JeanneGrimes The Purcell Register

Come high noon Monday, the Oklahoma Legislature will be in session, ready to tackle the state's business, as well as a number of bills that have little if anything to do with governing.

Lawmakers representing this area - Reps. Bobby Cleveland and Tim Downing and Sens. Paul Scott and John Sparks - have authored 60 bills and a handful of resolutions they hope to see become state law during the upcoming session.

Sparks is co-author of Senate Bill 1, perhaps the briefest measure legislators will be asked to approve.

It is also one which will cause the greatest grief to residents if it isn't passed.

The bill would bring Oklahoma into compliance with the Real ID Act of 2005.

It was on former Gov. Brad Henry's watch that the state initially refused to implement driver's license requirements of the act.

The current extension granted by the federal government will run out in 2018, after of a house fire in Purcell late last Thursday night.

Firefighters from Purcell and Lexington answered the call to 217 S. Third Street just after 11 p.m. When the first units from Purcell arrived the house was engulfed in flames. It was completely gutted.

Residents Robert Mayfield and Anthony Mayfield were transported by Wadley's EMS to the Baptist Burn unit and at last report remained in intensive care.

The Oklahoma State Fire Marshal investigated the house fire and determined it to be accidental.

An adjacent house just north of the Mayfield residence sustained 25-30 percent damage. Firemen were able to extinguish that house before it sustained any additional damage.

When firemen arrived on scene, there was fire coming from all windows and rooms at 217.S. Third Street.

Super Holiday?

Until listening to a news program earlier this week I had no idea that millions of people call in sick for work the Monday after the Super Bowl.

There is even a movement to make the Monday after the big game a national holiday.

Are you kidding me? Those folks must be doing some serious partying not to be able to make it into work just because they watched a football game, had some snacks and a few beverages.

Just to show you how split our country is on everything... the vote to make it a holiday is 50 percent for making it a day off and 50 percent to keep it a work day. Naturally.

I'm certainly not taking the side of the current administration but it's unclear why people would want undocumented people in the United States.

HB 1013 offers solution to rural health care crisis

care they do receive.

One year ago I wrote an op-ed about the health care crisis in rural Oklahoma. At that time, as the administrator of Cordell Memorial Hospital, I'd been trying to recruit a second physician for 18 months.

A year later, that situation hasn't changed. Despite a competitive salary and generous benefits, the position remains unfilled.

By Landon Hise

Memorial Hospital

CEO of Cordell

The residents of Cordell are not alone in seeing their access to health care dwindle to the point of crisis. It's happening in rural communities across Oklahoma and around our nation. Each year, rural Americans have fewer and fewer choices for their health care, wait longer for appointments and drive farther for the House Bill 1013, by Rep. Josh Cockroft, is a step toward changing that. The measure would allow nurse practitioners (NPs) to practice to the full scope of their education and training and eliminate the unnecessary requirement that they pay for a collaborative agreement with a physician.

Let's be clear: nothing in HB 1013 changes the scope of practice for NPs in Oklahoma. NPs are already working in communities across our state without any supervision from physicians. The so-called collaborative agreements are often nothing more than a formality, but a formality that can cost an NP tens of thousands of dollars each year.

Furthermore, current law states that physicians can only have agreements with up to two

NPs. That places a hard cap on the number of NPs allowed to work in Oklahoma, and it's rural residents who suffer most under that limit.

Our state ranks 49th in physician-to-patient ratio and study after study shows poor marks for the health of our residents. That's not a coincidence. Oklahomans are sicker and die younger for a host of factors, including a lack of access to affordable, quality health care.

Giving full practice authority to nurse practitioners is not a radical idea. It's law in 21 other states, including neighboring Colorado and New Mexico. The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs recently granted full practice authority to NPs working in V.A. facilities

Do you have available resources in your town? Most of you would be able to answer yes; however, Lexington residents would have to say no.

As of right now, there is no public library in the small, yet alive town of Lexington, Oklahoma. You might ask why, even suggest such a huge proposal from such a little town? I would therefore kindly answer, "but wait there's more."

The public library would affect the community and bring many benefits. For example, students going to Lexington Public Schools would benefit by having access to all types of different genres of books and other resources after school hours.

I suggest to not only include books, but also a computer lab for students unable to access the internet from home. Education and entertainment would be readily available for these students with limited available resources.

For adults, it would increase the potential for jobs of the parents or adults who cannot afford to work in or near Norman. As for elders, not all of them are familiar with technology use. They would have the ability to go to the library to read or check out a book. They do not have to buy the book making it easier for them to gain access to the material.

I would also suggest the building itself double as a storm shelter to help the residents in the area who currently do not have one. There is a public library in the neighboring town of Purcell, but harsh weather and further construction on the James C. Nance Memorial Bridge can cause complications.

I propose building this public library east of the elementary playground on the vacant plot of land just one fourth of a mile north from highway 39, allowing easy access to the students, adults and the elders in Lexington.

Charter schools have regulatory financial edge over "traditional" public schools

By Rep. David Perryman

Although many early pilgrimages to North America were based on a desire for freedom from governmentally imposed religious dictates. against the British Crown 150 years later their primary complaint was taxation without representation.

