Early voting begins Nov. 3

Voters will go to the polls November 8 for the general election, McClain County Election Secretary Karen Haley said today.

Haley had the following information and tips for county voters as the election approaches:

• Early voting will be available at the McClain County

Election Board office in the courthouse from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. November 3 and 4 and from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on November 5.

• Polls on election day will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Lines are possible at peak voting times. Wait times will likely be shortest at midmorning and mid-afternoon. Anyone in line to vote at 7 p.m. will be allowed to vote. Looking up your

SAFETY FIRST Lexington school patrons want safe rooms in every building

Preliminary plans

The site of a proposed safe room drew the most comments Monday evening at a town hall meeting convened by the Lexington school board.

JeanneGrimes The Purcell Register

If there was one point the 40 or so Lexington residents wanted to leave with their school board Monday evening it is that safety should trump all.

The board convened a town hall meeting to get public input on the possibility of putting a bond issue before the voters in 2017.

A similar measure came up just four votes shy of the required 60 percent super majority on April 5.

Tentative plans would locate a new safe room across the street from the elementary school. The addition could hold about 600, based on FEMA regulations which require 5-square-feet of space per person.

In reality, it can probably handle up to 800, according to the district's construction manager.

Two Purcell teens are charged in McClain County District Court with felonies in connection with a firearm stolen from a vehicle.

And though it hasn't started to affect most Oklahomans just yet, the legislature's inertia on the issue all but guarantees that, at some point, Oklahomans will have to endure another embarrassing failure handed down from the Capitol. And this time, they'll be carrying the reminder in their pockets.

Perhaps Theodore Roosevelt put it best: "In any moment of decision, the best thing you can do is the right thing, the next best thing is the wrong thing and the worst thing you can do is nothing."

as a report labeled "Top Secret" by the governor that he feels free to quote from as he feels necessary. I don't think that is the typical use of something secret but it seems to be the accepted norm for today. If I were a candidate and responded to a survey for a specific organization, I would hope the results would not be used by any member of that association to disclose whenever or wherever they see fit. Especially if they were an unsuccessful candidate for one of the offices these candidates are now seeking.

His comment about Mr. Downing's response to a similar previous survey is disturbing since it does not tell the actual question he was asked. To me, a lot of things are "similar" but that does not mean they are the "same". There is a huge difference in two similar white cars when one is a luxury model and the other is an economy model.

Mr. Beckham has had several commentaries recently finding fault with whatever Lisa Billy has disclosed about schools or taxes or just urging people to be involved in our state. He seems to represent the present negativity in politics today of just picking on others, especially if they support someone other than himself. I am as tired of him as all the rest of them and will be relieved to see the end of these elections.

The lesser of two evils

As the 2016 Presidential election grows ever closer, one thing They knew this day would has become clearer than the finest crystal.

> This election is an exercise in picking the lesser of two evils. Donald or Hillary? The misogynist or the shrew? The billionaire making the election his own personal reality show or the career politician whom you can trust about as far you can throw her? Two historically bad choices on the same ballot.

> Which is the lesser evil? That's up to you. We're not going to try to tell you how to vote. Vote your conscience and may God help us all.

> But we are going to suggest you think seriously about voting for someone other than one of the two major-party candidates.

> Nationally, the Republicans and Democrats have proven themselves equally incapable of providing even-headed, far-sighted governance. They have led us - if that's the correct word - to our current level of political dysfunction.

Do we have any reason to think they will change? Do we really think Trump would make a better, more effective leader than Bush 1 or Bush 2? Would Hillary be better than Bill or

On a riser at the front of the room, a large whiteboard with the names Bland, Cooper and Stoughton across the top secured everyone's attention. A fourth column with the word, "Other," fit along the right edge. Tallies were recorded by Maxine Miller, who used a large black marker.

To begin the process, Vera Pinrod shouted, "Cooper!" twice. Two tallies were recorded under Raymond's name as the VFW section of the Town Hall, which included 14 members of the local group, cheered in anticipation of the expected landslide victory of their champion.

Cooper, always confident, grinned knowingly. It was a good start for the "Man of the People."

Their cheers came to an almost immediate halt as Vera shouted, "Bland," reading the name on the third ballot.

The anticipation was palpable. Inside the room, 100 lucky lottery winners waited. Outside, speakers were set up so those not fortunate enough to get inside could hear the proceedings.

Before the vote count began, Vera announced there was a record turnout to mark ballots in the mayoral race. In the previous election, just the usual 800 or so good folks of the Valley turned out to vote. According to the records of the precinct coordinators, a total of 934 voters had marked ballots on this election day. That was all but four of the registered voters in the Valley.

"Cooper!" Vera shouted, followed by cheers from the VFW section.

"Bland!" she continued the count, as Iris Long jotted the vote results on her reporter's note pad.

