James Harryman

James Harryman's career in the trucking industry took a detour.

That deviation was a path into law enforcement and eventually to the McClain County Sheriff's Department, a place he now calls home.

Born in Norman, Harryman was reared in Newcastle graduating from high school there in 1992.

Fresh out of high school,

Harryman went to work for Oklahoma City Freightliner and later to Rush Truck Centers where he was a parts salesman until 2001.

Harryman enlisted as a volunteer fireman for the City of Newcastle in January 1999 where he met great professionals and made life-long friends including a Newcastle Police Officer Ron Hook.

"Ron, who became one of my best friends, talked me into riding out with him and I fell in love with law enforcement," Harryman said.

After serving as a reserve officer for Newcastle Police, Harryman became a full-time officer in 2002.

That's when he hung up the keys to the trucking industry.

He became a dispatcher for the City of Newcastle.

Snow?

Even with temperatures in the high 50 to near 60 last Wednesday, mystery snow in the form of teeny tiny pieces of Styrofoam blew around downtown Purcell enough to form small drifts.

Contractor: “Snow” over Styrofoam showers ending

Jeanne Grimes
The Purcell Register

Those swirling snowstorms of styrofoam bits should by now be a fading memory in downtown Purcell.

That was the word Tuesday from James Stufflebean, general manager with Barbour and Short, the general contractor over work at the McClain County Courthouse.

Sutufflebean said the styrofoam originated from new EIFS (exterior insulation fitting system) installation to the walls of what was the old jail on the courthouse’s fourth floor.

The installation process calls for roughing the surface of the styrofoam before coating it with a cement coating and applying it to the walls.

“We’ve already done the roof and after today, it (“snowfall”) should be over with,” he said.

County voter registration deadline is March 10 for April 4 election

Friday, March 10, is the last day to apply for voter registration in order to be eligible to vote in the April 4 Municipal Election, McClain County Election Board Secretary Karen Haley said today.

Haley said that persons who are United States citizens, residents of Oklahoma, and at least 18 years old may apply to become registered voters.

Those who aren’t registered or need to change their registration may apply by filling out and mailing an Oklahoma Voter Registration Application form in time for it to be postmarked no later than midnight Friday, March 10.

Haley said applications postmarked after that time will be accepted and processed, but not until after April 4.

The County Election Board responds in writing to every person who submits an application for voter registration. The response is either a voter identification card listing the new voter’s precinct number and polling place location or a letter that explains the reason or reasons the application for voter registration was not approved.

Haley said any person who has submitted a voter registration application and who has not received a response within 30 days should contact the County Election Board office.

Oklahoma Voter Registration Application forms are available at the County Election Board office located at 121 N. Second Avenue in Purcell and at most post offices, tag agencies and public libraries in the county.

Applications also are available at www.elections.ok.gov.

There are three ways for voters to prove their identity under the law (only one proof of identity is required): Show a valid photo ID issued by federal, state, or tribal government; or show the free voter identification card issued to every voter by the County Election Board; or sign an affidavit and vote a provisional ballot. If the information on the affidavit matches official voter registration records, the ballot will be counted after Election Day.

“Shopping” spree

Police seeking three suspects

Two women managed to walk out of the Purcell Walmart with more than $3,100 worth of merchandise on the night of January 5.

Det. Sgt. Scott Stephens with the Purcell Police Department said three women entered the store together and each proceeded to fill a shopping cart.

The women then went to a register.

There was a problem with the card offered by the first woman. However, the clerk was able to force the card to accept the charge.

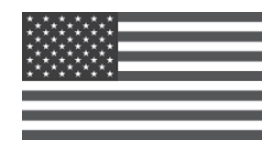

A similar card issue occurred with the second woman.

Both women left the store with the items in their carts.

The third woman, apparently unnerved by the attention her companions received from store personnel, abandoned her cart which contained an estimated $1,500 worth of merchandise.

The three women fled in a dark, possibly grey, sedan.

Police posted pictures of the three women on Facebook and are asking the public's help in identifying them.

Let it snow?

I recall in years past that KOMA radio would have a contest around Christmas time.

Entrants would pour in trying to win a white Christmas front yard.

The way the contest went, whomever was chosen as the winner would have Styrofoam or something similar slathered on their front yard so that family could have a white Christmas.

I always wondered if the winners ever regretted taking the prize when it came to removal of said fake snow from the yard.

I also remember one time several years ago when some bone head fraternity guys decided it would be a good idea to bring in 800 pounds of crushed Styrofoam to decorate their house for a ski party.

Hundreds upon hundreds of man hours and countless visits by heat and air conditioning professionals later there was lingering remnants of the

Editor's Notebook

John D.
Montgomery

"snow" in that fraternity house for months and months and months.

That brings us up to last Wednesday.

It was Ground Hog Day eve last February 1 when the high recorded was 58 and the low was 39.

Not near cold enough to snow.

Still, we looked out the front door and it appeared to be snowing that Wednesday morning.

Sure enough, when someone would come in the front door the "snow" would blow right into the front office of the newspaper.

It got in people's hair on their coats and automobiles parked in downtown Purcell.

It continued off and on for a couple of days even making some small piles outside our front door.

We called them drifts.

Turns out the "snow" was tiny crushed up pieces of Styrofoam, a kind of expanded polystyrene.

Some of the Styrofoam has made its way a little deeper into the office and we've heard reports of the "snow" affecting other businesses along Main Street and even as far away as the Purcell Senior Citizen Center.

Just wonder who is planning on cleaning it up?

NEWS FROM CAPITOL HILL

An executive protection

Congressman Tom Cole

During the campaign, candidate Donald Trump stated that he was in favor of banning Muslims from coming to the United States. To quote: "Donald J. Trump is calling for a total and complete shutdown of Muslims entering the United States until our country's representatives can figure out what is going on."

When I was asked my opinion of such a ban I stated that one of the founding principles of the United States is religious liberty, and that banning people from coming to the United States on the basis of their religious faith alone would be a violation of our ideals, traditions and basic instincts as a people. And in my opinion, such a proposal would be both unconstitutional and fundamentally un-American.

It is important, however, to point out that what candidate Trump proposed in December 2015 is very different from what President Donald Trump recently enacted through his executive order which temporarily restricts entry of any refugee awaiting resettlement into the United States for 120 days from seven specific nations, Iraq, Iran, Syria, Libya, Yemen, Somalia and Sudan.

These are nations that are known breeding grounds for terrorism. They are nations which refuse to cooperate in the vetting process or to otherwise help in the fight against terrorism. This travel moratorium is prudent and necessary to prevent terrorists from entering our country under the guise of refugees.

It is unfortunate that some in the media and some of President Trump's political opponents insist on referring to this policy as a "ban on Muslims." It is most definitely not. Of the forty seven countries with majority Muslim populations, the top six are not included in the travel ban

Indeed, 41 nations with majority Muslim populations are unaffected by the travel ban. To suggest that this is a blanket ban on travel to the United States by Muslims is a complete fabrication.

The United States should never ban access to our shores on the basis of religious affiliation. Ours should be a welcoming nation that opens its arms to people of every race, nationality and religion. But we also owe it to our citizens to protect them from people and nations who wish them harm.

President Trump's temporary ban on travelers from seven specific nations is not xenophobic, it's not racist, and it's not contrary to traditional American values.

It's a reflection of what we should expect from our President - to put the safety and security of the American people ahead of all other considerations.

Medicare's hospice helps people cope with final stages of life

By Bob Moos/Southwest public affairs officer for the U.S. Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services

Choosing hospice care isn't about giving up. It's about making every day count.

Terminally ill people who make the choice receive care for their physical, emotional, social and spiritual needs.

They're no longer seeking a cure, but they do want to live out their last weeks and months as comfortably as possible and with dignity.

Medicare's hospice benefit has helped millions of Americans and their families cope with the final stages of terminal illnesses.

To qualify, you must be eligible for Medicare's Part A hospital insurance, and your physician and your hospice medical director must certify that you have six months or less to live, assuming your illness runs its normal course.

You also must sign a statement choosing the Medicare hospice benefit and another statement that you understand you're forgoing curative treatment for your terminal condition.

Although cancer patients once made up the vast majority of hospice recipients, that's no longer true. A growing number of people with late-stage Alzheimer's disease, non-Alzheimer's dementia, heart disease, Parkinson's disease and other conditions now benefit from hospice.

Still, people often wait too long before turning to the valuable benefit. The average length of care is less than 60 days.

Hospice programs follow a team approach. The specially trained team typically includes doctors, nurses, counselors and social workers, among others.

A doctor and nurse are on call 24-7 to care for you and support your family when you need it.

The hospice benefit allows you and your family to stay together in the comfort of your home, unless you require hospital care. If your hospice team determines you need inpatient care at some point, it will make the arrangements for your stay.

Hospice's main goal is to relieve your pain and manage your symptoms.

As long as the care comes from a Medicare-approved hospice, Medicare covers the physician services, nursing care, drugs, medical equipment and supplies, and physical and occupational therapy.

Though the hospice benefit is part of original Medicare, it's also available to anyone with a Medicare Advantage plan.

And both original Medicare and Medicare Advantage will continue to pay for the treatment of other conditions unrelated to your terminal illness.

Medicare understands that your family occasionally needs a rest from caregiving. So you can request to stay up to five days at a time at a hospice facility, hospital or nursing home. For that, you pay five percent of the

Our Views

Little of this and that

My adorable great-granddaughter sometimes wears a cute little onesie that has these words on the front:

"I'm cute.

Mom's cute.

Dad's lucky."

When Stuart Hamblen sang "Ain't Gonna Need This House No Longer," he didn't mean that he was going to sell his home.

He was referring to the fact that he was "gettin' ready to meet the Saints."

Peter Cottontail was a bunny rabbit.

"Stick around" doesn't mean put your wads of chewing gum anywhere you want; it means "stay a while."

A-B-C-D-E-F-G. Why is the alphabet in that order? Is it because of the song?

I asked my friend where she would be today. She said she would be at her school. I went to the school and she wasn't there. I drove by her house and saw her in her yard, gaz-

When a guy tells you he's going to get his ears lowered, he means he's getting a haircut.

I asked a friend what she would be doing for Thanksgiving. She replied, "Serving Uncle Sam." I thought she meant she was baking a turkey to feed her dad's brother, but as it turned out, she had joined the U.S. Army.

