

Ted & Lori Cox IN AFRICA

John D. Montgomery The Purcell Register

For Ted and Lori Cox their unique vacation to Tanzania provided some unexpected findings.

Lori learned that she absolutely loves to climb up rock walls and Ted lost 18 pounds during their June 19-July 9 trip to Africa.

They along with two other couples, Fulks and Carrs, went to climb Mount Kilimanjaro, go on a safari and fish.

Kilimanjaro's summit is 19,341.

Ted made it to 18,885 and the altitude got to Lori at 17,000 feet.

"Mine actually counted as making the summit," Ted said. Lori got altitude sickness

Vince and Kimberly Fulks are flatlanders bred and born.

He is 53 and coaches the Paoli Pugs in football. She is 50 and a breast cancer survivor.

At home on the plains, neither is a mountain climber.

Or weren't until this summer when they scaled all 19,340 feet of Mount Kilimanjaro in Tanzania.

It all started early in 2020. "Justin and Nicolle Carr came up with this crazy idea and we invited ourselves," Vince said.

Soon, Ted and Lori Cox invited themselves, as well. They began conditioning themselves for the mountain.

Their training consisted of "just a lot of walking" and trips to the Ouchita Mountains in southeast Oklahoma where Vince grew up.

"My family is from southeast Oklahoma and that helped me to know how to walk up steep slopes,"

he said.

There were also two trips to Pikes Peak in Colorado to acclimate themselves to high altitude, although Pikes Peak's elevation -14,115 feet-doesn't really compare to Kilimanjaro's 19,340 feet.

No burn ban at this time for McClain County

McClain County Commissioners discussed the possibility of a burn ban for the county at their regular Monday morning meeting but did not issue one.

"We want to thank the citizens of McClain County for being cautious during these dry times," commissioner Wilson Lyles told The Purcell Register.

"We need to stay diligent and be wary," he continued.

Lyles said fire chiefs and emergency management were at the Monday meeting of the commissioners.

Dibble's $15.45 bond issue on ballot

JeanneGrimes

The Purcell Register

On the August 23 ballot for voters living in the Dibble Public Schools district is a $15.45 million bond issue that won't raise property taxes.

How is that possible?

Superintendent Chad Clanton said the proposal will continue the district's existing bond structure. The new bonds will be repaid over 15 years,

"Not increasing taxes was really important to the board and our patrons," he added.

The board called for the bond election at a special meeting on June 2.

Since then, Clanton said the public feedback has been "really positive."

The challenge, he explained, is getting the people to go vote. Like all bond issues, the proposition needs at least 60 percent of the vote to pass.

Clanton said the district will use the proceeds for the first phase of constructing a new high school.

A large portion of the existing high school was built in the 1930s.

"There are three roofs on it now," he added.

To facilitate construction, the district plans to demolish the old elementary school and weight room, which Clanton described as "buildings we use, but can survive without them."

The superintendent said Dibble Public Schools enrollment is at capacity in all sites and is definitely growing with more housing

Non-Indians can be prosecuted

Oklahoma Attorney General John O'Connor sent written guidance to Oklahoma law enforcement and district attorneys following the United States Supreme Court decision in Oklahoma v. Castro-Huerta. That decision that recognized Oklahoma can prosecute non-Indians who commit crimes against Indians in land that has been held to be Indian country. "Oklahoma law enforcement is dedicated to the protection of our citizens and has already been implementing some of the advised changes," O'Connor said. "As always, our office stands ready to help any agency if additional assistance is needed to locate victims and pursue charges in cases that were not pursued by any law enforcement agency over the past two years." The AG's memorandum is a working document and will periodically be updated after further consultation with law enforcement. On June 29, 2022, in the Castro-Huerta decision, the Supreme Court held Oklahoma has jurisdiction over all non-Indian criminal defendants within its borders, including any land that constitutes Indian country. In the case, Castro, a Mexican national, was convicted by an Oklahoma jury of abusing his five-year-old Indian stepdaughter. Castro argued that, because his victim was Indian, Oklahoma could not prosecute him. The Indian nations agreed with Castro in a brief filed with the Supreme Court. In rejecting this argument, the Supreme Court observed that Castro "would require this Court to treat Indian victims as second-class citizens. We decline to do so."