After five minutes of tallying, the board indicated 24 votes for Raymond Cooper, 19 votes for "Silver Tongue" Dick Bland, and no votes for Juliet Stoughton.

Raymond began to breathe more easily as his concern that Juliet's last minute entrance might harm his chances of getting a majority of the votes, which was needed to win the

Finally, at the 5:07 mark, Vera shouted,

'Mickey Mouse!" and the crowd broke out in laughter. Mickey, along with Ima Goose, Ronald Reagan and a few others, generally received a dozen or more votes, but wasted ballots were much less common during the 1998 race. It was obvious one vote could make a difference.

The laughter subsided as Vera announced the name on ballot 45, "Juliet Stoughton."

There were no boos or cheers, as had been the case every time Cooper or Bland received a vote. There was just an audible sigh emanating throughout the room.

Finally, Marvin Walsh, watching from the VFW section of the room, shouted, "I guess she had to vote for herself!" as several folks inside Town Hall and outside on the front steps laughed in response.

Not everyone laughed, however. Outside, Earl Goodman's laugh quickly subsided as his wife Rhonda, who was sleeping separately from him for only the second time in their marriage, glared at him with a look that sent chills up his spine.

"Stoughton!" shouted Vera, calling out Juliet's name again.

Raymond received the next vote. Then, Mayor Bland, then two votes for Juliet. There was a mumble throughout the Town Hall. The VFW section was noticeably silenced.

At the 51:49 mark, Iris noted half the ballots had been counted. She quickly looked over her note pad as Vera announced a five-minute recess before the tally would continue.

Iris had been very careful as she jotted down the vote count. After 467 votes, the tally looked like this:

Dick Bland: 137

Raymond Cooper: 234

Juliet Stoughton: 91 Mickey Mouse: 2

Ima Goose: 3

Outside, Farley Puckett turned to his wife and said, "How can there be 90 people stupid enough to vote for that woman?

From the look on his wife's face, he realized Earl wasn't the only man sleeping alone in the Valley tonight.

If the two major parties are incapable of governing well and will not move toward the middle on their own, we have two choices: accept more of the same or bring pressure on them through a third party.

Right now, that would be the Libertarians, an apparently quirky party in favor of small government and personal liberties. They advocate such diverse positions as abolishing income taxes, legalizing pot, opposing the death penalty, privatizing Social Security, eliminating restrictions on free trade and supporting the Second Amendment. Most reasonable people would look at their platform and see some things they like and some they detest. One thing is certain: The Libertarians aren't afraid to stake a position on lightning rod issues.

To be clear, we don't think Gary Johnson, the Libertarian candidate, has the slightest chance of winning this election, but that's not really the point.

"I appreciate the Purcell School Board once again agreeing to put in extra time," superintendent Jason Midkiff said. "Our special board meeting was a result of prior work done by the board.

to reach the safe room addition.

Veteran educator Darlene Meskimens reminded the board of a tornado that crossed into Lexington from Purcell in the spring of 2015.

"It was scary," she said. "If it had hit us, we'd have been in trouble. In 15 minutes everything changed.

"If we have a bond issue, you need to address a safe room in every building. You don't want to take little ones out in that (storm). It's like herding kittens.'

Superintendent Ronda Bass reminded the audience that the town hall was to provide a starting point for putting together a bond proposal the voters will support.

"The bad thing is we've only got $7 million to spend," board president Doug Northcutt pointed out. "A third of our district is state land and they don't pay taxes.

"Is this plan ideal? I think we need to be alert and watch the weather better and get those kids over there."

Jonathan Franks, a parent, disagreed.

"There's no way elementary kids can be gathered in mass chaos," he said. "I don't understand this concept. Being weather aware is one thing. You need to back off some of these (other proposals) like a new color scheme at the high school."

Franks asked repeatedly for detailed cost estimates for each of the proposals and said the board needs to prioritize those proposals.

Cheryl Hyde, a Title 1 teacher, recalled the 2015 storm not as a teacher, but a parent.

"It was a complete nightmare," she said, adding that and has outdated plumbing.

district's youngest students to elementary students currently cross about 200 feet in the open shelter in the bathrooms or a chemical closet.

"Do you think that's safe?" she asked the board.

Northcutt said that every building will be looked at for safe room potential.

A parent, Susan Moffat, asked if textbooks can be included in a new bond issue, saying she just had to purchase two textbooks on Amazon for her freshman son.

"I look at this – you spend public money. How would I do this? Prioritize," she said. "You need to seek out public input."

Moffat also told the board to solicit construction help from the community.

"We're still a country school," she said, "and I'm not above volunteering.'

David Craig, band director and dean of students at the high school, said the current band building and many of the instruments fail to meet current needs of the band.

"The ceiling leaks. The lights don't always work. There are holes in the walls. In the spring, birds nest in the walls," he said.

The band has grown from 50 to 130 students and the school isn't always able to meet the instrumental needs.

