Two separate accidents lock up Interstate

John D. Montgomery
The Purcell Register

Two separate accidents, one last Friday and one last Sunday afternoon resulted in Interstate 35 being shut down both northbound and southbound and claimed the life of one person near the 91 mile marker.

The first accident occurred around 2 p.m. last Friday and closed the northbound lanes of the interstate for over three hours.

The Interstate traffic was routed through Purcell causing heavy traffic congestion.

The Oklahoma Highway Patrol reported Ruth C. Ingram, 86, of Ardmore was killed when her 1997 Ford Taurus she was driving was struck in the rear near the 91 mile marker.

Ingram was transported to the OU Medical Center in Oklahoma City where she was

Polls open Tuesday for bond election

Jeanne Grimes
The Purcell Register

Voters living in the Purcell Public Schools district will decide the outcome of the district's ambitious school bond package on Tuesday.

Two bond proposals are on the ballot.

The first, totaling $29.270 million, includes $17.965 to construct and equip a new junior high school on land south of the high school.

Once vacated, the existing junior high school with the exception of the Boney Matthews Gymnasium and the auditorium would be leased. The district would retain control of the gym and auditorium "for further school and civic use."

Also included in Proposition 1 are improvements to Conger Field totaling $11.005 million. Those include a new fieldhouse, men's and women's bathrooms, concession stand, home and visitor bleachers and press box.

The remaining $300,000 would be spent on technology

Strange earthen clumps that popped up overnight in lawns across Purcell are the work of shorttailed crickets. The insects are harmless and, in fact, their burrowing habit is actually beneficial to turf as it aerates the soil, according to Wes Lee, McClain County Extension director and educator.

Council hears complaints

Little recourse available through city's ordinances

Jeanne Grimes
The Purcell Register

Unhappy city residents found little immediate help Monday evening when they took their problems to the city council. It started with Ray Pevarnik's complaint that his neighbor's accumulation of junk cars and a boat is creating a health hazard for Pevarnik and his wife next door.

"I've got a problem," Pevarnik said of the neighbor at 126 S. 10th Ave. "There are eight junk vehicles and a boat in the backyard. Three vehicles and the boat have been there the past five years. It's a health hazard." Pevarnik said he spent $1,500 to put up a privacy fence to block the view in 2015 and his repeated complaints to the city's code enforcement have been largely ignored. "I've lived there 38 years and never had a mouse problem. Last year I caught four and this year in a cold spell, I caught two," he continued. "If that catches fire, I may lose my house. I'm getting tired of it. Something needs to be done."

City of Purcell officials would like to express their appreciation to everyone in our community who has been working harder than ever to keep up the maintenance on their property. This has been a very difficult year with a lot of rainfall and 90 degree weather. All of this hard work does not go unnoticed and is very much appreciated when everyone takes pride in their community by keeping their property maintained. According to code, it is the responsibility of the home owner and or renter to maintain your property, from the street to the middle of the alley. Fire Prevention Week is October 8-14

Ask anyone who has had a home fire and they'll tell you it's fast. Faster than they ever imagined. Home fires burn hot and spread quickly. The heat and smoke can make a fire deadly in less than two minutes. Every second counts to escape. Planning can help save lives in unwanted fires. The U.S. Fire Administration (USFA) wants everyone to know, "Every second counts... Plan 2 Ways Out!" It is a great time to make sure your family knows and can practice your escape plan. Talk about what each person would do if you had a fire. Make a plan around everyone's abilities. As children grow, their abilities increase. As adults age, it may take longer to get outside. Make sure your plan is right for your family. Escape Plan Essentials:

- Talk about your fire escape plan with your family.
- Together, draw a map of your home, including all doors and windows.
- Find two ways out of each room. Mark these on your map.
- Make sure windows and doors open easily from the inside and are not blocked.
- Choose a place in front of your home where firefighters can see you. Everyone will meet at this place after they escape.

- Practice your fire drill with everyone in your home. Go to your meeting place. Only dial 9-1-1 in a real emergency.
- Practice your drill at least twice a year.

 Access the escape plan essentials infographic on the USFA website: www.usfa.fema.gov/downloads/pdf/publications/2017fpw_infographic.pdf Make sure everyone can unlock doors and open windows. If you have security bars you need quick-release devices inside. Practice using all escape routes in your home. Practice unexpected situations, like having to escape through a room with smoke: crawl low, under the smoke, to your exits. Practice going to your meeting place. Everyone should know how to dial 9-1-1 to report a fire. Don't dial 9-1-1 when you're practicing. To learn more about Fire Prevention Week and home fire escape planning, please visit: www.usfa.fema.gov/prevention/outreach/fpw.html. Time for an upgrade

If you are not moving forward, you are moving backward.

That couldn't be more true of the bond issue on the ballot here Tuesday.

Yes, the $30 million price tag is eye popping.

But to build a new modern junior high next to the current high school that has a safe room big enough for both buildings is enough of a selling point for many.

Yes, some folks are asking why we would pass a bond for $30 million when teachers need a pay raise.

Bond issues are not for salaries. Providing better teacher pay is the job of the Oklahoma Legislature.

The bond issue is for things the school can't afford due to the lack of funding by the legislature such as band uniforms.

The current uniforms, which have been carefully taken care of, are 17 years old.

Plus, they are wool and cannot be worn in the August heat.

Editor's Notebook

John D.
Montgomery

It's a sad state of affairs but that's the world we currently live in.

And, many people are concerned about losing the mystique of Conger Field as it currently is.

The simple fact that we are going to keep the football stadium at Conger Field should be a selling point.

But, the fact of the matter is, if we do not build a retaining wall, we won't be playing football there in the long run.

The stadium needs an update just like your house or your car or your wardrobe.

New bleachers, sorely needed new bathrooms, locker rooms, weight lifting facilities, concession stands and a new and larger press box will bring the iconic stadium up to snuff.

As it is, we simply must stand up for education in our town.

There are other towns in this area hoping the bond issue doesn't pass.

I've been told over and over by Purcell coaches that people visit here thinking about relocating.

Once they see our facilities, they don't move here because of better athletic facilities in nearby towns.

The stadium is basically the same as it was when it officially opened in 1938. 1938!

It's time to upgrade.

This is another chance for Purcell to pull together for Purcell as we have done over the years.

I'm voting yes Tuesday. I hope you will, too.

NEWS FROM CAPITOL HILL

Tax relief for all Americans

Congressman Tom Cole

In 1986, then President Ronald Reagan introduced a sweeping plan to reform our nation's tax system, and it worked. It simplified the outdated tax code which opened the door for individual prosperity and spurred economic growth. It also became one of the highlights of his presidency.

Since then, our society has grown and the value of the U.S. dollar has changed. The working middle-class taxpayer today probably does not have the same priorities as they did in 1986.

After five different administrations following Reagan, our country has yet to see a major overhaul of our tax system to fit the needs of every class of Americans. It's time that we adjust, simplify and reform our broken tax code.

Last week, House Republicans, the Trump Administration and the Senate Finance Committee unveiled the structure and framework for a tax system that fits the 21st century. It is a plan that will deliver economic growth, incentivize the American taxpayer, provide relief for small businesses and simplify the filing process.

This means that Americans can keep more of their hard-earned money and have a tax system they actually understand. Furthermore, it means relief for small businesses and corporations through generous tax cuts.

A major reform to the tax code begins with the individual and families. Fundamentally, it is the answer to the creation of a fair and simpler system. The new plan will first double the standard deduction that individuals and families can take.

For joint filers, this means they can keep the first $24,000 of their hard-earned money. Single filers will be able to keep $12,000.

Essentially, this creates a "zero" percent tax bracket by eliminating taxes on that first earning.

One of the more complicated parts of our current tax code are the seven tax brackets imposed on taxpayers. Those seven brackets have been reduced to three in the new plan - 12 percent, 25 percent and 35 percent.

For many families that have filed under the 10 percent bracket, the new lower tier bracket of 12 percent is offset by the larger standard deduction, a larger child tax credit and further tax relief that will be debated in the legislative process.

For years, businesses and corporations have protested the burdensome and onerous tax rates that they face here in the United States, and it led to many taking their businesses overseas. Under the proposed reform, the tax structure for businesses provides overdue relief.

It reduces the corporate tax rate to 20 percent, which is below the 22.5 percent average of the industrialized world, and it caps the tax rate at 25 percent for small businesses.

In essence, this plan is a recipe for American prosperity. From job creation to bringing profits back home, businesses will flourish and promote American ingenuity. Families and individuals can focus on buying homes or preparing for retirement.

As with all legislation in Congress, this plan is subject to the legislative process, where it will be debated as well as detailed to fit every class of Americans.

But in the months to come, I am optimistic that we will have major tax legislation before the end of the year.

I stand for the flag, I kneel at the cross

By Sen. Paul Scott

Due to a lack of a budget agreement, the legislature has rightfully decided to adjourn until an agreement has been made. By adjourning, we'll be able to continue holding committee meetings and discussing the budget without incurring daily expenses. I'll keep you posted as negotiations continue.

While our state issues are foremost on my mind, I also care about what's happening nationally. This week, I want to share my thoughts on the NFL kneeling situation. I realize some won't agree with me. I don't wish to spread further hate but simply to provide a peaceful alternative for these individuals to share their beliefs without unnecessarily hurting others or breaking rules set by organizations like the NBA.

I believe in citizens' right to freedom of speech and to protest. We see it almost daily at the state Capitol during session. While I may not agree with all the groups' beliefs rallying at the Capitol, it makes me proud as an American that they're taking real action and sharing their thoughts with lawmakers and the public.

However, those rallying are never disrespectful to the American flag. It's that flag, after all, that provides them the ability to protest their government.

These NFL players are welcome to their opinions and beliefs but the way they're protesting is causing further division and not helping the situation. They want better trained law enforcement and to stop racial inequality; things we all want but dishonoring the U.S. flag doesn't help the situation.

They're simply insulting millions of military veterans and active service people as well as their families. The American flag flies because of our military. When you disrespect the flag, you disrespect the brave people who have and continue to sacrifice life and limb for our country.

If you believe there is a wrong in society, help raise or donate money or your time to organizations working to right that wrong.

Speaks out for community

When looking at growth potential for a community, one of the largest indicators is the condition of the community's public schools. When speaking with potential companies and professionals looking to make Purcell their home, the topic of public schools is always on their mind. The following are three vital ways that education relates to economic development.

Quality of life. Education is essential to any community's quality of life. When local schools thrive in academics, sports and extracurricular activities it enhances the community as a whole. Studies show that in communities where education is a top priority, crime rates are lower and the average health of the community is improved.

Property value. According to the National Bureau of Economic Research, there is a definite correlation between education spending and property value. A report titled, "using market valuation to assess school spending," found that for every dollar spent on public schooling in a community, home values increased by $20. These findings indicate that additional school expenditures may benefit everyone in the community, whether or not those residents actually have children in the local public school system.

Improved workforce. There continues to be considerable discussion regarding vital roles that good schools and a well educated population play in promoting sound, local economic and community development activities. Certainly, it is common sense that quality schools produce good citizens and skilled workers, and that employers are attracted to places having highly-educated labor. Surprisingly, 80 percent of new jobs come from expansion of existing business. Better education helps businesses want to stay and more important expand.

There is also the economic effects of new business (that are attracted by better schools) on public schools and the existing community. Those new businesses invest back in the school facilities, extracurricular programs and provide apprentice/internships in the workplace. According to researcher Jonathan Weiss, there is emerging evidence that the quality, size, and shape of school facilities can affect economic development. Beyond the potential economic impact of construction and maintenance of school facilities, buildings that are designed for multiple community uses can contribute to local economic growth. Interestingly, there seems to be increasing agreement among researchers that the condition of school facilities affects academic achievement on standardized test scores. Finally, truly community-oriented high schools can play an important role in adult and vocational training.

All this clearly points to the need for our public schools to be the best they can be and continually strive for more. This engine of perpetual improvement will, in turn, attract larger businesses, an influx of desirable residents and thusly, an increase in business for existing companies as well.

