McClain County and in particular Newcastle and Purcell are about to benefit from several Oklahoma Turnpike Authority projects.

A connector is planned off the H.E. Bailey Turnpike near State Highway 32 at Newcastle which will extend eastward to U.S. Interstate 35. A second turnpike project ties in the John Kilpatrick Turnpike to U.S. Interstate 44 and the Tri-City area and a third turnpike project on the east side of the Metro is a south extension of the Kickapoo Turnpike tying Deputy Director Joe Echelle

The projects, as well as all of the projects in the OTA's ACCESS Oklahoma plan, were announced in an OTA meeting Tuesday. Governor Kevin Stitt was in attendance to help make the announcement of the ongoing 15-year long-range plan, which will be similar in the way ODOT utilizes its Eight-year Construction Work Plan.

Next step for Long Range Plan

These projects and more across the state — part of the OTA's $15 billion long range turnpike plan — are to be constructed with cashless tolling. There have not been any surveys done on the routes so exact alignments are not known at this time. Governor Stitt said there has been an explosion of property growth along the newest of the turnpikes the state has built.

OTA states that the next steps will be formulated throughout 2022 by hiring consultants who can work on details, which will be made public as they become and additional professional services will vet details and start conceptual design plans for the comprehensive longrange plan. Their role will be to assist

OTA with traffic modeling, financial planning, engineering, and working with community

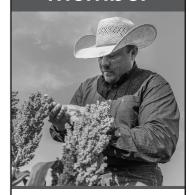

OTA further states that tolls will be adjusted over time, but the goal is to keep adjustments to a minimum as far into the future as possible. They added that out-of-state traffic pays about 40 percent of Oklahoma

Governor Stitt said AC-CESS Oklahoma is a bold plan to make investments for the future, to help manage congestion and have reliable commute times.

He said the plan will provide a quality of life for Oklahomans by connecting existing turnpikes and communities, and constructing reliever routes for the state's most congested parts of highways.

The OTA plan calls for projects across the state. They are outlined on a new website created by OTA at accessoklahoma.com. ACCESS is an acronym for Advancing and Connecting Communities and Economies Safely Statewide. OTA Director Tim Gatz said residents or landowners who feel they may be impacted by these projects can go online to look at the maps provided at accessoklahoma.com. They can click on "property acquisition" to see how the process goes.

Hello from District 43

Opponents, including myself, don't think it's right for money set aside for public schools to be used to send students to private schools.

If a parent wants to send their students to a private school, that's fine.

But they should have to pay the tuition and not expect the taxpayers of the State of Oklahoma to foot the bill.

Same with home schooling. Those options already exist but at least funds earmarked for public schools are not being tapped.

Public school funding should be used for public schools and spent on students attending public schools like Purcell, Lexington, Washington and Wayne.

Taxpayers pay for their kids to go to public schools not for students to go to private schools.

If parents choose private schools, that's fine but those parents are the ones who should have to pay, not the taxpayers.

Integrity of game

Not mention chance of injury

I was at a Little League basketball game over the weekend. Let me say that a little louder. It was a LITTLE LEAGUE GAME, where one team was winning by a wide margin when the coach on the short end threw a hissy fit.

The tirade apparently got the attention of the officials who decided not to call fouls on the inferior team after that, causing the basketball game to look more like bumper cars.

It gets dangerous for children when adults act that way. Two players on the winning team were injured although thankfully

But it shouldn't have happened.

Call games fairly and safely for the safety of the players and the integrity of the game. That's all players, coaches and fans can ask for. Don't be one sided just because a coach throws a temper tantrum.

This is the part I hate to report most...after the game a father of a player on the losing side said, "I like it when it's rough and there's not a whistle every 15 seconds."

That's all well and good until his son gets injured due to the calling. The dad needs to keep that in mind.

State of the Union in crisis

Congressman Tom Cole

On March 1, President Joe Biden will speak before a joint session of Congress and deliver his first official State of the Union address. If he chose to be honest about the true state of national affairs, he would acknowledge the plethora of crises of his own making and outline solutions to address

First, President Biden needs to address the worsening economic crisis in our country. For nearly a year, Americans have felt the dramatic rise of prices on almost everything as well as empty shelves in stores due to supply chain issues and labor shortages caused by Democrats' damaging policies.