Consequently, the bedrocks upon which our government is founded are that (1) neither the government nor the will of the majority will dictate anyone's religious beliefs and (2) citizens will always control taxation and expenditures through the power of the ballot box.

Our representative democracy preserves our right to "vote out" elected officials who fail to be accountable with public tax dollars. When voters fail in their duty, the fault lies with no one but themselves.

Alarmingly, the proliferation of charter schools in Oklahoma is evidence of voters failing in their duty. For years, rural legislators tenaciously protected the local control of education in the communities they represented. Unfortunately, political cash has recently tilted the balance of power from those who protect the authority of voters and the boards of education they elect to those who allow public tax dollars to be siphoned into the pockets of corporate charter school sponsors.

In 2015, Senate Bill 782 created a procedure to allow the State Department of Education as much.

to approve a charter school to be located in any community in the state even if the locally elected school board objected. The legislation passed primarily along party lines with only when the colonists pushed back five Republican legislators voting with the Democrats in opposition to this bill that undermined local control.

schools have been approved in rural areas of Oklahoma. The first was in Carlton Landing, a secluded, self-contained and planned picturesque community of upscale homes on the shores of Lake Eufaula. The second was approved by the State Board of Education last week over the objection of the Seminole Public School Board.

Not only are charter schools exempt from many of the rules with which traditional public schools must comply, study after study shows that charter schools perform lower or no better than traditional public schools. However, the real rub is the financial drain that charter schools put on already underfunded traditional community schools.

During an era when many are calling for further school consolidation, charter school laws actually create costly additional districts. For instance, in FY 2016, traditional public schools received an average per pupil share of $1,560.87 in state aid while the average charter From page 1A school received $3,034.60 per pupil in state aid – almost twice

Prader joins Access

Sherry J. Prader of Wayne has joined Access Financial Resources as a financial advisor, the Oklahoma City financial planning firm announced.

Prader brings more than 30 years of accounting and financial planning to her practice, including nearly a decade as a financial advisor for Arvest Wealth Management. Prader also served as a Vice President at Arvest Bank. In her new role, Prader will work with AFR's clients to develop and implement strategies to meet their preretirement and retirement goals. "Sherry will make a great addition to our team," CEO Troy E. Jones said. "She has a strong background in finance and planning and a genuine desire to help her clients achieve their financial and retirement objectives."

Appropriations to charter schools border on preposterous. For instance in December of each year, state aid payments are adjusted based on enrollment and revenues. In December 2015, students in charter schools comprised only 2.8 percent of total enrollment - yet when $25.7 million was Since then, two charter released to help desperately hurting Oklahoma schools, 69 percent ($17.7 million) went to charter schools.

> Even more frustrating is that of that $17.7 million, nearly one-fourth, or more than $4.1 million, went to a single "virtual" charter school that at the time of the payment remained under a three-year investigation by the Oklahoma State Bureau of Investigation.

> The right of a local community to control its manner and method of education seemed relatively fundamental. Unfortunately, strategically placed political contributions have had the tendency to cause even rural legislators to forget about what is good for their communities. Now we only have to wait for voters to remember that they have the power to change their legislator for one who will truly help public education.

10 years.

Formerly with Barrett Trailers, Lohn and his wife, Jeannie have two children, Matt and his wife Chelsea, and Bridget and her husband David Parra.

Before working in Purcell, Lohn worked at Borden's Dairy in Oklahoma City.

Lohn, who has lived in Purcell since 2005, earned his degree in accounting from The University of Oklahoma in 1968.

If you lived in Lennox Valley during my childhood, you were familiar with A.J. Fryerson. And if you knew A.J. Fryerson, you knew one thing above all: He complained about everything.

I don't mean just a few things. I mean everything.

He complained because the Valley didn't have a traffic light. Then, when the town installed its first light on Bearden's Corner, he complained about that.

He complained because he couldn't get a beer at either of the town's eating establishments. Then, when the town held a referendum and the Hoffbrau started serving beer, he complained about that.

He complained because all the "preachers in town" were "older than dirt." Then he complained when the Lutherans called Brother Jacob, and he complained even louder when he learned the young pastor preached in his bare feet.

Simply put, A.J. lived to complain, and like most folks who complain all the time, hardly anyone noticed when A.J. got hot under the collar.

He was the most frequent caller on "Renderings with Raymond," and after Raymond took a break from airing his show following his mayoral defeat, A.J. complained about that.

Iris Long, editor of The Hometown News, had a love-hate relationship with A.J. On one hand, she would tell her friends A.J. was "dumber than dirt." On the other hand, Fryerson could be counted on to provide at least one letter to the editor each week. Although no one gave much, if any, thought to A.J.'s rantings, they would pick up the

Leadership Class disc golf course

Tammi Coker's Leadership Class at Lexington Middle School started a huge community service project back in September when they decided to create a Disc Golf Course in the Lexington Park for the entire community to enjoy.

They researched and toured different courses, spoke with designers and pro disc golfers, fundraised and began sketching ideas for the park.

After much work, organization and support from donors, financially and with labor and supplies, it is near completion.

The course is a wonderful lifetime sport and outdoor activity that develops lifetime habits of exercise and fitness. It's an economical sport that can be played by everyone, pre-school age to golden age.

Specially-abled and disabled can participate giving them the opportunity to take part in a mainstream activity.

