that goal," said Sharp.

Gray had a monster game at the plate, going 4-4 with a grand slam and seven RBIs.

Brazell was prolific, too, adding three hits and two RBIs. Chick was 2-3 with an RBI.

The Purcell girls golf team took the Regional championship Tuesday at Brent Bruehl Memorial Golf Course.

The team posted 330 to take the win.

ShaeBug Scarberry won the tournament with a three-under par 68.

Jade McCurdy shot 79, Lexie Longley shot 99, Alicia Baker shot 84 and Anoli Billy shot 101.

Marlow shot 356 to take second place.

The win comes on the heels of Purcell's second place finish at Duncan last Thursday.

The team shot 379 in that tournament, which was played at the Duncan Country Club.

Duncan won the tournament with a team 334.

They had two of the top five finishers and four of the top 10. Scarberry was the individual winner after she shot 74.

McCurdy shot 84, Baker shot 104 and Billy shot 117.

The State Golf Tournament this year will be held at Westwood Golf Course in Norman May 2-3.

End of season, end of an era

Season ends at hands of Wynnewood, Soper

Emily Montgomery
The Purcell Register

In his final season, head coach Scott Brewer and the Wayne Lady Bulldogs bowed out with losses at the hands of Wynnewood, 13-1, and Soper, 20-4, in District play.

The Lady Savages got out in front, scoring all thirteen runs in the first four innings. Wayne scratched their lone run in the third.

"We could not score. And, you can't score when you don't get hits," said Brewer.

The Lady Bulldogs had seven hits in the loss. Contributors were Morgan Posey, Bailey Kennedy and Hannah Wissinger.

In game two, Wayne was matched up with Soper, the number six team in 3A.

Wayne started the game with three runs, but the Lady Bears' bats were red hot as they scored 12 runs in the bottom of the first to take a lead they wouldn't relinquish.

Wayne scored one more, but Soper answered with eight in the fourth to put the game away for a 20-4 win and ending the Wayne slow-pitch season.

"I appreciate the parents who sent food and drinks and made the three hour drive to support us at Districts," Brewer said.

Kynzee Johnson, Paige Hunt, Posey and Wissinger all had multiple hits in the loss.

Earlier in the week, Wayne traveled to Maysville Monday and came away with a 9-5 victory.

The Lady Warriors held a 4-3 advantage after three innings of play, but Wayne knocked in three runners in the fourth, two in the sixth and one more in the seventh to seal the win.

Johnson led the Lady Bulldogs at the plate, cracking the bat for four hits.

"Hannah had a great defensive game. She had eight chances in the field, with no errors," Brewer said.

In their final regular season game, Wayne hosted Stratford where they fell to the Lady Bulldogs 10-0.

Allie Walck, Morgan Knapp, Posey and Wissinger all had hits in the loss.

The Wayne Lady Bulldogs ended their season with a 6-17 record.

Four seniors, Hannah Wissinger, Gracie Sweetman, Shelby Miller and Madysen Jenks, will be lost to graduation.

With the end of the season, comes the end of an era as Brewer hangs up his coaching hat.

"It's been a great run for me at Wayne. I appreciate the players, administration and coaches for all of their support."

'Dawgs:

run on two walks, an error, and a wild pitch.

But, Lexington responded with three runs in the bottom of the fourth, thanks to four Racer errors and a hit batter.

Lex scored three more in the top of the fifth - highlighted by second baseman Drake Wells' two-run double - to bring the score to 7-6.

Newcastle scored once more in the bottom of the fifth before the game was called due to time constraints (much to the chagrin of the Lexington faithful.)

Seth Comer was 2-for-2 against Newcastle. Caden Jones was 1-for-3 with an RBI while Andre Ibarra had a key hit against Newcastle.

Later in the day, the 'Dawgs dropped a tough 17-16 decision to the Bridge Creek Bobcats.

Lexington head coach Jarod Ennis said his team blew a six-run lead in the fourth inning and an eight-run advantage in the fifth.

Hunter Findley went 3-for-3 with two RBIs against the Bobcats. Jones was 2-for-2 with two ribbies.

Ibarra had two hits and three RBIs and Colton Penner had two hits (including a home run) and three ribbies. Wells cracked a grand slam homer in the festivities.

The 'Dawgs might be just 9-11 now at this point. But, Ennis is still enthused about his team's chances of doing some damage in the post-season.

"I feel good about our chances in the playoffs," Ennis said.

"If we can just limit our mistakes and errors, we would be fine. We get good pitching from our guys. We can put runs on the board. When we put it all together, we can compete with anybody."