Often, he said, Lexington has to borrow instruments from other schools.

And the instruments that are available are old. Many, Craig said, were made in the 1950s.

The district's athletic issues were laid out by athletic director Brian Snow, who told the board Lexington has 276 student athletes in grades six through 12.

The field house was designed for 50 while the "new" gymnasium is nearly 40 years old

before they fill up on candy!

It also lacks air conditioning. "There are health issues from a building that old," he said. Snow said the athletic department tries to be selfsufficient so not to be a drain on the district's general fund. But there are limits.

"Number one, we want our kids to be safe," he said. "We don't want to be like one school in Oklahoma City that has a $100 activity fee for the first activity and $150 for two or more."

Bond advisor Ron Fisher told the town hall that property taxes should remain level if the bonds are phased over 12 years.

Voting for a $9.725 million bond issue no later than April 2017 would generate $7 million "up-front" money in July, he said.

"If that's a little short, you could add another year. You can go out further and generate more money up front. But you limit your capacity for future bonds."

Fisher said in order to receive funds in July 2017, the board will have to pass a resolution calling an election no later than February 2.

That would put the election on April 4.

Northcutt promised the board will convene another town hall before February.

Lexington hit its first bump in district 3A-3 play on the road at Anadarko last Friday night, coming up on the short end of a 54-13 count to the Warriors.

The loss drops the Bulldogs to 3-1 in district play, still tied for second heading into another steep hill to climb this week hosting No.2 John Marshall.

"They are number one or number two depending on which poll you look at," said Lexington Head Coach Jeff Hall.

"There is a reason, because they are really good," Hall said.

John Marshall operates out of a spread formation on offense and is very run oriented.

"They want to run the ball," Hall confirmed. "They have big, bruising backs that are also very fast. They will be difficult to prepare for."

When the Bears are on defense they will operate out of a 3-4.

Anadarko here Friday night

Coming off a 54-13 victory over Lexington last Friday night, Anadarko's Warriors will invade Conger Field this Friday night for a 7:30 p.m. key district 3A-2 matchup.

Anadarko is 4-4 overall and 2-2 in district play while Purcell, coming off abye week, is 4-4 and 3-1. The winner of the Purcell-Anadarko game will likely make the playoffs while the loser is likely to be watching from the stands.

The Warriors operate out of a spread formation on offense while they base out of a 4-4 defense.

Cutting down on mistakes and penalties will be key for Purcell as they face a very formidable opponent in the Warriors. 2B-THE PURCELL REGISTER, Thursday, October 27, 2016

Wayne's unblemished 2016 wanted them and they battled record took a hit Friday night thanks to a 22-20 final against the Minco Bulldogs.

Key mistakes took their toll on Wayne during the game.

"In big games you can't turn it over," head coach Brandon Sharp said. "We gave up a lot of third and longs by not covering the passes."

Wayne also had three trips resulted in no points.

Wayne's run defense held Braden Smith finished the Halstead and Williams in check most of the night, allowing three touchdowns.

It was Williams' arm that Wayne's D held Minco on a couple goal line stands, including one at the end of the first half that energized Wayne heading into the locker room.

"The kids played hard and played pretty well," he said. "When our backs were against the wall before halftime we stopped them. It gave us momentum going into half."

Jace Elliott led the team in tackles once again with an impressive 18 stops.

Zach Madden and AJ Sherrill each had six and Jordan Womack and Fayte Givens had five a piece.

Smith grabbed two interceptions.

Sharp said his defense has relied on a bend but don't break approach this season.

"For the most part we've been able to hold people down and shut them down," Sharp said. "Friday our defense was not as good as we wanted it to be, but when you face backs like that ... "

Sharp said his team will go back to work this week and try to improve against Dibble.

"Our kids understand it's one game," he said. "We didn't make that our season and hopefully we can get the kinks worked out."

Dibble

Wayne hosts Dibble Friday night.

The Demons operate offensively out of the split-back veer.

"Dibble is a big, physical team and they have a really good quarterback with good backs that run hard," he said. "They'll try to manhandle you up front and we'll need to play with leverage."

On defense Dibble will show a three or four man front, depending on how the offense lines up.

"They'll play off of us," he said."They have a fast back end and two good inside linebackers who are run stoppers."

The game will have no bearing though on District standings or the Playoffs.

"We'll hopefully get back on track and get ready for week 10, which will mean something for the Playoffs," he said.

Wayne senior Braden Smith rushed for 195 yards and three touchdowns in Wayne's 22-20 loss against Minco.

have had to move inside.

"They have stepped up inside and have done a great job," Beller said. "They were allowed to make big plays due to the linemen in front of them that collected the double teams and not allowing the Hobart linemen to get to the linebackers."

It was the Warriors' defense that really kept the game in check until the offense could get on track.