It was also recently reported that the Consumer Price Index (CPI), an important economic indicator, in January reached the highest rate in 40 years. This is troubling news for hardwork-

Moreover, earlier this month, gas prices reached an astounding seven-year high. The sharp spike in gas prices and the inflated cost to heat your home is directly attributed to President Biden's anti-American energy policies. In fact, on his first day in office, he canceled construction of a vital American pipeline, which eliminated thousands of American jobs and forced our country to dangerously rely on adversarial producers overseas.

As a result, Americans are not only paying significantly more at the pump, but our country's energy independence has taken a serious hit and poses an elevated risk to our national security as well.

President Biden should put forth a plan in his address that Biden's open border has also led to the trafficking of the dangerous and deadly drug fentanyl. A disturbing report from border patrol agents shows that the seizure of fentanyl at the border has increased by 1,066 percent.

Moreover, based on a recent analysis of Centers for Disease Control and Prevention data, fentanyl has become the predominant killer for Americans ages 18 to 45. This mounting crisis also forced the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration to issue its first public safety alert in six years, warning the public about fake pills laced with lethal doses of fentanyl. Rose Day recognizes sanctity of life

The House of Representatives or persuasion." last week observed Rose Day an annual day when hundreds of people gather at the state Capitol to pass out roses to their elected representatives and senators as well as the governor and lieutenant governor.

Each rose represents the life of an unborn child. The day is meant to call attention to the sanctity of life.

This year, Rose Day was observed February 16. Before our day's legislative session started, we held a presentation on the House floor to talk about the importance of protecting life in the womb.

During session, we adopted a resolution to officially designate Rose Day and to elaborate on our commitment to life.

During the pre-session prolife rally, we heard testimonies and prayers from pro-life and anti-abortion advocates as well as presentations from lawmakers who work every day to write policies that protect the life of the unborn.

I would like to echo the sentiments of Brian Hobbs who spoke on behalf of the Rose Day Committee this year. "With God's help, we'll see a day in this state when every life is protected and when abortion is no more."

Hobbs said accurately that Rose Day is a positive, strategic part of that goal.

I was proud to co-sponsor House Resolution 1041, which recognizes the significance of Rose Day and its commitment

The resolution states that "the right to life of the unborn is one of the great public policy issues of our day, both for the American people and for Oklahomans of whatever political philosophy

It also includes that members of the Oklahoma House of Representatives on this day and every day affirm that all human life is sacred from the point of conception, and they have led the nation in adopting legislation to defend unborn children.

Recent legislation includes:

- House Bill 2441, which stops abortions from being performed once an unborn child is determined to have a detectable heartbeat.
- House Bill 1102, which suspends licenses of doctors who perform abortions, and
- Senate Bill 918, which repeals several sections of statute relating to the performance of abortions and prohibits abortion in Oklahoma if the Supreme Court overturns Roe v. Wade.

The resolution specifies that we oppose any policy that would require citizens to pay for abortions through their taxpayer dollars or medical insurance premiums. We will continue to lead the nation in the introduction and enactment of legislation to protect unborn children.

As representatives, we greatly appreciate the heartfelt involvement of those committed Oklahoma citizens, both young and old, male and female, who present us with roses each year to symbolize the sanctity of human life and the worth of ever unborn individual.

We will continue our efforts until legal protection for the lives of all unborn children has been restored.

Sherrie Conley serves House District 20 in the Oklahoma House of Representatives, which includes parts of Cleveland, Garvin, McClain and Pottawatomie Counties.

We all face challenges

By Dr. Glenn Mollette

Everyone will face insurmountable challenges in life. The price of longevity is heartache, opposition, failures, grief and life events that come out of nowhere.

Life is filled with the death of loved ones, financial ups and downs, daily health challenges and world events that impact us whether we like them or not.

Russia is going to invade Ukraine. Most of us don't like Russia anyway but we have to sit here and watch what they are doing to someone else while it negatively affects our energy, financial stability, our military, and our everyday lives.

We don't like it; we don't want it but we will be impacted by the evil decisions of Russia's leadership. Can you imagine how the people of Ukraine feel?

We despise what COVID-19 has done to all us. Mask wearing, vaccinations and the fear of gathering have tormented us. The loss of family and friends who went into Intensive Care Units and never came home haunts us. Can we begin to imagine how they felt as they struggled to breathe on respirators their last few days of life?

We have all faced news that a loved one was killed on the battlefield, or someone died suddenly of a heart attack, or received news of terminal cancer.