Lexington's road through the playoffs begins with a matchup against the Class 3A No. 11 Washington Warriors (16-10) at 4:30 p.m. today (April 26) at Washington. As a tune-up, the 'Dawgs were set to host Konawa for their Senior Night on Tuesday afternoon.

"Washington is going to be tough," Ennis said. "They come to play and we'll have to be on top of our game to beat them."

Retiring the runner

Hannah Buchanan catches the ball from Khia Tyler to retire McLoud runner Lexie Boyer in the District softball tournament. Purcell lost to McLoud 20-5, ending the Dragons' season.

From page 1B

Dragons:

After Wayland lost his control, sophomore Jeremy Cudd came in to relieve the senior with the bases loaded, no outs and the game on the line.

"Jeremy has been handling some arm issues throughout the year and has been fighting some control problems," Sharp said. "He hasn't been able to throw a great number of innings but I had all the confidence in him. Otherwise, I would not have put him in the spot."

Cudd faced the heart of the Warrior order with the 2, 3 and 4 hole hitters up with the bases juiced.

Cudd struck out the side. The southpaw eventually recorded the final out in the seventh inning on a strike out. He retired two batters with runners in scoring position in the seventh and recorded the last six outs, five by strike out.

"He did a great job of competing by attacking the zone," Sharp said. "Also, I give catcher Fernando Auz a lot of credit. He is a bulldog back there blocking pitches in the dirt and not allowing any runs in these situations.

Auz was 2-2 with the home run. His other hit was a double off the wall in dead center field.

Wayland helped his own cause going 3-4. Nick Albright was 2-3 with a pair of RBIs and Waylon Steiner was 2-3 with an RBI.

After a blowout run-rule victory over Bridge Creek in the opening round, 17-2, the Dragons ran into tougher opponents.

Albright led the offense with a 3-3 performance against the Bobcats and scored three times. He also had three RBIs.

The semifinals had a toe-to-toe dogfight with Newcastle, eventually prevailing 5-4 on a walk off single by Wayland.

The Dragons trailed 4-3 heading into the bottom of the seventh. Zack Barnes was hit by a pitch to reach first. He was sacrificed over to second by Auz and knocked in by Brendan Farris to knot the score.

That set the table for Wayland's single to center, plating Steiner.

Cauy Hollis got the start on the bump and went six innings, scattering four hits and giving up three runs while striking out three.

Wayland came in to relieve in the seventh and registered the save.

The Racers led 2-0 going into the bottom of the fourth when the Dragons tied the game. Purcell went ahead 3-2 on a run in the fifth before Newcastle regained the lead in the seventh.

"I thought Cauy really did an exceptional job after settling down after the second inning," Sharp said. "In the next four innings Cauy faced 12 batters and retired 12 batters while striking out three in the span."

The coach said Auz is "really hitting the baseball well at the three hole spot with power and his on base percentage is high because he is always getting on."

In the Newcastle game Auz was 2-2, Steiner 2-3, Wayland was 2-4 with an RBI and Gunner Fink knocked in two RBIs in a 1-2 outing at the plate.

Cooper Frankenberg picked up the victory on the mound for the Dragons in the Bridge Creek victory.

That was Purcell's second run-rule victory over the Bobcats that week, defeating them 11-1 earlier in the week.

Wayland and Hollis combined for a two-hitter.

Wayland was 3-4 with four RBIs. Hollis, Farris and Fink all had two hits in the game.

The Dragons were run-ruled by Blanchard 12-1 Monday.

Purcell was 14-8 heading into the regular season finale at home Tuesday against Marlow.

They open District Tournament play today (Thursday) at Oklahoma Christian School in Edmond.

The Dragons will play a double header starting at 4:30 with the if necessary game Friday.

Dragon notes:

Fernando Auz and Waylon Steiner were named to the All Tournament Team while Ethan Wayland was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player.

Softball season ends for Purcell

Purcell's slow-pitch softball season came to a close in the District Tournament last weekend at McLoud with losses to Plainview and McLoud.

The Dragons lost in the tournament opener to Plainview, 10-2 despite a 3-3 performance from Khia Tyler. She also had an RBI and half the team's hits.

Brooke Fleming had a pair of hits and Kayla Skinner had a hit.

In the nightcap, McLoud jumped on the Dragons plating nine runs in the bottom of the first and the 20-5 run-rule route was on. Kamryn Moss had a pair of hits and coach Taralee McReynolds got a hit each out of Hannah Buchanan and Fleming.

The Dragons finished the season 8-13.

along with five big RBIs. Kaylee Fink also came through with three hits and three ribbies.