"I was really proud of the defense especially early in the keys and not get caught watchgame," the coach continued. "Our offense was sputtering early and the defense kept us in the game. We had some big stops deep in our own territory. They held strong until the offense started rolling."

The Bearcats were limited to 110 yards rushing and 108 passing with 83 of those yards coming on one play.

Beller said once the offense got in gear the forward wall of Justin McKay, Tyler Beller, Tanner Thompson, Hudson Horton and Cale Winton proved to be the difference.

"Once we got started our front line controlled the game. It was the best game we've had moving the ball inside the tackles all year," Beller said.

"Actually, it was the best game against a good opponent we've had all year. Hobart is a really good team. I'm proud of what Colt has done with them and they will be good again next year." Bowman Methodist Church

Saturday, November 5, starting at 9 a.m. We are offering all kinds of goodies including pecan pies, cakes, sugar free desserts, peanut brittle and other delicious sweets. The money raised will go to help the repair of the church. The church is located at 716 South Jackson Street. On Sunday, stop by and be part of our church services which start at 11 a.m.

The message for Sunday was "When God Gets Tired of His Own People." When we don't let God direct us but try to do things our own ways, we have problems. The Israelites forgot how God had delivered them from slavery and bondage from Egypt. The people forgot their beatings they got while slaves. Since they had no health sicknesses and pain was death. They forgot how God had parted the waters of the Red Sea allowing them to cross over on dry land. How soon they forgot that when the Egyptian army tried to do the same thing, God restored the waters and the whole Egyptian army was drowned.

The Israelites forgot all the miracles and blessings that God had done for them, and they started bickering and complaining among themselves and to Moses. Moses had a tough time directing and leading the people. When he could take it no more, Moses went to God.

I once took a class in art, in or living apart. Some children painting with acrylic paints. Whenever we were to start a new painting, our teacher told us to take the blank canvas and paint it with a background color. We could use any color we wanted. But we must have a background color first. Then we could draw on the canvas.

As students, we found that the drawing we did and the colors we used were influenced by the original color that we had painted on the canvas. So I had to choose colors for my painting that would blend well with the original first color. And I had to avoid colors that would clash against the original color.

Our life with God is like this technique of painting. Think about the year that you were born. Now think about one year before you were born. What Peter was aware that there was were you doing in that year? Noting. You did not exist!

It was God, from his great love, who brought you and me forth, in love, out of nothingness. This is the background of our life. Now we must paint something beautiful on the background. And so the Holy Spirit, again and again, through events and people in our lives, draws a picture of us that blends well with the background colors. The Holy Spirit is giving shape to our lives. It is the same Holy Spirit that gave shape to the young girl from Nazareth so that she became free to say "yes" to become the mother of the Messiah. And it is the same Holy Spirit that shaped the boy Jesus who "grew in wisdom, age and grace". (Luke 2:52) To be sure, there is sin in our lives. Not one of us has had a perfect childhood. Second, we will be more open to the Holy Spirit who is always trying to fill our lives with colors of love, colors that blend in with the color of being first loved by our God.

Lexington Westside Church of Christ

Good week to all. Welcome to the "Front Porch."

This week we would like to offer you just a few words of encouragement.

I've learned something dealing with teenagers (and adults) for a good many years:

Everyone has plenty to deal with. At times, we just need to go to the far corner of the house and talk to the Lord.

When you do that, here's a psalm you can consider as you begin to pray: "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble."

That's the first verse of Psalm 46. And it's a thought we can carry with us this week.

The psalmist says, "God is our refuge" – that is: He is our quiet place to go when we need to get away. We can retire to that quiet place any day when the going gets tough. When we arrive at our refuge – wherever that may be – we can find God there. We're glad to know that.

We're glad, too, to know that He is our refuge. The Lord is a personal God, not just an Almighty Being who created the world and has since stepped back to let things happen as they may. No.

If we'll commit ourselves to Him and follow Him obediently, He will listen to our prayers without growing tired. He'll "hear them in the morning" (Psalm 5:3), and He'll consider them when the sun has bid farewell for the day.

You see: God is our refuge.

He is our strength, a very "present" help in trouble. How could God help us if he didn't help us in the present?

When we need help, we need it right now!

And He'll give it to us, even if it's no more than to lend a sympathetic ear.

He'll help us right where we are with whatever we are going through.

Right now.

Brenda Hill Extension Educator

For those who like to celebrate fall or get into the Halloween spirit, decorating pumpkins can be a fun family activity as long as everyone is participating in a safe way.

While pumpkins can be dressed up lots of different ways, one of the most popular options is to carve funny or frightening faces and patterns into them.

All carving should be done by an adult. Younger children can draw patterns with markers, glitter, paint and other art supplies. They also can participate during the carving process by cleaning the pulp and seeds from the center.

Flashlights, battery-operated flameless candles and glow sticks are great options if you want to add a light source to your carved pumpkin. If you chose to use real candles, the pumpkin should rest on a sturdy surface away from flammable items such as curtains, furniture and other decorations.