What did the turkey say when it swallowed its computer?

Instead of "gobble, gobble," it said, "google, google."

Medicare-approved amount for respite care.

Overall, you pay almost nothing for your hospice care. There is no deductible. Besides your five percent share for the inpatient respite care, your only expense is the $5 or less you pay for each prescription drug you take to relieve pain or manage your symptoms.

You can receive hospice care as long as you're recertified. After 90 days of care, you're re-evaluated by the hospice's medical director or other hospice doctor to determine if the care is still appropriate.

Another re-evaluation is done after another 90 days and then every 60 days.

If your health improves or your illness goes into remission, you may not need to remain in a hospice program.

In those cases, you'll return to your previous Medicare coverage. And if someday your condition worsens, you can go back to hospice care.

Beneficiaries wanting to learn more about hospice programs in their area should talk to their doctor or call their state's hospice organization. (The number for Oklahoma is 1-405-513-8602.)

Your physician will also help determine whether a particular program has been approved by Medicare.

When considering and choosing a hospice program, ask these questions: What kind of training does the hospice provide its caregivers? How does the hospice staff respond to after-hour emergencies? What measures are in place to ensure quality care? How does the hospice involve the family in planning the care?

For more about Medicare's hospice benefit, visit Medicare's website site at medicare.gov or call Medicare's 24-7 customer service line at 1-800-633-4227.

Oklahoma Senate Democrats announce 2017 legislative agenda

Senate Democratic Leader John Sparks on Thursday unveiled the Senate Democrat's 2017 legislative agenda with a focus on specific plans and solutions, which will ensure that core government services in Oklahoma are protected and enhanced in a way that benefits hard working Oklahoma families and our business community.

"Oklahoma teachers, small business owners and hard working families are looking to the legislature for reassurance that there are, in fact, plans on the table to address issues like our budget crisis, our education crisis and our healthcare crisis. The Democrats in the Senate are prepared to present and champion legislation which specifically addresses these issues," said Sparks, D-Norman.

"Now is the time for bold ideas and true leadership. Non-election years are the time to do hard things and take hard votes. This session we must be prepared to do the right thing for Oklahoma and turn crises into opportunities. We are hopeful that these practical, common-sense ideas will gain the support of members across the political spectrum and, together, we can muster the political will to do hard things this session, which will truly benefit Oklahoma families and businesses," said Democratic Caucus Chair Sen. Kay Floyd, D-Oklahoma City.

Senate Democrats have filed 91 bills this session with a clear focus on protecting and investing in public education, supporting Oklahoma business and industry, fixing the revenue problem in the state budget, making Oklahoma healthier and expanding access to healthcare for hard working Oklahomans, expanding criminal justice reform, and supporting and protecting the most vulnerable among us.

The 2017 Senate Democratic Agenda includes specific proposals in each of these areas:

Protecting and Investing in Public Education

- Implementing an eight-year plan for the State Department of Education to get a better long-term view of how budget changes and legislative mandates impact our children, our teachers and our schools (SB 437 – Sparks).

- Reinstating the National Board Certified Teacher bonus program to ensure merit pay opportunities for Oklahoma's best, brightest and most innovative teachers (SB 463 – Sparks).

Supporting Oklahoma Business and Industry

- Repealing Oklahoma's non-compliance with the Real ID Act (SB 1 – Sparks, Floyd) and empowering the Department of Public Safety to implement a self-funding system, which will make Oklahoma compliant with the Real ID Act (SB 190 – Floyd) as quickly and efficiently as possible, so as to limit the impending interruption to the mission and work at our military installations and solve this problem promptly.

- Protecting Oklahoma businesses from excessive fees and taxes and ensuring that fees and taxes paid are spent in support of the industry that pays them and are not used to balance the state's budget (SB 454 – Sparks).

Fixing the Revenue Problem in our State Budget

- Establishing a fund to replace the revenue from oil and gas extraction as that resource continues to diminish (SJR35 & SB610 – Sparks).

- Stopping the 2018 trigger on the most recent short sighted, politically motivated tax cut and ensure no more tax cuts happen in this budget environment (SB 82 – Matthews).

Making Oklahoma Healthier and Expanding Access to Healthcare for Hard Working Oklahomans

- Creating a paid family medical leave model for Oklahoma state employees (SB 736 – Floyd) where we can model the value in supporting Oklahoma families in a way that will encourage private industry to follow our lead.

- Restoring Insure Oklahoma to pre-Affordable Care Act levels (new SB 805 in process – Sparks).

Expanding Criminal Justice Reform

- Reducing unnecessary costs to state taxpayers by empowering the Pardon and Parole Board to parole prisoners who are 70 years of age or older and meet certain other public safety requirements (SB 185 – Floyd).

Supporting and Protecting the Most Vulnerable Among Us

- Restoring the Earned Income Tax Credit to its previous refundable status for the lowest-income working Oklahoma families (SB 434 – Sparks).

- Protecting survivors of domestic violence, sexual violence and stalking from certain landlord/tenant issues (SB 621 – Matthews).

- Extending the statute of limitations on human trafficking (SB 249 – Pittman) and child sexual abuse or child sexual exploitation (SB 192 – Floyd) to protect Oklahoma's most vulnerable children.

- Passing a package of incentives and benefits for Oklahoma's military families and veterans, including making 100% of military retirement pay exempt from state income taxes (SB 126 – Dossett) and extending reduced motor vehicle registration fees to military retirees (SB 125 – Dossett).

A.J.'s Enemies

The list keeps getting longer

The Good Folks of Lennox Valley

Yes, A.J. Fryerson complained about everything, and the number of folks on his "bad list" increased by the week. There's a funny thing about collecting such a long list. Chances are, a lot of those folks included A.J. on their bad lists as well. Sooner or later, people would say, something bad was going to happen to A.J.

The September 8, 1998, edition of The Hometown News included A.J.'s latest discourse. Not a week went by that Fryerson didn't write a letter to the editor, and on slow news weeks, they often found their way onto Iris Long's opinion page.

His latest rant had to do with the only gas station in town, Buford Levitt's Sinclair Oil. The problem with complaining about Levitt's was obvious to anyone in the Valley. Along with Perry Pratt, Buford was just about the most liked and respected merchant in the community. A.J. wasn't going to attract many allies.

His latest diatribe had to do with the way the gas pumps kept track of his purchases. It started when Buford introduced "self-service" pumps at his station in 1997.

Prior to that, customers would pull into the station, order their gas, and pay the attendant. More times than not, the rotating cylinder would turn over by a penny or two, but the attendant always charged only what the customer ordered.

Buford replaced his old gas pumps during the same period he introduced self-service. Instead of the old cylinder models, Levitt's now had electronic pumps with digital displays that indicated the amount of gas purchased.

This apparently upset A.J. to no end. He penned his letter on Monday, September 7, and dropped it off at the newspaper office, saving him the cost of a 32-cent stamp.

Unlike most Valley residents, Iris saw A.J.'s rantings as harmless. She figured she was doing the Valley a favor by letting him blow off steam in the paper rather than finding a more violent method of expressing himself. And sometimes, as was the case with this letter, she found A.J.'s thought process rather amusing.

"Dear Hometown News," he began. "I have been a customer of Sinclair Oil for more than 30 years. When I purchased my first car in 1963, I bought my first tank of gas from Buford Levitt himself."

Like many of A.J.'s letters, this one started out peacefully enough. But as was often the case, his tone quickly changed.

"What I want to know is," he continued, "when gas pumps went from calculating the cost of your gas to robbing you like a slot machine in Las Vegas?"

The crux of the matter came down to the precision of those new pumps.

"Before Sinclair got those new pumps, you knew what your gas was going to cost. Now, you might as well close your eyes, because those numbers keep on rolling until they decide to stop on their own!"

He went on to call Buford the worst kind of thief: one who would steal from his neighbors and friends.

Yes, A.J. Fryerson made a lot of enemies, and as his list got longer many folks figured it was only a matter of time before he complained about someone who wouldn't take it as calmly as Buford Levitt.

The letter to the editor on September 8 would be the last anyone would hear from A.J. in 1998. Yes, he liked to complain. But as the good folks of Lennox Valley would soon discover, A.J. had just complained for the last time.

Amazon will start collecting sales taxes in Oklahoma in March

Trevor Brown
Oklahoma Watch

Online retail giant Amazon will start collecting sales tax from Oklahoma customers in March – a move that will send tens of millions of dollars to state and local governments.

Gov. Mary Fallin on Thursday confirmed the arrangement, first reported by Oklahoma Watch the day before, and said collections will begin on March 1. State, city, town and county governments will receive their first extra revenues as early as May. With the change, Oklahoma will become the 40th state where the Seattle-based e-commerce company collects and remits sales and use taxes.

However, the additional tax revenue will not impact Oklahoma's current fiscal year budget or the $870 million projected shortfall for next year's budget. Fallin said that's because budget officials included the anticipated sales tax money in the state's revenue estimates while secret negotiations with Amazon were underway.

But Oklahoma's current budget woes would be even more dire if the agreement with Amazon didn't go through. And the state can count on a new steady revenue stream for years to come.

"The good news is that we are receiving tens of million of more dollars," Fallin said. "And the cities, towns and counties will see a bump of collections immediately when it is collected and dispersed in the April and May timeframe."

Fallin confirmed the arrangement Thursday during the annual Associated Press Legislative Forum.

The state has been in confidential talks with Amazon since the passage of last year's Retail Protection Act.

That measure requires online retailers to either start voluntarily collecting the sales tax or notify their customers of the existing law, seldom followed, stating that it is the customer's responsibility to pay the tax when a merchant doesn't have a physical presence in the state.

The idea behind the law is that it would be easier for the companies to begin collecting and remitting the tax to the state rather than notify customers. It also includes an incentive that retailers that voluntarily collect the taxes by May 1 would be protected from paying previous uncollected sales and use taxes owed to the state.

Oklahoma Tax Commission spokeswoman Paula Ross said the agency has notified the top 500 online retailers of the new law and has been talking with a number of firms, including Amazon.

Ross said the state doesn't provide estimates for how much revenue the state is missing out on annually from specific companies. But a seven-year-old report, which hasn't been updated, pegged the total at nearly $300 million if all out-of-state internet sales and use tax revenues were collected each year.