With free to play courses in all 50 states, disc golf is accessible to everyone and they are excited to share it with their community.

Another reason for this service project is to help with the incidence of childhood obesity, which has sadly tripled in the last 30 years and a decrease in youth fitness. Teaching children lifetime activities that they will enjoy, such as disc golf, will help improve their health and quality of life.

Disc Golf also helps adults as well. It provides upper and lower body conditioning, aerobic exercise, promotes a combination of physical and mental abilities that allow very little risk of physical injury, and increases concentration skills by mastering shots and negotiating obstacles. Disc golf can be played alone or in groups and can be played yearround, even in rain or snow.

Building Responsibility Matters

Research on attendance is very clear: Missing too much school hurts learning. Being tardy or absent makes it hard to keep up and hard to return to school. When one student falls behind, it can affect the whole class. What can be done as a parent?

1. Treat your child's attendance and education like a job. It will help them learn about work ethic and responsibility.

2. We all have complaints about school but these should not be voiced in front of the child. Like parenting, school and parents need to work together for the betterment and education of the child. Parents and school who are a unified force for education can help children feel the importance of attendance and learning. So, speak positively about school.

3. Talk with your child specifically about what he/she is learning. What kinds of goals do they want to reach with their education?

4. Help your child learn to be organized. Use a simple system that keeps school papers in order. Organization is beneficial in many areas of our lives.

5. Encourage time management. Help children break down homework tasks and projects into more manageable time slots. Time management is a success tool.

Each of these tips will help students become more responsible and successful in school and life.

If you did not make it to the center Friday morning, you missed some very good music made by the musicians that come every Friday. Some have played with professional music groups and they sure haven't lost their touch. Everyone who comes really enjoys both the music and the food that is served for lunch. Come, join us and enjoy.

Our group of quilters held their annual "Sew In" Friday afternoon and evening and all day Saturday. They had some new folks and many of the regulars that come all through the year. They had a couple of high school students come to learn the skills needed. Alexia Ripley and Naomi Kimble were the youngest participants and Stephanie Harnish traveled the longest distance to join in the that we would love to have you fun, all the way from Cheyenne, Wyo., and Cate Crane came from Dallas.

They made 22 baby quilts, 76 Positive bags for the Eden Clinic, 13 walker caddy's and six fleece throws for use in the shuttles that transport seniors to and from Washington and Newcastle. Atotal of 161 hours were donated for the project. A good time was had by all and the work and results are much appreciated by all. I am told they had quite a food fest with everyone bringing pot luck dishes that were enjoyed by all that were here. Some of our quilters are here most every day, so if you would like to join them or would like to learn quilting, Phyllis Linker was the oldest. come on down some afternoon. join us to enjoy the food, visiting with your friends and neighbors and playing games or working puzzles. Transportation is available if you are unable to come on your own. All you need to do is call 288-6404 and let them know where you are located.

If you are homebound, you can receive a meal delivered to you. For seniors over 60, the cost is $3 and under 60 years of age, the meal cost is $5 per day. Not bad for a meal delivered to your home that you did not have to go get the groceries and prepare it yourself. Better yet, come and join the group at the center. Getting out of the house and being around other folks really helps both your physical and mental health. Give it a try. Hope to see you soon.

Emily McNeill from Blanchard 4-H, was one of six Oklahoma 4-H'ers chosen to attend the Citizenship Washington Focus: Presidential Inauguration (CWF-PI).

McNeill had the opportunity to join over 500 young people from across the country to learn about political processes in the vibrant, living classroom of the nation's capital as part of CWF-PI, an intensive 4-H civic engagement program for high-school youth held at the National 4-H Conference Center in Chevy Chase, Md. This 4-H citizenship program for youth, ages 14-19, is aimed at enriching young people's lives by broadening their knowledge and understanding of the Executive Branch of Government as well as developing their role in citizenship through service, civic education, and engagement. McNeill, alongside her peers, learned the meaning and importance of the Democratic process; explored the history of the Presidency, the election process, and the role of the press; discovered the intricacies of the Executive Branch of Government; and explored careers in politics. During the week, conference delegates also had the opportunity to visit memorials, historical sites and museums in Washington, D.C., and experience the Inaugural Day events of the 45th President including the Oath of Office, Presidential Address and Inauguration Parade. For more than 50 years, National 4-H Conference Center has invited thousands of young people from across the country to travel to Washington, D.C., and participate in civic workshops, committees and field trips before returning home to make positive changes in their own communities. CWF not only strengthens young people's understanding Lexington, wants to acknowlof the government's civic process, but it also boosts their leadership skills, communication skills and overall confidence.

Winter management of the backyard peach orchard

Wes Lee

Extension Ag Educator When it comes to fruit trees,

February and early March are the most important times of the year to make management decisions. This is especially true of stone fruits (peaches, nectarines, and apricots) since of a complete fertilizer such as they will be blooming soon. Late winter is the time of year to take care of several things such as fertilizing, pruning, and initial insect and disease control applications.

There are two schools of thought when it comes to the amounts by half. pruning stone fruits. One is to wait until after the trees have accurate method of fertilizabloomed and the initial fruit set is on. This can be an advantage when we get a late freeze that kills part of the bloom set. By waiting to prune we leave a leaf analysis, follow the above little more if there are less viable blooms available. If we do not encounter a partial killing freeze and fruit set is heavy, then we can prune away more of the unwanted branches.