Typically, we ask why? We ask God, "Why has this happened?" or "Why me, God?" Often there is rarely a good answer. We can analyze and say, "This could have been prevented. Or, this is how he or she should have lived their lives." Sports fans making suggestions from their recliners while watching reruns always see how the play could have been run better.

Life is always in motion. We make decisions. We react to situations differently. We don't always do the right thing and emotions often overturn com-

The reality is that we all face everything will work out alright. Often, things do. Unfortunately, everything doesn't always work out alright. If we manage to survive, that's when we have to help others who are crushed in spirit, who can't see the light of day for the darkness in their lives.

Ukraine needs their allies or they will never be the same. It can't be all the United States. We can't save everyone and have proved it over and again from Afghanistan to Iraq to Vietnam.

There are always those around you who need your emotional and spiritual support. If nothing else, friendship and a word of kindness and support are always meaningful.

Most of the time, we feel as if we face our greatest challenges alone. Alonely place of desperation is a dark place to be.

Don't ever go there. Look to God. When money, friends, education, hospitals, doctors and the church can't fix what you are facing God can see you through. He never leaves us or forsakes us. His hand is strong and nothing can pull us out of his mighty hand.

Mail in Voting

With mail-in voting becoming such an important political issue today, it is worth the time to examine similar issues in history. I have written on this before, but with the blocking of the John Lewis Voting Rights Act, it is worth reexamining.

The debate is between protecting voting, not from just fraud but from corruption, and allowing all people more access to voting. Then add to the debate the subtext of race and discrimination. This is a difficult dispute, yet, historically speaking, it is not a new one. The last major shift in the voting process had a similar debate between corruption and discrimination. I have shared this before, but you can never share the Constitution too much. Article I. Section 4 reads, "The Times, Places and Manner of holding Elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof." In other words, voting practices are controlled by the states and different states can have various practices. This is important to remember as we debate a law about national voting rights. Various amendments have revised the Constitution and have limited the state's power, but all of these are about who cannot be excluded. None say that all must be included. Right now, you cannot deny the vote to anyone based on race, color, sex, or age. Nothing in the Constitution says you cannot deny voting for other reasons. An I.D. requirement does not go against any of these restrictions, hence why the Democrats are trying to pass a new law. They believe the restrictive voting rules inexplicitly curbs minority voters. This is the same argument made against reformers in the late 1800s.

The progressive movement that grew in America towards of the end of the Nineteenth Century revolved around the idea that Government could make a positive change in people's lives. The movement was dominated by native WASPS who saw the growth of big business and their influence on Government as corruptive and wanted to take some power back. They saw that reform was going to happen whether they wanted it or not and so chose to lead the reforms themselves instead of leaving it to the masses. This way they could stop any radical reforms and make change more conservatively.

One of the most consequential reforms they championed was a secret ballot. Progressives believed that the masses were being treated as pawns in the political struggle. By this time all men were allowed to vote. However, with an open ballot there was nothing to stop employers from pressing employees to vote a certain way.

For many of the poor, but especially immigrants, they were under pressure from political machines to vote for their candidates. When immigrants arrived in America, they were met on the docks by the political machines who set them up with lodging and jobs. It was the machines that took care of most of their needs. However, they were expected to vote how they were told.

In early America, ballots were not provided; you were expected to bring your own. You could make your own ballot, but a popular way to vote was to take an already filled out ballot provided by your political party, not unlike the sample ballots found at some polling stations today.

Usually, these ballots were color coded so that foreign speakers or illiterate voters could make sure they voted for the correct party. However, color-coded ballots also made it easy for political bosses to make sure you voted for the correct person.

I am guessing that most reading this probably are thinking that going to a secret ballot was the right thing to do, as it actually increased democracy for the masses. While it allowed for them to vote their own conscience, however, these reformers came under attack as being racists and xenophobic.

The problem was that now, to make sure ballots were not and walk through fires. Most compromised, they were provided at the ballot box instead of of the time we're hopeful that voters being allowed to bring their own. Ballots now had to be filled out at the polling booth. The issue was that now foreign speakers and illiterates, who accounted for a higher percentage among minority populations, had to fill out a ballot without help. This led to a cry of racism.

> Notice that the progressive reforms were not taking on an illegal issue with the secret ballot. It was not illegal for a political machine to give an immigrant a filled-out ballot; they claimed they were just assisting a non-English speaker. This has similarities with today as there are no calls to stop illegal actions.