She said the amount of new revenue the state could see if all major online retailers came on board is likely lower now because many smaller retailers are already voluntarily collecting the tax. But she said the total gain in funds the state is currently foregoing will still likely be in the "hundreds of millions" of dollars.

Oklahoma's cities, towns and counties, which levy their own sales and use taxes, also will benefit from the move. Ross said, as a whole, they can expect to receive tens of millions in extra funds each year.

Visiting the Jeff Wells' family over Super Bowl weekend was Suzanne's cousin, Gary Goodfriend, from Irving, Texas. Gary is the nephew of the late Joe and Pauline Krapf of Purcell.

He was treated to a stunning pizza dinner at Jo's Pizza (better than any pizza in Dallas, he said) and the next night was the honored guest at a Mexican dinner with family and friends at Ted's in Norman.

Saturday night Gary was able to attend the "Super Bowl" of Oklahoma high school basketball when the girls and boys teams took on CCS. Gary's cousin, Adam Wells, was outstanding in his overall performance as was every member of both the boys and girls teams that night, each coming away victorious. The game was very exciting and the girls' contest wasn't decided until the last seconds.

Family photos were taken after the basketball game at the gym as well as at the Wells' house. Gary had to return to Irving prior to the Super Bowl party held at the Wells' home.

While in town, Suzanne gifted her cousin with a beautiful Purcell key chain as a remembrance of this trip.

Gary had his usual great visit with Jeff and Suzanne Wells, Alison and Adam. Greeting Gary and renewing old friendships were Honey, Zoe and Hallie Wells. The family is always so harmonious and unified and respectful which is a joy to Gary. It is always a pleasure to come to Purcell and visit them.

In addition, he met a new friend, Tanner, as well as Jack and Trey, friends of Adams' he had not yet met.

Area Candidates address issues

1 - Why do you want to be on the Purcell City Council?

Larry Don Bacon Jr. – Public service has been a common theme among almost every chapter of my life. I have a passion for serving and helping others. I believe that my well-rounded history of experience in the military, law enforcement, automotive and insurance industries have given me opportunities to help others in a variety of roles. I also take great pride in serving in my church and as the leader of my household as a husband and father. It would be my honor to put these qualities to good use on behalf of my fellow citizens of Purcell, if given the opportunity to serve them on city council.

Graham Fishburn – My father always taught me the importance of serving others. I feel a sense of duty to give back to the community that's done so much for my family. Service to my country was emboldened in me during my military career and was strengthened with my overseas tours, including hostile places like Afghanistan. We live in a great country and we have a lot to be grateful for despite our problems. I love my hometown and want it to be the best it can be. Serving on City Council has allowed me to contribute to helping the city solve difficult problems. We have a great team of other council members, city employees and great citizens; we have challenges ahead, and we can meet these challenges.

2 - What is the city council's role?

Bacon – To ensure the city fulfills its duties under the law and lawfully exercises its powers.

Fishburn – The city council represents the citizens of Purcell and ensures that the city is functioning properly and solves difficult problems. The city council must ensure that city resources are allocated wisely. It's important that our city controls costs and looks for ways to save money. We must always look out for the citizens' best interests.

3 - What are your top 3 priorities for the City of Purcell?

Bacon – Economic growth, restoring trust in city government, town clean-up and restoration.

Fishburn – The health, safety and security of our citizens are always priority number one. This means our police and fire department must be well equipped, trained and led. Our hospital and ambulance services are also very important. Second, we need to ensure that Purcell remains strong on business and commerce. This means our city infrastructure is solid. We need good roads, well-lit streets, quality water and reliable electricity. We should look for things to accommodate new businesses and partner with the Chamber of Commerce. Third, we need to support quality of life. This means we need to maintain and improve our parks and recreation. I want to either repair or replace the city swimming pool. The new ballpark is fantastic and was supported by city council. Our city lake is a jewel but needs further improvements. Our city golf course is well led and is another jewel of the city.

4 - Why do you or not support GreenScape?

Bacon – I support GreenScape. I believe when people come to Purcell looking to move their family here, they look at the appearance of the town.

Fishburn – I support Greenscape because it improves the critical transportation corridor in our city, Green Avenue. It will improve the beautification of the city and provide much needed sidewalks which adds to quality of life. This will also help attract business and commerce to the city.

5 - Does Purcell need a public storm shelter? Why?

Bacon – Yes. There are people that don't have the property or funding to be able to have one installed, so a public storm shelter would give places for those people to go.

Fishburn – We live in a tornado prone area and the threat is real. I believe in most circumstances, people are safer by sheltering in place rather than driving somewhere during a storm. Homes and businesses should be encouraged to have their own safe rooms or storm shelters. This includes our schools. However, depending on the situation, people may need a storm shelter if they don't have access to adequate protection. For the community I would like to explore the use of existing facilities that are adequate to be used as community shelters such as basements and reinforced concrete buildings. We need state laws that protect these organizations from liability when they offer their facilities for public safety. More discussion and analysis is needed on this issue.

1. What is the school board's role in governing the district?

PURCELL

Natalie Beville – The school board has multiple roles in governing the district. One is to oversee the superintendent by ensuring he/she is managing the district as efficiently, effectively and positively as possible. Another role the school board serves is to help create sensible school policies that best serve the students and faculty within the district. Appropriately and effectively budgeting state funds is another critically important role of the school board. We must make sure state curriculums are implemented and followed. It is imperative that our administrators, teachers, support staff and children are adequately and fairly served. We must also work to ensure that we find and retain the most qualified teachers and do our best to soften the effects of the budgetary restraints placed upon us by the state. We represent the public's voice in public education, making sure our community gets the highest quality education for our tax dollars spent.

I'd like to note that it is extremely important to keep an open and positive dialogue with not just the superintendent and principals in the district, but also to create an environment that allows the teachers and parents to feel comfortable discussing any issues, suggestions for improvement, etc., freely without fear of retribution or judgment.

Dru Smith – In a broad sense, the board acts as an overseer of the public education system. Hiring of key personnel, approving policy and determining a budget are some of the duties the board undertakes. If you've attended any school activity in Purcell or been to the ball field or gym, it doesn't take long to recognize the love and enthusiasm this community has for its children. The Board should reflect this passion as it continues to ensure the success of each student by providing the best possible atmosphere for learning and achievement.

LXINGTON

Matthew Dierking – The most important role of the school board must be education. The board must make sure all students are equipped with the best education our district can provide. The board should also set the vision and goals for the district. Also, the board must oversee the annual budget.

Terri Sample – The school board is the link between the public and the public school. The primary role is to assure policies, actions, and expenditures are prudent and in the best interest of the students, parents, faculty, and taxpayer. When making decisions, the school board incorporates the community's view of what students should know and be able to do. School boards are accessible to the taxpayer and are accountable for the school's performance. The Board is the "watchdog" for the community, ensuring the tax dollar is spent wisely and the taxpayer gets the most education for the tax dollars spent.

(Note: Lexington school board candidates Caleb Paul and Travis Peery did not respond.)

DIBBLE

Richard Corley – A school board's role should be to lookout for the students education. Education should be the first and main priority. Board members should seek community and Dibble Faculty views before voting on issues. The board members should not work off their own agenda, but be a voice for the community to make sure the students get the best education possible!

Clayton Lee – The school board's role is to represent the constituents within the district. More specifically, the board should direct and work with the superintendent to reach the school's goals. Board members should be open minded, good listeners and willing to make and support changes. School board members should be most concerned with the "total" educational process.

2. What are your top 3 priorities or goals for your school district?

PURCELL

Beville – The school board has a plethora of priorities in governing our school system. However, three more critical priorities are improving the educational environment, effectively navigating the current financial climate and making sure the public's voice remains a priority. First, we must work to improve the overall educational environment, whether that be through finding more creative ways to engage students in the learning process, getting parents more involved in everyday classroom goals/activities, greater community involvement, etc. We need to take a multi-faceted approach which could include any or all of the aforementioned suggestions. Secondly, we must thoroughly understand and be able to navigate the current highly challenging financial climate that directly affects our schools and state. Doing so gives a greater understanding of the everyday problems that students, parents and teachers face inside and outside of the classroom on a day-to-day basis, and will help us better understand how we can better serve the district. Finally, we need to find ways to ensure the public's voice continues to be a priority in shaping our district in a positive and encouraging manner, while maintaining the highest quality education our children can receive.

Smith – The number one priority has always been the student, every student. Purcell Schools have a long history of providing an excellent education for their students offering them the tools and opportunities to be successful. The uncertainty of State funding adds to the difficulty of estimating the needs and preparing a budget. Purcell Public Schools have proven their ability to overcome these cuts without sacrificing quality in the education provided. Utilizing the assets of the District in the best possible way should always be the goal. Hopefully, you will see the continued strengthening of the partnership between the teachers, administration and the community.

LXINGTON

Dierking – My top three priorities for Lexington Schools are education, safety and accountability. Lex. has amazing teachers who work tirelessly for their students, if we continue to have the right staff placed in the right positions we will stay on the correct course. I believe with the future bond including safe rooms and secure entrances Lexington will be on the right track to making all our schools safe and secure. When it comes to accountability I am speaking to everyone involved with the school district. Our teachers are our greatest resources, they see the day to day needs of students, and if there are needs that are not being met then our teachers need to make administration aware of the issue. Our administration has to be held accountable for making sure student and teacher needs are addressed and solutions found for those issues. And the board, is accountable for making sure the students, teachers and administration voices are all being heard and that every aspect is evaluated to search for solutions and improvements.

Sample – I think it’s important to state that I do not have a predetermined agenda and simply want to represent the community interest in school decisions; however, I think the following three items are crucial.

- To ensure decisions regarding use of assets, contracts, funding (to include bonds), and budgetary decisions are based on need, sound financial practice and are in the best interest of the District.

- To ensure academics remains the focus at Lexington High School so the curricula and environment prepares all students to succeed in college, vocational school, and the work force. Specifically, I would like to see an increase in the average ACT score and grade point average for Lexington High School.

- To be supportive of all extra-curricular activities such as FFA, Band, Vocal, Music Programs and Sports which allow students to expand their opportunities and interests.

DIBBLE

Corley – Education: Plain and simple, we owe it to our kids and our community to make sure that each and every child is getting the education they deserve no matter what!