After a carved pumpkin has been left at room temperature for several hours or days, the meat is not safe to eat. Seeds Pumpkin carving kits, which can be roasted or dried, though, generally include a variety and for guidance on that pro- Extension office.

Pumpkins also can be broken up and scattered in a garden space or landscape bed to allow for decomposition and return of organic matter to the soil. Cutting or breaking it up into smaller pieces will help with and speed up the decomposition process.

God asked Ezekiel if the valley of dry bones could live again. Ezekiel said only God knew how to make the dry bones dance to life. God did breath on the bones and the future of Israel blossomed with hope for all mankind. The same power that brought life to the valley of dry bones can restore today's dry enthusiasm for Christianity in America. The current Bible study on Wednesday evening is the Book of Daniel.

In my mind I thought about the tragic meeting of a young couple with murderer Roger Dale Stafford nearby on Interstate 35. I also remembered the Good Samaritan story

For once the need to help was stronger than the fear of being harmed. When I returned to the church, the young man related his story. Scripture text for the Sunday sermon was taken from the fifth chapter of the Gospel according to Mark. SUMMARY OF

STATEQUESTIONS

Seven state questions will appear on the Nov. 8 general election ballot. Legislative Referendums are placed on the ballot by the Oklahoma Legislature. Initiative Petitions are placed on the ballot by gathering signatures from citizens. Each question is reprinted here as it will appear on the ballot followed by a brief summary.

STATE QUESTION NO. 776

LEGISLATIVE REFERENDUM NO. 367 This measure adds a new section to the Oklahoma Constitution, Section 9A of Article 2. The new Section deals with the death penalty. The Section establishes State constitutional mandates relating to the death penalty and methods of execution. Under these constitutional requirements:

· The Legislature is expressly empowered to designate any method of execution not prohibited by the United States Constitution.

· Death sentences shall not be reduced because a method of execution is ruled to be invalid.

· When an execution method is declared invalid, the death penalty imposed shall remain in force until it can be carried out using any valid execution method, and

 The imposition of a death penalty under Oklahoma law—as distinguished from a method of execution-shall not be deemed to be or constitute the infliction of cruel or unusual punishment under Oklahoma's Constitution, nor to contravene any provision of the Oklahoma Constitution.

> FOR THE PROPOSAL – YES AGAINST THE PROPOSAL - NO

SUMMARY: State Question 776 does two things: it addresses the method of execution for an inmate on death row, and it states that the death penalty shall not be deemed cruel and unusual punishment. If the proposal is approved, a new section would be added to the Oklahoma Constitution that allows the state to continue to impose the death penalty, even if a specific method of execution becomes unavailable. Death sentences would remain in effect until they can be carried out by any method not prohibited by the US Constitution. If approved, the constitutional amendment would apply to the state constitution but not the federal constitution or courts applying federal law.

The Oklahoma death penalty law, enacted in 1976, has been consistently applied by Oklahoma elected officials: the state executed 191 men and three women between 1915 and 2014 at the Oklahoma State Penitentiary (82 by electrocution, one by hanging, and 111 by lethal injection). Statutes specifically allow gas inhalation, electrocution, and firing squad as backups to the primary form of execution by lethal injection.

In October 2015, Oklahoma suspended executions for a review of lethal injection protocols. One of the drugs most commonly used for lethal injection is sodium thiopental, which is no longer manufactured in the United States. In 2011, the European Commission imposed restrictions on the export of certain drugs used for lethal injections in the United States.

As a result, many states no longer have the drugs used to carry out lethal injection. Oklahoma has turned to other drugs as a substitute for sodium thiopental. However, recent instances of executions around the country in which alternative drugs were used may have produced adverse outcomes.

The death penalty is legal in thirty-one states, and illegal in nineteen.

STATE QUESTION NO. 777 LEGISLATIVE REFERENDUM NO. 368

This measure adds Section 38 to Article II of the Oklahoma Constitution. The new Section creates state constitutional rights. It creates the following guaranteed rights to engage in farming and ranching

- The right to make use of agricultural technology,
- · The right to make use of livestock procedures, and
- The right to make use of ranching practices.

These constitutional rights receive extra protection under this measure that not all constitutional rights receive. This extra protection is a limit on lawmakers' ability to interfere with the exercise of these rights. Under this extra protection, no law can interfere with these rights, unless the law is justified by a compelling state interest-a clearly identified state interest of the highest order.