Beating the heat

State prisons use several methods

From the moment the sun comes up, the Oklahoma Department of Corrections is doing everything imaginable to keep staff and inmates safe from relentless summer heat.

One of the first steps is keeping an especially close watch over at-risk inmate populations. Staff identify those inmates more susceptible to heat-related incidents, including those 55 years and older, the chronically ill or those on mental health medication.

Officers also do frequent wellness and temperature checks in all areas to ensure the temperature in each unit is safe for the inmates.

"We have procedures in place where medical does a follow up every four hours," Joseph Harp Warden Luke Pettigrew said. "And we have security staff going around as well. Checking on them and making ice available for them as well."

The agency maintains a Heat-Contingency Plan for all of its facilities with engagement of the plan beginning well in advance of any anticipated summer heat.

That plan includes adding cooling equipment to areas that lack air conditioning.

Modifications to the plan are made as conditions warrant. Already this summer, 22 portable air conditioning units and dozens of industrial fans have been deployed at facilities across the state.

"Acouple nights ago it was pretty warm," one inmate said."But they came through with some fans. The coolers have definitely helped out. When they brought them in it brought the temperatures down a little bit."

Several facilities have also installed misting hoses in pavilions and other high traffic areas. Misting stations can cool air temperatures up to 30 degrees.

"It's better. A whole lot better. Definitely an 'A' for There's not a question as to whether or not Gov. Kevin Stitt fabricates the truth. My question is, when is he

Your Views A few clarifications

Dear Editor:

After reading Big Brother by Pat Sharp, et al, there were just a few lines that struck a chord with me. Especially the "One Why Stitt or anyone else Nation Under God" element of the Pledge of Allegiance and schools removing prayer from school.

As a teacher I know that prayer has not been and never will be removed from schools. In fact the Supreme Court ruled in favor of a teacher's right to pray publicly at school events, Kennedy v. Bremerton School District.

Prayer in school is a constant straw man argument as some sort of nexus of decline in our society. But schools are a microcosm of our society. Schools do not create and export culture, culture and society are pushed into and collide in schools and many issues are more apparent in that small and confined space.

There is a dedicated time for prayer everyday, and so many fail to take advantage of it. Even so, nothing stops anyone, at anytime, from praying. It's more like people don't pray much anymore and certainly don't teach and encourage their children to pray. Is it everyone? No, but it's enough.

If people are concerned about the lack of God in schools they need to begin to look at the lack of God in the homes around the school. If prayer and God are in the homes of the students then God is in and will always be in the schools. And you shouldn't want it the other way around. You want me teaching English, Given the hundreds of bills Experiences) screening results est median earnings adjusted you want your priest and preachers teaching the Bible.

As for the new turnpike, Jesus said to render unto Caesar what is Caesars, in Matthew, Mark and Luke, and reiterated by Paul in Roman's 13. I don't agree with this turnpike anymore than anyone else, but decades of passive participation in politics by the population has led to a group of leaders who no longer rate; lowest life expectancy at represent us. This turnpike has been in the works for a very long time, it's only now that anyone cares.

Kind of like prayer, voting, being a good person, and following the teaching of Jesus and of the Bible, we really just expect other people to do it instead of being leaders and examples ourselves and doing those things ourselves.