I recently read a letter from retired Marine Col. Jeffery Powers to NFL Commissioner Roger Goodell last year describing how he felt about the situation. He was a season ticket holder to Yankee Stadium, Yale Bowl and Giants Stadium.

He said, "I missed the '90-'91 season because I was with a battalion of Marines in Desert Storm. Fourteen of my wonderful Marines returned home with the American Flag draped across their lifeless bodies. My last conversation with one of them, Sgt. Garrett Mongrella, was about how our Giants were going to the Super Bowl. He never got to see it.

Many friends, Marines, and Special Forces Soldiers who worked with or for me through the years returned home with the American Flag draped over their coffins. Now I watch multi-millionaire athletes... disrespect what brave Americans fought and died for. They are essentially spitting in the faces and on the graves of real men."

He pointed out that players get penalized for dancing in the end zone or disrespecting the refs but to do those things is their 1st Amendment right but they don't do it unless they want to face consequences.

He asked why taunting wasn't allowed on the field but they are allowed to taunt America.

The Good Folks of Lennox Valley

Small town news inspires witty headlines

you wrote when the poultry inspector quit his job?"

Iris laughed to herself. Obviously, she had written that particular headline on purpose. "I believe," she said, "it was, 'Meat Head Resigns.'"

Laughter erupted throughout the room as it became obvious the friends' private conversation wasn't so private. Thinking back, I'm not sure much of anything was truly private in my hometown.

"Remember the one," queried Oscar Phillips, "about the little girl's stuffed animal getting stuck in the sewer?"

"Oh, yes," Iris answered with a laugh. "I couldn't help myself when I heard about the incident. Mary Ann Tinkersly dropped her stuffed Winnie the Pooh down the storm drain on Main Street."

"That's right," shouted Phillips. "I remember now. It was 'Sewer Blocked By Large Pooh!'"

It was then Vera Penrod walked into the 'Brau to pick up a dozen apple fritters for the evening meeting of the Auburn Hat Society.

"What's everyone laughing about?" she asked no one in particular.

"We were remembering funny headlines in the newspaper," Charles Marsh answered.

Jessie turned to Vera and said, "You've been in The Valley all your life. What's the funniest headline you remember?"

Vera rubbed her chin as she pondered the question.

"It was about five years ago, when the youth group at the Baptist church was doing a service project at the Springfield Senior Citizens Club."

Jessie began laughing, obviously remembering the story.

"What was the headline again, Jessie? Do you remember?"

"I will never forget it," answered Jessie. "It might be my all-time favorite."

"Well, what was it?" Juliette asked.

Jessie could barely get the words out, she was laughing so hard.

Mercifully, her words eventually came out. "Students Cook & Serve Grandparents."

The diner erupted in laughter.

Unlike Marvin Walsh, the group at the Hoffbrau had an appreciation for Iris Long's headline humor.

When "Renderings with Raymond" kicked off on Wednesday, Marvin Walsh was still steaming mad about the headline in the Lennox Valley Hometown News:

Lutheran Disruption Seemed Like Disagreement Among Friends

At the same moment, as Iris Long sat with her friends Sarah Hyden-Smith and Juliette Stoughton over lunch at the Hoffbrau, Iris laughed about some of the humorous headlines that had graced the Hometown News through the years.

Both Sarah and Juliette were relatively new to the community, so they hadn't realized their older friend was such a skilled wordsmith.

Overhearing the topic of conversation, Jessie couldn't help but become involved.

"One of my favorites," Jessie said, unsuccessfully trying to hold back her laughter, "was the headline that went with the story when Melvin and Kelli Schmidt moved to town. What was that headline again?"

Iris's reticence to give an answer hinted this particular headline wasn't purposely written to be funny.

"It's slipped my mind," Iris answered, as if the words weren't forever emblazoned in her memory.

Jessie couldn't hold her laughter in any longer as she roared. "I remember now. It was 'New Residents Come From Elsewhere!'"

Both Sarah and Juliette attempted to withhold their laughter, but couldn't help but giggle a little.

"What was your favorite?" Jessie asked her friend, attempting to make up for the embarrassment she had just caused.

"I'm not sure," Iris responded. "Sometimes I just want to live things up a bit, you know? A newspaper is more than just a source of information. It's a public service. I try to inform the public, sure. But sometimes it's fun to add a little humor to the mix."

Overhearing the conversation from his booth, Charles Marsh asked loud enough for the group to hear, "What was that headline

I tried out something a little different this week.

At the Cinemark in Oklahoma City they have a seating option called D-Box. Basically, for $5 extra, you get to sit in these special chairs that move and tilt to the action on screen.

I'll tell ya what, there's nothing quite like feeling your chair kick like a bronco while watching someone on screen get shocked by a defibrillator.

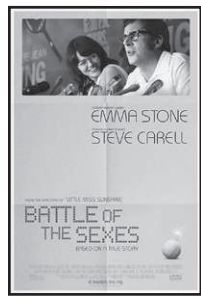

I'll be the first to admit that "Flatliners," a film about medical students exploring the afterlife, probably wasn't best movie to experience D-Box, more about that in my review though.

Still, it was novel in it's own way and I could see it being a lot of fun in a more action packed movie. Kids would definitely get a kick out of it.

Considering it was only around $10 for a matinee ticket, it wasn't a bad deal for a new experience.

I doubt I'll be seeking it out much in the future though. I'll take the giant screen of IMAX over a glorified rocking chair any day.

Anyway, that all said, here's what I saw this week.

First up is "Battle of the Sexes."

Based on real events, this film follows women's tennis champion Billie Jean King (Emma Stone) and her famous 1973 tennis match versus self proclaimed chauvinist pig and serial hustler Bobby Riggs (Steve Carell).

This was not at all the movie I was expecting from the trailers. Honestly, after watching the previews, I assumed this movie would be pretty straight forward.

I figured after a quick introduction to all the characters the film would just be Billie Jean preparing for the big match, training hard, maybe throwing in some personal hardships for drama, and ending with the main event. All the while dealing with rampant sexism on all sides.

And sure, those elements are there to some extent. They're practically just a side note though.

At its heart, this movie is actually about Billie Jean coming to terms with her sexuality, while also engaging in a secret love affair with her hairdresser Marilyn Barnett (Andrea Riseborough).

Like I said, not quite what I was expecting.

From the trailers and the film's title I figured this movie would be more focused on the match, you know something closer to a traditional sports film.

In reality the story's a much broader take on Billie Jean's life, and the big Battle of the Sexes match isn't even a thing until the second half of the movie.

I still found the story engaging, it was just way different than I thought it'd be all.

On to the performances, I thought the actors were pretty solid all around.

Emma Stone plays the starring role well enough, but my favorite character actually ended up being Steve Carell as Bobby Riggs.

In the trailers they really play up the scenes with him being comically chauvinistic, but in reality that's only an act.

At his core, the man's just a gambler looking for a hussle, and playing up the overt sexism is only a means to gain more publicity for the event.

Despite him playing the jerk, Carell's character was probably the most likeable person in the whole movie.

Unsurprisingly, considering his background, the man's the center of attention in most comedic scenes, and he's definitely at his funniest when he's hamming up the misogynistic caricature routine.

But he also handles the dramatic moments just as well, and he's especially good in the scenes involving his estranged wife (Elisabeth Shue).

The real star of the show here though is the cinematography.

This movie is absolutely gorgeous.

From the masterful framing and creative camera angles, to the vibrant colors and beautiful silhouettes, I just love everything about the look of this movie.

They even manage to make something as mundane as a haircut look breathtakingly beautiful and oddly sensual.

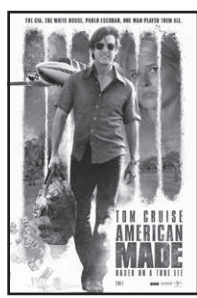

No surprise that the man behind these stunning shots is cinematographer Linus Sandgren, who won an Oscar for last year's "La La Land."

I swear this movie is worth seeing just for the cinematography alone.

All in all I really enjoyed this film. It's different than I expected, but I guess that isn't always a bad thing. If you enjoy period pieces and a romance between two women doesn't bother you, I say go check it out.

"Battle of the Sexes" is rated PG-13.

Next up is "American Made."

Fearless airline pilot Barry Seal (Tom Cruise) unexpectedly finds himself recruited by the CIA in the late 1970s to provide reconnaissance on the growing communist threat in Central America.

Barry, being so good at his job, soon ends up in charge of one of the biggest covert CIA operations in history, assisting the creation of the Medellín Cartel, founded by Pablo Escobar, and starting events that lead to the biggest scandal of the Reagan Administration, the Iran-Contra affair.

The story here is completely ridiculous and oftentimes it completely strains believability. This is made even more absurd considering this film is actually based on real events.

To be fair to the CIA and Reagan Administration though, this movie takes a lot of liberties with the timing of events, and many plot points, including Seal working with the CIA in the '70s, are mostly based on rumor.

This film still has a fair amount of truth in it, but I definitely wouldn't take it as a documentary though.

Either way, the movie makes for a wild ride and at the center of that is an incredibly fun performance from Tom Cruise.

If there's one thing this film gets accurate it's Barry Seal's personality. In real life this man was bold and brave almost to the point of stupidity, often times doing stunts with no regard to the danger involved.

Who better to play that character than the Maverick himself?

It's been over 30 years since "Top Gun" released and Cruise is still in top form. Say what you will about his personal life, but the man is still one of the best actors in Hollywood.

Cruise is absolutely perfect in this role. He just oozes charm and you can't help but root for him despite his constant immoral and criminal behavior. This movie's worth watching just for his performance alone.

Other than Cruise and Sarah Wright, who plays the role of Barry Seal's wife reasonably well, the only other actor really worth mentioning is Domhnall Gleeson as CIA agent Monty Schafer.

I'm not sure if I can say his character is unbelievable, but if there's actually CIA agents who play as fast and loose with the rules as Gleeson's character does in this movie, that's a horrifying prospect.

The government agent turns a blind eye and practically encourages massive amounts of illegal drug trade and the funding of dangerous cartels. All just to keep the commies at bay in Central America.

I mean, I'm sure the CIA has done its fair share of questionable acts, but I have a hard time believing an agent would behave quite this recklessly. Maybe that's just me being naive though.

But despite all the illegal activity and shady dealings, this movie manages to keep a light tone throughout. Honestly, it's just plain fun, regardless of how accurate it is.

I highly recommended this film for an entertaining night at the theater. Just take the history lesson with a massive grain of salt.

"American Made" is rated R.

Third this week, I saw "Flatliners."

In this remake of the 1990 psychological horror film, five medical students begin conducting experiments hoping to gain insight into the afterlife. Their method? Stopping each other's hearts for minutes at a time.

As their experiments continue though, the group begins experiencing side effects and sins from their very own pasts start to haunt them.

First of all, I've never seen the original 90s version of "Flatliners." Honestly didn't even know it existed until a week ago, so I have no clue how this remake compares to the original film.

All I can say is I hope it was better than this boring, drawn out excuse of a movie.

Somehow they managed to make this 110 minute movie feel like 3 hours long. Just when I think it's almost over, it keeps on going.

For a while I actually thought I wrote the runtime down wrong and I might miss my next movie. That's how long it felt.

The only reason I stayed awake was my chair kept rocking back and forth, and kicking me every once in awhile. Thanks D-Box, I would've gotten a good nap if it wasn't for you.

The actors aren't too terrible, but the characters they portray are all horribly generic.

They're also dumb as a sack of rocks for attempting to do experiments like this.

This group is supposed to be all medical students. How on Earth do they think stopping each other's hearts is a good idea?

I understand Ellen Page did it and now she has a greater understanding of universe or some crap, but you guys aren't just tripping out on LSD, you're freaking killing yourselves.

The only one of them I actually sympathized with was Diego Luna's character. At least he has the sense not to be shocked to death by his fellow college students.

But beyond the idiots this film calls characters, the movie as a whole is an unfocused mess.