Education Funding Tax STATEQUESTION

STATE QUESTION NO. 779 INITIATIVE PETITION NO. 403

This measure adds a new Article to the Oklahoma Constitution. The article creates a limited purpose fund to increase funding for public education. It increases State sales and use taxes by one cent per dollar to provide revenue for the fund. The revenue to be used for public education shall be allocated: 69.50% for common school districts, 19.25% for the institutions under the authority of the Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education, 3.25% for the Oklahoma Department of Career and Technology Education, and 8% for the State Department of Education. It requires teacher salary increases funded by this measure raise teacher salaries by at least $5,000 over the salaries paid in the year prior to adoption of this measure. It requires an annual audit of school districts' use of monies. It prohibits school districts' use of these funds for increasing superintendents' salaries or adding superintendent positions. It requires that monies from the fund not supplant or replace other educational funding. If the Oklahoma Board of Equalization determines funding has been replaced, the Legislature may not make any appropriations until the amount of replaced funding is returned to the fund. The article takes effect on July 1 after its passage

	FOR THE PROPOSAL - YES

AGAINST THE PROPOSAL - NO

SUMMARY: If this proposal is approved, Article 8-C would be added to the Oklahoma Constitution creating a limited purpose fund-the Education Improvement Fund.

An increase of the sales and use tax by one cent on the dollar would provide revenue for the fund. School districts that benefit from the fund would be subject to an annual audit. Funds generated by the tax cannot be used to replace other state funding of common, higher, career and technology, and early childhood education.

The provisions of the new article require a minimum $5,000 salary increase for teachers over the salaries paid in the year prior to adoption. The funds generated would not be used to increase the salaries of school superintendents or to add superintendent positions.

Oklahoma's average compensation for teachers, including salary and benefits, is $44,921. According to the National Education Association, Oklahoma ranks 49th in the nation in teacher pay.

A section within the new article to the state constitution establishes that monies collected would be distributed as follows:

• 69.5 percent to common education

>86.33 percent of common education funding would be used to provide teachers with a minimum $5,000 raise and otherwise address or prevent teacher and certified instruction staff shortages.

STATE QUESTION NO. 780 INITIATIVE PETITION NO. 404

This measure amends existing Oklahoma laws and would change the classification of certain drug possession and property crimes from felony to misdemeanor. It would make possession of a limited quantity of drugs a misdemeanor. The amendment also changes the classification of certain drug possession crimes which are currently considered felonies and cases where the defendant has a prior drug possession conviction. The proposed amendment would reclassify these drug poss cases as misdemeanors. The amendment would increase the threshold dollar amount used for determining whether certain property crimes are considered a felony or misdemeanor. Currently, the threshold is $500. The amendment would increase the amount to $1000. Property crimes covered by this change include; false declaration of a pawn ticket, embezzlement, larceny, grand larceny, theft, receiving or concealing stolen property, taking domesticated fish or game, fraud, forgery, counterfeiting, or issuing bogus checks. This measure would become effective July 1, 2017.

STATE QUESTION NO. 781 INITIATIVE PETITION NO. 405

This measure creates the County Community Safety Investment Fund, only if voters approve State Question 780, the Oklahoma Smart Justice Reform Act. This measure would create a fund, consisting of any calculated savings or averted costs that accrued to the State from the implementation of the Oklahoma Smart Justice Reform Act in reclassifying certain property crimes and drug possession as misdemeanors. The measure requires the Office of Management and Enterprise Services to use either actual data or its best estimate to determine how much money was saved on a yearly basis. The amount determined to be saved must be deposited into the Fund and distributed to counties in proportion to their population to provide community rehabilitative programs, such as mental health and substance abuse services. This measure will not become effective if State Question 780, the Oklahoma Smart Justice Reform Act, is not approved by the people. The measure will become effective on July 1 immediately following its passage

SUMMARY: The implementation of State Question 781 is contingent on the passage of State Question 780. If SQ 781 is approved by voters, but SQ 780 is not, none of the changes described in SQ 781 will be enacted.

If both measures are approved, SQ781 would create the County Community Safety Investment Fund. That fund would hold any cost savings achieved by reducing numbers of people incarcerated—a decrease resulting from reclassifying certain property crimes and drug possession as misdemeanors. The new Investment Fund would be a revolving fund not subject to fiscal year limitations. Any savings or averted costs would be calculated by the Office of Management and Enterprise Services.

If savings are determined, the legislature would be required to appropriate that amount from the general fund to the County Community Safety Investment Fund.

The money must be used for county rehabilitative programs, including those that address mental health and substance abuse, or provide job training or education. The money would be distributed to Oklahoma counties in proportion to their population.

The Office of Management and Enterprise Services will use actual data or make its best estimate when calculating cost savings per year. Its calculation would be final and would not be adjusted because of subsequent changes in underlying data.

The intent of SQ 781 is to focus on root causes of criminal behavior such as addiction and mental health problems, as opposed to placing more people charged with lower-level offenses behind bars.