Certainly there will be many who don't agree with me, which is why I teach English, and I encourage everyone else to find the private citizens to get their input worst state for women to live in. quality of life, and highest religious teacher of their choice, but teaching about the Bible and God is for the churches and families. NEWS FROM CAPITOL HILL America's energy solutions are here at home

Congressman Tom Cole

Since President Joe Biden was sworn into office, he has waged an all-out war on American energy and unfortunately the American people are paying the price. In fact, gas prices have more than doubled in just two years, and it is estimated that the average American is spending more than $2,000 extra a year on fuel.

However, instead of using the resources here in our own country to bring relief to the American people, he continues to diminish our nation's energy independence and pursue outof-touch energy policies.

Just last week, President Biden doubled down on his green energy agenda. Reports also suggest his plans to declare a "climate emergency," in order to direct funds for have no effect on the current more Green New Deal climate energy crisis.

policies without congressional approval.

The result of this action would dangerously move the country further away from oil and gas drilling in the United States, which has already been proven disastrous to our economy.

The cost of energy and fuel affects nearly every aspect of industry here at home and forces producers and businesses to raise their prices.

President Biden already has the tools to ease the pain at the pump such as restarting the Keystone XL Pipeline and allowing for more drilling on federal lands and waters. Sadly, he refuses to acknowledge these obvious solutions and instead has been traveling abroad begging foreign nations for more oil and proposing policies that

In fact, the president last month asked Congress to temporarily waive the federal gas tax of 18.3 cents per gallon, but this gimmick was rightfully denied by both Republicans and Democrats.

The president also previously ordered the release of 1 million barrels per day from the Strategic Petroleum Reserve for six months. Although our nation's Strategic Petroleum Reserve (SPR) was created so that the U.S. would have a stockpile of crude oil supply to be used in the case of an emergency, President Biden has nearly drained it.

Not only was this ineffective at easing the pain at the pump, but his administration recently sold nearly 1 million barrels of our emergency reserves to forward. At the Oklahoma Insurance Department (OID), we're committed to creating an environment that embraces innovative thinking.

One of the innovative tools we've recently brought to Oklahoma is the Insurance Business Transfer (IBT). Oklahoma's IBT law became effective in November 2018 and Oklahoma became the first U.S. state to embrace IBTs under a structure that closely mimics Part VII Transfers that have taken place in the U.K. for 20 years.

In October 2020, Oklahoma became the first state in the U.S. to have an IBT completed and approved by the courts. Since then, we completed the second IBT in August 2021 and are working on our third.

An IBT is a process that allows for a transfer of a block of insurance business from one Innovation moves our state existing insurance company to another. Oklahoma's IBT statute includes life, health, property and casualty liabilities, and is open to both runoff and active books of business.

This cutting-edge mechanism focuses on the protection of consumers while allowing insurance companies to strategically deploy assets to their areas of focus. IBTs create considerable flexibility and financial security for companies, help eliminate uncertainty, reduce administrative expenses and simplify regulation.

More importantly, an IBT can connect policyholders with a company that better understands their policy and coverage.

I support mechanisms like IBTs to bring an economic

Dibble Senior Citizens By Eddie Cantrell

Greetings to the Seniors of the Dibble Community! It is hot but we are making it. Still have some out with medical issues. Get well all!

I would like to share another Food Pantry patron's comments:

"I would like to thank the Dibble food pantry for all they do for our community. The ladies are super friendly and they truly want to help their neighbors. Brandy Steary"

My cousin Oscar and his wife Marcia finally got to take a trip on an airplane. However they got kicked off at the first stop. They were loudly arguing over who would sit in the seat by the window. Oscar kept hollering, "I got a shotgun! I got a shotgun!" He ain't right!

All for now... E.C./G.G.T.W. The menu includes: Monday—Country breakfast. Wednesday—Chicken pot pie. Friday—Steak and shrimp.

We try to keep the veterans who we represent informed about any new VA rules that could impact their VA disabilities. One of the big issues that we are going to see is the change in ratings for sleep apnea. Currently, if a CPAP machine is required a veterans rating would be 50 percent. When the new regulation is finalized a veteran that receives service connection of sleep apnea requiring a machine will be rated at 0 percent. Keep an eye out for algae overgrowth in ponds

he said.