There are a couple of drawbacks to waiting to prune. One is the tree has put a lot of wasted energy into setting fruit that will most likely be pruned off. The other disadvantage is that any time we remove the protective bark as we do with pruning we leave an open wound that is a more likely entry route for insects and diseases. By waiting to prune, the weather can produce. A number of funwill be warmer and pests will be more prevalent.

The other pruning option is to do it in February before the blooms have opened. This will allow the cut wounds to "seal" off somewhat before warmer weather arrives. I prefer the pre-bloom method because I think it is healthier for the tree and more importantly, I have more free time on my hands as scale, aphids, mealybugs now than I will in a month and mites can be controlled or two. Whichever time you now with an application of Trees", #6232 "Fertilizing Pechoose be sure to follow good Dormant Oil. This product pruning techniques.

spring bud break is the pre- product only during the dorferred time to fertilize fruit mant season and apply when trees. In our area, that usually equates to sometime in February. On young peach trees, either you can utilize directions on a recent soils test or if one is not available use one pound 10-10-10, 10-20-10, or 13-13-13 for each year of tree age. For example, a two-year-old tree should receive about two pounds of fertilizer. If using a more concentrated fertilizer such as 19-19-19 then reduce

On older trees, the most tion is applying based on a leaf analysis. This service is available for a fee from the Extension Office. Without a method, but limit the maximum amount of fertilizer to five or six pounds per tree. When applying, spread the fertilizer around the tree from one foot of the trunk to the outer edge of the branches (drip line).

Now is also a good time to get a jump-start on controlling insects and diseases. One common disease of stone fruits is peach leaf curl. This disease causes leaves to curl up, thicken, and turn red. It is seldom fatal to the tree but can limit production by reducing the amount of food the leaves gicides if applied at the proper time, which is before the buds crack open, easily controls it.

After the buds have started to open, infection has already occurred and fungicides are not effective. Commonly used fungicides to control this disease are Lime Sulfur, Bordeaux Mixture, or Daconil®.

Over wintering insects such Three to four weeks before and smothers them. Use this and Pest Management."

the temperatures are 40° F or above.

Please note that there are two types of horticultural oils, one is labeled as "Dormant Oil" and the other as "Growing Season or Superior Oil." Dormant Oil will damage the tree if used during the growing season.

To produce blemish-free peaches in Oklahoma, many timely applications of fungicides and insecticides are required. Determine your goals for your backyard orchard and decide how much you are willing to commit in both time and money to have supermarket quality fruit. If blemish-free fruit is required, be ready to spray a fungicide to control brown rot, scab and other diseases beginning at bloom and every week or two thereafter until harvest.

The list of fungicides for homeowners to use during the growing season is limited but two commonly used products are Daconil® (used only until fruit is formed) and Captan®. Add an insecticide to the mix after petal fall to control plum curculio, Oriental fruit moths, and other insects. Commonly used insecticides include Sevin®, Malathion®, Ortho's Bug-B-Gone Max®, and Bayer's Fruit, Citrus, and Vegetable Insect Control®.Be sure to follow the label when using any pesticide to make sure it is legal for the trees you have.

Producing your own backyard fruit can be a rewarding experience but it does require a lot of hard work and diligence. Contact your local OSU Extension Office for more information on stone fruit production including Fact Sheets; #6228 "Annual Pruning of Fruit can and Fruit Trees", and #7319 coats the insects and eggs "Home Tree Fruit Production

Knock off Pauls Valley, Lindsay and Marlow

JohnDennyMontgomery The Purcell Register

Jamie Clarke hit the shot with about three seconds on the clock to put them into overtime.

"It was from way downtown," said head coach Rocky Clarke.

And Washington's girls rode the momentum into overtime to pull off a 58-52 win over Pauls Valley last Thursday.

"I told them after the game that was a good win for us, especially late in the season."

Clarke had 20 points in the game, second only to Katelyn Crosthwait, who had 24.

Rocky Clarke said both Jamie Clarke and Crosthwait had big games on the offensive end of the floor, accounting for 44 of the team's 58 total points. It was a big win over a good Pauls Valley team.

"Pauls Valley has the best team they've ever had," Clarke said.

Defensively, Washington collapsed into the paint to keep Pauls Valley's post player at bay.

Clarke said they also tried to keep Pauls Valley from attempting three pointers.

Lindsay

Washington hung a 63-47 loss on Lindsay Friday night.

The Warriors got off to a hot start in the first quarter and blew the game open 23-7.

Washington's defense harassed the Leopards and their offense sputtered in the first half.

"We pressured them and they had trouble with our pressure," Clarke said. Crosthwait and Jamie Clarke led the Warriors in scoring again, with 14 and 10 points respectively.

A trio of players, Raegan Roten, Hanna Brown and Taylor Lile, each added nine points.

Garrett says Cherry eyes title

Wrestler is 23-6 and has a shot at a State Championship

Lexington Head Wrestling Coach Jared Garrett reports his top grappler this season has been 138 pounder Vincent Cherry.

Cherry currently owns a sparkling 23-6 record with all but one of his loses coming from wrestlers in classes above 3A.

