Jeanne Grimes

In the fall of 2020 at the height of the pandemic, Oklahoma State University reported a 1.5 percent bump in enrollment.

There were 4,144 freshmen who enrolled that fall.

Let that number sink in – four thousand one hundred forty-four.

So to be counted among the top 40 (20 men and 20 women) puts one in the top .0097 percent.

Purcell's own Grant Smith, now a sophomore, is in that rarefied company.

The 2020 Purcell High School graduate began the extensive application process earlier this fall at the start of his sophomore year.

"It's a long application," he said. "I was 50-50, not very confident. But I thought I had a chance."

He had just pulled a 4.0 in his spring semester classes. Coupled with a 3.75 his first semester, Grant felt his GPA was "pretty hot."

Quieter weather pattern

After a loud week of more damaging storms and rain, Oklahoma’s pattern turns quiet over the next week. Temps will continue to build into the upper 70s Thursday and Friday, with a slight chance of rain and storms in the southwest portion of the state. This weekend, the heat returns as we settle into a calm pattern. No 90s, but mid-80s are definitely the norm as we go into this weekend and into next week. Partly cloudy skies sit overhead every day through Tuesday. A powerful cold front and storm system is loading up to arrive in Oklahoma next Wednesday. This will bring more fall air and keep those highs out of the 80s, hopefully for good.

For the Pumpkin Decorating Contest, participants must bring their own pumpkin to paint. Pumpkins may only be pre-painted with a solid base color upon arrival. All other painting and decorating must occur during the contest at the Pumpkin Fair.

You may bring decorations to put on your pumpkin. Pumpkins will be judged on appearance and creativity.

- All teams must select a team captain. The captain is responsible for all discussions with the safety committee.

- Each age division’s catapult may not exceed 8 feet tall.

- Height of catapult, including throwing arm fully extended, may not exceed limit. If a sling is included, it is not included in the height limit. A cocking mechanism may also exceed the height limit.

No compressed air, combustion systems, or explosives may be used. No machine may use any external power source.

- The catapult may not be mounted or assembled on a trailer for convenience.

- All Machines must be able to load and fire within three (3) minutes. Team Captains are responsible for making sure the team is ready when it is chunkin’ time.

- All catapults, including trebuchets, must only be gravity powered. No springs or pneumatics or other power sources. All catapult and trebuchet machines must have a safety strap or mechanism to hold the throwing mechanism in case of misfire when loading.

Team members are all responsible for making sure everyone stays clear of the machine in case of a misfire.

- A prop or firing device may fall over the firing line, as long as the arm or main structure of the trebuchet stays behind the firing line.

- All machines must be set up in the assigned areas. Teams will be given notice of this area well in advance. No excuses will be entertained for a team not being in their assigned spot (on game day); said team will be required to move. The site selected for each machine must allow clear and free access surrounding the machine.

Rethinking missionary travel?

In light of what’s currently going on in Haiti, perhaps churches and other groups should reconsider going overseas on mission trips.

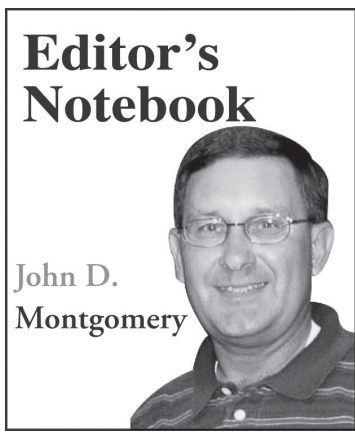

There’s certainly no shortage of people and places that need help in our very own country.

Plus, the savings on travel expenses alone could be used to help the needy as well.

It’s a down right shame that 16 Americans, including five children, and one Canadian are being held hostage by a powerful gang in Haiti.

But Haiti is a dangerous place and that needs to be considered when such trips are scheduled.

The missionaries had visited an orphanage in Croix-des-Bouquets, a northeast suburb of the capital Port-au-Prince, when the 400 Mawozo gang kidnapped the group.

Now the gang is demanding $17 million for their safe return.

It’s awful for a group of people who were trying to do the right thing and help the less fortunate end up needing help themselves.

This is my annual appeal to keep daylight savings time the year round or don’t change it at all.

When ever there is a time change people’s lives are interrupted at the very least.

There is legislation both on the national scene and in Oklahoma to keep it.

I hope they do.

Hello from District 43

• Senator Jessica Garvin •

Update from the Capitol

Continuing our conversation of public safety studies from last week, the Senate Public Safety Committee recently held another study that I found particularly interesting and wanted to share with the district.

It looked at some of the problems offenders struggle with once they’re released — the two biggest of which are finding a job and a place to live.

Without a source of income and a home of their own, offenders often have to depend on staying with friends or family, which may put them back into their old life of crime. It’s important that offenders are able to start a new independent life away from their previous circle to avoid falling back into criminal activities.

One of the major findings of this study is that Oklahoma needs more employers willing to hire former offenders, especially those with nonviolent felonies. These make up a majority of our prison system, and, again, without a reliable job, it’s easy to want to slip back into a life of crime. However, when given a chance, so many are able to turn their lives around.

The owner of the Fenix Group Construction Company in North Tulsa and former offender, David Collins, shared his inspirational story.

Throughout his incarceration, he dreamed of starting his own construction company, and because he was given a second chance and people supported him, he was able to fulfill his dream and now employs 30 people. He wants to help other former inmates by not only employing them but doing something similar to the Habitat for Humanity model to provide housing for them.

Housing is the second greatest issue facing those leaving prison. It can be hard to qualify for housing with a felony and also not having a job history to show income. Our state needs to find ways to provide additional housing for these individuals so they can successfully re-enter society.

The committee heard from other past offenders who spoke to the fact that having to restart one’s life after prison is scarier than being incarcerated. Imagine being an adult who has been out of society and the workforce for years, on top of the embarrassment or shame of being a former offender and having to just jump back into the world.

The Department of Corrections (DOC) is well aware of these challenges and wants to make sure that these men and women have all the tools necessary to successfully re-enter society and start their new life.

The J.H. Lilley Correctional Center (JLCC) in Boley shared about their resource fair that

NEWS FROM CAPITOL HILL

Biden’s open border America

Congressman Tom Cole

When President Biden assumed office, he promised to secure our southern border and reform our nation’s immigration system for the better.

Unfortunately, he has instead reversed several immigration policies that keep our country and migrants safe and provide fair processes to migrants who enter our country legally and lawfully. Sadly, through his misguided actions, he has practically turned the United States into an open border country.

Due to the president’s reversal of several policies, including the former Administration’s “Stay in Mexico” policy and stopping construction of the border wall, millions of migrants from around the world are making the dangerous journey to our southern border and seeking entry into our country.

In fact, more than 1.2 million illegal immigrants have been apprehended at the border since this February, marking a stunning 21-year high for border apprehensions. And this month, the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) has asked officials to prepare for the alarming possibility of as many as 400,000 illegal border apprehensions to occur.

As the ongoing humanitarian and security crisis at our southern border worsens, Democrats and President Biden are aiming to enact policies that would exacerbate the nation’s economic crisis and cause inflation to further rise. They are doing this through a massive $5 trillion reconciliation bill, which would also create more incentives for illegal immigrants and open the southern border even wider.

For example, the massive piece of legislation Democrats are negotiating amongst themselves would waive many grounds for denying entry to immigrants, including such reasons as infection or lack of vaccination status during a pandemic, failure to attend removal proceedings in previous immigration cases and the previous renouncement of American citizenship.

Disturbingly, this bill would also grant DHS with authority to waive previous convictions for migrants seeking lawful status in our country for such crimes as human trafficking, narcotics violations and illegal voting.