It attempts to be both a

Time again to shop for the best Medicare deal

By Bob Moos/Southwest public affairs officer for the U.S. Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services

Now's the time for Oklahomans with Medicare to check their health and drug coverage for 2018.

Medicare's open enrollment period runs from October 15 to December 7.

Open enrollment is the best time to make sure your health and drug plans still meet your individual needs, especially if you've had any changes in your health.

By now insurers should have notified you of any adjustments in your health or drug coverage or any changes in your out-of-pocket costs for next year.

Even if you've been satisfied with your health and drug coverage, you may benefit from reviewing all your options. Shopping around may save you money or improve your coverage.

Medicare Advantage remains a strong alternative for people who prefer to receive care through a private insurer rather than through Medicare's original fee-for-service program. Most plans include drug coverage.

The number of people buying Medicare Advantage plans is expected to grow by nine percent to 20.4 million nationwide in 2018. Eighteen percent of Oklahomans with Medicare now opt to get their health care benefits this way.

Many Advantage plans charge a separate premium on top of the Part B premium you'll pay for Medicare's medical insurance. Nationally, the average monthly cost for that separate Medicare Advantage premium will be $30 in 2018 -- $1.91 less than this year.

Oklahomans in Medicare's traditional fee-for-service program who want to add prescription drug coverage can choose from 23 drug plans with monthly premiums ranging from $20.40 to $178.20—about the same premium range as last year. Nationally, the average premium for a basic drug plan in 2018 will drop by $1.20 to $33.50 per month.

Look beyond premiums, though. The only way to determine the true cost of your drug coverage is to consider other factors like deductibles, co-payments and coinsurance.

Medicare's website — www.medicare.gov — has the best tool for helping you narrow your search for a new health or drug plan. Just click on "Find Health and Drug Plans."

After entering your ZIP code and the list of your prescriptions, you can use the "Medicare Plan Finder" tool to compare your coverage and out-of-pocket costs under different plans.

The quality of a health or drug plan's customer service should be considered, too. To help you identify the best and worst, the Plan Finder provides star ratings for each plan. The ratings range from five stars (excellent) to one star (poor); three stars are average.

Higher-rated plans deliver a higher level of care, such as managing chronic conditions efficiently, screening for and preventing illnesses, and making sure people get much-needed prescriptions. Higher-rated plans also have fewer complaints or long waits for care.

Besides using Medicare.gov, you can call Medicare's toll-free help line at 1-800-633-4227 or consult your "Medicare & You 2018 Handbook," which you should have received in the mail in the last few weeks.

One-on-one benefits counseling is also available through your State Health Insurance Assistance Program. In Oklahoma, you should call 1-800-763-2828.

Medicare's drug benefit continues to improve. You'll enjoy more savings on your prescriptions in 2018 once you land in the coverage gap, known as the "doughnut hole."

You'll receive a 65 percent break on your brand-name drugs and a 56 percent discount

VOTE YES

Purcell citizens have literally generations of reasons to vote yes on October 10 for the Purcell Schools bond proposition.

I live in Purcell and am employed in another district where bond funds properly managed have made a difference in the availability and effectiveness of learning resources.

I believe Purcell stands ready to do the same and show forthright in regards to safe spaces.

My purpose, too, is to make a suggestion about what to do after the bond.

Please realize among the great things a bond can do is not adding needed quality teachers or paying effective current teachers a fair wage, or even addressing the discrepancy in the number of new public school students since 2008 while funding has stayed flat or decreased depending on your measuring stick.

Few have the perfect formula of cost saving measures and better revenue (evidenced by the special session).

Hopefully there are many, however, who believe that public schools are worth fighting for with our voices and votes.

So, please consider calling and writing those elected officials whose job it is to figure all of this out with the purpose of having a public school system (patronized by the majority of the citizenry) that is able to serve kids and families at a high level.

Be clear, it is their job, more so than pandering to special interests, or assigning themselves to dangerous group think, or even getting reelected, to do the right things for my kids and yours.

If the calls and letters yield disappointing results, please understand that voting for another view of public education in the next election very possibly could be as important as your vote next Tuesday.

Sincerely,
Chad Hall

Chickasaw White House celebrates Harvest Fest 2017

The Chickasaw Nation will host the 2017 Harvest Fest 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, October 21, at the Chickasaw White House, 6379 E. Mansion Dr., in Milburn.

Built in 1898, and once considered a mansion on the frontier, the home contains some very unusual features for the era, including 14 foot ceilings, cherry mahogany fireplace mantels, crystal chandeliers, a dance floor and phonographs.

The event—open to the public at no cost—is a step back into the early 1900s with food and activities representing the lives of Chickasaw Nation Governor Douglas H. Johnston (1856-1939) and his family.

Tours of the White House will be available throughout the day. Activities include carriage rides, make-and-take crafts, a cake walk, photo booth, pumpkin decorating, live music, scavenger hunts and more.

An on-site smoker will cook up a southern style barbecue lunch with brisket, ribs, corn on the cob, baked beans and rolls for attendees.

The Chickasaw White House was home to the Johnston family from 1898-1971.

It was the setting for many important political and social gatherings. After acquiring the home in the 1990s, the Chickasaw Nation restored it to its original grandeur. The Johnston home is listed on the National Register of Historic Homes.

I had the opportunity to meet Sister Rosemary Nyirumbe at Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church in Purcell on Sunday.

The diminutive nun from Northern Uganda was in town talking about her convent's practical training center, St. Monica's Tailoring School for Girls.

Sister Rosemary defied guerrilla leader Joseph Kony and the Lord's Resistance Army and saved hundred of lives from civil war by providing sanctuary at St. Monica's. She also provided training programs in sewing, cooking and hairdressing for any woman who had been held captive by the army.

It was a true testament to the good people can do to help others and she is definitely passionate about it.

Sister Rosemary has been a speaker at the University of Oklahoma on more than one occasion talking about the work that OU students have done in Uganda.

Jack and Lane climbed up in her lap for a picture like they'd known her their whole lives.

I was glad I had heard a story of such inspiration after the horrible massacre that happened in Las Vegas on Sunday night.

Here's another good slow cooker recipe.

Slow Cooker Smothered Chicken

20 oz. boneless, skinless chicken thighs

1/4 cup chicken broth

8 oz. container chive and onion cream cheese spread

1/4 tsp. salt

1/2 tsp. pepper

1 cup chopped cooked bacon

1 cup frozen sweet peas

Cooked egg noodles, as desired

Spray bottom of slow cooker, with cooking spray. Add chicken thighs to slow cooker.

In small microwavable bowl, mix chicken broth, cream cheese spread, salt and pepper. Microwave uncovered on high 1 minutes; beat with whisk until smooth. Pour mixture on top of chicken thighs.

Cover and cook on low 3-3-1/2 hours or until juice of chicken is clear when the thickest part is cut.

Stir 3/4 cup of the bacon and frozen peas into chicken mixture, mix well. Increase heat setting to high, cover and cook 10 to 15 minutes or until peas are cooked.

Serve chicken and sauce over cooked egg noodles and top with remaining 1/4 cup bacon.

Dave:

personal drama and horror film, but fails to do either, or at least they do a pretty poor job of it.

The horror elements are laughably terrible. I couldn't help but crack up during some of them.

Early on it mostly amounts to them seeing otherwise stationary objects moving, like a shower curtain shaking or something. Very spooky I guess.

Later they start being haunted by people from their past, but it's never really scary. They just get chased a little and that's it.

I suppose one guy gets stabbed in the hand at one point, but they don't dwell on it. In fact, they just skip to the next scene like nothing happened.

They don't even bother to do a transition. One second the guy has a knife embedded in the middle of his palm, the next he's sitting down at a restaurant hanging out with his friends.

It's like they skipped a whole scene, and as a consequence, they let any actual tension evaporate into thin air.

The interpersonal drama isn't engaging either because it all revolves around these brain-dead numbskulls who keep shocking each other to death. I don't really care if they live or die if the characters themselves don't seem to either.

It fails at being a drama, it fails at being horror, and it fails to do anything interesting with the concept. Spend your time and money elsewhere.

"Flatliners" is rated PG-13.

Finally, the last movie I saw this week was "Stronger." Based on the real life story of Jeff Bauman (Jake Gyllenhaal), this film follows the personal hardships, grief, and inspirational recovery of a man who experiences some of the worst trauma imaginable while cheering on his girlfriend (Tatiana Maslany) at the finish line of the 2013 Boston Marathon.

I wasn't originally planning on seeing this movie. Not for any reason to do with the actual film, it just didn't happen to be showing at my preferred theater.

It's only thanks to a scheduling issue that I decided to drive up to the Cinemark in OKC and add another movie to my weekend.

That decision was one of the best ones I've made in a while. I dearly loved this movie.

If you're having difficulty affording your medications, you may qualify for extra help with your drug coverage premiums, deductibles and co-payments.

The amount of help depends on your income and resources. But, generally, you'll pay no more than $3.35 for each generic drug and $8.35 for each

Sure, it's a movie about a man dealing with the loss of his legs after going through the unthinkable, but it ends up being so much more than that.

He also has to deal with being thrust into the limelight for something he had absolutely no control over, suddenly becoming a hero to millions just for surviving a tragedy.

Imagine, one day you're just some schlub from Boston working the deli at a discount store, the next you're famous. And it's not even for something great you did, it's for getting your freaking legs blown off.

Jake Gyllenhaal embodies this person magnificently.

His performance is palpable and the raw emotion of it cut me to my core.

One of the most powerful scenes is actually something you'd think would be completely mundane. Just Jeff getting his leg bandages changed.

But the way the scene's framed is so well done, with his mutilated legs in center of the screen yet out of focus, and Gyllenhaal's face prominently off to the side.

You can't even make out the damaged limbs themselves, but the pain on his face shows more than any images ever could.

Another stand out was Tatiana Maslany, who plays Jeff's girlfriend Erin Hurley.

Her tragedy isn't a physical one, but an emotional one. Dealing with the overwhelming guilt of being the reason this man was where he was when he lost his legs.

She doesn't even need to speak. You can read the emotion on her face. It's heart wrenching.

All this isn't to say this film's all tragedy. It's also shockingly funny at times.

Jeff and his family are all lovingly blunt in exactly way you'd expect a Boston family to be and the group of them make for some truly hilarious moments.

I wouldn't expect a movie with so many hardships to be this funny, but when I think about it, those scenes really help balance everything out.

It gives you some much needed breathers from all the pain and shows you a glimpse normality in the midst of all this tragedy.

I don't know what else to say. I loved everything about this movie.

It made me laugh, it made me cry like a baby, and it's one of the best films I've seen all year. I couldn't recommend it more. "Stronger" is rated R.

Purcell Senior Citizens

By Fredda Perry

It looks like fall has finally arrived. I think we are supposed to get some rain at the end of this week. If it does what the weathermen are telling us, it will start to cool off drastically. I think we may have to give up our short pants and get out our longer ones.

Special alert: The center will be closed Friday, October 20. This is due to budget cuts in the State DHS budget. From time to time until next June, the center will be closed. We will try to stay on top of the schedule and let everyone know ahead of time when these closures will occur. Transportation will still be available on the days we are closed due to budget cuts.

The seniors numbers have been back up in the 40s. We are glad for this. The daily number is what helps us keep our center open. The center is so valuable to our town and the seniors who live in and around Purcell.

Anyone who is 60 or older is invited to come visit the center where there is always something cooking and plenty of activities. Be aware if you plan to eat lunch at the center, you will need to call the kitchen at 527-9462 the day before or by 8 a.m. the day you want to join the seniors for lunch.

Alert! The senior's garage sales will be on Thursday for the next few weeks. The next sale will be Thursday, October 5, starting at 8 a.m. and lasting until 3 p.m. There have been lots of early fall donations in the last few weeks. Come by and check it all out. Remember it is much easier on the ladies who work the garage sale if you will call and make arrangements to drop your donations off. Please do not leave donations on the patio over the weekend without calling 990-1840.