Cherry finished as a runner-up at the Blanchard and Weatherford tournaments back in December. He placed fourth at the prestigious Greg Henning Invitational in Tuttle, and this last weekend finished second place at the Mid-Western Conference tournament, losing to Newcastle's Hunter Palacios.

"Cherry is a good hard wrestler," Garrett reports. "Every day he comes in as I am finishing up with junior high practice and starts shadow wrestling. He definitely has the ability to compete for the State title in 3A."

Trip to "Peake" special for Lexington teams

John D. Montgomery The Purcell Register

Led by junior Hunter Findley and senior Oscar Resendiz, Lexington's Bulldogs topped Dibble last Tuesday 44-36 at home hiking their season record to 5-12.

Findley and Resendiz tied for team high scoring with a baker's dozen each.

Lexington trailed 27-19 at intermission but hung in with the Demons to post the victory.

"We had a slow start, but I thought my guys got better as the game wore on," head coach Matt Lohn said.

"Our chemistry really propelled us into the lead through the third quarter. Our defense got us to the finish line."

Lexington was able to grab the victory despite shooting only 4-11 at the charity stripe.

"We must handle ball pressure better in the future if we want to find success," Lohn said.

Findley led the Bulldog offense with 11 points with Resendiz nipping at his heels with 10.

"This was definitely a moment our kids will treasure for the rest of their lives. Unfortunately, we couldn't throw it in the ocean shooting 64 times to Stratford's 41 attempts. I think we got a little tight and just never found a good groove.

"Pauls Valley has been playing better of late," said head coach Bret Petty."They've had some close games in the last four or five outings.

"I felt like they came in and throughout most of the game played harder and out-hustled us," Petty continued. "We did not do a very good job on the defensive glass. We gave up too many second chance points.

"But I was proud of the way we came out after the half. We only gave up two free throws for the entire quarter. Then, we got a little lackadaisical in the fourth quarter and turned the ball over too many times. That shows a lack of discipline, which we are going to have to clean up."

The Dragons got off to a slow start at Marlow last Tuesday night trailing 19-10 at the end of the first period.

That same trio of Hamilton, Barrett and Nation led the comeback with Purcell even taking a two point lead late in the fourth quarter.

Purcell was clinging to a two point lead and had the ball when a turnover led directly to a Marlow three pointer that was the final dagger.

"Marlow is a top 20 team and trying to win in their gym has always been a tough chore," Petty said. "Our kids battled back but when Marlow went down and hit the three it sealed the deal on us."

Hamilton's 16 led the Dragons while Barrett cut the strings for 14 and Nation with a dozen.

The Dragons were 12-5 heading into Tuesday's Canadian Valley Conference game at Washington.

Coach Heather Graham's Dragons were also in a deep hole at Marlow but out-scored the Lady Outlaws 18-11 in the fourth quarter to nearly make a comeback. They eventually lost, 51-48 despite 17 points each by Haylee Swayze and Jaden Webb and Cady Wollenberg's best game of the season with 12 points.

"We executed the game plan very well at Marlow," Graham said. "We had Cady and Addie Burton playing out of position. Camryn Dickerson also executed the game plan really well since the last time we played them their post killed us. "Cady was outstanding with 12 points and 11 rebounds. She was a game changer." Graham said her club was 10 down with four minutes to play but displayed the attitude they have all season by not giving up. # Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church By Fr. Jim Chamberlain as we approach the Season of Lent, the Church gives us one of the most revered of Jesus' discourses, The Sermon on the Mount. We begin with the Beatitudes. The Beatitudes are not some "to-do" list, but rather a "to-be" list. The Beatitudes are about identity, identity with Jesus Christ, and what it means to be a disciple of Jesus.

The Jewish people already knew how to form themselves as a people of God. Keeping the Ten Commandments, and faithfully observing the laws of the Old Testament, is a practice that is much more than just adhering to a list of rules because God commands it. Rather, by a faithful observance of the law, one is drawn into a more intimate relationship with God, and one begins to more deeply identify with God.

The same can be said of the Beatitudes. They give us a glimpse into the heart of Christ himself. As Pope Benedict XVI stated "Their meaning is proclaimed in the life and suffering, and in the mysterious joy, of the disciple who gives himself over completely to fol- children? Peacemakers long to lowing the Lord." The disciple see enemies brought together,

For the next few Sundays I who live, but Christ who lives in me." (Gal 2:20).

In our reflection on these Beatitudes, let us look more closely at two of them. "Blessed are the merciful, for they will be shown mercy." Our works of Mercy identify us with Jesus. They express God's love for those who are the beneficiaries of those works. But in performing works of mercy that benefit others our hearts are transformed as well. Who of us has reached out to feed the hungry, and not noticed that we are being fed as well, spiritually? Who has cared for the sick, and not noticed a spirit of compassion welling up within? It is at these moments when we notice this movement within our own heart that we, ourselves, experience mercy. "Blessed are the peacemakers for they will be called children of God." Peacemakers share in the Father's mission of mercy to reconcile the world to himself. Peacemakers are those who see a world desperately needing healing and reconciliation. What parent does not want harmony among their mind among yourselves, which was in Christ Jesus." Again, peacemakers are drawn into communion with Jesus.