STATE QUESTION NO. 790 LEGISLATIVE REFERENDUM NO. 369

This measure would remove Article 2, Section 5 of the Oklahoma Constitution, which prohibits the government from using public money or property for the direct or indirect benefit of any religion or religious institution. Article 2, Section 5 has been interpreted by the Oklahoma courts as requiring the removal of a Ten Commandments monument from the grounds of the State Capitol. If this measure repealing Article 2, Section 5 is passed, the government would still be required to comply with the Establishment Clause of the United States Constitution, which is a similar constitutional provision that prevents the government from endorsing a religion or becoming overly involved with religion.

FOR THE PROPOSAL – YES
AGAINST THE PROPOSAL - NO

SUMMARY: State Question 790 addresses public funding and property use regarding the separation of church and state. It is a proposal to repeal a section of the state's constitution. If the measure is approved, Article 2, Section 5 of the Oklahoma Constitution would be repealed. By removing this section, public expenditure or property use for religious purposes would not be explicitly prohibited.

Under the First Amendment to the United States Constitution, "congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

Under the Oklahoma Constitution's Article 2, Section 5, state money or property cannot be used directly or indirectly to support a church, sect,

Additionally, the law must be necessary to serve that compelling state interest. The measure-and the protections identified above-do not apply to and do not impact state laws related to:

- Trespass,
- · Eminent domain,
- · Dominance of mineral interests,
- · Easements
- Right of way or other property rights, and
- Any state statutes and political subdivision ordinances enacted before December 31, 2014.

FOR THE PROPOSAL – YES
AGAINST THE PROPOSAL - NO

SUMMARY: If the proposal is approved, the measure would prevent lawmakers from passing legislation to regulate agriculture unless there is a compelling state interest. The proposal would forbid the state of Oklahoma from regulating the use of agricultural technology, livestock procedures, and ranching practices. The standard of "compelling state interest" is a key component to the question because it sets a very high standard for a law to be judged.

If passed, the proposal would apply to any democratically elected body that can trace its creation to the state legislature, including county and city governments, but not school boards. Federal laws would not be impacted; current state laws about farming and ranching would be grandfathered in, and would not be repealed by this amendment. Grandfathered laws could be amended or repealed in the future.

Similar proposals have been presented to voters in other states, first in North Dakota. A similar amendment passed in Missouri in 2014; another amendment was considered in Nebraska earlier this year but was not approved by legislators for a vote of the people. Oklahoma's State Question 777 is inspired in part by opponents of Proposition 2 in California. Proposition 2 required certain farm animals to be able to lie down, stand up, fully extend limbs, and turn around freely. SQ 777 is unique in that it added the "compelling state interest" clause.

Oklahoma's top agricultural products in revenue are cattle, hogs, poultry, wheat, and dairy. Agriculture is the state's fourteenth highest economic sector, accounting for less than 2 percent of GDP, (higher than agriculture's national rate). For decades, as technology and yields have advanced, the number of agricultural jobs and farms has declined. Nine in ten Oklahoma crop and animal operations are owned by private citizens, many of whom contract with larger corporations.

FOR THE PROPOSAL – YES
AGAINST THE PROPOSAL - NO

SUMMARY: If the measure is approved, State Question 780 would reclassify certain offenses, such as simple drug possession and property crimes, as misdemeanors rather than felonies. The reclassification of the drug possession offense is intended to be applied to persons who use the drugs, not to those who are selling or manufacturing the drugs. The measure also would change the dollar amount threshold for property crimes charged as felonies from $500 to $1,000.

The goal of this measure is to reduce the size of the state's prison population and to reduce the amount of state funds being spent on prisons. SQ 780 proposes to change Oklahoma statutes, not the constitution.

According to the U.S. Bureau of Justice in 2014, Oklahoma had the second highest incarceration rate in the nation at 700 inmates per 100,000 U.S. residents. Oklahoma also had the highest incarceration rate for women that year. The total correctional population of a state includes people incarcerated and on probation or parole.

The Oklahoma Department of Corrections indicated in August 2016 that the prison system was at 104 percent of its capacity with 27,097 inmates being held. Drug offenders comprise 26.3 percent of inmates. Another 23.3 percent of inmates are imprisoned for other nonviolent crimes. According to the Oklahoma DOC 2015 annual report, the Oklahoma prison population has increased by 22.6 percent since 2006. In fiscal year 2016, the Oklahoma legislature appropriated $485 million to the Oklahoma Department of Corrections.

If the measure is approved, the changes proposed would not be retroactive. Sentences for current inmates would not change.

denomination, or system of religion.

This state question is a response to recent controversy over display of the Ten Commandments monument on the grounds of the Oklahoma State Capitol. In 2009, the Ten Commandments Monument Display Act was passed by the state legislature and, three years later, a privately donated Ten Commandments monument was erected on the grounds of the State Capitol. Lawsuits followed, and by June 2015, the Oklahoma Supreme Court ruled the monument's placement on state property was unconstitutional, ordering that it be removed. The basis for the court's decision was Article 2, Section 5 of the Oklahoma State Constitution. In October 2015, Oklahoma Governor Mary Fallin called on the legislature to repeal that section of the state constitution in order to allow the monument at the State Capitol.