Several of the seniors are still walking on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays inside so come on down and join us. We are planning a new exercise class. The plan is to begin a "Sit and Be Fit" exercise class. We had hoped to get this started this week, but that did not happen. We are looking at October 19. Plan to start the program with us. For those of you who tried this the last time, we have plans to move out into the dining room so we will have more room to do the exercises.

Thursday is bingo day every week. Bingo starts promptly at 10 a.m. Everyone needs to be in their chair at 10 a.m. so the games can begin on time. Everyone is a winner before we are finished. We have been having a full house each week. Thursday morning is an exciting time at the center as we usually have new people.

If you know someone who needs help with their noon meal at their home, call the Delta Nutrition Center at 527-9462 and ask for Rebecca.

Need a place to have a special event? The center is available for $70 a day. If you're interested call 527-5070. Call early so you can get the date you want. Check us out if you need a large room for a party or reunion.

The center will be closed Friday, September 29. The cooks have an in-service meeting in Duncan.

Menu for the week of October 9-13:

Monday—Goulash, green beans, corn, mixed fruit salad.

Tuesday—Blackeyed peas, oven fried potatoes, beets, cornbread, wacky cake.

Wednesday—Sweet and sour pork, carrots, green peas, rice, pineapple, oranges.

Thursday—Chicken spaghetti, broccoli, carrots, fruit in season.

Friday—Vegetable beef stew, green salad, cornbread, sweet

Lexington Community News

By Hazel Shockley Daniels

All is going well at the center. Meals are good, and the visiting is great. If you are new in our community, come on down to the Lexington Community Center on Wednesday and Thursday for a good home cooked meal and make new friends or visit with old ones.

If you have news for this column, we will be glad to include it.

The exercise program is still available. The present schedule for exercise is 9 a.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and for the early risers and professional people, you can get in at 6 a.m. on Monday, Tuesday and Friday mornings. Plans are underway to have the building open for evening people at a later date. You can call Sue Peery at (405) 830-8507 if you have questions about any of the exercise schedules.

If you are interested in playing table games, cards and dominoes, just ask someone at the center and they will let you know when. There is some interest in playing dominoes, so if you have friends interested you can make it happen. We would like to see more participation in the game time and a schedule of events will be made available.

Lunch is served from 11 a.m.-12:30 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday for a $6 donation. To-go orders are $7. The lunch is open to the public and home cooked and served by the volunteers at Lexington Community Center, 131 S. Main.

All menus are subject to change.

Menu for October 5, 11 and 12:

Thursday, October 5—Pork chops, mashed potatoes and gravy, green beans, mixed vegetables, rolls, salad bar, chocolate or white cake.

Wednesday, October 11—Baked potato, chopped meat, vegetable beef stew, broccoli with cheese, sour cream, butter, onions, peppers, salad bar, banana or bread pudding.

Thursday, October 12—Meatloaf, scalloped potatoes, cabbage, corn, rolls, salad bar, blackberry or cherry cobbler.

Water well funds

Efforts to bring potable water to residents east of Lexington received a sizeable helping hand from the Oklahoma Water Resources Board which awarded the project a $150,000 REAP grant. The OWRB approved the grant in June and members were in Lexington September 20 for the presentation to Cleveland County Rural Water, Sewer, Gas and Solid Waste Management No. 1. Scott:

I agree whole-heartedly with this fine veteran.

He went on to say, "Legends and heroes do not wear shoulder pads. They wear body armor and carry rifles. They make minimum wage and spend months and years away from their families. They don't do it for an hour on Sunday. They do 24/7 often with lead, not footballs, coming in their direction.

They watch their brothers carted off in pieces not on a gurney to get their knee iced. They don't even have ice! Many don't have legs or arms.

Some wear blue and risk their lives daily on the streets of America. They wear fire helmets and go upstairs into the fire rather than down to safety. On 9-11, hundreds vanished. They are the heroes."

Last week, members of the Thunder basketball team said that they're deciding whether or not to kneel during the national anthem. Some of my colleagues and I are awaiting their decision because we have talked and plan to author legislation to stop any current or future state subsidies, payments or incentives to the team should they disrespect the flag and our country in this manner.

Again, these athletes have many ways to share their views and help bring about change in the world off the court. We don't wish to financially incentivize any further spreading of hatred and disrespect.

If you have any questions or concerns, I can be reached at paul.scott@oksenate.gov or (405) 521-5522.

Council:

The problem, according to code enforcement officer Jimmy New, is that after he issued a $249 citation to the homeowner in 2016, the man went to court and was advised by the municipal judge to erect a privacy fence screening the backyard and its contents from view.

The homeowner did as the judge suggested and now code enforcement officers are barred from looking over the fence or even taking photographs over the fence.

And the vehicles that are in view are all tagged and in operating order.

"If it is behind that fence, I don't know of any code violation," city attorney Ted Haxel agreed.

Haxel said it comes down to this:

"Do we have someone violating our ordinances or do we have a bad neighbor?"

Pevarnik argued the neighbor could have been forced to comply with city ordinances the first time he complained to New.

When mayor Ted Cox tried to explain that it was the judge who told the homeowner to "close it in," an angry Pevarnik walked out of the meeting.

The second complaint of the night came from Diane Dewbre, who owns the Wellness Clinic at 128 W. Main. She and her husband also live in an apartment above the clinic.

Her complaint is about the bar which is located in the same building.

Dewbre charged that live bands performing at the bar are in violation of the city's noise ordinance.

"I've tried to deal with the owner," she said, adding that the bar manager is planning to have a live band performing nightly from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. "I don't want to tie up the police every night," she said. "But I will. The building shakes when the band plays."

The noise is an annoyance, Dewbre said, but the second of her complaints is a health hazard.

Citing state law regarding smoking, Dewbre said the smoke from the bar's clientele is supposed to be vented outside. Instead, it finds its way into her clinic.

"I have a medical clinic," she said. "I will have to close my clinic and move. This is not a stand alone bar. Secondhand smoke is very dangerous. According to Oklahoma statute, there should be no smoking in that building."

Cox said there is nothing the council can do.

"This is zoned C-1 and that includes taverns, nightclubs and bars," he said. "They have a right to have a bar. It's not a violation of our code because they have a right to be there."

Dewbre said she isn't disputing the bar's right to be there, but said it is a question of "what do we want downtown."

Haxel noted a bar has been in that location for 50 or 60 years.

"Until they break the law, there's not a lot we can do about it," he added.

In other business, the council:

- approved a resolution calling for a municipal election February 13, 2018;
- approved an ordinance creating for planned unit developments;
- tabled a request to declare 226 Huron Street a dilapidated structure;
- approved purchase of a street vacuum for $158,064.35;
- heard a presentation by three high school students in the SkillsUSA program at Mid-America Technology Center;
- accepted a $33,930 bid from Jordan Contractors Inc., for a sewer line replacement project on Squirrel Creek;
- approved advertising for bids on a new concrete drying bed at the sewer plant; and
- approved funding for the fuel farm at the airport.

Fundraiser

A good turnout was on hand last Saturday for the Luggage With Love program. Purcell Fire and Police were on hand when 1/2 dozen airplanes from all around came in for the event. Pilots from places like Chickasha and OU were among those who flew in. There were two food trucks, eight tents and a big crowd. The total raised hasn't been announced. Fund are used to provide clothing, luggage and basic necessities for foster children.

Mouthguard facts

Put the bite on injured mouths, teeth

Every athlete or parent of an athlete should know that a mouthguard is an essential piece of athletic gear and should be part of an athlete's standard equipment from an early age.

"In fact, an athlete is 60 times more likely to suffer harm to the teeth when not wearing a mouthguard," said Purcell dentist Dr. Stephanie Schmidt. "Mouthguards help buffer an impact or blow that otherwise could cause broken teeth, jaw injuries or cuts to the lip, tongue or face."

In addition, mouthguards may reduce the number and severity of concussions.

The devices are used most commonly in contact sports like boxing, football, hockey and lacrosse.

But research has shown they also help prevent mouth and jaw injuries in sports viewed as non contact, including basketball, gymnastics and skateboarding.

Schmidt advised choosing a mouthguard that is resilient and tear resistant, fits properly and is comfortable, is easy to clean and doesn't restrict speech or breathing.

There are three types of mouthguards, she added,

These are ready made, "boil and bite" model and the custom mouthguard made by a dentist.

"Your dentist can make a custom mouthguard for you or your child that is comfortable and offers superior protection," she said. "Because treating a sports related dental injury can cost thousands of dollars, a custom mouthguard is a worthwhile investment."

If the cost of a custom mouthguard makes it unfeasible, it is still wise to discuss the other types with a dentist.

For more information, visit www.ada.org/public/topics/mouthguards.asp.

Fatality:

pronounced dead. She is the sixth fatality in the construction zone since construction began in September 2016 for the bridge over state Highway 74. It was the same old story for yet another accident near that location with traffic backed up due to the highway construction.

The four car pile up resulted in no injuries to any of the other drivers or passengers, the OHP said.

Troopers said vehicle number one was a 2000 Chevrolet pickup driven by David Hamric, 37 of Oklahoma City.

Vehicle three was a 2016 Lincoln MKX driven by Michael Howell, 56, of Keller, Texas. He had three passengers in that vehicle.

Vehicle four was a 2006 Chevrolet Silverado pickup driven by Bruce Jones, 58, of Leader, Texas.

The accident remains under investigation. Four OHP troopers were at the scene along with Purcell Police and Fire units and Wadley's EMS. The Sunday accident occurred just before 4 p.m. in the southbound lanes, closing the interstate's southbound lanes for over an hour.

The OHP said a 2011 Dodge Ram driven by Jason Peterson, 41, of Norman was approaching the construction zone at mile marker 95.

Trooper Jeff Cummings said Peterson dropped an unknown object in his lap causing his vehicle to strike a 2017 Peterbilt semi driven by Alan Dawson, 65, of Smithville, Texas that had slowed for the construction zone.

Peterson was pinned in his vehicle for 35 minutes before Purcell Firefighters were able to extricate him with the jaws of life.

Peterson was transported by Mediflight and admitted to OU Medical Center in good condition with arm and leg injuries.

Assisting Trooper Cummings at the scene were Wadley's EMS, Mediflight and Purcell Police and Fire units.

The busy weekend for first responders here continued last Saturday night in Byars when a seven year old female juvenile from Rosedale was struck by a car in the roadway of state Highway 59 just east of Red Rock Avenue.

A 2012 Nissan Altima driven by Steven H. Filkins, 64, of Ada hit the female while she was walking in the roadway. The OHP said she was in the outside lane of highway 59 about 7:30 p.m.

She was transported by Wadley's EMS to OU Medical Center where she was admitted in critical condition with multiple internal and external injuries.

Trooper Aaron Nickell investigated the accident with assistance from Trooper Cummings, the McClain County Sheriff's Department and Wadley's.

Authorities investigated another several car pile up at the 91 northbound last Sunday afternoon but details were not available.

Discover science and medicine with Junior Native Explorers

The Chickasaw Nation Junior Native Explorers Program invites Native American students ages six through 18 to dive deep into areas of earth science, natural science, biomedical science and medicine with hands-on activities and learning experiences.

Students will embark on quarterly field trips led by scientists, physicians, educators and other mentors to help open up the world of science to participants while experiencing hands-on learning.

Past field trips include the Oklahoma City Zoo, Chickasaw Cultural Center, Chickasaw National Recreation Area and more.

The goal of Junior Native Explorers is to help strengthen the interest of students in pursuing degrees in science and medicine. Students will learn about career opportunities and internships available in the science and medicine fields.

Students who reside in Ada, Ardmore or surrounding areas are encouraged to apply. Transportation will be provided from Ada.

Flu clinics available to community at no cost

The Chickasaw Nation will offer three opportunities to receive flu vaccinations to the public at no cost in south central Oklahoma this fall.

Flu clinic times and locations will include:

Saturday, October 7, in Tishomingo during the Chickasaw Nation Annual Meeting and Festival. Shots will be administered after Chickasaw Nation Governor Bill Anoatubby's State of the Nation until 5 p.m. from the Inchokma "Feel Well/Be Well" Medical Mobile Unit, found on the Chickasaw National Capitol grounds, 411 W. Ninth St.