The Beatitudes remind of us of what we are to be and how we are to live as disciples of Jesus. In the face of violence, materialism, moral confusion, poverty and disease, Jesus reminds us that we are each called to identify with him. We are to become light for a world overshadowed by darkness. When we live the Beatitudes when we imitate the love of Jesus-- his mercy, his generosity, his humility--the world will glorify our heavenly Father through the good deeds done in Christ.

Very good day to all! Welcome to the "front porch."

We have been sitting down together for two weeks now to consider the great "life" theme we see in John's organic gospel. We saw it, remember, in the lives of so many blessed men and women who crossed paths with Jesus during His walk: in the life of Nicodemus (John 3), the woman of "shattered romances" Jesus meets at Jacob's well (chapter 4), and on through almost every chapter.

In John 5, the Lord uses yet another image to describe the life He has come to bring, this the grave. In John 5:25, he says, "Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live."

No doubt the Lord is talking there about men who listen to His teaching and come into obedience to it, both from that generation and the generations to come: To them He will give life.

Then he transitions in verse 28 to the final resurrection: "Marvel not at this," he says, "for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, And shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation" (vs. 28-29).

The Lord references first the resurrection to life that we experience when we obey the gospel - being buried with him, then "raised with him" in baptism (Colossians 2:12) - then He takes us to the great resurrection of the last day when the righteous will again hear His voice and recognize it as they had in their lifetimes (John 10:3), then come forth one the image of rising from from the grave triumphantly.

In John 6 the Lord changes metaphors to that of "bread." He says to the multitude following him, "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me hath everlasting life. I am the bread of life" (vs. 47-48). Then he extends the metaphor in vs. 53-54, "Verily, verily, I say unto you, Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, ye have no life in you. Whoso eateth my flesh and drinketh my blood, hath eternal life; and I will raise him up at the last day."

The Lord's listeners understand well the story of Moses and the bread the Lord gave to sustain their lives for those long, forty years in the wilderness. Knowing that they are well aware of that great story, the Lord refers to it as a type of His own life-giving ability, only the life He gives is life eternal.

Chapter by chapter in John's gospel we see both in teaching and in actions the Lord giving and promising life. In chapter 8, he gives new life to a woman who is an inch away from death row. In the ninth

On Sunday, February 12, beginning at 10:45 am, our church will be hosting a children and family dedication day. We will have a bible story and crafts for the kids, along with a time for singing. Some of our children will be saying bible verses they have memorized.

A free buffet style lunch and candy buffet will be provided. Each child will be given a bible. Each family will receive a gift bag. Our church will be praying for those attending.

Please join us for this day of fun, food, and learning about God's love and forgiveness.

Debbie Clark and Donna Stillwell played an instrumental special at our Sunday morning service. Brother Dennis spoke from Ephesians 3:14-21 and told of Paul's prayer for those at the church of Ephesus. Paul spoke of a great spiritual wealth, the riches of God's glory, a treasure for believers. God wants to give to us willingly and has the desire to give blessings and gifts. He has the desire to dwell in the heart of the believer.

The evening message was from Hebrews 11:13-16 and told of the "Qualities of a Hero". Many mentioned in this chapter were considered foolish from the world's perspective. But to God, they were people of faith. Their lives demonstrated their confidence in God's promises. They desired and honored God, as we should do.

Our ladies and teen girls will have a "Pink Party" at 1 pm Saturday. The ladies sewing class will resume after their holiday break on Tuesday, February 7, at 9 am. We will be singing at the nursing home at 10 am on February 3 and 17.

You are always welcome at Sunray Baptist Church. Join us for Sunday school, worship, bible study, and all activities. We are located at 2223 North 9th Street in Purcell. For additional information call 527-6808.

Johnson Road Baptist

There are signs of the blooming season at our church. The three students from the Oklahoma Horseshoeing School were back in church. Rivatta, Colton and Caleb are nice young people.

Bob Wallace was recognized Sunday for having celebrated his 80th birthday. We appreciate Bob as a member of Johnson Road Baptist Church. Bob's responsibilities include opening and closing the church doors on Sunday and Wednesdays, raising, lowering and folding the flag on Sunday and retrieving the empty trash cans from the parking lot on Wednesday. Bob has a great love for the First Baptist Church of Rosedale. At Rosedale, Bob found Jesus as his Savior and a home with God's people.

Special music was provided by two sisters, Jaidyn and Harlee Gentry and Abygail Mayo.

Scripture passage for morning worship last Sunday was from I John 1:4-7. The congregation was reminded how important fellowship is in cultivating a healthy lifestyle. John, a man of humility, stated that full joy in life is the result of walking with Jesus and fellowshipping with the family of God.

Fellowship is vital if we are to build a sweet relationship with God and one another. John said the key to a joyful life is fellowship with Jesus and one another.

Rick Warren, the author of "The Purpose Driven Life" said, 'The entire Bible is the story of God building a family who will love Him, honor Him and reign with Him forever."

Over a period of three years, Jesus built a sweet fellowship with His family, His disciples and the multitudes. He walked, talked, worshiped and ate with His family friends and sinners.

When Jesus wanted to teach His disciples, He served them breakfast on the shores of Lake Gennesaret. When he wanted to calm His disciples, He appeared with them behind locked doors in the upper room.