Future education: With the state coming under financial short falls it seems that our educational system is taking the brunt of the cost cuts. We have to plan for the future, we have to make sure we are building a sustainable program that will last and withstand any additional financial short falls that might come our way.

Our kids: Having two kids of my own in the Dibble school system, my wife and I are very active and try to attend as many events as possible. With that being said, unfortunately due to many different reasons, we have kids in our community that don’t have that support. As a community, we have to come up with ideas and a plan to assist the unsupported kids and let them know they are important and valued.

Lee – • Providing a safe learning environment

- Providing a quality education

- Maintaining the previous two during times of budget cuts.

3. State funding for common education has fallen under both the present and former state superintendent of education and the cuts are expected to grow in 2017 as the state faces another $900 million shortfall. What steps can your school district take to cushion the impact of these cuts?

PURCELL

Bevill – Navigating the current financial climate will be challenging to say the least. However, we must find ways to save money in every area we can without compromising the quality of education or the teachers within our district. We should investigate any source of federal or private grants that may be available to help ease the burden that is placed upon the school district. I’d also like to explore how we can better implement technology into everyday classroom work district wide as a replacement for typical paper/books/supplies usage and whether or not this is a realistic option considering the current financial constraints. One priority for me is to meet with teachers, parents and principals to gain a better understanding of what their goals, necessities and wishes are so we can try to better tailor a budget around the most significant needs affecting our schools.

Smith – The last two years in spite of the cuts in funding, Purcell has been able to maintain or improve their state grade. Jason Midkiff, the current superintendent, along with all the teachers have done more with less. The new Oklahoma LED lighting program is a perfect example. According to an article published in The Purcell Register, the district could save more than $1 million over the next 10 years. Getting the most out of what we have is crucial in lessening the impact of these cuts.

LEXINGTON

Dierking – Without having seen the budget it is hard for me say what the school can do to cushion the blow. However, I have no doubt our school is underfunded along with most schools in our state. One suggestion would be to look at neighboring schools who have made adjustments, like 4-day weeks, to see how their bottom line was truly impacted with the changes. Again, without seeing the budget I cannot give specifics at this time.

Sample – The first step would be to eliminate any waste possible. We should consider alternative sources of funding such as grants or corporate donations. We should explore e-technology for textbooks as a cost-effective way to get textbooks into the classrooms and replace the practice of making paper packets for the students. We could develop a tutoring program that utilizes retired individuals in the community who want to volunteer their services in various fields of expertise.

DIBBLE

Corley – Being in some sort of management and ownership in the oil and gas business the last 16 years has been a real eye opener. The industry is as up and down as any you will see. The lessons I have learned from this is that you have to always prepare for a financial decline. When finances are good you store a little away for a rainy day and plan for market downturn. You prepare for the future. Right now though, we have to be creative in our thinking and come up with ways to find funding. We can look for grants, we can solicit corporate funding, and ask for community help and understanding through this difficult time.

Lee – The school has to be creative. It has to minimize further cuts to staff. I believe the school should look at non-traditional scheduling opportunities, ways to cut energy costs and strategies that simply provide for greater efficiency.

4. What is the most pressing issue for your school district?

PURCELL

Bevill – The budget crisis as well as massive teacher shortage affecting our state are the most pressing issues for our district currently. Any time funding is in jeopardy, it becomes even more difficult to meet the needs of not only the students, but the teachers and staff. It is vitally important to take good care of the teachers we have by creating a positive, encouraging and supportive environment that seeks to not only provide these things, but also to serve as an example to the community of our appreciation for the excruciatingly difficult job they perform day in and out. The most important thing the board can do is to be very thoughtful, careful and understanding when creating a budget and policies that are going to affect not only everyone in the schools but also the community. We must be very mindful of our decisions so that we are maintaining a high quality education without compromising the morale within the district.

Smith – In this current climate the most pressing issue will continue to be the State funding. The State money makes up the majority of the School’s budget. We need to continue to support our teachers and staff. As a community we should be advocates for public education. The goal is to provide our children with the opportunity to learn and achieve here in Purcell so they can be successful in whatever they choose to do.

LEXINGTON

Dierking – Right now, for me personally the most pressing issue is the safety of the students. My boys are young, I have seen and still see how unsecure our campus is. With the drop off zone, kids being dropped off all over the place and running between vehicles, to the doors of the elementary being so far away from any staff. I am hopeful the new bond will address the majority of the safety concerns.

Sample – The bond is the most pressing issue for Lexington Public Schools at this time. The voters did not pass it last year and it has been revived to be voted on again soon. I want to ensure that the public will be provided clear and accurate information to permit the voters to make an informed decision. I want to ensure that it fulfills current needs of the school and will be something that can be sustained in the future in a financially-strained economy.

DIBBLE

Corley – The education of our kids! The current board and future board will be, and are facing cost cutting decisions again. They will have to decide what areas to make cuts. Whether they cut entire programs or cut teachers and put more students in classes. Cutting teachers takes one on one time from our kids. We must find a way to keep our teachers and give them the tools they need to teach. My kids are very active in sports, FFA, cheerleading, and other extracurricular activities. I don’t want Dibble to lose anything that we have right now, but the focus must be on their education and future. Dibble kids are the future of our community and we have to support them. Together as a community we have to communicate with each other and work side by side to get to a common ground.

Lee – The pending upcoming state budget cut is the most pressing issue for Dibble Public Schools.

It has been a good week at the center. Everyone is looking forward to a special birthday party on Wednesday. We will be celebrating Hester's birthday. She is the chairman of the board and does so much for the center.

It is quickly approaching Valentine's Day so the hearts and red and white decorations with a little pink are on all the tables and around the dining room. Our Valentine's Day party will be Tuesday, February 14. A new Valentine King and Queen will be crowned on that day. Members need to start thinking about who they would like to be honored this year. The regular members who attend on a daily basis will vote for one person for the Queen and one person for the King.

The senior's next garage sale will be Friday, February 10, starting at 8 a.m. and lasting until 3 p.m. Plan to come check out the items for sale. The two good sewing machines that were for sale have been sold. However, they will have a couple more for sale as soon as they go through them and check them out.

Bingo will start promptly at 10 a.m. Thursday. Everyone needs to be in their chair at 10 a.m. so the games can begin on time.

As soon as it gets a little warmer in the mornings, the seniors will begin a walking program three days a week. It will be based on your abilities and if you use a cane or a walker, it will be geared so you can use your assistance.

If you know someone who needs help with their noon meal at home, call the Delta Nutrition Center at 527-9462 and ask for Rebecca. Participants must live in the Purcell City Limits.

Looking for a place to have something special? The senior center is available for $70 a day. If you're interested call 527-5070.

The seniors invite anyone 60 or above to visit the center where there is always something cooking and plenty of activities. Lunch is $2 for all seniors.

We are still looking for a part time worker to help in the kitchen. If you are over 55, and interested in part time work, we can offer a program that will provide training for up to a year and as I understand it, the SCsep Program will help you get a better position at the end of the year.

To qualify for this program, you must be 55 or older, low income and be able to work up to five hours a day, five days a week, here at the Washington Senior Citizens Center. This training would give you a chance to get a better job at the end of the training. Please contact the center at 288-6404 for information or to set up an interview.

Once again, if you missed the music Friday, you really missed a great time. The folks play and sing a variety of music, from country, gospel to folk songs. Many good players and singers are in the group. And at noon they break for a good lunch and then more music. Come on out and join in the fun.

The menu for next week will include: Chicken enchiladas and rice, pot roast and vegetables, meatloaf, vegetables and delicious fresh hot rolls, chicken pot soup, and manwiches. Of course, these are subject to change when necessary. There is also a salad bar with a variety of things offered each day.

The quilters are still working on projects most every day, so come out and join them. If you haven't learned yet, they will teach you and get you started.

A few of our regular folks have been out sick or with injuries lately. Some have made it back, but we are looking forward to having others make it back as soon as they can. They are missed and we offer prayers for them each day.

Once again I will remind you, if you are home bound, and unable to get out on your own, you can have a home delivered meal every day we are open. The qualification is that you can't get out on your own and have to have someone take you when you need to leave your home.

It is a pretty good deal to get a meal that is already cooked and delivered to your door for $3 if you are over 60 years of age, and $5 if you are under 60. Not bad, when you did not have to shop and prepare it yourself.

If you are able to get out, but don't have transportation, you can be picked up and brought to the center then returned home after lunch. Call the center at the number listed above to get the information.

We hope you will come and visit and give us a try. You may find friends and neighbors you know and if not, you can make some new friends. Many smiling faces will greet you when you come.

maintainers and fuel technicians for CH-47 Chinook helicopters in support of Operation Inherent Resolve and Operation Spartan Shield. Having completed pre-mobilization training at Camp Gruber Training Center near Braggs, Oklahoma, the GSAB will move out to Fort Hood, Texas, for additional training before heading overseas.

One of the ceremony's speakers, Brig. Gen. Michael Thompson, assistant adjutant general for Oklahoma, expressed his personal view of Guardsmen and their sacrifices.

"I see brothers and sisters," Thompson said. "I see students and police officers, farmers and everyday workers in Oklahoma. You put all that aside when our country calls. You make incredible sacrifices for the safety of this country."

Deploying Guardsmen represent a wide range of ages and experience levels, from the newest private to the seasoned veteran; all of which are brothers and sisters-in-arms, relying on each other for support.

Two of the deploying GSAB Guardsmen, however, are actually related.

Master Sgt. Robert Calvert, a senior aircraft maintenance sergeant from Norman and his son Sgt. William Calvert, an aircraft maintenance sergeant from Moore will experience the same deployment from very different points of view. "To me, it's not anything different or new," Robert said. "I've deployed three times. It's just another year away, but it's what we do."

For William, the experience will be quite different.

"I'm really looking forward to my first deployment and all the experiences I will get from it," William said. "I've never been outside the United States, so this is going to be totally out of my comfort level."

Robert is the acting first sergeant for the maintenance company responsible for the care of the unit's Chinooks. He will lead more than 50 support personnel in maintaining the aircraft, relying on lessons learned from a 33-year career.

With four years of military service, William is by no means inexperienced with the massive aircraft he maintains. As a maintenance sergeant, he will supervise a portion of the support personnel his father leads.