Alisa Boswell-Gore Agricultural Communications

Most Oklahoma ponds are green thanks to algae that forms on the water, but just like anything else, too much algae can be a bad thing.

Algae is a normal occurrence in ponds unless it becomes too thick. That's when pond owners are in danger of the most common fish kill scenario – algal die off.

As millions of dead algal cells decompose, dissolved oxygen is rapidly used up, causing fish to suffocate.

To prevent this situation, Marley Beem, Oklahoma State University Extension aquaculture specialist, advises pond owners to watch for algal abundance.

"The simplest way to do this is to use a submerged object, something that you can put down into the water that is light colored," he said.

On a sunny day, Beem said a submerged object will disappear from view when it has sunk less than 18 inches down in water.

"If the object disappears from view in less than 12 inches, that is a big warning that fish kill is possible because the algal bloom is getting too thick,"

Visit us at:

The first reaction of most pond owners with an algae problem is to use an herbicide to kill the algae, Beem said, but this seldom provides good long-term results.

The most effective method for reducing the growth of algae is to starve it of nutrients and light.Algae rapidly repopulates when nutrient and light levels are high.

To reduce nutrient runoff to a pond, homeowners and commercial lawn care professionals should stop using fertilizers that contain phosphorous or apply only the amount of phosphorous and nitrogen needed.

Soil tests available at county extension offices tell homeowners the amount of fertilizer required to meet the needs of a lawn.

Beem said pond owners shouldn't worry too much about algae because a healthy population of it is essential in a pond to produce oxygen for fish.

People should keep an eye out for their pond algae grow-ing thicker.

"If you see this happening, don't delay," he said. "Work with your county extension office immediately to come up with steps to take to correct the problem."

Lane and Emanuel got into the coloring act at Vacation Bible School at Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church last week.

July 31,2022 is the eighteenth fool, this night your life will be Sunday in Ordinary Time. During Ordinary Time, the Gospel time on earth.

The Gospel reading is Luke in what matters to God." 13:12-21. Someone in the crowd said to Jesus, "Teacher, tell my demanded of you; and the things you have prepared, to whom focuses on the teachings and will they belong?' Thus will it miracles of Christ during his be for all who store up treasure for themselves but are not rich

The point of the parable is

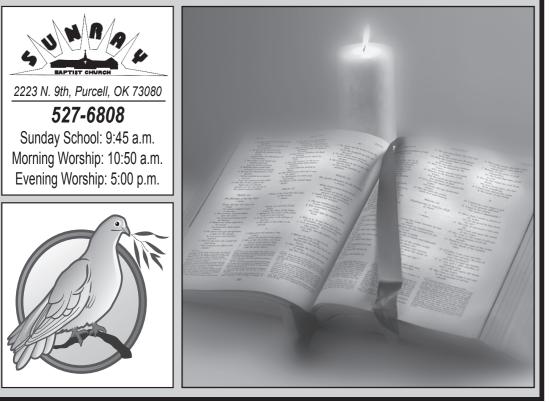

And we have more things than the next guy. And we think we have won. But we have lost.

For in the long run, the quality of our lives is inferior to the quality of the lives of those who concentrate on that which really matters (Msgr Joseph Pelligrino).

brother to share the inheritance straight. We typically place with me." Jesus said, "Take care to guard against all greed, for though one may be rich, one's life does not consist of possessions."

As Jesus did many times in his ministry, he told a parable, a families, for our children and simple story used to illustrate a moral or spiritual lesson. Jesus told of a rich man whose land had produced such a bountiful harvest that his barns would not hold it.

The man said to himself, "I will tear down my barns and build bigger ones. I will have so I can eat, drink, and be merry."

simple: keep your priorities great value on our stuff. Sometimes in the interest of getting more stuff, we focus solely on more, more, more.