Moreover, the Democrats’ expensive bill currently includes new incentives for migrants to unlawfully enter our country by granting amnesty for millions, which would cost our country nearly $100 billion over 10 years for welfare and entitlement programs such as Social Security and Medicare. Illegal immigrants would also become eligible for Democrats’ proposed “free” college program, student aid and the enhanced child tax credit.

Because of President Biden’s incomprehensible mismanagement of the border and destructive immigration policies, he

Cultural Appropriation

In the current environment of race sensitivity, I think it is necessary to ask certain questions. I think the best way to move forward as a nation is to have a dialogue. With Halloween approaching I am reminded of a situation last year where children were criticized for dressing up as characters not of their race. In a time when we are pushing for equality and inclusiveness, at what point do we cross a line into racism? In the past, Disney has been accused of racism by making most of their characters white and in recent years has done their best to create a diverse cast of heroes and princesses.

In our efforts to diversify, what happens if a little girl loves a character like Moana and wants to dress as her for Halloween? In some ways this should be celebrated as the type of color blindness we want to teach our children, but in other ways this is being seen as racism and cultural appropriation. Historically speaking this is actually not new. We have seen examples of this over the past decade, but also from a tumultuous decade a long time ago.

In 2011, Touchstone released the movie “The Help” based on the very popular novel of the same name. The movie and the book were both massive hits; the book spent over 100 weeks on the best seller list. The story is set during the 1960s in the south and both the book and movie were praised for bringing to light the difficult subject of racism and the treatment of black domestic help.

Yet it also showed the strength of the three leading women, two black and one white, as they in their own ways fought against this negative treatment. However, jump forward to the present and the same book and movie are now under scrutiny.

A similar thing happened last year when Oprah Winfrey announced the book American Dirt as her book club pick. Winfrey’s book club is possibly the most famous book club in history and her choices are normally celebrated. Winfrey claimed this book captured her attention from the very beginning and it was a story needing to be told.

It is about a middle-class Mexican woman and her son fleeing from a drug lord that recently took over their Mexican town. This incredibly violent story details enduring hardships and the struggle many migrants must go through to try to better their lives. However, probably to Winfrey’s surprise, this book also came under attack.

In both cases the books drew criticism because the authors were white, and their detractors said both women wrote about issues they were not familiar with nor could possibly understand. The Help also is accused of having a white savior complex or the idea that it took a white woman to solve the black women’s problems.

Even though, in both cases, the authors were actually trying to shine a light on the struggles of minorities, many felt they were trying to profit from others’ hardships. This may seem like a 2021 issue, where we have become very sensitive of cultural appropriation, but in fact this is a very old one.

In 1852, the most important and highest selling novel of the Nineteenth Century was released. Uncle Tom’s Cabin written by abolitionist Harriet Beecher Stowe told a fictional story of slaves in the south.

The principal character, Uncle Tom, was owned by a good Christian family who came on difficult financial times and was forced to sell a couple of their favorite slaves, slaves who they saw almost as family. Tom ended up being passed from one master to the next, some caring, some bad, and eventually one who was evil and beat Tom to death.

The Sheldys, Tom’s original owners, were also forced to sell the young son of Eliza, who when Eliza found out took him and ran to freedom in the North. It is a harrowing tale of survival. What Stowe was able to do was put a face to slavery. Many in the north had no connection to slavery or had never met a slave. They only knew what they had heard, that blacks did not have the same feelings as whites.

They were not as affected when their young were sold away. Whites used the fact that their slaves seemed to just go back to work and did not seem to mourn those that were lost. Of course, the slaves had no other choice but to go back to work under physical duress. What Stowe did was show the pain and agony slaves endured. She turned more people into abolitionists than anyone else. Even Lincoln when he met her said, “So you’re the little woman that started this Great War!”

The other thing it did was show that slavery hurt whites. The

Cargo ships - America's old jobs floating at sea

By Dr. Glenn Mollette

Cargo ships waiting to unload at the Ports of Los Angeles and Long Beach, California, could keep some of America's store shelves bare for a while. These two ports handle the bulk of cargo coming from China.

Cargo keeps coming from China, making the congestion craziness only worse. The dozens of ships floating in the Pacific are carrying products that used to be some of America's good paying jobs.

Today, about 90 percent of non-bulk cargo worldwide is transported by container. Modern container ships carry over 21,000 TEUs and rival crude oil tankers as the largest commercial vessels on the ocean. ATEU (twenty-foot equivalent unit) is a measure of volume in units of twenty-foot-long containers.

If you have ever seen any of these cargo ships come into the port at Savannah, Ga., or these California ports then you know its mind blowing the amount of cargo stacked and transported across the ocean. The weight of the cargo is estimated between 15,000 to 18,000 tons on most of the ships.

General cargo vessels carry packaged items like chemicals, foods, furniture, machinery, motor vehicles, shoes, clothing and more. Dry bulk carriers carry coal, grain, ore and other similar products.

Reefer ships are refrigerated ships which specifically carry perishable commodities such as fruits, vegetables, meats and dairy products. Roll-on ships are designed to carry wheeled cargo, such as cars, trucks, semi-trailer trucks, trailers, and railroad cars, that are driven on and off the ship on their own wheels.

China's exports to the United States were $452.58 Billion during 2020, according to the United Nations COMTRADE database on international trade. The top goods exported from China to the U.S. and their total values for 2018 were electrical machinery ($152 billion), machinery ($117 billion), furniture and bedding ($35 billion), toys and sports equipment ($27 billion), and plastics ($19 billion).

Japan's exports to the United States were $118.79 Billion during 2020, according to the United Nations COMTRADE database on international trade. These products are vehicles, machinery, electronics, optical and medical, aircraft, pharmaceuticals, plastics, rubbers, toys, games and sports equipment.

United States Imports from Germany were $117.39 Billion during 2020, according to the United Nations COMTRADE database on international trade. We import most of the same products from Germany as we do Japan including $78 billion dollars in mineral fuels including oil.

We continue to hear about all the job openings in the United States. Amazon needs employees, Federal Express, UPS and all the trucking companies are begging for workers. I've seen several big banners on trucks begging for drivers at a starting salary of $2,500 a week.

Walmart advertises all the time for truckers with a beginning salary of $84,000 a year. There is obviously a lot of work in delivering goods from the shipping ports of America. The shipping ports are all products made in China, Japan, Germany, and other places. We have and are pumping these countries with billions and billions of dollars.

We hear a lot about infrastructure. We need good roads and bridges, Internet, new pipe lines throughout America to carry our water supply and American made chips for our cars, computers and phones and more.

We also must start making all the products just mentioned in America. Our President and Congress must give companies every opportunity in reasonable tax breaks and incentives to compete with foreign countries.

If we can bring manufacturing back to the United States then we will return to real jobs in this country that pay enough money for people to raise a family, own a car and save for retirement.

Until this happens Americans will only see increasing financial hardships and more jobs floating away.

Shelbys were good people forced to do an evil thing. Throughout the book are constant stories about whites forced to come to terms with this evil institution. In some ways the kind sweet young Eva, who took such good care of Tom, had to die. If not, she would have been corrupted by the institution of slavery.

Even with the success of the novel in some circles the book was condemned. One of the key criticisms was the fact that Stowe had never been in the south or around slaves and so could in no way know what slavery was like. Southerners claimed her depictions were inaccurate and slanderous and

There are also nonprofits working to lower Oklahoma's incarceration rate like Tulsa's 1st Step Male Diversion Program. This program diverts prison bound offenders into a treatment program where they're taught necessary life skills, learn a trade or skill, receive career guidance and the book was banned from most southern states.

Historically speaking, even though Stowe was a white northerner woman, and for today's standards perpetuated negative racial stereotypes, she possibly did more to bring to light the problems with slavery than any other person. If Lincoln was right, it was this book that brought on the war that brought an end to slavery.