Emilee Jenks and Lacey Barber blasted home runs in the effort.

In the 11-0 shutout over Dickson, Jenks had three hits (including a triple) and three RBIs.

Pack had two hits (including a homer) and three ribbies. Brianna Webster and Konnor McDonald each contributed two hits to the 12-hit Lexington assault.

During the 13-1 victory over the Lady Comets, Lacey Barber (3-for-3 with three runs scored) and Hannah Robbins (3-for-3 with a double and four RBIs) spurred the Lady 'Dawgs at the plate.

Jenks, Webster, Anna Sample, and Kenzie Lawson all had two hits.

"We played really well last week," said Lexington head coach Kayla Stewart. "We're hitting the ball well and we played better defense. We're just excited and looking forward to Regionals."

Stewart explained her team's offensive prowess at the plate.

"We just have girls who are consistent at the plate," Stewart said. "We're taking advantage of it."

"We are patient and consistent to our approach. We'll need to keep hitting the ball like we have been in order to win our Regional."

Lexington (ranked No. 8 in Class 5A with a 20-4 record) will travel to McLoud for regional play.

The Lady 'Dawgs will face the Lady Redskins at 1 p.m. today (April 26.) McLoud is ranked No. 9 in Class 5A with a 21-10 record.

Special Clover Camp provides new opportunities to 4-H'ers

Trisha Gedon
Extension Educator

Where else can a 4-H'er win awards for being the best tickler, getting the best homerun, being the most energetic or the best Big Foot hunter, or even being named the 9-square champion? At Special Clovers Camp, of course.

For many 4-H'ers, some of their best memories, and funniest awards, came from the time they spent at camp. Unfortunately, for some club members, they have not had the same opportunities to attend camp – until now.

Back for the second time, Oklahoma 4-H'ers with special needs were able to take part in the Special Clovers Camp - Blast Off to Better Health with 4-H, which took place recently at Saints Grove Camp east of Stillwater.

Cathy Allen, 4-H curriculum coordinator at the State 4-H Office at Oklahoma State University, said the first camp was so popular, they simply had to do it again.

"Not only is this a wonderful opportunity for our 4-H'ers with special needs, this camp also is a great learning experience and yet another opportunity for our Clover Buddies to hone their leadership skills," Allen said. "Serving as a Clover Buddy also helps our 4-H'ers develop compassion for others, patience and understanding."

Clover Buddies are 4-H'ers who go through a selection process and then go through special training.

When camp starts, the Clover Buddies are paired with a camper to assist them with all aspects of camp.

Okfuskee County 4-H'er Emma Davis, attended the first Special Clovers Camp and was excited to come back again.

"I had so much fun last time. I really wanted to come back," Davis said. "My favorite things were painting and story time."

Davis said she would definitely encourage other 4-H'ers to come to camp because there are lots of people to help.

"I'd tell others to come and I would be there to help them get used to it, just like the Clover Buddies did for me," she said.

Becky Moore said this camp has been a great experience for her daughter, Rylee.

"Rylee came to the first camp and she wanted to come back again. She talked about it every week," Moore said. "Rylee loves this camp because there's no Mom or Dad here."

Moore also noted she is impressed with the training received by the Clover Buddies and that, as a parent, makes her more comfortable with Rylee attending.

"This camp not only is great for the kids who attend, but also for the Clover Buddies," Moore said. "They're learning techniques that will help them be successful later in life."

Also serving as a returning Clover Buddy was Mary Lee Hainzinger, an Osage County 4-H'er.

"I love this camp. The campers have such a good time and we're trained to help make this a fun experience for them,"

Hainzinger said. "I hope to come back next year as a Clover Buddy. I've been able to do a lot of different things in 4-H, but this camp is by far my favorite."

Cleveland County's very own 4-H'er Kerstin Soell attended Special Clovers Camp as well. She had the opportunity to make a pillow case, nature stick, paint a picture, and have so many more great experiences while attending this camp.

Her mother, Sarah Soell, is the Executive Director of the Down Syndrome Association of Central Oklahoma. "The camp was a really great experience and they all had so much fun."

While at camp, campers took part in a wide variety of activities, including painting, yoga, gardening and 9-square. The group also took a nature walk and picked up materials they turned into a nature craft project.

A big highlight was learning about many different types of insects. A representative from the Insect Zoo brought dozens of crawling critters for the campers to touch and interact with.

"One of the H's in 4-H is health, and we not only focus on physical health, but emotional and social health, too," Allen said. "Our goal is to make this a great experience for everyone involved and I believe we did that. The campers are already talking about coming back next year."