Yes, we must provide for our their future, for the grandchildren, and for our retirement, but we can get so caught up in making money that money and the things we can buy easily can become an end for our life instead of a means to draw us closer to God.

So what do we do? We work many good things stored up that too hard. We don't have enough time for our families. We get But God said to him, 'You ulcers and early heart attacks.

As the sense on the TV show Kung Fu used to say, "Choose wisely, grasshopper."

We celebrate the love of Jesus at Our Lady of Victory parish all year long. Our Lady of Victory parish is located at 307 West Jefferson. The church office is located at 501 N. 4th Street and is open weekday mornings. You can call the office at 405-527-3077. Weekend mass services are Saturday, 5 p.m.; Sunday, 11 a.m.; and Sunday, 1 p.m. (Spanish). down to 2 Thessalonians 2:7. Evidently, someone came along after Paul and had begun disturbing these people with falsehoods. This section was written to encourage these new Christians that Jesus would not return before an apostasy took place. That Jesus will return is a certainty and so we are warned to be prepared for it.

Sunday morning, we further examined the Scriptures on the subject of murder. One of the most interesting things which was pointed out was that since God created people and every soul belongs to Him, if someone is murdered the murderer has harmed something which belongs to God - what a dangerous position to be in!

The Sunday morning sermon was based on 1 Peter 3:8-12 and in particular the statelove life..." Keith Shackleford pointed out that the general context of 1 Peter was written to encourage those Christians who were under the pressures of persecution. They needed some practical, everyday advice for living as a Christian in a wicked and harmful society.

So he taught them to practice self-control against selfish lusts (v. 10); to learn to hate evil and love good (v. 11) and to pursue things of peace (v. 11). Keith then addressed the significance of this quote from Psalm 34 by looking at that Psalm and its context.

Sunday evening, we learned about the word "debt" in the New Testament. Paul famously wrote "I am a debtor" in Romans 1:14. This lesson discussed the elemental principles of debt (creditors and debtors)

Last Wednesday we studied ment in verse 10,"He that will and showed that debt is something we are obligated to pay.

Because we have sinned, we owe the sin-debt of our guilt. Fortunately, Jesus paid our debt by dying for us, and He asks us to love and serve Him in return. Several other sections were brought out in the sermon which described the debts we owe, to whom and why.

Included in this was a debt in the gospel (to preach it), a debt to the Lord to live spiritually pleasing lives, and a debt of love to all mankind.

We invite you to meet with us for Bible study at 7 p.m. Wednesday night and 9:45 a.m. Sunday and our worship services on Sundays are 10:45 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

Robert Neal Clark

Funeral services for Robert Neal Clark, 82, of Purcell were held Tuesday, July 26, 2022 at the Wilson-Little Funeral Home Chapel. Interment was at the Lexington Cemetery under the direction of the Wilson-Little Funeral Home of Purcell.

Mr. Clark passed away Wednesday, July 20, 2022 in Oklahoma City.

He was born February 5, 1940 in Swink, Oklahoma, the fifth of 11 children born to David and Eunice (Powers) Clark, and raised primarily in Lexington and the Story Community.

Like many in that time, Robert left for California following work. By chance, he met a young lady from Stillwell, Okla., named Billie Ann Workman, who was in California for the very same reason. They fell in love and were married on June 20, 1962 in McKinleyville, Calif. They eventually returned to Oklahoma, settling in Purcell where they raised their children, sons, Neal, Tim and Robbie and daughter, Angie.

Robert worked as a self-employed roofing contractor for more than 40 years, and until recently could still crawl up a ladder. He was a hard worker and a great provider. After Billie's passing, he reconnected with longtime friend, Debra Shankle, who was also widowed. When he wasn't working, Robert enjoyed listening to music and playing dominos.