I understand and want to be sensitive to cultural appropriation, but I also fear too much sensitivity is actually pushing us in the wrong direction. I understand the history of black face and as a white man may not understand the pain of cultural appropriation.

Yet if a little girl has embraced diversity and her favorite princess is a person of color, is she crossing the line of racism, or should we celebrate her inclusiveness? I am not saying I know the answer to this, but what I fear is from now on we tell children to embrace diversity but when it comes to choosing your favorite characters make sure they are white.

other services to be successful in life and avoid reoffending.

From 2017-2020, the program had a 92 percent success rate, helping lower the state's prison population, reducing recidivism, and saving Oklahoma taxpayers $3.3 million.

Oklahoma must do better at helping those leaving prison. If these individuals don't receive help with housing, employment, and other much-needed services upon release, it's very likely they'll return to a life of crime. If that is the only life they've known, how would they know any better unless they are given guidance?

As with all the interim studies, I'd love to hear your thoughts on this issue.

Thank you again for the privilege of serving as your voice in the Oklahoma Senate.

It pays to be cautious when living online

Gail Ellis
Agricultural Communications

Much of the public lives online today from shopping and banking to communicating with friends and family. While convenient, sharing information online is risky.

October is Cyber Security Awareness Month, and there's no better time for a reminder on how to play it safe in the digital landscape.

Password power

A password is the gateway to any account, and the routine practice of changing it is critical to protecting private information, said Isaac Wallace, a computer support specialist in the information technology department for Oklahoma State University Agriculture.

"Your bank accounts, credit cards, Amazon account, information on your credit score and more are all accessible with a password, so if someone were to get into your account, it could be devastating," Wallace said.

It is tempting to choose a password for multiple accounts that's easy to remember, but selecting the name of a family member, friend or pet is strongly discouraged.

"I can look at a social media profile and find a person's birthday, family and friends just by doing a little sleuthing," Wallace said. "Instead of words that are easily guessable, choose a unique, long and random password. It is exponentially more difficult for a hacker to crack a 24-character password with each additional character that increases safety."

A password hacker can deploy several tricks to break a code including, one method called the dictionary attack. Words commonly found in many passwords are collected into a dictionary that hacking programs use first when trying to identify a password.

Passwords are compromised by both automated bots and humans and vary from major companywide breaches to one-off security attacks. Often, the private data that is stolen is sold and scattered across the internet.

To reduce the potential for password discovery, Wallace recommended using a password manager that can store all passwords in a safe and secure space online and even generate new passwords when suspicious account activity is detected.

Apple products offer the Keychain password manager, and both Google and Firefox have options built into their systems, such as Google Password Manager and Lockwise. Bitwarden, 1password and LastPass are also commonly used.

"Password managers are a high-priority target for hackers," Wallace said. "The password manager programs will encrypt the data for security, but you still need to create a good, strong password."

OSU Agriculture IT recommends choosing a password of random phrases, rather than individual words, along with a capital letter, some numbers and a few symbols. Password safety practices also can include multi-factor authentication that requires confirming an account login on a second device.

One other simple but smart way to boost account security is to pay attention to breaches in the news.

"If you don't realize that a company where you have an account was hacked and you don't change your password, it sits exposed online for a week, two weeks, a year or however long until you change it," Wallace said.

Social media savvy

A password unlocks private information online, but what happens when a person willingly gives out the details through social media? In a blog post earlier this month, Levi Arnold, OSU Agriculture IT computer specialist, discussed how to safely use social media channels. Although there are several social media platforms, Facebook is often the biggest offender for hacking because it is such a commonly used medium.

"Facebook doesn't delete information, so if security settings aren't enabled, it's easy to scroll back years and see a lot about a person's life," Arnold said.

Hacking on Facebook, for example, can involve multiple stages. If an account is compromised via a stolen password or the account password has been reset through one of the security questions, the account holder needs to reset their password or contact Facebook to lock down the account as soon as possible.

Hackers might also try to mimic a Facebook user by setting up an account that looks like someone's original profile.

Washington OHCE

Washington's Oklahoma Home & Community Education Club met Oct. 13, 2021 at the Washington Senior Center.

The meeting was called to order by President Delores Givens. After the Flag Salute, the $500 scholarship issue was discussed.

Lavene Jones was appointed to attend the meeting at Fall Council on November 6 at the Farm & Home Building in Purcell. Consensus with our Club is that five $100 Scholarships be made to deserving 4-H kids. Lavene has been involved with 4-H for 60 years.

Election of Club officers for 2022 was held with all positions remaining the same.

Lois Stephens gave a report on the Club Fair Entries-42 total, 19 firsts-$20, 14 seconds-$15 9 thirds-$8. Lori Burton and Deanna Surber each had seven entries, Lois Stephens had six and Diane Burnett had four.

Booth changes for 2022 Fair to be discussed at Fall Council. It was mentioned that before the next fair a Judges Training Session should be held to set criteria for classes so judging is more up-to-date.

Possible Club Project—Town of Washington loose dog problem was discussed. Three or four are running in packs and chase anyone walking their own dog on a leash. The dogs will dig under people's fences/gates to get to cats or dogs in their own yards. It is not safe to let your own dog out in his own yard without the threat of him or you being attacked. Some people have been bitten. Is it legal to use Mace on a loose, aggressive dog? Most members paid their 2022 dues today. Meeting adjourned at 2:30 p.m.

OU student group collects donations for arriving Afghan refugees

Zaria Oates
Gaylord News

About 1,800 Afghan refugees are expected to arrive in Oklahoma in the coming weeks, but they’ve left their homes with nearly nothing.

The donation drive by the Shia Student Association at the University of Oklahoma recently to help feed and clothe these incoming refugees was more successful than imagined.

Zille Hume is a co-president and founder of the Shia Student Association and said she felt an urge to help.

“Our group, I think, was just a tool to tell everybody that there’s a need and we can be the source to help,” said Zille Hume, co-president and founder of the Shia Student Association.

The Shia Student Association received 200 cans worth of food along with clothing and menstrual items despite just six days of advertisements on campus and social media.

Huma said she initially thought a fundraiser would be the only way to help, but when Muslims 4 Mercy reached out, she knew there was more to be done.

“Me as an American, there’s people coming in, but as somebody coming in, think of all that [they’re] leaving behind,” Huma said.

Huma and her fellow executive board set up an Afghan Care Basket drive accepting any and all donations. Huma said although they were accepting any donations, nothing could have prepared her for what one person tried to donate.

“There was somebody who was (direct messaging) us,” Huma said. “She’s like ‘I’d like to give you guys a queen-sized bed’ and I’m just like, I don’t know how I’m gonna fit that on my car you know?”

While a queen-sized bed may not always be easy to transport, Huma said everyone involved in the drive made it more successful than she ever imagined.

“It was all the people that collaborated,” Huma said. It was all the people that came and helped pack the baskets. It was all the people that helped advertise. It was them that made it possible and it was them the reason that we have all of these donations.”

Beat the Sugar Monster

The health impacts of sugar-filled Halloween treats don’t need to cause a scare.

Shape Your Future, a program of the Tobacco Settlement Endowment Trust (TSET), recommends physical activity and practicing moderation by swapping candy for fun and healthy treats.

“Halloween highlights unhealthy habits that can lead to tooth decay and weight gain,” said TSET Executive Director Julie Bisbee. “But making a few changes to Halloween celebrations can create opportunities for healthier snacks and more physical activity.”

Trick-or-treating fills children’s bags with sweet, calorie-filled treats. Studies have found that on Halloween, children can eat up to three cups of sugar, the equivalent of 169 sugar cubes and 7,000 calories, in candy consumption.

Shape Your Future boasts helpful tips to keep families healthy and happy during the spooky season. Before trick-or-treating, serve kiddos a protein-packed and veggie-filled meal to boost energy and reduce sugary cravings.