Chinooks are one of the most flexible heavy-lift vehicles in the U.S. Army with a maximum lift capability of 26,000 pounds and a maximum range exceeding 400 miles. The capabilities of the Chinooks make it a highly utilized aircraft for a variety of missions dispatcher, I had applied for several departments before finding my home at the McClain County Sheriff's Office," Harryman said.

He worked his way up through the ranks starting as a part-time transport deputy.

He was hired full time in June of 2003 when he went to the basic police academy in Oklahoma City.

"After graduating from the academy I worked as a full time Field Deputy for McClain County," Harryman said.

He moved from Newcastle to Washington when he met where he met his future wife, Amy Slocomb.

"Amy was a dispatcher for the City of Purcell and for McClain County. In March of 2005 we married and now live in Washington," Harryman said.

The couple has two children, Brooke, an RN and Blaine, a senior at Washington High School.

Harryman was promoted to Lieutenant in 2007 over the field deputies and later given the task of supervising the detectives along with the field deputies.

Harryman was promoted to captain over the jail and over the Lieutenant of field deputies in 2014.

At that time he was continuing his work as direct supervisor over detectives.

"My main job was to oversee the daily working of the jail and supervise detectives. The jail was a full time job in itself," he said.

"I received calls all hours of the night and weekends from maintenance issues to fights to medical issues," he said.

Harryman became acting undersheriff in July 2016.

"Harryman came up through the ranks," Hewett said of his new undersheriff. "He has been a long-time member of the sheriff's department. He has done an outstanding job on every assignment and role he has been assigned," Hewett continued.

"James is a proven leader. We are very fortunate to have someone of his caliber to step up to the rank of undersheriff," Hewett said.

Shobe retired in November of 2016 and Harryman was promoted to undersheriff February 1.

McClain County Sheriff Don Hewett, who has served in that capacity for the last 16 years, had nothing but praise for the work Shobe did here.

"Major Shobe retired December 1 after a long and illustrious career," Hewett said. "He retired as undersheriff and did an outstanding job. We are going to miss him."

Shobe's law enforcement career spanned 42 years with 26 years with the Oklahoma Highway Patrol and 16 years with the sheriff's department.

Fishburn has served on the council since March 2014 when he was appointed to Betty Gerhard's unexpired term.

Dave Stanton's Office 2 seat on the Purcell school board will be filled either by Natalie Beville or Dru Smith.

Stanton, the board's president, didn't seek another term.

A 4-way race developed across the river in Lexington for Doug Northcutt's Office 2 seat on the school board in Lexington.

south and east of the Oklahoma Department of Transportation (ODOT) on state Highway 74 on the south end of Purcell.

Purcell Assistant Fire Chief Rocky Claunch said 16 firefighters from Purcell in four brush trucks and two tanker trucks initially attacked the blaze fanned by 32 percent humidity and winds gusting to near 40 m.p.h.

After the fire broke out at 4:23 p.m. the call went out to Wayne and Lexington for assistance.

Four firefighters and two brush trucks from Wayne an-Northcutt, the board president, didn't seek another term.

Candidates for Office 2 in Dibble are Richard Corley and Clayton Lee. Incumbent president Kenny Keeble didn't seek another term.

In Blanchard, Mitchel Fitzgerald and former Legislature candidate Liz George are seeking the Office 2 post being vacated by Darren Foster, board president there.

Candidates for Randy Corbin's Office 2 seat in Newcastle are Valory Dalton and Robert Fulton.

If needed, a runoff election for school board will be April 4.

sured the call with Lexington also dispatching four firemen and two trucks.

Firemen had the fire contained within an hour and no structures were damaged.

"It burned about 30 acres," Claunch said. "It was mainly woods and grass. There were also some stumps on the state property that had to be dealt with."

Purcell firefighters were dispatched back out to deal with hot spots just after 9:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The fire remains under investigation.

Fish:

snout to tail must be released unharmed.

The limit applies to large mouth, spotted and small mouth bass.

For both black and white crappie, the defining limit is at least 10 inches.

Measurements are taken with the fish laid flat on a ruler with its mouth closed and tail lobes pressed together.

Anglers found in possession of fish smaller than the limits for the species may be fined up to $200.

The limits are based on a 2010 survey of the lake's fish population by the Oklahoma Department of Wildlife Conservation.

The ODWC recommended the size requirement to allow the fish time to grow and reproduce.

The council also acknowledged receipt of two permits from the Department of Environmental Quality.

One will allow construction of 11,900 feet of a 6-inch potable water line from the city's new water well at the Lexington Wildlife Management Area,

The other allows the city to construct a new 300 gallon per minute water well.

Other action taken by the council included:

- increasing appropriations totaling $176,500 for the storm shelter grant recipients;
- approving a budget amendment totaling $21,187.22 for police cars damaged beyond repair;

- approved a budget amendment for GreenScape;
- approved a $2,569 budget amendment for a DEQ grant to the Local Emergency Planning Committee.

Meeting as the Public Works Authority, trustees approved a 5-year extension of the city's contract with WCA for the trash services.

The exclusive contract locks in the current pricing for one year starting July 1, 2017, and includes an option to offer curbside recycling every other week.

Trustees also voted to lift a moratorium on new water taps north of State Highway 39 and west of Washington.

The addition of new water taps in that area will be decided on a case-by-case basis.

They also voted to refinance a tax-exempt loan on the golf clubhouse for an amount not to exceed $240,237.99.

Trustees also heard reports from Purcell Municipal Hospital and Wadley's EMS.

Wood:

That was not a good thing. Being a focus school meant that testing showed a deficiency in what students were learning.

But during a visit from the department last week, Wood learned her school had made a 17 percent gain in those scores over a year ago.

All that's needed now is another 3 percent gain in reading and 2 percent gain in math. The visitors said they are confident students will achieve that this year.

The improvement will remove Purcell Intermediate School from the list of focus schools.

And that turnaround seems as good a time as any to move on and move up.

Wood's last day with Purcell Public Schools will be June 9.

Beginning July 1, she will become superintendent of Whitehead, a dependent school district in Garvin County.

"My little heart is broken," Wood said of the leaving this district. "But sometimes you have to step up to step up.

"I am excited about the new challenge and new opportunity."

Wood was recruited by Whitehead and asked to apply for the superintendent vacancy.

"I thought 'What's the worst that could happen?'" she said. "But they liked me."

Wood, who plans to continue living in Purcell, said she's leaving Purcell Intermediate in good hands.

"I know the staff works really hard. I think they will be good here," she said. "Purcell has great kids and great parents."

Whitehead offers classes kindergarten through eighth grade and has an enrollment of about 430 students.

Wood said superintendent Jason Midkiff was supportive of her decision to accept the job offer.

"I'm definitely not leaving mad. I'm leaving sad," she explained. "You never know what the good Lord has in store."

Wins over Washington and CCS hike record to 14-5 this season

John D. Montgomery
The Purcell Register

With victories over Washington and CCS Purcell ran its current winning streak to three heading into the road game Tuesday at Blanchard.

The Dragons dispatched Washington 74-54 with a very stingy defense in the third quarter.

Riley Hamilton led all scorers with 20 points including a trio of treys. Jack Scrutchins tossed home 17 points with Brady Barrett also in double digits with a dozen. Barrett was six of seven at the charity stripe.

Manny Trejo led the Warriors with 16 points. His three three pointers in the first half closed the gap after Purcell got off to a hot start.

“We played well to start the game,” head coach Bret Petty said. “Washington came back and then we played well at the end.”

“The kids came out really focused at the beginning of the game. Then they put in Trejo and we lost him three times. His threes got them back in the game.”

“We had to buckle down until half-time,” he said.

At that point Purcell was clinging to a 40-33 lead.

But in the second half the Dragon defense clamped down holding the Warriors to six third quarter points.

“We refocused and played well both offensively and defensively in the second half,” Petty said.

Amanda Graddy cuts strings for 17 in 53-38 victory

Led by freshman Amanda Graddy's 17 point outburst, Lexington's Lady Bulldogs popped ECP, 53-38 on the road last Friday.

Senior Morgan Hamm was also in double figures with 10.

Another freshman, Lauren Beason, chipped in five.

“Now that our freshmen are looking to score more, it makes us a lot more efficient on offense,” head coach David Sikes said.

“It was a good game for us. We came out and played well early. Then we had to adjust to their half court trap later in the game,” he said.

“Adjusting is something we haven't done a good job of this year,” Sikes said. “It was good to see us do that.”

Lexington built a 18-17 half time lead before extending the margin to 42-27 heading into the fourth period.

Despite 10 points from Lauren Beason and nine each from Graddy and Hamm, the CCS Lady Royals pinned a 67-50 loss on the Lady Bulldogs.

“We did a good job of shutting down their best player in Shelby Thrailkill but they had others step up and we didn't adjust on defense.”

“We have to finish out games better and continue to improve,” Sikes said.

Washington has Pauls Valley's number.

For the second time in two weeks both the boys and girls teams have defeated Pauls Valley.

The latest win was a 65-60 final for TJ Scholz's boys team.

"We came out kind of flat after having beaten them a week before," he said.

Washington suffered from turnovers early and allowed Pauls Valley offensive rebounds, Scholz said.

"It was almost like we went into the game thinking we were going to win it (just by showing up) and they hit us in the mouth," he said.

"Coach Johnson does a good job making his kids play hard."

The Panthers had a 12 point lead heading into the second half.

Scholz and assistant coach Dustyn Orr encouraged the team to play up to their potential at halftime.

After a slight stumble to start the third quarter, in which Pauls Valley extended its lead to 17 points, Washington started chipping away.

"We went from a full-court zone press to a full-court man press and it bothered them (Pauls Valley)," Scholz said.

Washington cut the lead to six points in the third quarter.

A big part of the swing was Manny Trejo, who scored 27 points and four assists.

"Manny had the best game of his life," Scholz said.

Washington was able to close out the game after Gabe Williams was fouled on a fast break after getting a steal with about a minute to play.

A hard foul sent Williams to the bench and while he was being examined by the coaching staff, the Pauls Valley bench was called for a technical foul.

Chaz Orr went on to shoot the four free throws while Williams, who was okay after the play, gathered himself.

Orr sank all four free throws.

Trejo was fouled seconds later and iced it with two more made freebies.

Washington was 20-24 from the charity stripe and 7-14 from Washington was defeated by Purcell 74-54 on senior night last Tuesday.