Special Clovers Camp was funded with a Healthy Living grant from the Walmart Foundation and National 4-H Council.

in three RBIs and walked three times. He also scored twice and had two stolen bases.

"Harrison Keeler has been as steady as anybody," Kulbeth said.

Latta

Washington dropped Tuesday's game against Latta 9-2.

Gabe Williams hit a solo home run but Washington wasn't able to get much else going offensively with only four total team hits.

Bethel

The Warriors came back Thursday, picking up a 10-5 win over Bethel.

"Nick Andrews started out well but he kind of hit a wall," Kulbeth said.

"Brandon Reese came in and relieved him."

Reese had seven strikeouts, while Andrews had two.

Wilson had three ribbies and Bobby Reese and Tague each had two.

Tague and Williams both doubled in the game and Wilson drilled a triple.

Ada

Washington next picked up a big 2-1 win over Ada.

"Jordan Kutz pitched lights-out against Ada," Kulbeth said.

"He commanded all three pitches."

Kutz threw a complete game, two hitter with four Ks.

Jacob Schreff and Hayden Whitaker knocked in Washington's two runs.

Whitaker had two hits.

"Jacob Schreff had good at bats and had a huge hit against Ada to drive in the go-ahead run. He's also been playing as well as anyone all year on defense," Kulbeth said.

Washington left eight runners stranded in the game.

Purcell

Washington struck first in the Purcell game and hung two runs in the first inning.

"We had better at bats against Ethan (Wayland) but he was still pretty good," Kulbeth said.

The score was tied 3-3 by the third inning and Washington found themselves behind by four runs by the sixth inning.

Washington put up two runs in the sixth but could have had more.

"We had the bases loaded in the sixth but went K-K-K to end it," Kulbeth said.

"We needed a timely hit right there or put one into play to get it closer."

The Warriors left 10 runners stranded in the game.

Kulbeth said his team played better defensively against Purcell.

District Tournament

Washington hosts Lexington in Districts and the two teams play in a double header today (Thursday) at 4:30 in Washington.

"It's playoff time and we have to find a different gear and have a different mentality," Kulbeth said.

"Hopefully our schedule has been good enough that we're prepared."

Wayne:

Sharp wanted to preserve his pitching. Brazell went two innings, then he used a pitcher per inning going forward.

"Jake threw well for his two innings. Once he was out the wheels came off a bit. We made some errors and gave up runs, but we got it together in the sixth and seventh to get our tenth win of the season," said Sharp.

Overall, Sharp said he's proud of his team. Filled with young, inexperienced guys, they were able to prove they could come together and play good baseball.

The Bulldogs will lose Jake Brazell to graduation, but will return eight of their nine for next season.

"We have the building blocks and I believe the future is bright for Wayne baseball," said Sharp.

Wayne ends their season with a 10-12 record.

Bulldog notes:

Rodney Gray batted .565 and led the Bulldogs in every offensive category. He had 23 RBIs and only struck out three times this season.

Jake Brazell batted .464 and was the go-to for coach Chance Sharp on the mound. Brazell struck out 35 batters and had an ERA of 3.18.

During the Wednesday Adult Bible class, Steve Brownfield pointed out that "Provoked" as used in reference to Charity (Love) 1 Corinthians 13:5 is often used in other places as a bad thing to do. Hebrews 10:24 is an exception: "And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works."

Steve suggested that in place of Charity, we ought to put our name. Charity is personified and the person that has charity (love) will have those characteristics.

Keith Shackelford gave the Invitation from Psalms 84:10-11. Men and women can act as "Door Keepers" to let people in or keep them out of the Kingdom. Actually it is God that is in control.

People as servants may do or say what He would have them do. The disobedient servant might close or open the door in pretense here on earth, but God will prevail.

Sunday Morning Class continues in the study of the Gospel books. Our last question was about Jesus saying peace be still to the angry waves and wind as they crossed the Sea in Matthew 10:23-27

The lesson during the worship services was Become as Little Children: Luke 9:46-48; Mark 9:33-37 and Matthew 18:1-6. Keith brought out the fact that Jesus used a little child as an example, but also through the Apostle Paul, 1 Corinthians 13:11 stated there was a time to be an adult in understanding. Sunday evening the lesson was "Little Faith Warning!" Keith pointed out the indicators of "little faith" worry, anxiety, fear, doubt and faulty reasoning. He gave examples of what Jesus called: Great Faith in the Centurion Matthew 8:5-13 and Greek Woman, Matthew 15:21-28

We sang Praises and offered prayers to God. We remembered His Son's sacrifice to redeem us, as we partook of the unleavened bread and fruit of the vine. The church is located at 407 Jackson Street in Purcell. Bible classes begin at 9:45 a.m. Sunday morning and 7 p.m. Wednesday evening, with worship at 10:45 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Sunday. Bible study correspondence courses are available. You can call the office at 527-4052.