For example, serve a Pumpkin-Shaped Vegetable Tray or Clementine Pumpkins to be festive and nutritious. Also, instead of handing out candy to trick-or-treaters, provide healthful alternatives like small boxes of raisins or bags of nuts.

“Balancing sugary treats like candy and soda with advantageous alternatives, like unsalted popcorn, trail mix or fun pencils, is key to achieving a happy and healthy Halloween season,” Bisbee said.

Non-food treats are popular and add variation. Offer items to trick-or-treaters like crayons, stickers, yo-yos or bouncy balls.

In addition to healthy eating, Halloween is a prime holiday to get up and moving. Grab the whole family to walk together while trick-or-treating for exercise.

Also, Shape Your Future encourages all ghouls and goblins to participate in the Healthy Boost Halloween Scavenger Hunt. This engaging game makes physical activity spooky fun!

While trick-or-treating, participants perform the physical activity listed, like 10 jumping jacks, when a spooky item is spotted, like a jack-o-lantern.

For more healthy tips and tricks this spooky season, visit the Shape Your Future Halloween blog at ShapeYourFutureOK.com.

Sworn into office

Chickasaw Nation officials elected during the general election were sworn into office earlier this month. Officials include (rom left) Legislators Shana Tate Hammond, Ardmore; Scott Wood, Tishomingo; David Woerz, Ardmore; Toby Perkins, Ada; Nancy Elliott, Ada; and Supreme Court Justice Linda English Weeks, Newcastle.

Crime victim’s support hotline

The Chickasaw Nation has been providing victims’ services for over 25 years, and now is offering another way to connect victims to services and support through a Crime Victim’s Support Hotline.

The hotline is available to all First Americans living within tribal boundaries as a way of connecting victims with services.

Trained staff listen as well as provide emotional support and information on resources that may be needed to help them through what is often a traumatic time.

Todd Crawford, Chickasaw Nation undersecretary of support and sustainability, said their efforts center on comforting victims of crimes and getting them in touch with programs and services designed to support them.

“Our desire is to listen to the victims and their families’ needs and getting them in contact with the appropriate part of the Chickasaw Nation to meet their need,” Crawford said.

These may include legal, law enforcement support, mental health resources, health services, court questions and connection to various programs and services offered by the Chickasaw Nation appropriate to the individuals calling the hotline.

“Some may have questions about a person who is currently incarcerated, and want to know if and when they may be released. You may want to know who has responsibility,” Crawford said, adding services are available in cases of previous convictions as well as criminal charges currently being adjudicated.

Individuals who are a victim of a crime are encouraged to call the toll-free number or email the Crime Victim’s Support Services Hotline Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. to receive support, connection to tribal services and information.

The service is available to all First Americans residing in the 13-county Chickasaw reservation.

The toll-free Crime Victim’s Support Services Hotline number is 833-774-1601.

Local residents can call 580-757-9068. Email address is CrimeVictimsSupport@chickasaw.net.

OSU Extension offers Halloween safety tips

Trisha Gedon
Extension Educator

When children dress up as their favorite superhero, princess or goblin, they likely have one thing on their mind: trick-or-treating and filling their candy container to the brim.

But parents know there’s more to celebrating the holiday than choosing a costume and ringing neighborhood doorbells.

Taking precautions ensures Halloween is both fun and safe, said Gina Peek, Oklahoma State University Extension housing and consumer specialist and interim associate dean.

“The costume is the main attraction at Halloween. Whether children choose to be a ghost, a superhero or another favorite character, making sure the costume is safe is essential,” Peek said.

Costume safety tips include:
• Select costumes, wigs and accessories that are flame resistant. This doesn’t mean the costume won’t catch fire; rather it indicates the material will resist burning and should extinguish quickly.

• Choose costumes that are brightly colored and reflective to help make children more visible to motorists. Parents can add reflective tape to costumes and trick-or-treat bags.
• Make sure costumes fit properly to avoid tripping.
• Accessories such as swords, brooms, canes or other objects shouldn’t be sharp or unwieldy.

• Consider face paint instead of a mask that can obscure vision and restrict breathing.

Before parents or older siblings take children to trick-or-treat, talk to them about safety rules, said Laura Hubbs-Tait, OSU Extension parenting specialist.

“It’s important children understand that while Halloween is fun and exciting, it’s also a time to be especially cautious,”

Hubbs-Tait said. “Children are often in a hurry when they’re excited to get from one house to another, so it’s vital to instill the importance of safety rules, especially as it begins to get dark.”

Other general safety tips include:

• Only visit homes of people you know.
• Cross streets at intersections.

• Emphasize walking only – no running allowed.

• Stay on sidewalks. If there are none in the neighborhood, walk close to the curb facing traffic.

• Carry a flashlight.

• Discuss safe and acceptable walking routes with pre-teens who wish to trick-or-treat on their own.

• Never go inside a home or vehicle to get candy.

• Wait until parents can inspect all candy before consuming any of it.

“We discuss all the safety rules for children who are trick-or-treating, but there also are guidelines parents need to keep in mind for themselves,” Hubbs-Tait said. “The most common type of accident on Halloween is pedestrian injury.”

Tips for parents:

• When driving through a neighborhood, be on heightened alert for children to unexpectedly run out into the road.

• Drive slower than normal through neighborhoods.

• For those who decorate their lawns for the holiday, make sure the decorations don’t pose a tripping hazard for trick-or-treaters.

• For those who stay home to hand out candy, be sure the porch and lawn area are well lit.

“Halloween is such a fun time for children and parents. Following these tips will help ensure everyone stays safe,” said Hubbs-Tait.

OMRF experts recommend flu shot before October ends

The flu is back. Following record lows of influenza last year thanks to Covid-19 precautions, the flu is again circulating in Oklahoma and the U.S.

Only time will tell how severe the season will be. Still, experts at the Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation advise starting your defense with a good offense.

“The flu is returning, and it’s up to us to deal with it,” said OMRF immunologist Linda Thompson, Ph.D., who studies influenza. “Just like Covid, if we get vaccinated, wear masks, and stay home when we’re ill, there will be fewer cases.”

In a year when COVID-19 vaccines have dominated the headlines, many may not see the importance of yet another shot.

A survey released this month from the National Foundation for Infectious Diseases found that 44 percent of adults were either unsure or do not plan to get a flu vaccine this year.

But with health care facilities across Oklahoma strained from the recent surge in coronavirus cases, fighting flu is critical, said OMRF Vice President of Clinical Affairs Judith James, M.D., Ph.D.

“The first priority is the initial Covid-19 vaccination series,” said James, who holds the Lou C. Kerr Endowed Chair in Biomedical Research at OMRF. “But like COVID-19, influenza is a dangerous and highly contagious respiratory virus.”

James added that flu shots are crucial for pregnant women and people with chronic illnesses such as diabetes, autoimmune disorders and heart or lung disease. “These groups are at high risk for severe complications from flu,” she said.

Typically, said Thompson, the shot is 40-60 percent effective at preventing a person from contracting the virus when the circulating flu strains are well-matched with those used to make the vaccine.

Each year, Food and Drug Administration officials work with health authorities worldwide to identify the most common flu strains and formulate a vaccine.

“Scientists pay special attention to the Southern Hemisphere because their flu season arrives ahead of ours,” said Thompson, who holds OMRF’s Putnam City Schools Distinguished Chair in Cancer Research.

“The flu mutates rapidly every year to evade our defenses. That’s why it is important to get a shot annually.”

But even if you contract the flu after vaccination, said James, there’s usually a benefit to receiving the shot. “In most people, vaccination leads to a less severe bout of the virus. It also prevents many hospitalizations and ICU admissions,” she said.

To protect against flu, wear a mask in crowded indoor spaces and wash your hands regularly.