"Purcell plays fast and we got caught up in their tempo," Scholz said.

"We started all seniors and played a lot of guys. I was proud of their effort."

The coach said his team played about as well as they could have played in the first quarter.

The score was 18-18 at the end of one.

But Washington went cold shooting and couldn't keep up the pace.

"In the first half we hit shots and in the second we didn't."

Wayne faces Lex and Rush Springs to close out schedule

The Wayne Bulldogs and Lady Bulldogs had some tough sledding last week, dropping games to Konawa and Stratford.

Friday night the Bulldogs traveled to Stratford where they fell 63-44.

Getting off to a slow start put them behind from the get go. Offensively, Wayne couldn't get much going until the fourth, when they outscored Stratford 20-14. But that wasn't enough and Wayne notched a 19 point loss.

Braden Smith led all scorers, singeing the nets for 17.

Tuesday night, Wayne was on the road at Konawa where they lost 61-46.

The Bulldogs jumped on top right out of the gate, but only held a one point lead at the half.

Konawa outscored Wayne 39-25 in the second half to secure the win.

Smith led the team with 14 points with Trey Alderman joining him in double figures with 10 of his own.

Girls

The Lady Bulldogs played Stratford close Friday night, but fell 54-48 to the other Lady Bulldogs.

Wayne started hot offensively, outscoring Stratford 26-16 through the first two quarters.

Holding a nine point lead going into the final stanza, Wayne fell off offensively and allowed Stratford 24 fourth-quarter points. The lopsided scoring at the end of the game did in the Wayne Lady Bulldogs.

Paige Hunt led the team with 17 points in the loss.

Last Tuesday the Lady Bulldogs traveled to Konawa where they fell 57-8.

Konawa jumped out on top from the first quarter and never relinquished their lead.

Wayne was scheduled to host Lexington Tuesday night for Senior night. The final regular lenged them at half time my guys really stepped up and competed the second half.

"But the second quarter proved to be too much to overcome and it cost us the game," Lohn said.

They had 15 turnovers against ECP.

"We did not shoot it or defend them well at all in the first half," the coach said.

"They have two guys who are very capable. For the game they combined for 42 points, which is too many. Some of our halftime adjustments worked and we got some shots to fall in the second half.

"We had a bad night on the defensive side of things," Lohn admitted. "My guys know we cannot afford that."

"ECP is a quality team. They took advantage of our mistakes. We have to attack the painted area more consistently, be tough against contact and finish the easy ones.

"I love these guys. Their competitiveness and will even when we seem to be out matched remains strong. It's time for the collective whole to toughen up and play ball or we will be playing catch and swinging bats in just a couple of weeks," Lohn said.

"I know that's not their goal or mission. But you have to earn it to achieve it," he concluded.

39 entering the fourth period. "We were able to maintain the lead throughout the fourth quarter," the coach said. The Dragons smoked CCS Saturday afternoon, 85-68, behind the hot hand of Hamilton. He poured in a game-high 30 points after starting red hot with two from downtown in the first quarter. He didn't have another three but did yeoman's work at the line hitting 12 of 15 charity tosses including 7-8 down the stretch in the final period.

Austin Nation knocked down four threes and finished with 16 points. Scrutchins was also in double figures with 11. "We got off to our best start of the year," Petty said. That start included 25 first period points followed with 28 in the second frame to stake a 53-30 lead at intermission. "We executed really well in the first half but then came out a little flat in the third quarter when they made a little run on us."

But the Dragons finished strong, out-scoring the Royals 22-21 in the final quarter.

"We finished out on a pretty good run. I knew they could score because they shoot fairly well," Petty said. "I just wasn't sure if they could contain us sive effort," Graham said. Washington was 17-22 at the free throw line while the Dragons were 4-6.

Purcell was 9-9 heading into a tough road game Tuesday at No. 10 4A Blanchard.

on offense." Jaden Webb's game-high 24 points combined with 11 from Haylee Swayze and seven from Cady Wollenberg led to a 45-44 road victory Saturday at CCS.

Savannah Ibarra canned a pair of clutch free throws in the fourth quarter and Chelsea Spain added another helping the Dragons edge the Lady Royals.

Purcell built a sturdy 26-18 lead at intermission but were out-scored by CCS 26-19 in the second half when numerous layups were missed by the Dragons.

"Jaden had a great shooting night. She played well both offensively and defensively," head coach Heather Graham said. "She had been in a slight shooting slump so it was good to see her getting back into rhythm especially with the playoffs around the corner."

"We missed a lot of easy shots but I'm proud they found a way to win. It wasn't our best performance."

"Cady hit a huge three pointer for us and made two clutch free throws at the end. Savannah hit two free throws that were big," Graham said.

Graham said CCS did a good job of guarding Swayze but she liked the grit for her team getting the win without their best stuff.

Despite a career high 27 points from Haylee Swayze, Washington's Lady Warriors upended Purcell 59-46.

The first half was nip and tuck with Washington leading by a slim two point margin 19-17.

Webb finished in double figures with 11 but Washington answered with 22 points each from Katelyn Crosthwait and Jamie Clarke.

"We did a great job defensively in the first half and even in the third period but we couldn't recover from three threes in the fourth quarter."

Join us this coming Sunday for our children and family dedication day. Each child will be given a bible and have a time for crafts, singing, and learning about God's love and forgiveness. Children will provide a special with songs and reciting bible verses. A lunch and candy buffet will follow our worship service. Each family will receive a gift bag. Our church will pray for those attending. Sunday school begins at 9:45 am, followed by worship at 10:50.

James Kyzer sang "I Can't Even Walk" for the special at the morning service. Brother Dennis used Ephesians 4:1-3 for his sermon. The apostle

Paul told those at Ephesus that God's doctrine is essential to proper living and gave insights into how they should live their life. Our daily walk should match up with God's calling on our life. Characteristics of this walk should include humility, meekness, patience and faith, demonstration of the God given love given us, and unity of the Spirit.

The evening message was from Hebrews 11:4-6 and told of the faith of Abel and Enoch. An individual's faith has an enduring confidence in God, they do God's will in the power of that confidence, and they receive from God what is promised. Abel was approved by God by the manner in which he sacrificed. Enoch's testimony pleased God. He had a continuous walk of habitual faith for 300 years. Our faith is rooted in God and He rewards us. To know God in a greater way is how to increase our faith.

There will be no evening service on Sunday. We will be singing at the nursing home at 10 am, February 17. Our senior adults will travel to Pauls Valley February 21, at 4:15 pm to enjoy fellowship and supper at Green Tea Chinese buffet.

You are always welcome at Sunray Baptist Church. Join us at 2223 North 9th Street in Purcell. For additional information call 527-6808.

Lexington Westside Church of Christ

Good day to all! Welcome to the "front porch."

A great Bible study you will enjoy is Psalm 119 where David eulogizes the Word of God at every step. He begins simply: "Blessed are those who live pure lives, who follow the Lord's teachings."

That opening verse regarding living "pure lives" reminds us of something that will help us as we head out the door each day for our work. Each time I think on the thought it kind of overwhelms me. We'll put it in question form:

but there's still a greater joy, the greatest joy that a man will ever experience. It's so great that we can barely even imagine it. Jesus shows it to us in simple fashion in one of the great Beatitudes.

"Blessed are the pure in heart." He says, "For they shall see God!" (Matthew 5:8).

That's our greatest joy: Seeing God! Standing face to face with the Creator.

I can't imagine the awe. No wonder the apostle John "falls at (Jesus') feet as dead" in Revelation 1:17. The Lord was powerful. His eyes were "as a flame of fire" and "out of his mouth (was) a sharp two-edged sword ..." (1:14, 16).

No wonder Peter - there on the Sea of Galilee when he realizes that Jesus is far more than a man, when he realizes that He is Deity - is overwhelmed and says, "Depart from me, for I am a sinful man!" (Luke 5:8).

Despite the "awe" of seeing the Lord, there's also a great joy. I love one part of an old, old song that says of heaven, "I long to see my friends and loved ones, who've walked by faith the bloodstained way. But most of all I'll see my Jesus, on that bright and glorious day!"

What a thought!

But there's one more thing: As David says in Psalm 119:1, and Jesus reiterates in Matthew 5:8, only those who have clean hearts will have the pleasure of seeing God in a wonderful, positive, breathtaking sense.

We look forward to that.

But the thought reminds us, too, that it falls upon us to take God's Word in our hands, apply its every word, precept, and principle as we - with the Lord's help - make sure our lives are pure!

Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church

By Fr. Jim Chamberlain

Last Sunday, Fr. Jim gave a children's homily. He asked the young people: "What is in this little bottle? These are spices. What are spices used for? Spices give flavor to food that we eat. Do you like to eat fish? These spices make the fish taste very good - salt, pepper, onion, garlic, oregano, paprika - these all give flavor to the fish."

God wants us to be like spices to everything in our life (Matthew 5). But we are not spices like salt and oregano. We are faith and hope and love. These are the three spices that we add to everything that we do. Faith is belief in the God who lives in the heavens and all around us. Hope is our hope that God is still creating the world into a more beautiful place. Love is the way in which God creates, and we love others in the way that we want to be loved. These are the three spices that we add to all that we do.

Look at this candle. A candle gives light, right? But this candle has no wick. How can it give light? Each of us is a child of God because we have been baptized. Each of us is a candle that is able to give light to the world. We give light by putting our faith into action.

We do not falsely accuse anyone. We do not speak a malicious word about anyone. We give bread to the hungry, drink to the thirsty (Isaiah 58:7-10) Where there is despair, we give hope. Where there is sadness, we give joy. And by doing these things, we give glory to God who is in the heavens.

Valentine's Day is coming up. St. Valentine, a third-century Roman saint, is widely celebrated on February 14 and commonly associated with "courtly love." The ancient Greeks, the wisest of cultures, had four different words for what we call "love" in English.

There is first of all, storge, or affection. This is the love within a family, the natural bond between a mother and her child, or between two cousins. Secondly, there is the love between friends. It is called philia, and is the love between two people who share common interests, values, and/or activities. The attention is outward towards a common goal.