He flipped several houses, and had a knack for spotting a good property. He liked visiting with family and friends, and visiting the casinos even more. He was a wonderful father, grandfather, great-grandfather, brother, uncle and friend. He will be dearly missed!

He was preceded in death by his wife, Billie Ann Clark; parents, David and Eunice Clark; brother, David Clark and sisters, Bennie Jo Middelton, Judy Finley, Wanda Claussen, Ruth Davis, Jane Scott, Carol Wolf and Linda Shaw. Robert is survived by his boys, Neal Clark of Purcell, Tim Clark and wife, Susan, of Lexington and Robbie Clark and wife, Shannon, of Purcell; daughter, Angie King of Lexington; brother, Thomas Clark of Pauls Valley; sister, Opal Ellison of Van Buren, Ark.; nine grandchildren; 14 great-grandchildren and one more on the way; several nieces and nephews and a host of other family and friends.

Rick Witten

Funeral services for Rick Witten, 75, of Purcell will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday, July 28, 2022 at the Wilson-Little Funeral Home Chapel. Interment will follow at Hillside Cemetery in Purcell under the direction of the Wilson-Little Funeral Home in Purcell.

Mr. Witten passed away at his home on Sunday, July 24, 2022.

Rickey Coy Witten was born the eldest of three children to Olan Clifford Witten and Vivian Jewell Witten (See) on August 10, 1946 north of Carnegie, Okla., in his family home surrounded by cotton fields they farmed. His family continued to share crop there until they relocated to Lawton.

As a small boy he attended the Flowers Mound School east of Lawton until his family moved to Oklahoma City in the mid-fifties. Rick attended John Marshall High School graduating with the Bears Class of 1964.

He thought of school as a nuisance and hated going (when he went). He'd much rather be working, or be greased up under the hood of his pride and joy - a 1955 Chevy that the police loved to chase, but rarely caught. While in school Rick loved FFA, and enjoyed having a piece of the country life he missed while living in the city. He spent the summers with his uncles in western Oklahoma where he learned to fish, farm, play a prank or two, and masterfully tell stories.

He had a strong work ethic from an early age. As a boy he bagged groceries at Humpty Dumpty, and after graduating he worked in masonry, stone, and paving until he joined the military.

He spent his time in the Army at Ft. Polk Louisiana, and was proud to serve his country. He planned on being a mechanic but his orders said "Cook School." When he pointed out the mistake, his Sergeant told him it was either cook school or Leavenworth, so he learned to cook. It was a skill that served him well in life, whipping up fluffy pancakes, venison chicken fry, and the best scratch gravy ever made.

Rick found the love of his life at Hollie's Drive in. He saw two girls from Western Heights cruise by and jumped in their back seat. The one riding shotgun was Lois Ann Wright. The two quickly hit it off and were married on September 8th, 1967. They made their home in Oklahoma City and Rick went back to work for Humpty Foods after finishing his time in the military.

Rick and Lois were blessed with their first daughter, Candace, and later moved to Purcell to be near Lois's parents, Clarence and Bernice Wright. A few years after finishing the construction of their home they welcomed their second daughter, Cherry. Rick later became a Papa to Matthew, his "Little Bud" whom he took everywhere.

Rick found work closer to home at Ken's Red & White in Purcell which he managed for a few years. He then went to work for Tyler & Simpson, and later Harrison Co. in grocery sales. He loved his time on the road, calling on stores all over western and central Oklahoma. One of his favorite road trip games was pointing out stores where he sold groceries.

Rick had been a volunteer firefighter in Purcell for a few years, but in his mid-forties he made a career change and became a full-time fire fighter. He served Purcell for 27 years, retiring as a Lieutenant in 2011. He often said the fire department was the most fun he ever had; it fostered a family like bond that

Lawrence L. Smith

Funeral services for Lawrence L. Smith, 95, of Lexingon were held Monday, July 25, 2022 at the Wilson-Little Funeral Home Chapel. Interment was at Hillside Cemetery in Purcell under the direction of the Wilson-Little Funeral Home in Purcell.