> Democrats want to see restrictions removed for in-person voting and allowing more mail-in voting, giving those who can't make it to the polls a chance to vote. Republicans want to stop illegal fraud, but there not many examples of actual fraud being committed. For many on the right, it is not just fraud, but corruption they want to stop.

> Democrats say that political organizers who go door-to-door to help people vote by mail are expanding Democracy, while Republicans, though not using the same words, are seeing mail-in voting the same as political machines distributing filled-in ballots.

> In both cases is not about illegal voting but voting integrity. The meeting was called to order by President Delores Givens. After the Flag Salute, Lourrinda Renee passed out decorated white paper sacks with gold hearts filled with candy for Valentine's day that she had made for each member and guest.

Winter Council is Friday, February 11, at 9:30 a.m. in the Purcell Farm & Home Building. Our club is to bring desserts. A lot will be covered such as last year's awards, etc. District meeting is in Ardmore on March 8 with a $25 registration fee.

Diane Burnett made a lovely casserole carrier, matching pot holder and hot pad for the District meeting to be put in silent auction with "Made In Oklahoma" items from each club.

Our club members were the only people who showed up for the assembly of the Quilt Block Challenge quilt. In the future we may have a meeting at Diane Burnett's shop to see all her craft, sewing and quilt projects and equipment. She makes beautiful items on request.

Our club will be announcing in The Purcell Register soon about the fund-raiser auction for the basketball teams. In 2019 Karen Olson won a beautiful red, white and black quilt (Washington Warriors school colors) in the Quilt Block Challenge that year that she is donating for the fund-raiser auction.

Lourrinda Renee showed us some unique tote bags that can be stamped with a colorful picture of a cowgirl for each club member to promote the 2022 OHCE theme "Back In the Saddle" and to promote our club and all the projects and programs that are part of what Oklahoma Home and Community Extension

Community Service

In this type of alternative sentence, a judge orders a criminal offender to perform work on behalf of the community in exchange for a complete or partial reduction of fines and/or incarceration.

Court ordered community service often accompanies some other form of alternative sentence such as suspended sentences, probation, fines, deferred adjudication or pretrial diversion. The theory behind court ordered community service is that mandating minor offenders to perform community service offers more benefit to society than incarceration of those offenders.

The community benefits from the work that the offender performs and avoids the cost of incarceration while the offender benefits from a lesser sentence and, it is hoped, is rehabilitated, educated and enriched through the work they perform.

If you are in need of community service, contact the City of Purcell's Code Enforcement office, 230 W. Main, in Purcell.

Sir Winston Churchill Chapter Six

Dorothy, age 27 & Betty, age 18 | 1946

Dorothy grew up with opportunities her mother only dreamed of, such as earning a college degree, working, and voting! Her mother, Ruth, had been a suffragette. Dorothy was an English teacher, married with young children.

Dorothy was going to visit her cousin, Betty, in Fulton, Missouri, at William Woods College, an allgirls school. It was a windy day as the cousins made their way to what Betty called "the boys' school," Westminster College where they were to attend a lecture. Today's speaker was known as "The Great Orator." The young women were going to see Sir Winston Churchill, who would be introduced by the President of the United States, Harry S. Truman!

A former Prime Minister of England and one of the leaders of the Allies during World War II, Churchill had loomed large through Dorothy's early adulthood. It was now 1946 and the war had only been over for a short time. Dorothy and her family had done their part. She and Ruth had planted a victory garden, and Ruth had worked in a plant making parts for sacrifice and loss had taken a toll on Dorothy and others. The confident words of Franklin Roosevelt and Winston Churchill had been a calming salve during that time.

Westminster's gymnasium crackled with excitement as the young women joined the flow of others to find their seats. A hush fell over the crowd as suddenly President Truman stood before them, a Missouri native who had risen to the highest political office. He introduced Mr. Churchill, who stepped onto the stage with the same presence she'd grown familiar with from the pages of LIFE magazine. Churchill was larger than life, very much the bulldog many described him to be. Churchill began, "I'm glad to come to Westminster College this afternoon, and I am complimented that you should give me a degree."

Dorothy was thrilled to hear his voice, so familiar to her from her family's radio. Churchill described his view of the world on this side of the war. He told of the special alliance between the United States and Britain and the importance of the new world governing body, The United Nations. Dorothy listened as he began to describe what he saw as the great challenge of this new world.