As Christians we should be eager to promote fellowship. Homes and churches are classrooms for teaching us how to love as God loves us. If we are to grow in the knowledge and understanding of God, we need to earn a Master's Degree in Fellowship. Fellowship demands listening skills, service skills and understanding skills. It is our prayer that Johnson Road Baptist Church will be a center where fellowship is both desired and provided. Our Sunday meals at Johnson Road are designed for fellowship. We want to invite our friends to come for worship, fellowship and lunch.

Washington has always been a community known for rallying around its families in need, whether because of personal tragedy, illnesses or even the dreaded Oklahoma weather events. We are also a community with a love of sport and athletics, but until 2013, had no running event to showcase it!

This year we asked the community to nominate someone that currently lives in the Washington Community. The stories we received touched our hearts dearly, which made the choice of whom to choose very difficult. We decided on the Townsend Family. Here is their story.

prayed. Casen was born five days later on Aug. 26, 2010 weighing in at one pound five ounces. He was given a 35 percent chance of surviving. Casen would spend his first three months of his life fighting like a warrior in the NICU at Cardinal Glennon in St. Louis, Mo. Being the warrior he is, he came home in December of 2010 weighing five pounds two ounces.

Casen started Pre-K in Mrs. Cheek's class in August of 2015. Two weeks later Danielle would receive a phone call that would affect her entire family. On the way to drop Casen off at school she got a call about a biopsy she had done. At the four-way she was told she had breast cancer and would later find out it was stage 2. She was in shock and just sat at the stop sign until someone honked behind her. She held it together and took Casen to class, went back to her vehicle and cried, she told herself, Just give it to God, Dani. Just give it to God. She then made the phone call to her husband, Cody, who was working in Pennsylvania at the time.

Two days later she broke the news to Casen. After telling Casen the news, Dani said, "Son, Mommy has to fight like you fought." She will never forget his eyes and reply, "Guess what Mommy that means you of sight to the man blind from 15 he turns to the metaphor of says, but "I am come that they might have life, and that they may have it more abundantly" (John 10:10).

In chapter 11, the Lord raises Lazarus from the dead, promising Martha, "I am the resurrection and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live" (11:25). And it is there that a man hears the thunderous voice of Jesus proclaim, "Lazarus come forth," and "he that was dead came forth" (vs. 43-44). Certainly, this scene is a type of the resurrection of all the faithful on that great day when the Lord comes with His mighty angels.

In chapter 14 the Lord shares with the disciples the great lesson: "I am the way, the truth, chapter, he gives beautiful gift and the life  $\dots$  "(v.6). In chapter birth. In chapter 10 he pictures a vine, showing the disciples Himself as the good Shepherd. that by abiding in Him they can The imposter comes to kill, He flourish and not only bear fruit but bear "more fruit" (v. 2).

> Of course, John – as do all the gospel writers – culminates his story of life with the resurrection of our Lord, signified by the disciples' entering into an empty tomb and, soon thereafter, handling the risen Savior.

John writes all of these things that men of that time and men Troy, Mo. So they packed up and women of our time might and headed out. Danielle, a "believe that Jesus is the Christ, determined mother, set up all the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name" (John 20:31).

Now we understand better, I think, what John means in the a very strong belief. That is to powerful introduction of his gospel: "In him was life, and the life was the light of men."

Danielle Townsend, originally from Atkins, Colo., moved to Pauls Valley in 2000 and graduated from Pauls Valley High School in 2004. She later attended Rose State for her associates and CTU to receive her Bachelors in Business Administration in Management.

Her husband, Cody, is from Paoli and walked on his sophomore year in college as a defensive tackle for Oklahoma State University, where he played for three years, graduating in 2006.

Danielle and Cody met in 2006 and got married in April of 2009. They both worked in the oil and gas industry traveling all over the United States to complete projects. They decided they needed and wanted to have a permanent home and chose Washington.

In February of 2010 they received wonderful news, they were expecting their first child, his name would be Casen Dan and he would arrive in December 2010! Danielle and Cody had already committed to an eight-month project in of her doctors before they left and was a healthy pregnant momma.

Danielle and Cody both have trust in the Lords plans. On Aug. 21, 2010 Danielle went into labor at 24 weeks. Danielle and Cody could not make sense of what was going on so they turned to the Lord and will win!

Danielle started her treatment in October of 2015 with a double mastectomy and began chemotherapy treatment in December 2015. After nine surgeries, four chemo treatments and three white blood cell shots, Danielle is still on the road to recovery with more surgeries and treatment to come.

"I thank the Lord for every day I have with my wonderful little family. And for every new friend I meet. Every phone call or text that I get, someone checking on me. Yes I am stubborn about this but I hope all of these people in my life know just how much extra strength and faith they give me every single day. Thank you Jesus!" Danielle

She is definitely a true warrior, and with that she and her family have been chosen to be the recipients of the 2017 Warrior Way 5K nomination.

Veteran of the Week

Dale K. Graham Veteran's Corner Veteran of the Week is John Patton of Edmond. Mr. Patton served in World War II in the United States Navy during the 1940s. We appreciate Mr. Patton for his service to our country.

veterans, and the other 16 were surviving spouses.