Mr. Smith passed away Wednesday, July 20, 2022, in Oklahoma City in the presence of loved ones.

He was born June 8, 1927 in Corbett, Oklahoma, the fourth of five children born to Henry David Smith and Myrtle Jane (Latimer) Smith. He was raised in Corbett and attended school in Lexington, graduating with the Bulldog Class of 1945. Lawrence joined the United States Navy and served his country proudly. After his service, he attended Oklahoma A&M on the GI Bill, later graduating with a Bachelors Degree in Animal Husbandry.

Lawrence reconnected with a childhood friend, Bobbie Jean Caton, and they were the perfect couple. On January 19, 1952, Lawrence and Bobbie were married on the Caton family homestead. They first made their home in Tecumseh, and later in Odessa, Texas. Together they raised their only son, Brent.

At the time, Lawrence was working for Shell Oil Company first as a welder then advancing to welding inspector, allowing him to travel all over the world. Lawrence longed to spend more time at home, and so they returned back home to Oklahoma, settling east of Lexington. He began teaching welding at Mid-America Vo-Tech, and he loved sharing his life's work, and he eventually started teaching at the Joseph Harp Correctional Center.

Lawrence's heart and his true passion was everyday life on the farm. Cutting hay and raising cattle was in his blood, and he never missed an opportunity to read a good western. Lawrence was a man of great faith, and served the Lord faithfully at Corbett Baptist Church and Lexington Baptist Church. He was a wonderful husband and father, grandfather, greatgrandfather, brother and friend. He will be dearly missed!

He was preceded in death by his parents, David and Myrtle Smith and sisters, Ruby Rose, Vautress Nicholson and Aline Blumhof.

Lawrence is survived by his wife of 70+ years, Bobbie Jean Smith; his son, Brent Smith and wife, Donna, of Lexington; sister, Bonnie Shobert of Slaughterville; three grandchildren, Coty Tarp and husband, Casey, of Newcastle, Shea Smith and wife, Paige, of Kingfisher and Carly Smith of Oklahoma City; one great-grandson, Welder; several nieces and nephews and a host of other family and friends.

Lexington man facing charges

DA drops misdemeanors, files felonies

JeanneGrimes

The Purcell Register

A 59-year-old Lexington man is in the Cleveland County Detention Center in lieu of a $7,500 bond after he was charged with three felonies stemming from the alleged abuse of his wife.

Prosecutors initially charged Thomas R. Vickery with misdemeanor counts of disrupting an emergency telephone call and domestic abuse/assault and battery following his June 16 arrest.

He was released on his own recognizance and ordered to have no contact with his wife.

However, those charges were dismissed as more details came to light and the district attorney's office filed the three felonies on July 18.

Those charges are abuse by caretaker, verbal abuse by caretaker and disrupting an emergency telephone call.

In addition to no contact with the victim, Vickery is prohibited from having a weapon.

A preliminary hearing conference is scheduled for 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Vickery was determined to be indigent and an attorney was appointed to represent him.

Cleveland County deputies went to Vickery's home last month after the sheriff's office received a hang up on a 911 call.

They found Vickery's wife confined to a bed covered in feces.

"I'd say after about 30 minutes I knew where I was," she said.

Kilimanjaro is 1/2 mile higher than the highest peak in the lower 48 states, Ted said.

"Mount Whitney is 14,505 feet," Ted reported.

On summit day some of the hikers left at 11 p.m. and others that are a little faster left for the top at midnight.

Ted reported it took him 10 hours to reach the summit and four hours to descend.

"Going down is just as hard on your body," Ted said. "I may have lost 18 pounds but it wasn't for lack of food. There was plenty of it and it was good. It was just hiking so many hours for eight days."

The Coxes reported there are three routes up to the mountain. They took the longer one.