But, James said, “The first step in protecting yourself and those around you is timely vaccination. Ideally, everyone eligible should get their flu shot by the end of October.”

Dibble Senior Citizens

By Eddie Cantrell

Greetings to the Seniors of the Dibble Community!

We got through it! Our Grand Opening was a success with a packed house and several folks who have helped us were there. We especially want to express our appreciation to the representative from Ovintive Oil Company for their generous donation to help renovate our new building.

We also designated the dining room as Dessie’s Diner after my mother who would surely have enjoyed it. The Kazoo Band was so good that we have decided to go on tour. Some said it was right up there with the Mormon Tabernacle Choir!

My cousin Oscar was there to give a few choice words about me and fun was had by all from his jokes!

The Community Food pantry is nearing completion as we had to completely rebuild the entire floor. The attached picture will tell the story. We still have a ways to go to finish, but we are making steady progress.

We have changed our meal schedule to Monday/Wednesday/Friday at 12 noon as it is better for everybody.

The Food Pantry is still in full operation at the old building and will be until the renovations are complete on the new one. Our field trip to Medicine Park has been put on hold due to such exciting and time consuming goings on at the Center. However a movie may be in the works so stay tuned!

I have decided to let Oscar have a week off as he said such kind words about me! Just have to say though that “He just ain’t right!!

All for now...

The menu includes:

Monday—Country breakfast.

Thursday—Stew and cornbread.

Friday—Chicken and ribs.

Lighthouse police dog ‘does it all’

Chickasaw Nation Lighthouse police officer Dallas Kirby readily admits his recent arrests of four people on charges of illegal narcotics possession was hardly a solo act. He received assistance from his multitasked four-legged patrol partner.

Dana, a Belgian Malinois, specializes in narcotics detection, tracking and handler protection and Kirby says she is adept at all three responsibilities.

“She is a great tracking dog, handler protection dog and drug sniffing dog; she’s got it all,” he said.

Belgian Malinois are sometimes confused with German shepherds because they share many physical features. Kirby describes them as a shorter, skinnier version of that breed.

Officer Kirby and Dana constantly train to be disciplined in all areas so Dana can perform at the highest levels of expectation when needed.

Kirby says when Dana “hits” on something she communicates it as clearly as if she were saying, “Hey, the drugs are right here.”

“That’s when we’ll start searching,” he said.

On one of their recent busts, drug paraphernalia was in plain view inside the subject vehicle. It was enough to start Dana’s routine.

“I deployed Dana when I saw that,” he said. In their two most recent arrests they confiscated quantities of methamphetamine, heroin, cocaine, alprazolam and a large amount of cash believed to be proceeds from drug activity.

Kirby and Dana’s partnership began in May of this year and Kirby expects it to last for many years to come.

“Dana is 4 years old and I’ve seen K9s go 12 or 13 years. As long as she can still find illegal drugs, we’ll work her.”

Dana’s talent for protecting her handler also comes in handy, Kirby said.

“If I’m outside my patrol car and fighting one or maybe two people, I hit the door popper that releases her door and she’ll come out and start going to work.”

No matter which skill is demanded at the time, Kirby knows Dana is ever eager to do her part.

“I should graduate at the top of my class for my major,” he said.

He is on track to graduate in 2024 and is undecided if he

Though the Top 20 recognition doesn’t come with a financial reward, it is an impressive addition to one’s resume when entering the job market.

Grant said he weighed his options at both OSU and the University of Oklahoma before deciding where he would attend college.

“The Construction Engineering Department here is really good,” he said, “and OU was just too close to home.

Grant learned of his selection “two or three weeks ago.”

Big-time showdown

Undefeated Wayne and Elmore City square off Friday

Warriors control Lexington's line

John Denny Montgomery
The Purcell Register

Wayne and Elmore City will battle it out under the bright Friday night lights as the two unbeaten brutes position for District superiority.

Wayne at Elmore City

7 p.m. Friday • Elmore City

Wayne rolls into town for the 7 p.m. kickoff sporting a 7-0 record while the Badgers of Elmore City sit at 6-0.

"It's a big game and it's turned into a rivalry," said head coach Brandon Sharp. "They want to beat us extremely bad after last year."

Wayne defeated Elmore City 26-20 at home last season.

The Badgers have talented athletes across the board with a combination of size and speed.

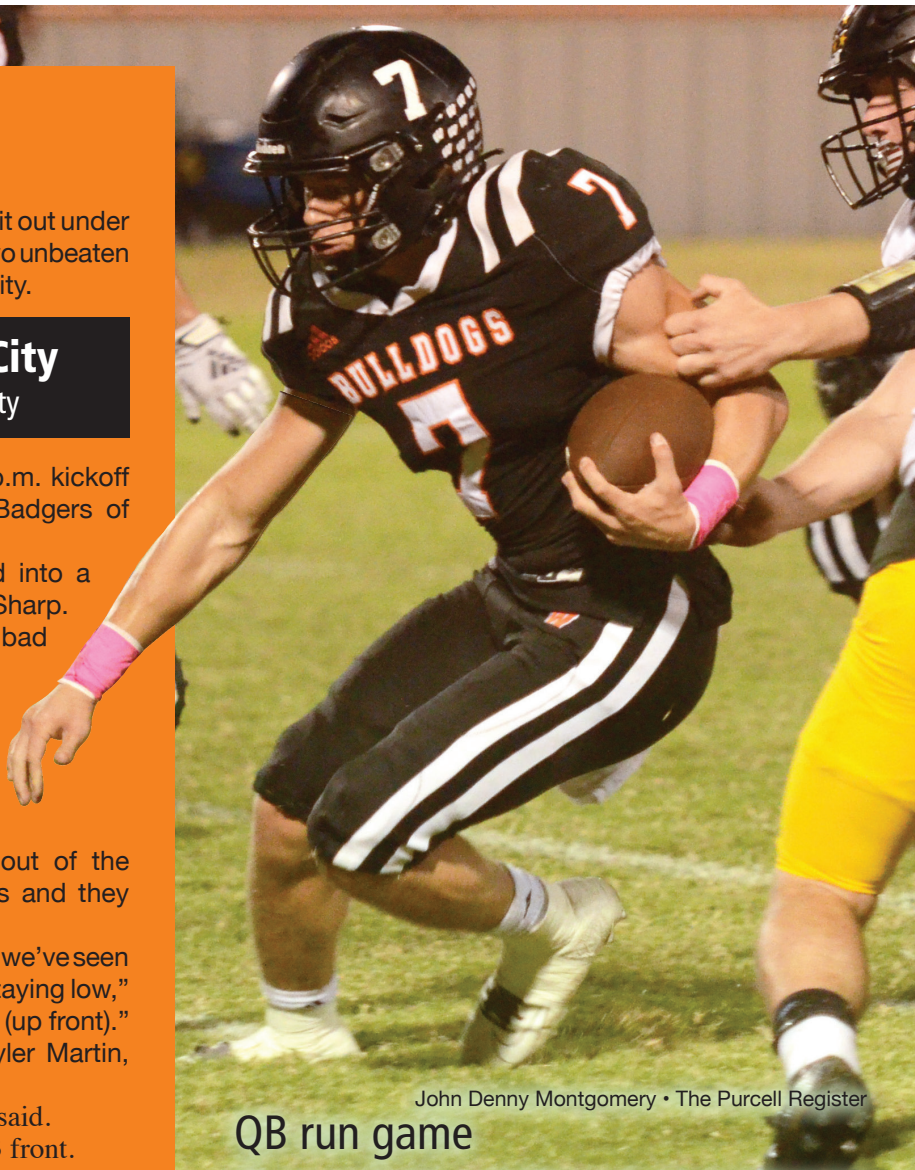

Offensively Elmore City bases out of the wishbone and flexbone formations and they have a formidable front line.