Eros is what we mean when we say we are "in love" with another person. That person becomes the object of our attention. We are deeply attracted to some quality in her, or are drawn to some aspect of his nature. Agape is the fourth and greatest of loves, because it is the unconditional love we choose to give regardless of changing circumstances. In agape we love not out of selfishness but for the sake of love itself. This is the Christian virtue to which we are called and for which Jesus was an example as He carried His

Green Avenue Church of Christ

The Wednesday evening auditorium class studied four more songs in the song book the congregation uses looking at the teaching of the songs and comparing them to the scriptures.

The Sunday morning auditorium class looked at the first 14 chapters of Job which record the great calamity which God allowed Satan to subject Job to including the loss of all his children and livestock and the sores that covered his body and the beginning of his discussions with his three friends—Eliphaz, Bildad and Zophar—who came to visit him.

Keith Shackelford delivered a sermon during the Sunday morning assembly that covered Jesus sending the seventy disciples instructing them how to teach and convert people, found in the first sixteen verses of Luke 10. The lesson also referenced to the parable of sheep among wolves from Matthew 10:16-31.

The evening message looked at Job 12:7-25 where Job praised God in spite of his extreme distress. After enumerating the things in nature that declared God's glory, Job praised His wisdom, understanding and power then listed some of great things God had done.

The church is located at 407 Jackson Street in Purcell. Bible classes begin at 9:45 Sunday morning and 7 Wednesday evening, with worship at 10:45 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Sunday. Bible study correspondence courses are available. You can call the office at 527-4052.

Johnson Road Baptist Church

The Oklahoma Horseshoeing School students have been a recent blessing to Johnson Road. One of the students, a young lady from Western Nebraska played the offertory Sunday morning. The three gentlemen from Louisiana, Texas, and Canada have enriched our congregation.

The Sunday meals have given our congregation an opportunity to know one another and fellowship with the visitors.

The entire church was blessed by the return of Henry Ketchum Sunday morning. Henry and his wife, Pat, have been plagued with serious health issues for several months.

The Pastor-Church Relations Committee met after church Sunday morning. Members present were Patsy Murphy, Donna Brown, Herb Weidman, Henry Ketchum, Wayne Turner and Pastor.

Special music for morning worship was provided by Abygail Mayo and Ava Fredrick. Gynean Gentry also provided special music.

Scripture passage for the sermon was Acts 28:17-22. The congregation was reminded to constantly update their spiritual resume. Luke's last record of his apostle friend, Paul, was all about Paul's new mission field in Rome and his updated resume.

If you plan to apply for a job you will need to update your old resume. Change is sure to happen in your life. You may have increased your education and experience. You may have changed your residence. You may be older. The most important item on your resume is your current status. Your ability to secure a job is dependent on a good work record.

On your current Christian resume you will need to record your present work and worship experience with the Lord. It's not how many times your mother took you to church.

It's not how active you were in a youth program. It is not what you once were; it is what you are today. It's how close you are walking with the Lord today. What is your present relationship with the Lord?

Hopefully you have lost your desire to sin and take great pride in walking hand in hand with the Lord. How does your current resume read?

Past records and future records are important, but the most important record is your current record.

Do you pray regularly? Do you attend church regularly? Do you share your love regularly? If God was seeking an employee to work in his Kingdom would you qualify for service? Every individual needs to update their spiritual resume.

Sermon title for Sunday is "Hopeless, Homeless and Helpless."

The current Bible study on Wednesday evening is the Gospel of Luke.

Sunday School begins at 9:45 a.m. Morning worship begins at 11 a.m.

Reading

Reading is the foundation for success in school and in life! The ability to read and write is necessary to master every subject and to communicate what is learned. Children who enjoy reading will continue to learn throughout their lives.

As a parent, you have an important role to play in helping your child become a better reader. You can help your child choose books that you know will fit their interests, you can offer encouragement and support as they build their love for reading.

Research shows that kids who spend at least 30 minutes a day reading books, magazines and newspapers are more likely to become good readers.

A parent's attitude concerning reading can make a big difference. For example, if your child sees you enjoying reading, they will have a favorable attitude about reading because of your interest.

Finally, your involvement in their reading and reading skills should not be forced or become contentious. Relax and have fun reading with your child.

Upcoming Events:

February 12—FFA Booster Steak Dinner, 11:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m.

February 17—Band Spaghetti Dinner, 5-7 p.m.

Lady:

cross for us.

Each of the other three loves can blossom into agape. We can choose to love our sister or our friend, no matter what the circumstances. We can choose to love our spouse, regardless of hurtful mistakes in the past. When we celebrate Valentine's Day, we are celebrating eros, the romantic but real love of another person, and praying for its gentle transformation into agape. When we then experience this unconditional love within the love of another, then we will have known God Himself, who is agape, who is Love.

Make your plans for Mardi Gras, Saturday, February 25, from 6-10 p.m. in the Parish Hall. Money raised will be to support the good work of the Altar Society.

Our weekly Mass schedule is Saturday at 5 p.m. (English), Sunday at 11 a.m. (English) and 1 p.m. (Spanish). For more information visit our website at ourladyofvictorypurcell.org, or call the church office at 527-3077. Like us on Facebook.

James Barker named candidate in U.S. Presidential Scholars Program

Curtis James Barker, a graduating senior at Washington High School, has been named one of more than 4,000 candidates in the 2017

Barker

U.S. Presidential Scholars Program. The candidates were selected from nearly 3.5 million students expected to graduate from U.S. high schools in the year 2017.

Inclusion in the U.S. Presidential Scholars Program, now in its 53rd year, is one of the highest honors bestowed upon graduating high school seniors. Scholars are selected on the basis of superior academic and artistic achievements, leadership qualities, strong character and involvement in community and school activities.

The U.S. Presidential Scholars Program was established in 1964 by Executive Order of the President to recognize some of our nation's most distinguished graduating seniors for their accomplishments in many areas: academic success, leadership, and service to school and community. It was expanded in 1979 to recognize students demonstrating exceptional scholarship and talent in the visual, creative and performing arts.

In 2015, the program was expanded once again to recognize students who demonstrate ability and accomplishment in career and technical fields. Annually, up to 161 U.S. Presidential Scholars are chosen from among that year's senior class, representing excellence in education and the promise of greatness in America's youth. All Scholars are invited to Washington, DC in June for the National Recognition Program, featuring various events and enrichment activities and culminating in the presentation of the Presidential Scholars Medallion during a White House-sponsored ceremony.

A distinguished panel of educators will review these submissions and select 800 semifinalists in early April. The Commission on Presidential Scholars, a group of up to 32 eminent citizens appointed by the President, will select the finalists, and the U.S. Department of Education will announce the Scholars in May.

Scholars will be invited to Washington, DC, for several days in June to receive the Presidential Scholars Medallion at a recognition ceremony and to participate in events and activities.

James is the son of Fred and Kathy Barker.

Dibble Chief of Police sues Town of Dibble

Dibble's police chief sued the town Monday in McClain County District Court, alleging the town owes him more than $10,000 for unpaid overtime since 2012.

According to the petition, when the town hired Jeff

Franklin it was understood that time worked in excess of 40 hours per week would accrue as personal time

"With the knowledge and acquiescence of the Town of Dibble, plaintiff routinely worked more than 40 hours a week," the lawsuit reads. "However, he was not allowed to use his accrued personal time which breached his agreement with defendant and caused detriment to him which unjustly enriched the Town of Dibble."

Dale K. Graham Norman Veteran's Corner

Dale K. Graham Veteran's Corner is not affiliated with any other organization. Our services are only provided at Faith Pointe Baptist Church, 3404 NW 36th, in Norman.

To schedule a visit for Tuesdays, please contact Helen at 405-550-8806 Ext. 102. We are at the church each Thursday morning at 7 a.m. Please arrive by 9 a.m.

Our Veteran of the Week is Travis Hackney of Blanchard. He served in the United States Army as an Infantryman in Vietnam where he received the Purple Heart along with other awards for his military service.

When we made the move to Faith Pointe Baptist Church in Norman, Travis volunteered to be a part of our Board of Directors. His knowledge and understanding of the needs of veterans and their families have helped this organization to make a difference in the lives of veterans and their families.

Just when I think we have assisted the most veterans and their families as possible on a Tuesday and Thursday morning, I get surprised again. Last week there were more men and women who visited us for help with their VA claims for benefits.

To do this, we work on helping them to service connect the illnesses and injuries that occurred or were aggravated while serving in the military. There are also many diseases that maybe presumptive to their military service. Examples of these could be exposure to asbestos while serving aboard some of the older Navy ships.

There are many other illnesses caused by exposure to jet fuel and other types of chemicals. One of the diseases that could be caused by exposure to these types of fumes or liquids is leukemia. We are seeing many veterans who served in Vietnam or other locations who are suffering from some of the diseases and illnesses that are presumptive to exposure to Agent Orange. My suggestion to any veteran or surviving spouse of a veteran who served where that chemical or other chemicals were used is to visit with one of our volunteers to find out signing up.

For those veterans who served in the Gulf War, the VA also has a Registry available. For more information on either of these registries stop by and visit with one of our volunteers on Tuesday or Thursday at Faith Pointe Baptist Church.

One of the benefits we have that is not available to most other places which assist veterans and their families is our ability to review a veteran's VA claim folder electronically. As an Accredited VA Claims Agent, I can log into the VA computer system for the veterans whom I represent. Many folks don't know their VA rating percentage or the details of their service-connected disability. Like we tell those folks, we like to know exactly where they are now before we proceed.

We also receive a copy of your rating decision from VA. This enables us to then send a notice to you advising what other benefits could be available and what steps need to be taken if a denial was received. Another tool that is available to veterans is the VA E-Benefits system that enables anyone who sets up an online account to review some parts of their VA Claims folder.

In the last few years, the VA has improved the way veteran's applications for benefits have been handled, and these changes have resulted in speedier and more accurate decisions. Personally, one of the most efficient changes I see is when all applications for benefits started being sent to the Janesville, Wisc., Claims Intake Center to be scanned into the VA computer system. This system keeps each VA Regional Office from duplicating the scanning process. It also allows more people to be working on veteran's claims for benefits.

Last week four veterans received VA disability ratings of 100 percent for their service-connected disabilities. Surviving spouses of veterans might be eligible for the DIC payment if the veteran died from a service-connected disability or one that was presumptive to their military service. The VA Pension is based on the spouse's income along with other factors.