10 a.m. to 7 p.m., Wednesday, October 25, at the Chickasaw Nation Purcell Health Clinic, 1438 Hardcastle Blvd.

10 a.m. to 7 p.m., Monday, November 6, at the Chickasaw Nation Ardmore Health Clinic, 2510 Chickasaw Dr.

Shots are available to anyone age six months and up. Prior to receiving the vaccination, community members will fill out a flu consent form.

Yearly flu vaccinations help protect individuals from influenza. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recommends a yearly flu vaccination as the first and most important step in protecting against the flu.

Some people are more vulnerable to serious flu illness, including infants, children, elders and people with certain chronic health issues. Being vaccinated better protects not only the individual, but also everyone around them.

For more information about the flu clinics, contact Shawna.Smith@Chickasaw.net.

A veritable village

These brown clumps in the lawn of a residence on West Main Street are caused by shorttailed crickets taking advantage of rain-softened ground to dig out a winter habitat for the harmless insects.

Crickets:

folks are unaware exists. Wes Lee, Cooperative Extension Service director for McClain County, identified the cause on Friday. "It's the shorttail cricket," he said. "We get a lot of calls, but they don't do much damage. The only time we recommend spraying is when they interfere with activities."

In fact, he explained, the shorttail cricket, unlike its destructive field cricket cousin with the insatiable appetite, actually does more good than harm to the average lawn by aerating the ground.

Those alien looking lumps are tiny balls of soil which the shorttail cricket removes from its underground bunker where the nymph insects will overwinter.

The tubes or burrows can reach depths of 12 to 20 inches, Lee said.

Recent rains have created what Lee said are perfect conditions to see the dirt activities of the reclusive insects.

"It's wet and it's cool, but not too cold," he added.

The visible mounds are similar to those created by crawfish.

A single nymph will occupy each burrow and the shorttail cricket produces just one generation a year.

According to an Oklahoma State University fact sheet, shorttail cricket nymphs undergo several molts in early spring until they reach adult stage.

Females mate and begin to lay their eggs in late spring and early summer.

The eggs hatch in a multi-chambered burrow dug by the adult cricket.

On leaving the hatching burrow, nymphs will make burrows of their own, starting small and increasing in size as the nymph matures.

They rebuild the burrows when those are washed away by fall rain.

The adult shorttail cricket is light brown and about 3/4 of an inch long. They have hind wings which are shed shortly after they reach adulthood. They never fly.

The nymphs are identical in appearance, but lack any wings at all. They are smaller than adults.

Their diet includes grasses, weeds and pine seedlings. They confine their foraging to night. According to the fact sheet, damage to turfgrasses due to feeding is "negligible."

Lee said the shorttail cricket is one of three varieties in Oklahoma.

Another below-ground dweller is the mole cricket which looks nothing like a cricket and "never really comes out of the ground."

"Field crickets are the ones people see come into houses," he said. "Field crickets will eat anything."

Taken to turf

Shorttail crickets like this are responsible for the small mounds of excavated soil that appeared overnight last week in many Purcell lawns.

Neighbor:

Born Sept. 28, 1915, at Tishomingo, she was the oldest of 11 children – eight girls and three boys.

The growing family lived on a Chickasaw allotment, Chapman Farm, near Cottonwood, a small town south of what is now Murray State College.

Her father farmed and sold cars.

As the oldest, Lenora "learned a lot about how to take care of kids and do most anything a young lady would do ... washing and ironing."

Lenora went to Chapman School, a one-room school that was on the farm. There were seven – two girls and five boys – in her graduating class.

The farm and the Cottonwood community would eventually be covered by the waters of Lake Texoma.

When that happened, the Fuson family moved to Tishomingo.

Anxious to continue her education, Lenora enrolled in Murray State Agricultural College.

"I worked my way through school," she said.

She lived with the family of one of her teachers, Fay Chisholm. She cared for the Chisholm home and also worked in a hardware store owned by Mr. Chisholm.

She walked a mile to the college every day. But fate was waiting to interfere with her educational plans.

In 1935, she caught the eye of Lyman Hobbs II who worked at the Chevrolet dealership around the corner from the hardware store.

That proximity and the fact that Lenora's father and an uncle also worked at the same dealership led to introductions and Lenora and Lyman began keeping company.

"We dated about a year before we married (in 1936)," Lenora said.

The wedding was at the Baptist Church in Tishomingo.

The couple had two sons, Lyman III and John.

The family moved to Purcell in 1945 when Lenora's husband got a job as bookkeeper at Graham Chevrolet here.

He died in October 1960, leaving Lenora to raise their youngest son, John, who was in junior high school.

By then, their older son had graduated from college and was working for an oil company in Texas.

"I went to work for McClain Bank and in the evenings was a nurse's aide at the hospital," she said.

It was a busy schedule and got even more so after she retired in 1981.

She filled her newfound leisure time on the links, using her own golf cart to get around the course, playing 27 to 36 holes daily during the week.

But never on the weekends because that's when "those amateurs" played.

She usually played 18 holes in the mornings before heading to the Chickasaw Senior Citizens for lunch. Then it would be back to the golf course for another 9 to 18 holes.

She was secretary/treasurer for Rebekah Lodge and was a member of the Red Hat Society. She also served on the Chickasaw Community Council on Aging.

Never one to lollygag, she filled her Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights by going dancing.

She also managed to squeeze some time in for travel. In November 2002 she rode a bus from Oklahoma to Florida to watch John Herrington "go up in space."

She was 87.

Watching the launch was important to her because, Herrington, a fellow Chickasaw, was the first Native American astronaut in space.

Lenora moved to Westwood Gardens in 2016.

There she stays active with daily walks outside around the grounds.

When a well-wisher approaches to wish her a happy birthday, she tells Lenora that she is from Cement.

Lenora happily recalls that she once had a beau from Cement. By chance, did the woman know him or any of his people.

Sorry, no, comes the reply.

Had she ever been to Tishomingo, Lenora wondered aloud.

Again the answer is no.

"Well you don't know what you've missed."

STATE BOUND

DRAGONS AND WARRIORS PUNCH TICKETS TO STATE TOURNEY

With six Dragons hitting .333 or better, Purcell battled its way through the loser's bracket in the Regional Tournament they hosted at Tishomingo last weekend.

Purcell put its best foot forward pounding Davis, 16-2 in the opening round but stubbed their toe in the semifinals, losing to Lindsay 4-1, which set the table for a battle.

They white-washed Spiro, who had been ranked in the top 10 all year, 8-0 in the first elimination game.

That meant the Dragons would be forced to defeat Lindsay twice to advance to the State Tournament at ASA Hall of Fame Stadium in Oklahoma City.

In the first finals game with the Lady Leopards Purcell started off a little slow.

Their game plan was to use both pitchers,

Red hot Dibble faces Warriors

Washington coming off bye week

John D. Montgomery
The Purcell Register

Washington used the off week last week to heal up some injuries and get back to basics.

"I think we had a really good week taking a deep breath," head coach Brad Beller said. "It was a time not just to relax but get back down to basics."

"We had a week zero game and had to cram a lot of techniques. This week we talked a lot and worked on the foundation of our offense and special teams."

Up next for the 4-1 Warriors is a home clash with the up and coming Dibble Demons.

Dibble will line up in a veer on offense and run an Okie 5-2 defense.

After drubbing Hobart two weeks ago, the Demons loaded up on Walters last Friday night in a 53-7 explosion.

6-0 Bulldogs riding high

John D. Montgomery

Coming off a 26-12 victory at Bridge Creek last Friday night, Lexington's Bulldogs are bringing a perfect 6-0 record into Conger Field Friday for the annual Battle for the Bridge.

Purcell is licking its wounds after a 39-0 loss at Marlow last week.

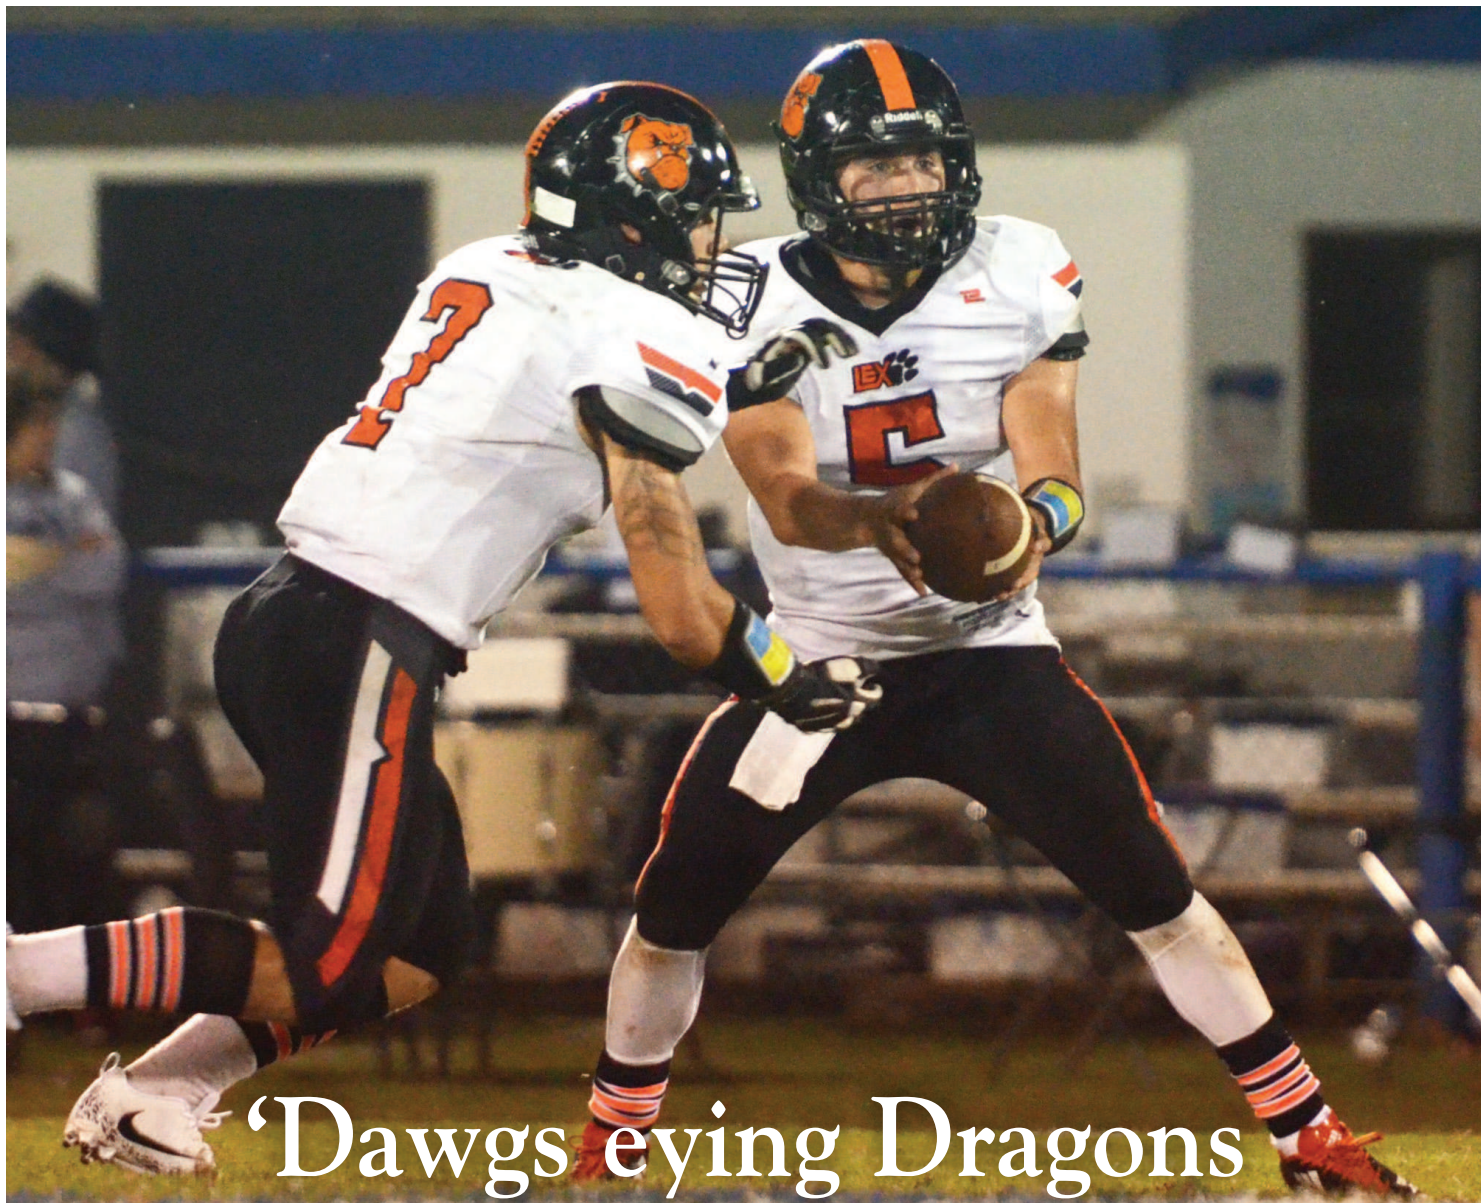

"It should be a great game," Purcell Coach John Higbee said. "They are a great team. There's a reason they are 6-0.