"They have two of the best lineman we've seen and we'll have to do a good job of staying low," Sharp said. "We'll have to play well (up front)."

The Elmore City quarterback, Tyler Martin, runs the show on offense.

"He's their field general," Sharp said. On defense the Badgers run a 4-3 front.

Bulldogs hosting Bethel on Friday

Lexington will host Bethel in their last home game of the season Friday. Kickoff is set for 7 p.m. for the Bulldog-Wildcat showdown. The 5-3 Wildcats operate out of the spread on offense and will employ a 4-3 defensive alignment. Coach Keith Bolles said his offense needs to generate some first downs and get into the end zone. “We’ve been playing pretty well defensively we just need to go score when we have the ball,” Bolles said. “We’re going to get some players back from injuries this week.” Lexington lost at home last Friday night to Washington 57-2. The Bulldogs’ safety came on a botched snap on a punt when the ball was recovered in the end zone. “We were playing some young pups and they never quit,” Bolles said. Senior Jimmy Northrup led the tackling chart with six stops and recovered a fumble.

Polk wins at Chickasha

All-State All-Star Cross Country track meet

Jayden Polk won the All-State All-Star Cross Country track meet at Chickasha in Class 3A with a time of 12:06 over the two-mile course October 14.

“A remarkably close finish between Polk and two other runners made for a great race,” head coach Mike Savage said. “Jayden led from the start like he normally does but these two runners came up behind him and he couldn’t hear them because of the crowd noise. “They had momentum and when he felt them on his heels he held them off for the win,” Savage said. On the season, Polk had three number one finishes and two runner-up finishes. Alyssa MacArthur was the low Purcell girl with a time of 10:39 over the 1.5 mile course for a 28th place finish. “It was really a pleasure to see these athletes better their times throughout the year,” Savage said.

Warriors:

Major Cantrell tossed a pair of touchdown passes to Luke Hendrix, one for 48 yards to kick off the scoring, and an 11 yarder in the second quarter.

Hendrix had five snags for 87 yards in the contest while Kobe Scott had two catches for 41 yards.

Kade Norman notched a pair of touchdown runs of 53 and 15 yards both in the second period. Nate Roberts and Cole Scott both had touchdown scoring runs.

Coles and Case Taylor led the tackle chart, both with eight stops against the Bulldogs.

Kade Norman and Hayden Milner both had seven tackles. “Defensively it was a team effort,” head coach Brad Beller noted. “We did a great job of swarming to the football. There were multiple plays where 11 guys were in the screen at the end. We had very sound technique.”

Beller said he and his staff were able to play 21 different players on defense.

“Our linebacking crew of Kade Norman, Jake Coles, Rhett Vaughn, Ben Vaughn and Keller Howard did a great job making plays and making adjustments.

“And, our offensive line did a great job of rebounding after one of its worst performances of the year against CCS,” Beller continued. “Any time you average nine yards a carry your offensive line is doing something right. It gave running backs Kade Norman and Cole Scott unbelievable games. A lot of times they weren’t touched until the second and third levels.”

The coach was speaking of the play of Easton Berglan, Tanner Winlock, Wyatt McCauley, Naithen Spaulding and Jordan Vanya.

Beller said Jaxon Hendrix jumped in and played extremely well at slot receiver. We were needing some depth there and he hadn’t played it before but he did a great job of filling that hole.

Up next is a home game Friday at 7 p.m. with the winless Holdenville Wolverines.

“They are young and inexperienced,” Beller said of the Wolverines. “They have lots of good looking, strong kids in the offensive and defensive line. They are definitely young and going through some growing pains.”

The Wolverines will work out of a spread on offense and run a 5-2 defense with man coverage in the back end, Beller said.

to Fall Break, put the clincher on school win number 700 a milestone only seven other Oklahoma schools can lay claim.

That’s the word from Purcell Sports Historian Kelly Nemecek.

Nemecek said the other schools in the rarefied air include Clinton - 830, Ada - 815, Lawton High, 815, Booker T. Washington - 801, Jenks - 750, Thomas - 734, Seminole - 720 and now Purcell - 700.

Also honored after the game was former longtime Dragons Coach Mike Wilson, who has 98 wins as head coach and many more as an assistant coach.

The game wasn’t close from the outset with the clock running continuously in the second half.

Creed Smith, who was a perfect 5-5, threw four touchdown passes and Payson Purcell ran for a pair of scores, one an 81 yard cross-country jaunt. He finished with 83 yards rushing. Freshman Boston Knowles led the rushing chart with 131 yards and one touchdown, a 70 yard burst.

Hayden Harp hauled in touchdown passes of four and 22 yards. Titus Mason scored on a 52 yard pass and off the arm of Smith and Jose Ochoa pulled down a 19-yard scoring aerial. Noah Mason also found the end zone on a five yard jaunt in the third quarter to close out the scoring. As a team, the Dragons rushed for 308 yards and passed for another 119 scoring four touchdowns on the ground and four through the air.

Zicorrie Davis led the stingy Dragon defenders with a game-high seven tackles. Creed Smith picked off one Ruf-Nex pass and registered four tackles, a number matched by Rowan Ardery.

Both Jose Tarango and Tavian Engert had five tackles while Brody Holder, Carter Goldston and Noel Chavez had three tackles apiece.

Coach Tracy Scott praised the play of Davis and both Smiths, Creed and Brodrick.

“And, our down linemen on defense played well,” Scott said.

He was referring to the play of Engert, Holder, Brendan Bacon

Norman.

Kickoff for the key district contest is set for 7 p.m.

Scott said the Royals have a really talented quarterback in Boyce McIntosh, who is the son of the coach.

He throws to gifted receivers in Charlie Peterson and occasionally Bai Jobe, who anchors their defensive front.

Jobe is getting a lot of attention from Division I football schools for his defensive end abilities.

“He’s got the DI look, long and tall and comes off the ball very quickly,” Scott said.

“We’ll have to be able to run the ball on them and control the clock,” the coach said of the game with the Royals.

“And anytime you are in a big game the kicking game comes into play. We will have to sustain drives and get pressure on their quarterback. But we will have to contain him and keep him in the pocket because he can hurt you with his feet. We will also have to win the turnover battle.

“They do a lot of things defensively,” Scott said.

In fact, the Royals bring defensive pressure on almost every play.

“It will be both physical and tough mentally on us,” Scott said.

The Royals operate out of a spread with one back on offense and come at the offense with a 3-3 stack.

Dragon notes:

Wayne:

“They have active linebackers, a huge d-line and the back end is extremely athletic,” Sharp said. “It will be a challenge but we feel like we have a decent offense to go against them.”

The winner of this game will more than likely be set up to play Ringling for the District title.

“It should be a lot of fun Friday,” Sharp said. “We’ve been in this situation before and have a bunch of seniors and they know what’s at stake.”

Dibble

Wayne rolled the Dibble Demons 51-0 Thursday night on the legs of Ethan Mullins.

The senior signal caller rushed for 230 yards and six touchdowns. He added 129 yards and another touchdown through the air, which was hauled in by Brannon Lewelling.

“Mullins just keeps having 200 yard rushing games week after week,” Sharp said.

Mullins scored on runs of 3,5,9,9,29 and 1 yards.

Mullins has rushed for over 1,700 yards and 31 touchdowns through seven games.

Lewelling added another 148 yards rushing on 13 carries, averaging over 11 yards per play.

Junior Rhett Kennedy had three carries for 37 yards and scored a touchdown on an eight-yard tote.

In all, Wayne rushed the ball 53 times for 488 yards and racked up 617 yards of total offense.

“We had a good night against a good team,” Sharp said. “It was one of those games where everything was working.”

Vicious Bulldogs

The Wayne defense pitched its second consecutive shutout.

The first-team defense has only allowed one score all season.