James Kyzer sang "Let Me Tell You What He Did For Me" for the special at our morning worship service. Brother Dennis used II Corinthians 4:17-18 for his sermon and told of Paul's consistency of faith despite his struggles and suffering. God sustained and encouraged him and he considered his troubles as "light" afflictions and short-lived.

The same Holy Spirit that equipped Paul also equips us. We are to be morally sound, believe all the right things, and walk daily with God. When we face an obstacle or tragedy strikes, we should seek God. All problems are nothing compared to what God has prepared for us.

The evening message was from Psalm 26. David was falsely accused during the reign of Saul and wanted vindication from God. He wanted God to "judge, examine, and prove" him. David was obedient to the word of God and refused to be with those who were wicked.

God is a source of encouragement every day. He gives us strength and courage regardless of any obstacle. He gives us an example to follow. When we are obedient, we have the desire to adore and worship Him.

Our ladies sewing group has begun meeting again each

Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. We are continuing our study of Ezekiel each Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. District WMA will be meeting at Unity Missionary Baptist Church at Wayne this Saturday at 10 a.m. This coming Sunday, at our evening service, we will be observing the Lord's Supper.

You are always welcome at Sunray Baptist Church. Join us for Sunday school, worship, bible study, and all activities. We are a small traditional church with a lot of friendly people. We are located at 2223 North 9th Street in Purcell. For additional information call 527-6808.

Lexington Westside Church of Christ

Welcome, friends, to our weekly front porch visit. We hope your week is going well.

We are glad to be able to visit with you this week from one of the great books of the Old Testament, the book of Ruth. The story is "A Mother's Homecoming." By the end, we will be reminded again that there really IS no better place to be than the House of the Lord.

The book of Ruth begins with the tragic story of a Bethlehemite named Elimelech, a man who lives during the time of a great famine with his wife Naomi and two sons, Mahlon and Chilion. Elimelech and his family live in one of the most special places in the Bible: Bethlehem. Bethlehem, certainly, needs no introduction to any of us. The name means "House of Bread."

What a beautiful description of the place where God's presence is! We would do well always to remember that there is no better place to be than in the house of bread. It is better to be in the house of bread during a famine than to live in a land of plenty away from God.

But Elimelech does not understand that great truth. He seems to be frustrated with his inability to provide for his family a little better. He comes home one day and breaks the news to his wife:

"Naomi, we're moving to Moab."

The Israelites had left Moab with their worldly view long, long ago. They had fought great battles against Moab so that they could cross over the Jordan and secure the Promised Land.

Surely Elimelech makes a poor decision in leaving God's country and returning to Moab. Elimelech does not have to travel far from his home in Bethlehem until he comes to the Dead Sea. Appropriately, he crosses that ominous water, goes on to Moab, and dies. He does not survive long in that far country, and his wonderful wife and two sons have to bury him in a foreign land (Ruth 1:3).

Naomi and her two sons stay in Moab, and the two boys marry Moabite daughters, two girls named Orpah and Ruth. But tragedy strikes again, and the two boys die and are buried right alongside their father.

Left with nothing except two grieving daughters-in-law, the heartbroken Naomi decides to go home. The inspired writer says that, "Then she arose with her daughters in law that she might return from the country of Moab" (Ruth 1:6).

Naomi decides to go home! Few stories are greater than homecoming stories. The Lord tells the parable centuries later of a young boy who, also, had explored that far country and decided to go back home. The story recorded in the fifteenth chapter of Luke is one of the greatest stories ever told.

Naomi heads back home, and, amazingly, she is not alone. Her two daughters-in-law go back with her. Her influence has been so great they wanted to be with her. Orpah goes partway, but when she counts the cost she decides to go back to her people. She kisses her wonderful mother-in-law, and heads back to Moab. As she walks away, Naomi - no doubt with tear-filled eyes - turns to Ruth and says, "My sweet daughter, you go on home, too."

Ruth stands up tall, looks in Naomi's teary eyes, then delivers one of the greatest speeches recorded in holy scripture:

"Intreat me not to leave you," she says resolutely, "or to return from following after thee: for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge: thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God" (Ruth 1:16).