During the many years we have been helping veterans and surviving spouses, we have changed the lives of tens of thousands of Oklahomans. I would venture to say we have brought more money to veterans into this state than most businesses have done during the same time frame. Standard VA compensation rates range from $36,000 per year down to $1,596 per year.

When a veteran receives a 30 percent or higher disability rating they are eligible to receive payments for their dependents. Recently a veteran visited me whose wife had died nearly 10 years ago, and the VA told him he owed $7,000 for the overpayment. If you are receiving benefits for a dependent, please notify the VA whenever there is a change in the status of any of your dependents.

Dale K. Graham Veteran's Corner has food boxes available to those in need. An application for this type of assistance will be available on Tuesday and Thursday mornings. A DD-214 or military discharge will be needed to apply. Please contact Rhonda at (405) 550-8806 Extension 103 to apply for a food box.

If you need a ride to and from a VA Medical Appointment, please contact Clayton at (405) 550-8806 Extension

Tree giveaway set for February 18

Rural Electric Cooperative has over 2,900 miles of electric distribution lines and clearing trees is an on-going project. One of the ways REC can provide reliable, affordable electric power is through its right-of-way clearing program which includes pruning, removals and chemical control. In addition to removing trees, REC crews also prune new growth during their daily routines.

REC's tree giveaway program helps replace trees the Cooperative must remove from under its power lines. Providing trees to members is the Cooperative's way of replacing one of our natural resources.

Rural Electric Cooperative's annual tree giveaway for its members will be held Saturday, February 18, beginning at 8 a.m.

Employees of REC will be in Lindsay, Elmore City, Maysville and Rush Springs to give members trees during the Cooperative's Operation Tree Planting/Replacement Program. Members will each receive up to 10 trees.

"It is very fitting REC would provide this kind of community service," Ed Bevers, Manager of Engineering states. "These trees are a tangible benefit to our current as well as our future members."

Employees of the Cooperative will be at Walmart parking lot in Lindsay, located at the junction of Highways 19 and 76; in front of the law office of Dan Williams in Rush Springs, located at 303 W. Blakely Street; the parking lot of Worth Every Bite in Maysville, located at 314 6th Street and the parking area of Speedy G's in Elmore City, located at 22964 Highway 29.

The types of trees available are Loblolly Pines and Sawtooth Oaks.

Loblolly Pines are one of the most common pine trees. This North American native has dark green needles with narrow, reddish-brown pinecones about three to six inches long. These trees grow to be about 60' to 90' tall and about 25' to 35' wide once they reach maturity.

Sawtooth Oak is one of the fastest growing trees in its youth. It is an attractive shade tree with dark lustrous summer foliage and clear yellow to golden brown fall leaves. These trees grow to be 40' to 60' tall and about 40' to 60' wide.

The Cooperative requests members to not plant trees any closer than 30 feet of our electric power lines. This will allow the trees to mature without requiring trimming or removal in the future.

Members needing additional information about REC's Tree Program may contact REC's Member Services Department at 756-3104 or 1-800-259-3504, extension 238.

The Horseman's Corner

Wildfire Preparedness

Oklahoma's late winter wildfire season is upon us. Are you ready?

We have the warmer air temperatures this week, lack of humidity, our lovely south wind, mostly flat topography, and plenty of abundant dried vegetation here left from spring and summer. We also have those nice red cedars that are tinder-dry right now.

For the past several weeks our newspapers and television weather shows have been warning us that conditions are ripe for wildfires, and there have been some here and there.

But, if a wildfire is heading your way, do you have a plan in place to get you and your horses away safely and quickly?

In dry conditions like these, even gentle winds can blow an ember a mile or more before falling. One of the most important preventive measures a horse owner can take to reduce his or her risks of suffering significant damage and loss from a wildfire is to create a defensible space around all structures on the property. A defensive zone can be prepared in three concentric circles drawn around the structures on your property.

The first circle should be about 30 feet out, then 60 feet for the second circle, then the third out to 100 feet. Now is the time to clean gutters and down-spouts that can be full, and clear the area of standing or blown-in weeds around buildings and fence lines.

Consider having your local Fire Marshall inspect your property and recommend specific prevention measures. Your local fire department should know the exact location of your farm, how to access your property, how many horses you have, and where large volumes of water will be immediately available. Do you have a pool and can it be reached by a water tanker? These can make a real difference when firefighters are responding to a wildfire. Do you store any hay or grain in the building with your horses? These are very combustible and burn a long time.

The priorities for disaster planning for farms and horse owners vary based on the type of facilities and the number of horses you have. However, you should assemble a disaster survival kit that includes a full and complete list of all you horses, veterinary health records to include vaccination history and Coggin's test results, as well as extra medications. Make sure your kit contains front and side facing photographs, registration papers and bills of sale which will serve as proof of ownership. Be sure you have proof of your horse's and your property's insurance policies.

Do not forget supplies for temporary identification, such as plastic neckbands and permanent markers to identify your horses. You will need handling equipment such as travel crates for companion animals and halters with leads for your horse. Don't forget feed, water buckets, and all tools and supplies you might need for proper sanitation as well as emergency and safety items for your vehicle and trailer. Prepare your truck and trailer now.

Feeding whole soybeans to beef cattle

Wes Lee
Extension Ag Educator

Marty New, Area Livestock Specialist

As agriculture producers continually face economic challenges, we should consider all options and uses of products produced. One of the opportunities for beef cattle producers is incorporating soybeans into their feed program when the market allows.

Whole soybeans can be successfully used in beef cattle programs if managed correctly. Whole soybeans can be effectively used as a protein supplement.

Whole soybeans usually contain 38 to 42 percent crude protein and 16 to 20 percent fat. If damaged soybeans are being considered, nutrient composition could be altered. Additionally, as in most animal feeding situations where uncommon feedstuffs are used, a nutrient analysis is important.

Raw soybeans should not be fed to calves less than four months of age or weighing less than 300 pounds. Nor should they be fed to non-ruminant animals.

Raw soybeans should not be fed to animals receiving a diet containing urea due to the soybeans containing urease. Urease breaks urea down into ammonia in a rapid rate within the rumen, potentially leading to ammonia toxicity and cattle death.

Many commercial available protein supplements (blocks, tubs, cubes) contain urea. Be aware of all ingredients in feeds provided beef cattle and do not feed any combination of urea-containing products and raw soybeans.

The amount of whole soybeans fed should be limited to approximately 0.3 percent of the animal's body weight. A 500-pound steer should receive no more than 1.5 pounds of whole soybeans per day.

Due to the high fat content, whole soybeans should be limit fed at a level so that the fat content does not exceed 6 percent for mature cattle or 4 percent for growing cattle.

High fat levels can lead to reduced digestibility of forages and other feedstuffs and create digestive scours.

High fat rations tend to hinder calcium and magnesium absorption, so if soybeans are fed at the maximum rate, feed or free choice mineral supplements should be formulated to contain calcium and magnesium in amounts that are slightly higher than normal. Because of fat intake concerns, it is not recommend to feed soybeans free-choice.

Processing (grinding) raw soybeans can increase their digestibility. When soybeans are processed, shelf life decreases because of the fat inside the bean being exposed to the elements, causing them to become rancid.

During the summer months, processed soybeans should be fed within three weeks of processing.

Wildfire:

and caring for your horses, where the fire extinguishers are and how to use them. Practice fire drills should be conducted periodically during wildfire season. This is especially true if you are gone to shows frequently.

Your county sheriff will be responsible for any mandatory evacuation. If authorities issue a mandatory evacuation order for your area, do not hesitate. Leave immediately. Late evacuation risks human life and the lives of your horses, and can be a deadly decision. If you are unprepared or wait till the last minute to leave, emergency management personnel may tell you that you must leave your horses behind. And, once you leave, there is no way of knowing how long you will have to stay out. Any horses left behind could be unattended for days.

So, now you have to leave. You have your horses loaded and they are wet down, especially their manes and tails, and cloth is wrapped around their nostrils. Your emergency kit is loaded. You and your family are loaded. Do you know where you are going?

Have an alternate route planned in case the wind changes and the fire turns or routes get overly congested. Identify friends and neighbors who can assist if you need more trailer space. You must have an alternate sheltering place for your horses. Plan ahead, include friends, neighbors, horse clubs, local livestock associations, the local county extension office. Potential facilities include other farms, fairgrounds, parks, your vet, local show facilities, livestock sales yards.

Ideally, all horses being evacuated should be uniquely and permanently identified so the owners can positively identify their animals, and others can contact the owner if owner and horse become separated. Are your horses micro-chipped or tattooed? If horses have to be evacuated suddenly, emergency identification may include painting or etching the hooves, body marking with grease markers, clipping phone numbers into the coat, neck banding and identification tags attached to halters or braided into a horse's mane.

Shelter facilities for horses and other livestock may be temporarily housing animals from many different properties and from several counties. Some owners may have never heard the term "biosecurity," nor taken sufficient measures to prevent the most common equine diseases. This can lead to the spread of highly contagious pathogens. Especially now, at our greatly increased threat of wildfires, vaccinate your horses now, if you have not. Also, in shelter environments, consideration must be given to how large amounts of manure can be disposed of. Manure will accumulate and can pose a significant threat to animal and human health.

When horses are evacuated and housed in large numbers, adequate amounts of feed may be difficult to procure. Develop a list of feed and hay suppliers in your area. Avoid dietary changes. When the diets of horses are changed rapidly, they become predisposed to colic, laminitis, and some metabolic diseases.

Now comes the recovery. Check your property for dangerous debris before you turn your horses out. Galvanized metal heated in a fire may become coated with toxic residues. This means fences will have to be cleaned, also. Do not allow horses into areas where there may be ash pits – root systems that have burned underground.

Most equine injuries and deaths from wildfires are the result of smoke inhalation. Smoke contains carbon monoxide, carbon dioxide, nitrous dioxide and sulfur dioxide, along with hot air and dust. This combination of chemicals and respiratory irritants may result in unexpected death from intoxication and bronchospasms or cause serious injury to the lungs that may not show for 24 to 36 hours post-exposure. If animals die or have to be euthanized, it is recommended that a post-mortem exam be performed at the State diagnostic lab so that insurance and legal claims can be settled should they arise.

Bottom line? Being prepared in the event of a wildfire can mean the difference between life and death for you and your horses. When weather conditions are ideal for the creation of wildfires, it pays to apply special vigilance.