“Those dudes are playing well,” Sharp confirmed. “They showed up and kept Dibble at bay and played well against a good team.”

Lewelling led the way with 11 tackles and a sack while Mullins recorded five tackles and forced a fumble.

Senior defensive linemen Maddox Mantooth, Kevin Bynum and Cody Davis continued their strong play up front. They had nine tackles, two sacks, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery, among the three.

Kaleb Madden picked off a pass for the second week in a row and had four tackles.

Kennedy also intercepted a pass and had three tackles while Eli Hobson had two tackles and a fumble recovery.

Dibble ended up with 69 yards of offense - 21 rushing and 48 passing - for the night.

“The defense has been getting after it pretty good,” Sharp said. “Our defensive line does their job and it allows the linebackers to run and make plays.”

Notes

Wayne head coach Brandon Sharp nominated Ethan Mullins for Heart of Oklahoma Offensive Player of the Week. The senior rushed for 230 yards, threw for 129 and scored seven touchdowns.

Sharp’s nominee for Heart of Oklahoma Offensive Lineman of the Week was Cody Davis. He graded out at 72 percent.

Sharp’s nominee for Heart of Oklahoma Defensive Player of the Week was Brannon Lewelling. He had 11 tackles and a sack.

The nomination for Heart of Oklahoma Defensive Lineman of the Week was Maddox Mantooth.

Mantooth registered four tackles, had a sack and forced a fumble at defensive tackle.

“We’re pleased with the work the team has put in – it’s showing,” Sharp said. “Now we have the opportunity to play another undefeated team who is playing well.”

Dale K. Graham Veterans Foundation

Join us on Monday, October 25, at the Twin Hills Golf & Country Club for our Honoring Heroes Golf Tournament.

Registration will be from 7:30 a.m.-8 a.m., with the Color Guard starting at 8 a.m. The first Tee Time will be at 9 a.m.

We'll be teeing off so that DKGVF can serve even more veterans, always at no charge to them. The veterans of this great nation need us now more than ever and we would appreciate your support. If you would like to play to support our veterans please go to the website and register: <https://dalekgrahamveteransfoundation.org/upcoming-events/>.

During the last few months, we have noticed that the length of time it takes the Department of Veterans Affairs to process veterans and surviving spouses has increased significantly for an unknown reason.

Many of those who we represented virtually before the Board of Veterans Affairs over a year ago, still have not received a decision on their claims that were appealed several years ago. With the plan to increase the number of employees who work for the VA our veterans will receive decisions on their claims in a timely manner.

The only thing I know for sure is that many of the veterans and surviving spouses who are represented by our organization need their VA claims to be approved. Some of them are not prepared financially to wait for years for VA to make a decision.

With the problems that COVID-19 has contributed to their employment along with the cost of living increases that all of us are currently facing has and continues to cause catastrophic issues for many in our community.

We are holding an online intake event November 19 from 9 to 11 a.m. for veterans and surviving spouses to start a claim for VA benefits. Using this type of digital sign-up is proving very affective for most veterans and their families.

After registering we will send an email with directions on how to set up your account in our Intake Q system with instructions on what forms and documents to be uploaded to start your claims for VA benefits. The last time we opened for a digital intake there were over 250 new clients signed-up.

Visit dalekgrahamveteransfoundation.org for more information.

To date this year, we have represented veterans and surviving spouses in almost 200 hearings this year before BVA Judges or DRO Higher Level Review officials.

I am immensely proud to say that most of them were or are going to be approved by VA. Our rule of thumb when representing veterans and their families is to make sure that we have provided medical evidence with a Nexus linking the veteran's injuries or illness to their military service. If that is done most VA claims will be approved in favor of the veteran or the surviving spouse.

One of the things we recommend for surviving spouses whose veteran had a claim pending before their death is to file for substitution of claimant using VA form 21P-0847 within one year of a veteran's death. If the veteran's claim is approved, the surviving spouse could receive benefits up to the date of the veteran's death.

By Stella Bledsoe

The thirtieth Sunday in Ordinary Time is October 24, 2021. Each Sunday four readings are presented. They have a central theme, sometimes obscure, sometimes obvious. The readings for October 24, 2021, are Jeremiah 31:7-9, Psalms 126:1-6, Hebrews 5:1-6, and Mark 10:46-52.

The healing power of God is the focus of each reading this week. In Jeremiah, the Lord delivered his people who had been scattered to the land of the north. Some were blind, some were lame. 9 They departed in tears, but I will console them and guide them; I will lead them to brooks of water, on a level road, so that none shall stumble. For I am a father to Israel, Ephraim is my first-born.

In Psalms 126, again the Lord healed the people: Those exiled to Babylon were returning. Although they go forth weeping, carrying the seed to be sown, they shall come back rejoicing, carrying their sheaves. Response: The Lord has done great things for us; we are filled with joy.

In Hebrews 5, the high priest, chosen from the people to serve as their representative before God, offered gifts and sacrifices for sins. The priest also offered gifts and sacrifices not only for the people he represented but for himself as well because he was a sinner, too.

“5 In the same way, it was not Christ who glorified himself in becoming high priest, but rather the one who said to him: You are my son: this day I have begotten you; 6 just as he says in another place: You are a priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek.” So, in the same way the high priest healed the people’s relationship with God through gifts and offerings, Jesus healed all through his sacrifice. But Christ is a priest forever just as Melchizedek was.

In Mark 10, Jesus healed the blind man, Bartimaeus. Others told Bartimaeus to stop calling out, but he continued until he received the healing power of Christ. 52 Jesus told him, “Go your way; your faith has saved you.”

In each reading, the healing power of God restored those suffering. The events in the Bible happened centuries ago but the healing power of God remains present for us today. Our healing may not be in the form we expected, and we may not recognize it until we look back upon it, even years from now. Nonetheless, our faith will save us.

As we continue our journey with Jesus, the great High Priest and Suffering Servant, let us realize that there will be times in our lives when we will have to go through trying situations. We will be like the sowers who go out weeping as they do the hard work of planting the seed. Yet, if we keep our eyes open to the Lord Jesus and His example of service, then we will one day enjoy the fruits of our labor as we help bring in the harvest which God has allowed to grow.

It is then that we will be able to fully understand today’s psalm verses when it says, “Those that sow in tears, shall reap rejoicing. Although they

The Wednesday evening auditorium class returned to a study of the third chapter of Colossians.

In the absence of the regular teacher the Sunday morning adult Bible class varied from the regular course of study and engaged in a discussion of the first chapter of Genesis.

The chapter chronicles God’s creation of first the heavens and the earth, then, over a period of six days, forming the earth into a habitual environment and the creation of plant and animal life and finally man.

One often overlooked fact that was noted was that all of God’s creations, plants, animals, man and the earth itself, were created full grown, with the appearance of the appropriate amount of age.

The sermon during the Sunday morning assembly set forth the responsibilities of the Christian as a soldier for Christ as outlined in the Bible beginning with the reading of 1 Timothy 1:18.

Scriptures were cited showing the duties of the soldier, and numerous requirements such as willingness to bear hardships (James 1:2) and learning to use the weapons of spiritual warfare (Ephesians 6:10-17). The lesson concluded with the assurance of victory for the faithful soldier (2 Timothy 4:7-8).

The Sunday evening sermon looked closely at the discussion between Jesus and the Samaritan woman at the well recorded in the fourth chapter of John. It was noted that the woman attempted to change the subject from what Jesus said to a conversational subject.

Then the main subject of the meaning of the “living water” was addressed. The living water to which Jesus referred is Good week to all: For this week, I want to share a little inspirational story I ran across some time ago. Hope you enjoy!