I have often thought that Ruth demonstrates that rare strength and courage it takes today to be a Christian. Regardless of the hard times that may lie ahead, a woman such as Ruth is willing

Regardless of the hard times that may lie ahead, a woman such as Ruth is willing to stay the course. Like Ruth, we, too, must understand that there is no better place to be than in the House of Bread – whether in good times or bad.

So today we say with Ruth, "Intreat me not to leave thee!" We are home. And at home is where we will stay.

We were blessed to have Katie Cagle safely back in church last Sunday. Katie recently enjoyed a Caribbean cruise with her daughter and son-in-law. Katie and Melvin Cagle enjoyed many vacations in the United States but never any trips at sea.

Melvin Cagle always smiled when he said, "I don't want to take any ocean cruise, I don't know how to swim."

On her first trip at sea, Katie said she always kept one hand on the guardrail. She was very proud of herself; she had only one case of sea sickness.

It was also good to have Jessie and Natalia back in Oklahoma. Jessie traveled to Maryland to accompany Natalia back to her new job at the Oklahoma Horseshoeing School. They stopped in Tennessee to visit with Jessie's family on the way home.

The only difficulty they experienced in their return to Oklahoma came when the rack and Natalia's two kayaks atop their vehicle broke loose in the strong winds they encountered in eastern Oklahoma along I-40.

Special music was provided Sunday morning by Gynean Gentry.

Scripture text for the Sunday sermon was taken from Luke 24:39-42. Sometimes Christianity becomes fragmented when we begin designing additions to the simple plan of salvation that is offered by Jesus.

We are tempted to work overtime to concoct some added requirements and knowledge to the simple plan of confession, recognition and acceptance of Jesus as our Savior.

We complicate the simple plan of salvation by dragging our out flow charts with names, numbers and days. We don't have to be theologians to qualify as Christians.

The greatest comfort to a grieving family is the assurance that at death their loved one enters heaven immediately and is at home with Jesus, family and friends.

What Jesus promised to the dying thief on the cross is what Jesus promises every dying Christian, "Today you shall be with me in Paradise."

Such assurance softens the blow of death and brings peace. Christianity becomes fragmented when we in ignorance tell a grief stricken family that some day their loved one will be resurrected from an earthly grave.

You can't have it both ways. The right way is promised by Jesus, "I will come take you where I am." Christianity is all about the Master we know and the love we show.

We have Jesus to take us to Heaven; we have a room already reserved in Heaven and we have a family waiting for us in Heaven.

Sermon title for this Sunday is "Are You Ready?"

The Wednesday evening Bible study for this week will be the 23rd chapter of The Acts of the Apostles.

Sunday school begins at 9:45 a.m. Morning worship begins at 11 a.m. Come eat with us after morning service and enjoy the fellowship around the table.

Veteran of the Week

Dale K. Graham Veterans Foundation Veteran of the Week is Korean War Veteran, Don G. Musgrove of Harrah. We appreciate Mr. Musgrove for his service to our country.

By using the VA Disability Benefits Questionnaire (DBQ) filled out by the veteran's medical care provider, most veterans' claims will be approved the first time submitted. My philosophy has always been for the veteran to have a medical diagnosis, buddy statements, or other evidence before filing the VA form 21-526EZ application for benefits. We do file the Intent to file for benefits (VA form 21-0966) on the veterans first visit. This gives them a start date for benefits and allows one year to submit the 21-526EZ with their DBQ or other evidence in support of their claim for benefits.

Our volunteers who assist surviving spouses of veterans continue to change the lives of many who are approved for the dollars each month. The DIC benefit is based on the veteran dying from a service-connected disability or one that was presumptive to their military service. Some information that could be of help to the surviving spouses of veterans is if a service-connected disability or one that is presumptive to their military service is listed on their death certificate.

Last week eight veterans received a VA disability rating of 100 percent and will receive an annual combined amount of $308,475 per year. Fourteen veterans received disability ratings from 10- 90 percent for their service-connected conditions. This group of veterans will receive an annual combined amount of $198,796 per year.

When a veteran is awarded compensation benefits that amount is tax-free. Also, a surviving spouse in receipt of DIC does not pay tax on that income. There are other benefits veterans or surviving spouses may be eligible to receive. For those of you who receive either of those stop by for a quick check to see what you may qualify for our state or the VA.

Legal Aid is on-site twice each month and will be here again on May 3. If you need their services, please stop by. A representative from Social Security is also available, as well as someone who can help with your questions about Veterans Educational benefits.