Higbee praised every phase of the Lexington squad, under the direction of new head coach Dale Berglan. He and Keith Bolles have pumped new life into the Bulldogs.

Key components of the squad include Toby Prevost at quarterback and Zach Smith at tailback.

"Coach Bolles and coach Berglan have done a tremendous job," Higbee continued.

The Lexington Bulldogs earned a hard-fought road victory over the Bridge Creek Bobcats, 26-13, last Friday night to bring their sparkling season record to a perfect 6-0.

It's been a phenomenal season so far in head coach Dale Berglan's first season at the helm for Lexington.

Berglan and his defensive coordinator Keith Bolles both came over from Newcastle late last spring.

They had to catch up fast on the culture of Lexington football, a team that didn't make the post-season last year despite an admirable 6-4 record.

The Bulldogs have made the play-offs six of the last nine years. This year certainly looks like it could be their seventh time in 10 years if things go right for them the rest of the way.

Berglan, no doubt, is very excited so far about his current squad.

"It's a great start to the season, especially with the new faces at the helm" Berglan said. "We had a hard-fought win against Bridge Creek. They gave us all that they had - and a little more! But, our boys are a very resilient group."

Lexington was down, 6-0, with less than a minute to go in the first half when Fischer Bowling came up with another big play for the Bulldogs; he blocked a Bridge Creek punt and Wayne plays host to the Konowa Tigers Friday night at 7 p.m.

Wayne head coach Brandon Sharp says it will be a much-improved Tigers team than they've seen in years past.

The Savages got off to a hot start, scoring 20 points in under two minutes, and the game snowballed from there.

"They are as advertised," Sharp said.

"They're loaded with excellent talent."

He said on the second play of the game Wynnewood caught the Wayne defense misaligned and took full advantage, throwing a

He said Konowa will play a 4-4 base defense and will show multiple front variations.

"The front guys are big and physical and the linebackers are physical," Sharp said.

"The back end runs well".

On the offensive side of the ball the Tigers run the flexbone out of the shotgun formation.

Sharp said they like to get the ball to the outside with their speedy receivers.

"They'll be ready to play us and we'll have to match their intensity," Sharp said.

Konowa is 2-3 on the year. Kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

Wayne also had an early fumble, which Wynnewood capitalized on.

"We didn't respond."

Sharp said one bright spot of the game was the play of freshman Brian Ibarra.

"He ran the ball hard," Sharp said.

wife and Brook Fleming to keep the Lindsay batters off balance.

"It really worked for us," head coach Sarah Jones said.

"Our goal was to make their pitcher work as hard as she could and get quality at bats.

"The more pitches she made per batter, the better. It was a slow start at the plate. They were shifting when batters came up.

"It took a while to get it together but we did," she said.

Carwile went 2-3 with a home run while Kinley Croslin and Karson Jennings were also 2-3.

Alex Schafer, Chelsea Spain and Haylee Swayze all got hits in the game.

Spain erupted for three RBIs and Jennings added a pair of RBIs.

"We had good momentum going into the second game with Lindsay," the coach confirmed.

Lindsay drew first blood in the finale going up one-zip in the top of the fourth.

Purcell answered with a run in the fifth and a run in their half of the sixth to close out the tournament 2-1.

"That was a hard-fought battle for both teams," Jones said.

Purcell had three errors but it only contributed to one Lindsay run.

Purcell hit the ball well but right at the Lindsay defenders.

In the bottom of the fifth, Carwile stepped up and promptly hits one to the fence. A diving slide into third gave her a triple.

Then, she flimflammed the Lindsay battery.

Both the pitcher and catcher turned their backs for a split second and Carwile swiped home plate to knot the score.

Spain led off in the bottom of the sixth with a double to the left center gap. Hannah Buchanan lined a drive to left center that plated Spain, which was all the Dragons needed.

Defensively, the Dragons got the lead off batter. The three hole hitter was intentionally walked.

"She is a really good player,"

Jones said. "Their four hole put the ball in play for a beautiful 4-6-3 double play and a ticket to State.

Turning the DP were Sunny Sanders to Spain to Camryn Dickerson.

"We were still switching back and forth between Carwile and Fleming," Jones said. "They played a major role for us and both of them held their ground and kept their composure. I am beyond proud of them.

"These girls were not going to give up their fight," she said. And they proved it.

The Davis game was played in a pouring rain.

Ironically, the tournament had been moved from Purcell to Tishomingo and it was dry and nice in Purcell while Johnston County was getting pounded.

"We didn't let the weather affect our play, which was really important," he said.

Jones said Lindsay is a good team but everything went right for them.

"And, they made fantastic plays that kept us from scoring," she said. "We couldn't get a clutch hit and left too many runners on base."

Jones said Spiro had obviously scouted and put their defenders where the girls hit.

"But that didn't stop us from scoring," she said.

Carwile was 3-4 and just missed out hitting for the cycle with a single, a double and a triple.

The home run would come in the next game with Lindsay.

Dragon notes:

Purcell had six hitters hit .333 or better in the Regional Tournament.

Kinley Croslin went 6-11 for a .545 average. Katelynn Carwile was 8-18 with five singles, two triples and a home run. Her average was .444.

Chelsea Spain posted a .389 average in a 7-18 tournament.

Karson Jennings was 6-16 for a .375 batting average while Haylee Swayze was 5-14 for a .357 average.

Sunny Sanders had a 5-15 tournament for a .333 average.

Lexington's fast-pitch softball season came to a close in the Regional Tournament at Washington last week.

Lexington dropped an 8-4 game in the opening round of the regional to Washington, who eventually won the tournament.

Emilee Jenks was 2-4 to lead the seven hit Lady Bulldog attack.

Lexington could muster only five hits in their season ending loss to Kingston, 4-3.

Maddy Pack led the hitting going 2-3 while Jenks, Hannah Robbins and Lacey Barber all had a hit.

Lexington finished the season at 16-12.

"I'm very proud of our girls and how hard they played both games," head coach Kayla Stewart said. "It stinks to lose and go out how we did, but it doesn't take away from the great season these girls had."

Todd Brooks • The Marlow Review

Surrounded

Purcell defenders Chase Smith (10), Caylin Nimmo (34) and Ethan Wayland (24) converge to tackle Marlow running back Wyatt Bergner. The Dragons fell to the Outlaws 39-0.

From page 1B

Battle:

“They have managed to get them to execute in the short time frame they have been there and that’s dang impressive.”

Defensively, the Bulldogs operate out of a 3-4 but do move around quite a bit, Higbee noted.

“Offensively they are a little bit of everything,” Higbee said. “They have gone from a Flex-bone to an eye. They’ve come a long way and are not the same team they were last year.”

“This is not only a rivalry game but its for the playoffs,” the coach said.

To come out with a victory Higbee said the Dragons are going to have to do pretty much everything they didn’t do last week at Marlow.

“We need to limit our mistakes, hold on to the ball, play with great effort and play well in the kicking game. It’s the same stuff you should do every game,” Higbee said.

“We’ve got to get back on the right track. We have to learn and move on.”

Last Friday night Purcell came up on the short end of a 38-0 count at Marlow.

Purcell played in its end of the field all night.

“I’m not sure we spent any time in their end of the field,” Higbee said. “They kicked off and pinned us deep and we stayed there.”

“Offensively we just stalled,” the coach continued. “Basically our inexperience showed. We just couldn’t seem to get anything going. We had turnovers and we didn’t cover on punts well.”

Higbee said it was pretty much the same story on defense.

“Our offense put our defense in a huge hole,” he said.

Ethan Wayland and Cauy Hollis led the tackling charts with seven each. Dylan Kimbrell registered six stops while Chase Smith and Caylin Nimmo both had five stops.

Jayln Shea and Waylon Steiner both finished with three tackles.

The Dragons were held to a paltry 92 total yards and had three passes intercepted.

Dragon notes:

There were no Player of the Week nominations for the Dragons.

From page 1B

Lex:

Jaylen Cottrell picked up the loose ball and ran 14 yards into the end zone for a tie ballgame.

After Caden Jones kicked the PAT, Lexington went into halftime up, 7-6.

In the third quarter, quarterback Toby Prevost scored on a 4-yard keeper but the PAT failed. Still, the Bulldogs led, 13-6, after three quarters.

In the fourth, Prevost busted off a sensational 69-yard touchdown run. Lexington went for two but failed and the score was 19-6 at that point.

Bridge Creek followed with a 67-yard pass-and- catch for a touchdown and made its PAT, narrowing the margin to 19-13.

However, senior running back Zach Smith secured the victory for Lexington with a 46-yard touchdown burst and, following a successful PAT, that made the final score, 26-13, for the ‘Dawgs.

Prevost had another awesome game. He was 8-of-16 passing for 86 yards with one interception.

On the ground, though, he ran for 131 yards and two touchdowns on 13 carries. Smith had 147 yards rushing and the touchdown on 20 carries.

“The best thing about Toby is his leadership,” Berglan said. “He is the same whether everything is going our way or if it isn’t. Our passing game was not at its best last Friday night. We had a couple of drops that were touchdowns and we went the wrong way at times. But, through that, Toby always steers us in the right direction.

“Zach Smith is an absolute workhorse! The more touches he gets, the stronger he becomes. He’s kind of like the “Rocky” movies. Let him hang around ‘till the end and he will have his yards and his touchdowns, for sure.”

Lexington posted 293 yards rushing on 36 attempts and had 379 yards of total offense.

Bridge Creek earned their yardage, too, with 172 yards on the ground and 162 through the air. The Lexington defense bent a little, but they certainly didn’t break.

“The defense is the heart and the soul of this team,” Berglan said. “At this point, we are plus-21 in turnover margin. Defensively... that statistic is huge! All of the coaches do an outstanding job with getting the defense put in the right positions to be successful and the players are doing a great job of executing the game plan.”

Next up is a road game – the road game of the year. Lexington travels west across the James C. Nance Bridge to face the Purcell Dragons at Conger Field at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

This is a rivalry that Purcell has dominated throughout the years.

The Dragons hold an all-time series advantage of 33-6-3. But, last year, the Bulldogs won, 20-0, on their home field. This year, Lexington is going for its second-straight win over Purcell.

The ‘Dawgs haven’t beaten the Dragons two years in a row since the 1912 and ’13 football seasons. If Lexington beats Purcell at Conger Field this Friday, it would be its first win at Purcell since a 31-0 win in 1916 – 101 years ago!

“It’s no secret that this week is a big week for both teams,” Berglan said. “It is a key district match that has playoff implications – not to mention that there is only a bridge separating the two towns.