Zig Ziglar told the story once of a farmer in south Texas near the turn of the century. Times were hard, and his family was poor. Consequently, the struggling farmer came to the grim conclusion that he would need to sell off his land. But before he could sell, an oil company came to him, said, “Sir, we think you may have oil on this land. Let us dig for it, and we’ll give you royalties for any of the oil we can find.”

The man had nothing to lose, so he gave the okay; and the oil company soon brought out their derricks and equipment and began to set it up on his property, and the drilling began soon after that.

It wasn’t long before, sure enough, they struck oil. It was such a massive supply of oil that when the gusher started spewing out it obliterated a number of the wood derricks they used in that day. As many as 100,000 barrels of oil spewed out before they could cap it off.

That poor farmer had “struck oil,” as we say, and his poor life was about to change. He suddenly became a rich man, the owner of such a massive oil well that it took three companies to work the resources on his land.

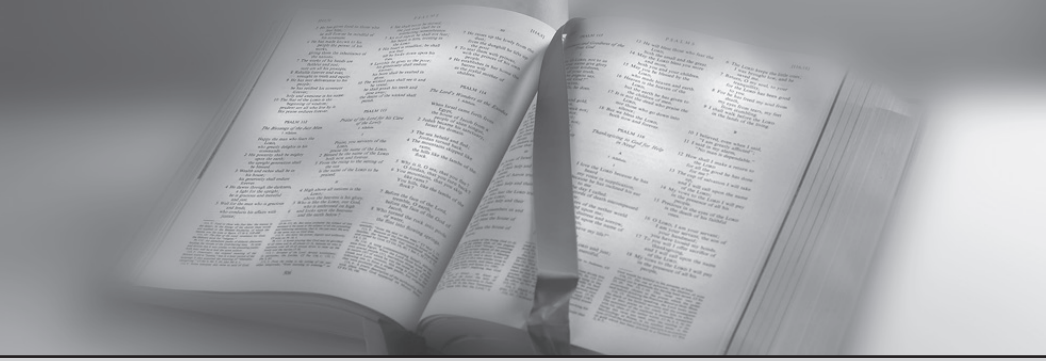

But, did the man really become a rich man the day they discovered the oil? Did he become rich as soon as that oil gushed out of the ground and brought him wealth and fame?

The truth is, that man did not. No, he was a rich man the minute he bought the land. He had been a rich man a very long time. He had “money in the bank” he didn’t know he had. He just had not yet discovered his wealth.

I discovered this story a couple of weeks ago when I was working on a new study on the “fruit of the Spirit” from the apostle Paul’s letter to the Galatians. I immediately knew there was a lesson there, and a good tie-in to that study.

Clearly, we can be very much like that poor farmer, spiritually. We have untold resources within us that can make us as rich as the richest man around.

Our next Food Give Away will be Saturday, November 20, from 12 to 4 p.m. This will be the Saturday before Thanksgiving. We are still asking people to be cautious, since many have not been vaccinated. Masks can be provided if you do not have one, and hand sanitizer is also available. By the grace of God, we could feed 53 people this past Saturday.

“Many hands lighten the load” means that, if we all work together, we make the task go more easily and more quickly. How often can we apply this?

If we want (or need) to clean house and if there’s more than one in the household, even only two, dividing the work makes it go faster. If I clean the bathroom and my bedroom and you clean the kitchen and your bedroom, we can finish the housework by both working together to clean the living/dining room.

The same thing goes with churches. In a few weeks, we will start preparing for Christmas by celebrating Advent. We usually start by the “hanging of the greens” when we decorate the church with garlands of green, wreaths, and Christmas trees with lights and ornaments.

Some will start removing the fall decorations that we’ve been enjoying and pack them away until they’re needed next year. Others will bring the boxes that have the items not seen since last January. Still others will begin to unpack the Advent and Christmas things. As the church begins to look festive, some will stand back and advise where things need to be straightened. Working together makes the time and the tasks go more quickly.

With the Food Bank, there are tasks that make it run smoothly.

The first Monday of the month, the truck from the Regional Food Bank delivers the food for the monthly give away. People join together to unload the truck and rotate the stock in the pantry. There may be other jobs in getting ready for the month.

The third Saturday of the month, the team meets at 11 a.m. for a potluck luncheon and a time of fellowship before the Food Bank opens at noon. Task assignments are made. The helpers that work in the pantry itself are mostly ones that can count under pressure.

Most of the time they are “regulars,” but sometimes we need to have people switch and be trained. Others that work in the pantry help shoppers by choosing food and by assisting them in carrying out their groceries.

At the beginning of the Give Away process, we have people who give out the slips having the necessary information that the Regional Food Bank requires. Then we have folks who help people complete the forms and get their number. Others are there to visit and connect with the workers and the community of clients. Sometimes cares are shared through prayer.

When we have only a few workers, the distribution day is a little long, lasting approximately five hours. If we have a few more helpers, each person can spend an hour or two which makes the day more enjoyable for all.

Needed: a few more volunteers. We lost a dear friend and helper this year. Another has gone into assisted living. We have one person who has had to quit due to health issues, and one of our sweetest workers is beginning to have memory issues. Once in a while we are missing people due to other commitments to life events or to illness.

We are praying for you to help our whole community. You don’t have to live in the area, you don’t have to be Methodist, you don’t have to work every time, you don’t even have to be Christian. You can be a teen or a senior—even “elderly,” whatever that means. If you need a ride, we can work that out. If you can help with any of the Food Bank tasks and are willing to do so, please call Ms. Robin Cook, the Food Bank Director at the church (405) 527-3506 or at home (405) 527-4177.

Dear God, thank you for all you do for us and for showing us how to help your hungry children, those young and older. We haven’t always known where to begin, but we know you will guide us. Thanks in advance for sending us more helpers to do your will. In Jesus’s name, Amen.

We invite all of you to worship with us at 9:30 a.m. to see how we’re different from other churches. Sunday school starts at 11 a.m. Our address is 631 East Ash, just west of Lexington High School. For more information, please call the church at (405) 527-3506 to leave a message, or contact Pastor David Cook directly at (405) 406-6174.

Westside:

And, often, we never tap into them, not the way we should.

Paul itemizes these riches to us in the fifth chapter of Galatians, saying, “But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance ...” Nine simple characteristics, attributes that we cannot develop on the outside but must be processed and tapped into from deep within us. They will not make us rich – people, generally, don’t pay big money for meekness – but they will make us rich to God; and that’s what matters.

Remember, you are already rich. The Lord has put the greatest of life’s resources within you to make you the richest man in town. Better bring on the derricks, there’s drilling to be done.

Pursuant to the Order for Combined Notice and Order Appointing Special Administrator, all creditors having claims against Bill R. Barrett, attorney for the Special Administrator, on or before the following presentment date: November 15, 2021, or the same will be forever barred.

Notice is also hereby given that a hearing will be held on the 9th day of December, 2021, at 9:30 a.m., at the McClain County Courthouse, 121 N. 2nd St., Purcell, OK 73080, before Judge Charles Gray. At the hearing, the Court will decide whether to approve the Petition for Summary Administration and Admission of Will to Probate, the final account, and petition for determination of heirs, devisees, and legatees and distribution.

You are hereby advised that you may file objections to the Petition for Summary Administration and Admission of Will to Probate and the final account and petition for determination of heirs, devisees, and legatees and distribution at any time before the hearing and send a copy to the Petitioner in care of his attorney, Tyler R. Barrett, The Law Office of Tyler R. Barrett, P.L.L.C., 131 E. Main St., Ste. 220, Norman, OK 73069, or you will be deemed to have waived any objections. If you have no objections, you need not appear at the hearing or make any filings with the Court.

If an objection is filed before the hearing, the Court will determine at the hearing whether the Will attached to the Petition shall be admitted to probate, whether summary proceedings are appropriate and, if so, whether the Estate will be distributed and to whom the Estate will be distributed.