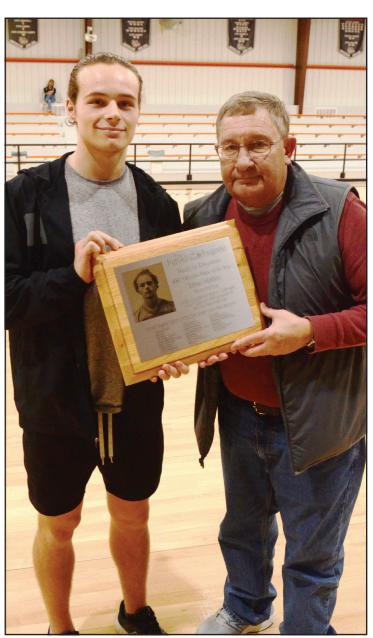

"From Stettin in the Baltic to Trieste in the Adriatic, an iron curtain has descended across the Continent," Churchill proclaimed in his famous guttural growl.

These words echoed through Dorothy's mind as they made their way back to William Woods after the speech. Betty seemed giddy from their encounter with history, but Dorothy was thoughtful. What had Churchill meant by an iron curtain, she wondered. Churchill's words held a warning of uncertainty and instability in the post-war world. She was sure of it.

"We did a great job getting to the lane and shooting layups," Scholz said. "We got a bunch of easy shots."

The Warriors shot 66% from the field, excluding three pointers, thanks to the easy looks they were getting.

Scholz also credited his team's rebounding as a big factor in the easy District tournament win.

"We missed 20 shots and rebounded nine of them at the offensive end," he said.

Seniors Jamison Holland and Kobe Scott each had five rebounds but the coach said it was really rebounding by committee and the whole team got in on the action.

Senior Tony Trejo, along with Scott, led the way with 14 points.

Cash Andrews and Hayden Hicks were also both in double figures, with 12 and 11 respectively.

Wednesday. Ash Wednesday marks the beginning of the Season of Lent. It is a season of penance, reflection, and fasting which prepares us for Sunday, through which we attain redemption.

Ash Wednesday is one of the most important holy days in the liturgical calendar. Ash Wednesday opens Lent, a season of fasting and prayer. Ash Wednesday takes place 46 days before Easter Sunday, and is chiefly observed by Catholics, observe it too.

Ash Wednesday comes from of penance and fasting. The practice includes the wearing of ashes on the head. The ashes

March 2, 2022 is Ash God made us. As the priest applies the ashes to a person's forehead, he speaks the words: "Remember that you are dust, and to dust you shall return."

Ashes also symbolize grief, Christ's Resurrection on Easter in this case, grief that we have sinned and caused division from God. Writings from the Second-century Church refer to the wearing of ashes as a sign of penance. Priests administer ashes during Mass and all are invited to accept the ashes as a visible symbol of penance. Even non-Christians and the excommualthough many other Christians nicated are welcome to receive the ashes. The ashes are made from the ancient Jewish tradition blessed palm branches, taken from the previous year's palm Sunday Mass. The information about Ash Wednesday was symbolize the dust from which copied from a wonderful website, Catholic Online (www. catholic.org).

The Schedule for Ash Wednesday, March 2, at Our Lady of Victory is:

Mass: 12 noon and 5 p.m. in English

Mass: 7 p.m. Spanish

We will have a distribution of ashes at all these Masses. We celebrate the love of Jesus at Our Lady of Victory parish all year long. Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church is located at the 307 West Jefferson. The office is open weekday mornings (405-527-3077). Weekend mass services are Saturday, 5 p.m.; Sunday, 11 a.m.; and Sunday, 1 p.m. (Spanish). Daily masses are Tuesday, 9 a.m.; Wednesday, 12 noon; Thursday, 7 p.m. (Spanish), and Friday, 9 a.m. Peace be with you.

Costly ID theft

Stolen ID used to purchase pickup

JeanneGrimes

The Purcell Register

An arrest warrant is outstanding for a Dallas man who allegedly used a stolen identity to purchase a 2018 Ford F150 pickup online from Zeck Chevrolet.

Richard K. Madrigal, 35, is charged in McClain County District Court with felony value false pretenses, computer fraud and identity theft.

The fraudulent transaction was reported to Purcell police by Brad Cook with Zeck in late December.

According to an affidavit, Cook told police Madrigal contacted the dealership in November to arrange the online purchase. Madrigal identified himself with a Texas driver's license in the name of Thomas Nied.

The $44,801 transaction was completed and Madrigal asked for the vehicle to be delivered to him at Luna Vista Golf Course in Dallas.