“Purcell will be big and physical. They try to control the clock through their running game while having the tools to throw the ball at any time. They will be the best test on both sides of the ball that we will have faced so far.”

Notes:

Lexington head coach Dale Berglan nominated Zach Smith for offensive Player of the Week honors after Smith had his 147 yards and a touchdown on 20 carries. Fischer Bowling (10 tackles and four for lost yardage) was Berglan’s defensive Player of the Week nominee with his blocked punt that was returned for a touchdown by Jaylen Cottrell.

The offensive line Player of the Week honor goes to Jordan McWaters, who graded out at 85 percent. Ethan Scott is Berglan’s nominee for defensive line Player of the Week. He had 10 tackles - four for a loss of yards.

“There are three things you know when you play Dibble,” Beller said. “You know they are going to play for 48 minutes. It doesn’t matter if they are up big or down big.

“Coach (Chad) Stone is doing a great job of getting the kids to buy into what they are doing and now kids are reaping the benefits. It’s paying off for them,” Beller said. “They are seeing the rewards for their work the last three years.”

Beller said his team needs to be patient on offense.

“The key for us is to be very solid defensively on first down,” Beller said “We have to tackle well. Their backs run really hard so we have to tackle well.

“And on offense, we have to be patient,” he confirmed. “They bring a lot of pressure. We have to be patient and not panic if they have some success.

Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m. The Oklahoman has ranked the Washington-Dibble game the No. 7 game in the state.

They are pitting Dibble running back Colton Harwick up against Washington star Tyler Stuever.

Washington is currently ranked No. 4 in Class 2A.

Both teams are 4-1 heading into the game Friday.

Johnson Road Baptist Church

Sunday was a beautiful day at Johnson Road for many reasons. On Friday, the Cagle Family celebrated the life story of Melvin Cagle. On Sunday morning our church was blessed to have several members of the Cagle Family in worship and the noon fellowship. Katie Cagle, her family and all the caregivers are to be commended for their love of Melvin Cagle during his final years in this world.

A second blessing came in a story related by Ann Gilman. Several years ago a girl 15 years of age came to Ann's Place at the west end of the Canadian River Bridge looking for a job. Ann put the girl to work washing dishes.

On several occasions the girl appeared for work with severe bruises on her body. Ann recognized the girl's abusive situation and called the girl's relatives in Wichita, Kan., seeking help for the young lady. The relative in Wichita told Ann if she would buy the girl a ticket and put her on the bus they would take her into their home.

Years passed and last Thursday a lady knocked on the front door of the Gilman home. The visitor was the same girl Ann had hired as a dishwasher and made arrangements for her to find refuge in Wichita.

During the two hour reunion the young lady expressed her thanks and shared her success story. We are reminded that our goal in life is helping others find their way in life.

A third blessing came during the invitation. To the surprise of everyone present, including his wife, Clyde Gilman stepped into the aisle and came forward to profess his faith in Jesus and a candidate for baptism. Clyde and the pastor have much in common.

Clyde graduated in 1957 from high school in Stroud. The pastor at Johnson Road graduated from the same high school in 1954. Both Clyde and the pastor worked at the same oil refinery. Clyde joined the Air Force, married a girl from Shamrock, moved to Purcell and retired from Sun Oil Company.

The pastor was called to preach, married a girl from Kilgore, Texas, and eventually became pastor at Johnson Road. It will be a great day this Sunday morning when two old men, 78 and 80, step into the baptismal pool, one to be baptized and the other to officiate.

Special music was provided by our young trio of Ava Fredrick, Ginger Clifton and Aby Mayo. Gynean Gentry and Wilma Turner also provided special music.

Scripture text for the morning sermon was Isaiah 6:1-8. Isaiah witnessed God's awesome presence in the Temple and cried out for mercy. The prophet's guilt was removed and his sin forgiven. When the Lord asked for a volunteer to preach the Word, Isaiah made his famous statement, "Here am I, Send me."

We know about junk mail and priority mail. Priority mail is an affordable and fast service for sending and receiving important information and commodities. The number one priority mail for the Christian is sharing Jesus. All the training and learning about witnessing is worthless unless we go and tell the Gospel Story.

Evangelism is the source of salvation, a divine responsibility and a necessity for spiritual growth. Please deliver the priority mail - Jesus!

Sermon title for this Sunday is "Amazing Grace."

The Wednesday evening Bible study for this week will be the seventh chapter of the Gospel according to John.

Sunday School begins at 9:45 a.m.

Morning worship begins at 11 a.m.

Lexington Westside Church of Christ

Good week to all. Welcome to the "front porch."

Beyond any doubt, we live in troubling times, the most troubling, probably, in the last half of a century. We have come to know that we cannot walk out the door without the fear of not walking back in that evening. We saw that this Monday morning ... again.

I thought of a great man who walked out of his door one morning himself, not knowing that he would not walk back in that evening. No, it was not a result of a killer on the loose -- as it was with Abel, and as it was with the victims of Las Vegas -- but it was because the Lord wanted to take him out of a wicked world.

He was a good man, and the Lord wanted him in heaven. That was it. So he took him.

Moses tells his simple life story:

"And Enoch walked with God after he begat Methuselah 300 years ... And all the days of Enoch were 365 years: And Enoch walked with God: and he was not; for God took him" (Genesis 5:22-24).

The biography of Enoch is short, the facts about his life few:

He was the father of Methuselah.

He left this world a very young man (365 years).

He was a preacher, warning men of the coming of the Lord (Jude 14).

The "testimony" of his life was that he pleased God (Hebrews 11:5).

And he walked with God.

Oh, and one more thing:

He never died! (Genesis 4:24, Hebrews 11:5). The Lord just took him.

One day he didn't show up for supper, I guess, and his friends and family got to looking, and he was nowhere to be found. He is one of only two men who lived and never died. (See 2 Kings 2 for the other).

I'm sure walking with God goes far deeper than we can realize. But we know Enoch must have had a special, deep, and personal relationship with the Lord. As it was with Abraham years later, he was "the friend of God," a true and intimate friend.

We do not read of many great deeds Enoch does. What we do read about of what he was, what kind of man he was, what kind of disciple to the Lord. And, really, that is what matters.

So as we walk out the door each morning -- not knowing what the day holds -- we need not worry about what lies in wait in the hours ahead. We need only to walk with God, holding to his unchanging hand, every day, all day.

Then, if God decides today is the day we don't walk back into our front door in the evening, we can walk with God down that street of gold, where we know there won't be any fear or dread.

So, let's be sure to start our walk down here, so we can continue it eternally up there. steven.bowen@redoakisd.org

Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church

By Fr. Jim Chamberlain

This Saturday our parish celebrates the Feast Day of our patroness, Our Lady of the Rosary. The Rosary is a powerful meditation that has been prayed for centuries -- by saints, school children, laborers in the field, commuters driving to work, and nervous grandmothers at basketball games.

The Rosary can be prayed by kneeling in front of a crucifix, by riding on a tractor or a bus, or by walking slowly through a peaceful garden. It is a series of meditations on 20 "mysteries" in the life of Jesus -- his birth, his presentation as a child, his teaching of the Kingdom of God, his passion, death and resurrection, and everything in between.

Two meditations -- the assumption and crowning of Mary -- come to us from Church tradition. But the rest of the meditations come directly from the Bible, snapshots of our salvation. As with many prayers, each praying group offers their own variations. The Germans pray it slightly differently from the Mexicans who pray it slightly differently from the French.

The Rosary involves our whole being -- we speak and hear the mysteries, we feel the beads under our fingertips. We immerse ourselves in the story of our salvation. As we pray, sometimes we think of the words of the exchange between Mary and Elizabeth and the angel: "Hail Mary, the Lord is with you. . . Blessed is the fruit of your womb." (Luke 1:26-45) Other times we lose ourselves in the scene itself -- the Finding of the Child Jesus in the Temple, or the Transfiguration on the Mountain, or the Agony in the Garden.

We are re-living, with Mary, the events in the life of Jesus. We are gazing lovingly, with

As many of you know, we recognize all WWII and Korean veterans when they visit us the first time. We do this because many of them have never been singled out for their military service. To honor them we bring them to the front and introduce them while we present a military cap representing their wartime service.

Last week seven Korean era veterans were recognized for their service and two WWII veterans. Dale K. Graham

If this happens, then her prophecy will have been fulfilled: "All generations will call me blessed. For the Mighty One has done great things for me, and holy is his name." (Luke 1:48-49).

We will have a barbecue picnic on Saturday, October 7, after the 5 p.m. Mass. After praying the rosary together, Erik Williams will cook up some delicious Santa Maria beef tips and there we will be games for the kids. Families are asked to bring a side dish and/or desserts.

Regional tournament winners

The Washington Warriors defeated Lexington, Marlow and Kingston to win the regional tournament. They will play in the state tournament beginning Thursday, October 5. This is the 20th State Tournament appearance for the Lady Warriors fast-pitch.

Veterans Foundation Veteran of the Week Andrew Jackson Moore of Goldsby served in the Korean War during the 1950s.

As always, we are very thankful for the men and women who have served in our United States Military and to those who are serving today. With the downsizing of the military, many of the people I know who are active duty and National Guard members have been deployed several times to fight for us.

I don't have the answers to why we don't see more young people who feel the need to serve this United States of America as a member of our military. We get to meet many young men and women recently discharged when they visit us with questions about VA benefits. All of them seemed to be very proud of their service to our country. Maybe we need to start recognizing them with a cap designating their military time.

More than 250 veterans and surviving spouses were assisted last Tuesday and Thursday morning at our new location in Norman. When we started our operations at the Faith Pointe Baptist Church two years ago, having a place of our own was only a dream. Now it is a reality. We are so excited and grateful to have this facility where we don't have to set up our equipment each time we work. We all have individual workstations with a computer and printer.

We will have an open house soon to showcase this building and the services we provide. Having a place of our own has been a lifelong dream for myself, and for the countless volunteers who give their time to our mission of helping veterans and their families receive the VA benefits for which they are eligible.

As we continue to grow, I believe we will continue to be the go-to place for all veterans and their families. If we were not very good at our job why, would over 250 people be coming to see us each week? Maybe you should visit us any Tuesday or Thursday morning to see what we can do for you.

If you need a ride to visit us, please contact our drivers Clayton and Louie. Last week these volunteers spent 91 hours transporting 28 passengers a record 1,467 miles. Please call (405) 550-8806 and select extension 105 to reach Clayton or extension 106 to contact Louie.

We are reaching out to caring individuals who would like to help us to make a difference in the lives of veterans and their families. I would like to be able to add more trained volunteers to our staff. Applications are available on our website or stop by and pick a paper copy. Training is provided to qualified applicants.

One of the main benefits of being an Accredited Claims Agent with the Department of Veterans Affairs is that I'm able to review the electronic claims folder for each of the veterans we represent. This has enabled us to do more for veterans at a very early stage of their claims process.

Another thing we do that sets us apart is we don't send in a claim for service-connection of a new disability without first asking the veteran to provide evidence that a condition is diagnosed. This can be done by either asking a medical provider to fill out a VA Disability Benefits Questionnaire for your disability or by having a diagnosis from a doctor that might also show the severity of a condition.

The VA Compensation and Pension section of the VA is probably working more efficiently now than in the last 20 years. Many of the claims we are filing for veterans and surviving spouses are completed in 30 to 90 days from the date we file them. Last week eight veterans received a 100 percent rating for their service-connected disabilities. These men and women will receive an annual combined amount of $290,642 per year.

There were 25 veterans approved for ratings ranging from 10-90 percent for their service-connected disabilities. These men and women will receive $340,999 annually for their service-connected disabilities. We had five surviving spouses approved for DIC, Pension or Aid and Attendance based on their spouse's military services. These dependents will receive an annual combined benefit of $70,872 per year.

We have volunteers available to assist surviving spouses of veterans. We helped 23 of them with their applications for either DIC or Pension benefits last week. If a veteran dies from a service-connected disability, or from a condition presumptive to their military service, we can help them receive benefits if that service-connected disability is listed on their Death Certificate as a primary or contributing cause of death. This benefit ranges from $1,250 to $1,500 per month. We have found it is much easier to help a surviving spouse if the veteran was receiving VA benefits.