STATE QUESTION NO. 792 LEGISLATIVE REFERENDUM NO. 370

This measure repeals Article 28 of the Oklahoma Constitution and restructures the laws governing alcoholic beverages through a new Article 28A and other laws the Legislature will create if the measure passes. The new Article 28A provides that with exceptions, a person or company can have an ownership interest in only one area of the alcoholic beverage business-manufacturing, wholesaling, or retailing. Some restrictions apply to the sales of manufacturers, brewers, winemakers, and wholesalers. Subject to limitations, the Legislature may authorize direct shipments to consumers of wine. Retail locations like grocery stores may sell wine and beer. Liquor stores may sell products other than alcoholic beverages in limited amounts. The Legislature must create licenses for retail locations, liquor stores, and places serving alcoholic beverages and may create other licenses. Certain licensees must meet residency requirements. Felons cannot be licensees. The Legislature must designate days and hours when alcoholic beverages may be sold and may impose taxes on sales. Municipalities may levy an occupation tax. If authorized, a state lodge may sell individual alcoholic beverages for on-premises consumption but no other state involvement in the alcoholic beverage business is allowed. With one exception, the measure will take effect October 1, 2018.

SUMMARY: If the proposal is approved, it would repeal Article 28 of the Oklahoma Constitution and replace it with Article 28A, which restructures the laws governing alcohol. If approved, the measure will go into effect on October 1, 2018.

Currently, under Oklahoma law, liquor stores can sell full-strength, unrefrigerated beer but cannot sell cold beer or chilled wine. Liquor stores can sell wine and spirits but no other items. Grocery and convenience stores can sell cold low-point beer (3.2 percent alcohol by weight) but not spirits, wine, or high-point beer.

State Question 792 would change the current alcohol laws to allow grocery, convenience, and drug stores to sell cold, high-point beer (up to 8.99 percent alcohol by volume) and wine (up to 15 percent alcohol by volume). Liquor stores would be allowed to sell cold beer and any item that also may be purchased in a grocery store or convenience store-except motor fuel-in limited amounts. Liquor or spirits will still only be available for purchase from licensed retail liquor stores.

ner Do For Veterans?

There are over 300,000 veterans living in Oklahoma. Many of them don't know about the VA benefits that are available nor how to apply for them. Veterans Corner has over 90 volunteers ready to help answer questions, file the necessary paperwork to apply for the benefits, and provide information about available resources in the community. Many times a veteran will be told by a VA physician that their condition is a result of military service. However, the VA branch that determines eligibility and the percentage of disability is a separate branch from the medical facility. Veterans Corner can help answer all of these questions and make sure that the correct documentation is prepared and submitted for compensation, benefits, pensions and other monies that may be available to help wounded warriors. Veterans Corner volunteers can also prepare and submit requests for lost discharge papers, medical records and other documentation needed to submit and support a claim. All services provided by Veterans Corner is free of charge to all veterans.

Each week there are more than 200 veterans and surviving spouses requesting help with their VA claims and questions. I believe that when God and veterans come together many of the men and women we see have their prayers answered. Since moving from Goldsby, I have seen a change in the attitudes of the veterans and their families who come to us for help, as well as the volunteers who serve them. It's not just that we have a proven track record. Another reason is the church environment that some of the men and women we see have not experienced or enjoyed

Our state also reduces the cost of auto tags for veterans who receive a 50 percent VA serviceconnected disability. There is also the free Oklahoma State fishing and hunting license that is available to veterans who rated at 60 percent or higher by the VA. Our state Representatives and Governor recognizes the sacrifices that veterans have made for our nation and have made these benefits available to them.

Surviving spouses who are approved for DIC payments also receive the reduced auto tag for one vehicle. Some veterans did not return to see us after receiving a VA disability rating and may not be aware of state benefits or other federal benefits that may be available for them.

allows me to access the files of those I represent. Sometimes many years pass after a disability rating and they do not remember the nature of their service connection or when they last had a reevaluation of a service-connected disability. This access will help us make the right decision on what the next steps are to increase these veterans' disability ratings.

Last week a veteran called to say he had not received a rating decision from VA, but there was a deposit to his checking account. I accessed his VA file and could tell him what disabilities were approved and the rating percentage. There are many positive things going on for the veterans and their families who visit us. As always, we are there to make a difference in the lives of the men and women who have served.

Our ladies who assist veterans and surviving spouses with their VA claims also specialize in that benefit along with Pension and DIC benefits. The donations that are made to our organization are what enables us to aid veterans and their families.

The VA gives veterans the option to send in a completed Disability Benefit Questionnaire from their medical provider showing a diagnosis of their condition with their VA form 21-526EZ. By using these VA forms, most veterans' claims will be decided much quicker than just filing for a disability without evidence to support