A Zeck employee delivered the pickup and verified Madrigal/Nied's identity by checking his driver's license.

On December 4, Cook received a telephone call from a man saying he was the real Thomas Nied and that he didn't purchase the vehicle

Warrant issued

Suspect was staying in vacant house

JeanneGrimes

The Purcell Register

Failing to appear for a court date prompted a judge to issue a bench warrant for a Little Axe man on two misdemeanor charges in McClain County District Court.

Brian E. Ryan, 41, is charged with breaking and entering a dwelling without permission and knowingly receiving or concealing stolen property.

His bond is set at $1,000. According to an affidavit, Purcell police were dispatched to the 300 block of North 6th Avenue on February 3 on a report of a suspicious man.

One officer saw a man later identified as Ryan exit the front door of the house at 319 N. 6th.

The home is vacant and is being renovated. A second person was reported in the house.

Police entered but didn't find anyone in the house. There was, however, a Honda moped in the living room.

Police ran the VIN and learned the moped was stolen in Norman earlier in the day.

Officers contacted the home's owner who said no one had permission to be in the house. The owner of the moped also said he didn't know Ryan and had not given anyone permission to take the moped.

When questioned, Ryan said a neighbor next door had given him permission to stay in the house.

Money available for ONG scholarships

The people of Oklahoma Oil & Natural Gas are increasing scholarship awards this year because the need has never been greater to help the next generation of energy leaders become gamechangers.

The Oklahoma Energy Resources Board (OERB), funded by the oil and natural gas industry, has made the decision to significantly expand the scholarships they offer to students majoring in petroleum engineering, geology and energy management at Oklahoma State University, the University of Oklahoma and the University of Tulsa.

For the 2022-2023 academic year, both OSU and OU will make matching awards for a number of these of the scholarships. The awards are available to incoming freshmen through seniors and the amounts can be as high as $7,500, even more for certain students who qualify for the matches provided by universities.

Since 2005, the people of Oklahoma Oil & Natural Gas have provided nearly $5 million in scholarships. The goal of the program is to invest in our young people, our industry, and our state.

"These scholarships are only possible through the voluntary financial support of Oklahoma's oil and natural gas producers and royalty owners," said OERB Executive Director Mindy Stitt. "Education is a core part of the OERB's mission and we remain committed to investing in the future of Oklahoma."

OMRF discovery reveals 'flip side' of sometimes harmful protein

Scientists at the Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation have stumbled onto a finding that could alter future treatment options for conditions ranging from heart attacks to life-threatening infections.

The discovery involves the inner workings of the omentum, a mass of tissue that connects the stomach to other abdominal organs and is critical in the body's immune response.

The omentum can act as a powerful Band-Aid. Following a mastectomy, surgeons often place strips of it over a reconstructed breast to regrow lymphatic vessels, which are crucial in fighting infection.

But the omentum's healing properties aren't well understood, and it wasn't the original focus of research led by OMRF scientist Courtney Griffin, Ph.D.

"We were studying the role of a certain molecule in lymphatic vessels, but the approach we took led us toward the omentum," Griffin said. "The time it added to our research was well worth it because it resulted in a far better understanding of this fascinating tissue."

The study involving mouse embryos showed that when red blood cells naturally leak from the omentum before birth, a white blood cell called a macrophage is triggered to produce an inflammatory protein, or cytokine.

This specific cytokine, called IL-1 beta, causes the omentum blood vessels to continue leaking during development.

"We also learned that IL-1 can make lymphatics more functional in the embryonic omentum," Griffin said. "Normally, new lymphatics are so busy growing that they aren't focused on their eventual job of collecting fluid and transporting cells from tissues. IL-1 makes them act more like mature lymphatics."

Understanding how and why that process occurs is critical, she said, because current treatments for heart attacks, sepsis and other conditions often include a drug that blocks IL-1 and other cytokines. Cytokines are "a double-edged sword," Griffin said, because they help fight infections, but when released en masse, they attack healthy tissue, often causing organ damage. The term "cytokine storm" has become common over the past two years to describe cytokines' harmful impact in people with severe CO-VID-19.

"Our research shows the flip side of IL-1, which has previously been seen as harmful in large quantities," she said. "A wound or an infection stimulates growth of new lymphatics, and it appears that IL-1 might help them function more quickly to heal tissues. If this finding is confirmed through additional research, it could help physicians decide that a slight delay is beneficial when prescribing a cytokine blocker."