Dale K. Graham Veterans Foundation has food boxes available to those in need. An application for this type of assistance will be available on Tuesday and Thursday mornings. A DD-214 or military discharge will be necessary to apply. Please contact Rhonda (405) 550-8806 Extension 103 to request a food box.

We are at 1268 North Interstate Drive in Norman, Exit 110 off of I-35 each Tuesday and Thursday morning at 5:30 a.m. Please arrive by 8 a.m. Contact Dale with any questions at (405) 550-8806 Extension 101 or dale@dalekgrahamveteransfoundation.org or Shirley Clark-Cowdin for spouse benefits at Extension 104. Sunray Baptist Church

James and Pam Kyzer sang "A Rose Among the Thorns" for the special at our morning worship service.

Brother Allen Carroll brought both Sunday sermons. He used I Timothy:12-17 as his main text and told how to live a life to be counted faithful to God. We must have a genuine witness and walk, as well as patience, to be counted faithful. We have to be relevant in our teaching, speaking of repentance and faith in Jesus Christ. We should be hearers without excuse and minister from the heart.

The evening message used John 3:25-34, as well as other verses to reveal truths about John the Baptist. John did exactly what God had called him to do. He had a very special ministry, preparing the way for the Lord. John knew that Jesus was the Son of God. As the role of Jesus increased and John's decreased, we learn about the heart of John.

October has a full slate of activities for Sunray. Next Tuesday, October 10, at 1 p.m. there will be a ladies fellowship with a devotion, prayer, refreshments, and tone chime practice for an upcoming Christmas song. On October 11, at 6:30 p.m. we will have our quarterly business meeting and potluck meal.

This coming Sunday will be National Pastor Appreciation Day. We love and appreciate our pastor, Dennis Clark. Our youth are sponsoring their annual ladies casserole cook off following morning worship. There will be no evening service.

You are always welcome at Sunray Baptist Church. Be a part of our Sunday school, worship, bible study, and all activities. We are a small, traditional church with a lot of friendly people. We are located at 2223 North 9th Street in Purcell. For more information call 527-6808.

Green Avenue Church of Christ

The Wednesday evening auditorium class began a study of the 10th chapter of First Corinthians where the apostle Paul reminds Christians at Corinth of how their ancestors were punished for being unfaithful to the Lord in the wilderness on the way to the promised land and tells them that was recorded for them as an example of what would happen to them if they weren't faithful.

The Sunday morning adult Bible class looked primarily at the prophecies of Amos, Isaiah and Micah as the period of the divided kingdoms of Judah and Israel came to a close.

During the Sunday morning assembly Keith Shackleford brought a lesson on why we need the gospel, beginning with the reading of Romans 1:1.

The Sunday evening lesson looked at kings Jeroboam (2 Chronicles 12), Jehoshaphat (2 Chronicles 19), Uzziah (2 Chronicles 26) and Jothan (2 Chronicles 27), and Ezra the priest (Ezra 7) and how they did or did not prepare themselves to serve God.

The church is located at 407 Jackson Street in Purcell. Bible classes begin at 9:45 Sunday morning and 7 Wednesday evening, with worship at 10:45 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Sunday. Bible study correspondence courses are available. You can call the office at 527-4052.

Fish kill no spill

A suspected fish kill at Purcell Lake wasn't caused by an oil or gasoline spill as one resident believed, city manager Dale Bunn said Tuesday.

The resident, who asked not to be identified, called The Purcell Register to say a fuel had leaked into the water.

"There were 500 fish floating," he said. "Before the rain, you could see the oil on the water."

Cody Penner, the city's parks and recreation director, said two tin horns had washed out on the back side of the lake.

Water was pumped out of a slough that was separate from the lake so that the tin horns could be replaced.

"When they pumped the water out, they moved most of the fish into the lake."

Left behind in the relocation were carp and other "trash" fish.

"There hasn't been anyone tell me about any kind of spill," Penner said.

Any spill in the lake would have had to be reported to the Department of Environmental Quality, he added.

"They had to drain the area," he said. "There was no spill."

Haunted barn

Organizers challenge: the dare's on you

Do you dare?

That's the question you need to ask yourself before darkening the doorway of a haunted barn at Maysville.

Or maybe the question is are you willing to pay a little for a frightful good time to benefit Maysville Schools?

The 4th annual Haunted Barn will be open at 10121 Horse Ave., in Maysville on Friday and Saturday nights during October.

The ghoulish fun will start this Friday.

Hours are 8 to 11 p.m., and admission is $8.

All proceeds and donations will be used to benefit

Maysville Schools.

Organizers say this year's haunted barn is the biggest and best yet with brand new exhibits.

A costume contest is also planned with details to be announced later.

The haunted barn is sponsored by Hornbuckle Services, Harrell Farms, Emsolutions and others.

From State Highways 19 and 74 in Maysville, take SH 74 north 2.5 miles to 100th Street. Turn east and continue 3/4-mile. The barn is on the north side of the road.

REC's Annual Meeting October 7 in Lindsay

Rural Electric Cooperative members will soon gather for the 78th Annual Membership Meeting.

The Annual Meeting will be held in REC's Multi-Purpose Center in Lindsay on Saturday, October 7, 2017. Registration will begin at 8 a.m. and continue until the beginning of the business meeting at 10 a.m.

The business session will update members on the Cop's activities from 2016 and both the Board President, Gary Jones, and CEO, Dale Nye, will present financial and operational information.

In addition to the meeting, REC is offering a free health fair provided by the Lindsay Municipal Hospital, South Central Medical and Resource Center and the Lindsay Emergency Medical Service. They will begin performing these services from 8 a.m. until the beginning of the business session at 10 a.m. inside the old headquarters building across the highway from the Multi-Purpose Center.

For the convenience of our members, there are two consent forms for the health fair inside the envelope with the official notice of the meeting. Members can fill out the consent forms and bring the forms with them to annual meeting. Members planning to have the blood test done should refrain from eating after midnight prior to the health fair.

The Lindsay Kiwanis Club will once again be serving their annual pancakes, bacon and coffee fundraiser breakfast to REC members. They will be set up outside the Multi Purpose Center by the tent.

Choctaw Line, a bluegrass band based in the Oklahoma City area, will be performing. Key members include Joe Kahlden, Adam Davis, Samuel Grounds, and Rebecca Herrod.

These four members met at different festivals and jams, and eventually got their start at the 2015 Guthrie Bluegrass Festival.

Since then, they have played at places around Oklahoma including the Rodeo Opry, the Rose Rock Festival, the Festival of Freedom, the Oklahoma International Bluegrass Festival, and Rose State College.

Joe Kahlden was in a family bluegrass band starting at the age of 12, and has opened for Ricky Skaggs. Adam Davis has loved bluegrass since his college days, and has placed third in the dobro contest at the Rockygrass Festival.

Samuel Grounds has played guitar going on nine years, and recently learned banjo. He attends the Academy of Contemporary Music in Oklahoma City. Rebecca Herrod grew up singing in church and listening to bluegrass from her grandpa and his band. She started out on the guitar and can play the mandolin and the stand-up bass.

A children's program, hosted by Calvary Baptist Church, will run in conjunction with the business session in the back room of the Multi Purpose Center. Look for signs during registration for the children's program. Children ages four to 12 are welcome to attend.

Each member registering will receive registration gifts. This year's gifts include an REC baseball cap, a deluxe carving set, a magnetic koozie, LED bulbs, a calendar, 2018 Farmers' Almanac and an ink pen.

Prize drawings will be held during and after the business session. Approximately 40 gifts, seventy-five $75 gift certificates for electricity and three grand prize drawings for $500 gift certificates for electricity will be given. In addition to the prize drawings, two youth will win a new 18" bike.

Bring the registration card you received in the mail for a quick and simple registration.

The Horseman's Corner

Royal Vista Southwest's Allison Bailey
Profiled in America's Horse Magazine

The following article was in the October issue of the AQHA magazine America's Horse. It is reprinted here with permission from AQHA and the writer, Holly Clanahan, editor of the magazine:

Living with the Matriarchs
The Queens of the Breeding
Shed Inspire Creative Photography

When Allison Bailey heads to work each morning, she knows she knows she is going to be mingling with glamour girls.

As the lab and office manager of Royal Vista Southwest, an assisted reproductive center for mares in Purcell, specializing in embryo transfers, Allison helps manage the breeding careers of many of the elites in the racing and performance horse industries. These ladies are champion athletes, the "it girls," and Allison loves to see the impact they have on interns and visitors getting their first glimpse of the barns.

"The jaws just drop on the floor, and it's not lost on us, either," she says. "It's amazing to walk in the barn in April and go, "Oh, she's a world champion." "She's a Congress champion."

Allison's father is Dr. James Bailey, the founding veterinarian at Royal Vista Southwest, and she says he commissioned a sign to hang in the hallway, recognizing this awe-inspiring mare power: "Through this door live some of the finest broodmares on earth."

Now, imagine if you have an artistic eye and are surrounded by this kind of beauty....

"It's like having a playground for me, taking pictures," says a grateful Allison, who has a sideline business, Probita Photography an Design.

Her passion for photography began to grow when Allison started working at Royal Vista Southwest in 2004. She was often around the farm in the evenings, helping with arrivals and other duties, when she couldn't help but be captivated by mares and babies in lush pastures, framed by colorful Oklahoma sunsets.

"If you don't love that (scene), you might as well get out of the horse business," she says.

She took photos with a simple point-and-shoot camera, and she also began taking photos of foals to send to owners who weren't able to visit often.

Allison's dad helped nourish her interest in photography by helping her get better equipment. And in 2015, her dad and stepmother gave her a trip to Sombrero Ranch in Colorado for an intensive photo workshop. "I don't think I've taken another picture since then that wasn't on manual (settings)," Allison says.

Coming home from that workshop, she started to experiment with dramatic studio-style black-background photos. Of course, you don't lead a Wrangler National Finals Rodeo winner into a photography studio, so Allison began perfecting a technique that utilizes a low ISO setting and an off-camera flash inside the stalls at Royal Vista Southwest. The low ISO setting limits the amount of light the camera lets in, so that only what the flash illuminates becomes visible.

Allison admits that she's "obsessed" with the dark-horse photos, and she's not the only one.

The striking images are attention grabbers, as are the technical skills required to get them (Allison does very little work on her photos in Adobe Photoshop). But they're also a neat look into the lives of matriarch mares who largely disappear from public view once they retire from the arena or racetrack.

On her popular Facebook post, Allison noted that TR Dashing Badger, "besides being gorgeous, held the record for the fastest average at the National Finals Rodeo in Barrel Racing for many years! She's kinda a big deal!"

With Jill Moody as the pilot, "Dolly" was a four-time Wrangler National Finals Rodeo qualifier and a two-time champion. She's owned by her breeder, Harry Thomas of South Dakota.

Although anyone would be impressed by the mare's stats, Allison brings something to the table that makes it even more special to be around such greatness.

"It makes it much more impactful because I know what it takes to make a champion, or a horse that is recognizable," she says.

As she was growing up, Allison's stepfather was a trainer, and she was able to ride a lot of well-known horses.

"My job was to ride Smart Little Lena and High Brow Hickory (both leading National Cutting Horse Association sires)," she says, fully appreciating now just how special that was. "I had a very, very fortunate childhood," she says. "I rode some of the very best horses in the world."

Among them were Star Too Dee Too, on whom Allison won the small-fry western pleasure at the 1986 All American Quarter Horse Congress, and Miss Echo Wood, who carried Allison to an AQHYA world championship in cutting in 1993. Allison was the reserve youth world champion in 1990 with Docs Chickory.

So being surrounded by equine royalty, Allison doesn't take any of it for granted.

"We have had multiple world and Congress Champions, race champions, National Finals Rodeo winners and many proven producers stay at Royal Vista Southwest, for either the breeding season or year-round like Dolly. I am one lucky girl to have all these mares standing right outside my office."