As an Accredited VA Claims Agent, I receive a copy of all the rating decisions the Department of Veterans Affairs makes on each of the veterans and surviving spouses I represent. Last week 10 veterans received a rating of 100 percent for their serviceconnected disabilities. This group of veterans will receive a combined annual benefit amount of $375,654. We had 20 veterans who received ratings that ranged from 10-90 percent. This group of veterans will receive an annual combined benefit amount of $215,938.

For those of you who would be interested in helping others, please consider joining us as a volunteer. An annual OSBI background check is required. We are a 501(c)(3)non-profit organization that not only cares about the health and welfare of the men and women who have served our country, but we are making a difference.

Many times, when a veteran dies the attending doctor who signs the death certificate does not know that he or she is service-connected. If the person has a serviceconnected disability or one that is presumptive to their military service is not listed as a contributing condition on the death certificate the surviving spouse and dependents will not receive VA benefits. We have seen thousands of surviving spouses denied VA benefits because the attending doctor did not know about these conditions.

I would like to see a state law enacted stating veterans VA disability rating decision be reviewed before the death certificate is finalized. There are doctors who sign death certificates who know nothing of the veteran's health issues. When these surviving spouses do not receive the VA benefits to which they are entitled it creates a hardship on the state, the veteran's surviving spouse, as well as their dependents. The only other option these surviving spouses currently have is to request that the death certificate be amended. Amending the death certificate can be done by the attending physician by listing the contributing factors in a letter and fax it to the Oklahoma State Health Department. Last week I wrote that we were in need of a lift chair for a veteran and an electric wheelchair. Two of our readers met these requests. It feels great to be able to be able to find people who can meet the needs of the veterans who we see each week. One of our veterans who recently received a VA rating has promised to donate his old truck to a veteran in need. We will keep you posted on who receives it as we move forward in the next few weeks.

I would like to have a van with a wheelchair lift to be able to provide transportation for veterans who need this service. Clayton and Louie have been assisting veterans in and out of our vehicles to their wheelchairs. As long as I'm wishing maybe we could go for a high-top van so that veterans could stay in their wheelchairs during transportation. We will probably need another driver for that van! For those of you who would like to join us, we always have a job that needs doing!

Each month we are spending on average $30,000 to assist others. One of the folks I told you about a couple of weeks ago is a homeless vet with only one leg. We paid his rent in a hotel and are transporting him to other social services to help him get permanently off the streets. We gave him a food basket and a gift card to buy milk, bread, and fresh food items. Currently, we are using our savings account to provide much of the funds for these types of services.

Dale K. Graham Veteran's Corner has food boxes available to those in need. An application for this type of assistance will be available on Tuesday and Thursday mornings. A DD-214 or military discharge will be needed to apply. Please contact Rhonda at (405) 550-8806 Extension 103 to apply for a food box.

If you need a ride to and from a VA Medical Appointment, please contact Clayton at (405) 550-8806 Extension 105 or Louie at 405-642-7100

Perpetualism

When you study a horse's pedigree and see some of the most important names in the Quarter Horse world for a half century, you naturally assume the horse must be an outstanding individual.

Such is the fact for the 1993 sorrel stallion bred by Sonny Thompson and Ray Logan of Kechi, Kan. When you can trace back to Big Step once, Three Bars twice, Impres-E Ranch and Arena; and the sive three times, Conclusive Bud Breeding Oklahoma Spirit twice and Kid Clu once in his

As a weanling in October, Poindexter of Calera, Okla. In November of 1994, Jerry Wells saw that royalty in him, but could not come up with the money to purchase him, so one of his customers at the time, Joan Crews Hoyt of San Angelo, Texas, purchased him with the intention that Jerry would buy him from her when he could put the money together. In March, 1995, Wells purchased Perpetualism at the same price that Joan had paid and he now was the sole owner.

On his show record from AQHA, Perpetualism accu-Open, shown by Jerry and his daughter, Nancy Wells. He also earned six halter points in Amateur shown by Rose Poindexter's son, Brandon White.

Perpetualism earned 53 firsts, three seconds and one fifth. Jerry Wells showed Perpetualism to AQHA World Champion two-year-old stallion in 1995, World Champion three-year-old stallion in 1996 and World Champion aged stallion in 1997. He was also an Incentive Fund Stallion. Youth. Perp, as everyone called him, 1993, he was sold to Rose loved treats and probably was the only horse that Jerry Wells ever fed treats to. He could see that sack coming towards him and would whinny, and you knew he had to have one (per Betty Wells). He was a very kind horse and a perfect gentleman. He died way too early, but he left his mark.

> After Perp's show career was completed, Jerry started breeding him, and as you will see below, he again showed his royalty.

Perpetualism was a very diverse sire, as he sired Palomino World Champions, Quarter mulated 28 halter points in Horse World Champions and Paint World Champions. He also sired Buckskins. In total, he sired 576 foals, with 265 shown in performance, and 16 in racing.

It is quickly approaching Valentine's Day so decorations are on the tables and around the dining room. Our Valentine's Day party will be Tuesday, February 14. A new Valentine King and Queen will be crowned that day. Members, start thinking about who should be honored this year.

The senior's next garage sale will be Friday, February 3, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Come check out the items for sale. There are two good sewing machines that have been checked and oiled. Both of these are metal machines with all metal parts that repairs can be made to. Check these out at the Senior Boutique next to the senior center.