For those veterans who have never filed for VA benefits or were turned down when they applied, please consider visiting with us. We start assisting veterans each Tuesday and Thursday morning at least by 5:30 a.m., we usually reach the maximum number we can help by 8 a.m. Our services are free, and we are a 501(c)(3) non-profit where your donations are tax deductible. Our operational expenses are approximately $30,000 each month.

One of the biggest expenses we have is the cost for a DBQ to be filled out by the veteran's medical provider. Since many of the men and women we help are homeless or on a fixed income, we help those who could not otherwise afford to pay for the evidence needed to support their claim for VA benefits. Another significant expense is the rent we pay for our facility along with the utilities.

Our van drivers are logging over 1,000 miles each week transporting veterans to their VA medical appointments. We have been looking for a sponsor to help us pay the operating expenses for our veterans' transportation services. It seems as we are getting older, many of us have to ask someone to take us where we need to go.

Recently, we received the donation of a 10-passenger handicapped accessible bus to be used to transport our veterans confined to a wheelchair. The decals with our logo will be applied next week, and it will be ready for use. For those who need handicapped accessible transportation, please call Lora at (405) 550-8806 Extension 101 to schedule a ride. Currently, we only have one driver who is certified to operate this truck.

The number of veterans and surviving spouses who visit us Tuesday and Thursday morning is averaging 275 each week. We have veterans coming from all 77 counties in Oklahoma. Most of the men and women we help are from our state. It looks like the state of Texas ranks number 1 with more veterans coming to see us from there than any other state. Over the years many veterans have asked why there is not a place like ours in their state. My answer is always the same—it's up to them to start making a difference in the lives of the men and women who have served in the military of this United States.

We have veterans in North Dakota who have been to our place for training and are now sending their claims to us to be reviewed before submitting to VA.

For those of you who are interested in helping your friends and neighbors, stop by for a visit to see how we operate our Foundation. Some of us in our organization are working 50-80 hours each week to be ready and able to help veterans and surviving spouses.

As many of you know the preparation that goes into our operation before and after each work day is tremendous. Without the dedicated volunteers we have it would be impossible to operate like we do.

Dale K. Graham Veterans Foundation has food boxes available. An application for this type of assistance will be available on Tuesday and Thursday mornings. ADD-214 or military discharge will be necessary to apply. Please contact Rhonda (405) 550-8806 Extension 103 to request a food box.

If you need a ride to and from a VA Medical Appointment, please contact (405) 550-8806 to reach Clayton at Extension 105 or Louie at Ext. 106.

We are at 1268 North Interstate Drive in Norman, Exit 110 off of I-35 each Tuesday and Thursday morning at 5:30 a.m. Please arrive by 8 a.m. Contact Dale with any questions at (405) 550-8806 Extension 101 or dale@dalegrahamveteransfoundation.org or Shirley Clark-Cowdin for spouse benefits at Extension 104. Bread in a bag

Washington third grade students made their own loaf of bread with the help of the McClain County Extension Office staff.

Bread in a Bag

The McClain County Extension Office staff hosted its annual Bread in a Bag school enrichment program at Washington Elementary School April 23.

This program is an Ag in the Classroom program provided by the Oklahoma Cooperative Extension Service and is a great way to teach youth about agriculture related topics.

Washington third grade students were able to experience a day full of fun and excitement, as they were able to make their very own loaf of bread from scratch.

Each student was provided with all the necessary ingredients to make a personal loaf of bread.

This activity provided them with the knowledge of where their bread comes from and how it is made. Each student was able to have a hands on learning experience as they worked together to create a tasty snack. They also learned very important soft skills such as team work and following directions.

Once all the loaves were made, the amazing kitchen staff at Washington Schools baked them so the students were able to enjoy their hard work.

This program is a great way to interact with the local schools and teach them about how Oklahoma agriculture is important and how it affects them.

The McClain County Extension Service loves teaching this program and looks forward to teaching it again next year.

Leaders:

Marietta and Chloe Tyler, Krum, Texas.

The Business Scholar Leaders program was established in 2014 through a generous donation from the owners of Kellogg and Sovereign Consulting, LLC.

Additionally, several donors/stakeholders have come forward this year to support the program. There is continued help from the ECU Foundation, Inc. as well.

Several benefits are attached to being a part of the Business Scholar Leaders program:

* Students will be allowed to enroll in special business courses that are only available to Business Scholar Leader students.

* Students are members of the ECU student organization, Business Leaders Association (BLA). This organization hosts business speakers, on-campus events, competitions and much more.

* Students receive priority enrollment.

* Students receive a $2,000 annual scholarship and will be able to go on an all-expense paid trip every spring semester, valued at $2,500.

In previous spring semesters, trips were taken to New York City, Chicago and this spring they are headed to Seattle. Altogether, members will receive almost $10,000 in scholarships.

No. 342-April 19-2 Times
IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF MCCLAIN COUNTY STATE OF OKLAHOMA
IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF JACKSON FREDERICK ORR, III, DECEASED

PB-18-51

COMBINED NOTICE TO CREDITORS AND NOTICE OF HEARING
To: All persons interested in the Estate of Jackson Frederick Orr, III, Deceased:

You are hereby notified that on the 12th day of April, 2018, the Petitioner, Ana Maria A. Orr, c/o Tyler R. Barrett, The Law Office of Tyler R. Barrett, P.L.L.C., 131 East Main Street, Suite 207, Norman, Oklahoma 73069, Attorney for Petitioner, filed in the District Court of McClain County a Petition for Summary Administration Pursuant to 58 O.S. § 245, for Appointment of Special Administrator and Admission of Will to Probate.

The Petitioner has alleged that Jackson Frederick Orr, III, Deceased, died testate on the 28th day of March, 2017, while a resident of Collin, County, State of Texas, and that the total value of the Decedent's property in Oklahoma is unknown. Attached to the petition is an instrument purporting to be a certified copy of the Last Will and Testament of Jackson Frederick Orr, III, Deceased. Petitioner has asked this Court to admit the Will to probate and for other summary proceedings pursuant to 58 O.S. § 245, et seq.

The names and addresses of the heirs and devisees are set forth in the petition as follows:

Name	Address
Ana Maria A. Orr	1428 Wind Cave Cir. Plano, TX 75023
Arienne Louissee Abella Orr	1428 Wind Cave Cir. Plano, TX 75023

In an Order for Combined Notice and Order Appointing Special Administrator entered on the 12th day of April, 2018, the Court found that it should dispense with the regular estate proceedings prescribed by law and order notice to creditors and issue an order for hearing upon the Petition for Summary Administration and Admission of Will to Probate, the final accounting and petition for determination of heirs, devisees and legatees and distribution.

Pursuant to the Order for Combined Notice and Order Appointing Special Administrator, all creditors having claims against Jackson Frederick Orr, III, Deceased, are required to present the same with a description of all security interests and other collateral (if any) held by each creditor with respect to such claim, to Ana Maria A. Orr, Special Administrator, at The Law Office of Tyler R. Barrett, P.L.L.C., 131 East Main Street, Suite 207, Norman, Oklahoma 73069, addressed to Tyler R. Barrett, attorney for the Special Administrator, on or before the following presentment date: May 14, 2018, or the same will be forever barred.

Notice is also hereby given that a hearing will be held on the 7th day of June, 2018, at 9:30 a.m. in the District Courtroom of the undersigned Judge at the McClain County Courthouse, 121 N. 2nd Street, Purcell, Oklahoma 73080. At the hearing, the Court will decide whether to approve the Petition for Summary Administration and Admission of Will to Probate and the final account and petition for determination of heirs, devisees and legatees and distribution of the Petitioner.

You are hereby advised that you may file objections to the Petition at any time before the hearing and send a copy to the Petitioner in care of her attorney, Tyler R. Barrett, The Law Office of Tyler R. Barrett, P.L.L.C., 131 East Main Street, Suite 207, Norman, Oklahoma 73069, or you will be deemed to have waived any objections. If you have no objections, you need not appear at the hearing or make any filings with the Court.

If an objection is filed before the hearing, the Court will determine at the hearing whether the Will attached to the Petition shall be admitted to probate, whether summary proceedings are appropriate and if so, whether the Estate will be distributed and to whom the Estate will be distributed.

Assault and battery filed

Jeanne Grimes
The Purcell Register

An arrest warrant is outstanding for a 35-year-old Norman man who allegedly struck his girlfriend several times with his closed fist.

Prosecutors charged Jamie L. Thompson in McClain County District Court with domestic abuse/assault and battery.

The charge was filed after a former felony conviction.

According to an affidavit, a Purcell police officer was dispatched to P&K Equipment at 1719 S. Green Ave., shortly before 4:30 p.m. March 20.

There he found the reported victim, Kristin Fulton, shaken and hiding in a storeroom.

Fulton told the officer she was home when Thompson reportedly walked in, grabbed her before striking her face with his closed fist, forcibly putting her in the passenger seat of her car and driving away.

At P&K Thompson allegedly stopped the vehicle and struck Fulton three more times on the face and head with his fist.

He also told Fulton that he was going to kill them both.

Fulton was able to exit the car and run into the store. According to the affidavit, the assault was witnessed by a passerby.