"The longer route helps you acclimate," Lori said. "The longer you go, the better chance for success. At 17,000 feet it just hit me. No one else got altitude sickness."

they had to scale the Baranco Wall, all 843 feet of it.

"I didn't know I like doing that," Lori said with a big grin. "There was a narrow gap to go through called the Kissing Wall because you are so close to the rock you can kiss it."

Lori called the climb up the giant wall "Cool. I loved it."

The excursion with their cohikers, porters, guides and cooks totaled 32 people in their group.

"The porters were amazing to watch," Ted said. "They carry all your stuff like tents, chairs, cooking supplies basically everything you need to live on the mountain for seven days."

Plus, they have their own backpacks. They would carry about 40 pounds of gear on their heads, the couple reported.

After the hikers would leave a base camp (there are seven on the route) the porters would stay and pack up all the tents and gear.

"They would race past us while we were hiking to set up the next camp,"Ted said."It was great getting to know them and things about their families and about their lives."

There were multiple groups like theirs on the mountain at the same time they were.

Before starting their hike in the rainforest, they stayed a night in a hotel in Arusha, a city of about 900,000.

The trip to Africa was a story in itself.

The group flew from Oklahoma City to Dallas and then from Dallas 15 hours to Doha, Qatar.

Doha is directly across the Arabian Sea from Iran, Cox said. From Doha they flew to the Kilimanjaro airport, a flight of about five hours.

Kilimangaro is eight hours ahead of Central Time, they said. Lori said they watched a lot of movies during all the flights. After the mountain climb, the group went on a three day safari in the Serengeti, sleeping intents just outside one of the country's national parks.

"The coolest thing about the safari is something I really didn't "The porters would wake us realize," Lori said. Once again they couple bragged on the food. Just like on the mountain, the food on the safari was top shelf.

Ted said they would have eggs, bacon, sausage, French Toast and a selection of over 40 different bananas.

For lunch and dinner, meat and soups were the main fare.

"Every day there was something cool and new," Lori said of the trip through the Serengeti. Ted said the Tanzanian economy is terrible.

"A laborer makes from $5 to $7 a day and a gallon of gasoline costs five dollars, basically a From page 1A day's wages," Cox said.

Lori said you either work on a farm or on the mountain.

"Those are about the only two jobs there are," she said."On our trip we really got a taste of what it's like in Tanzania. We saw real people. We didn't want to just be a tourist."

They both agreed the mountain climb was one of the hardest things they've ever done.

"We were the first group for flat landers with no elevation "The animals would just walk Lori said. "Had I known what it was going to be like going up and down and up and down I would have trained differently." Ted said the day he summitted he hiked for 18 hours while the others hiked 13-14 hours. Federal auditors want Oklahoma to return at least $650,000 of Governor's COVID-19 relief funds

JenniferPalmer ReeseGorman Oklahoma Watch

This story was produced in partnership with the Oklahomanonprofit newsroom The Frontier.

U.S. Department of Education auditors recommended clawing back more than $650,000 in misspent federal coronavirus relief funds from Gov. Kevin Stitt and reviewing an additional $5.5 million in purchases, according to a federal audit released Tuesday. The questioned spending came from Stitt's Bridge the Gap Digital Wallet program, which gave $1,500 grants to low-income families for educational purchases like computers and school supplies during the pandemic.

OSU EXTENSION News Protect horses by scouting alfalfa for blister beetles

Gail Ellis Agricultural Communications

Oklahoma producers, especially those in the northeastern part of the state, should watch out for blister beetles in their alfalfa this summer.

If a horse eats a blister beetle when snacking on alfalfa hay, the consequences can be deadly.

"The one we really need to worry about is the striped blister beetle," said Kelly Seuhs, Oklahoma State University Extension alfalfa specialist. "They have the highest concentration of cantharidin, which is a blistering agent produced by the beetle blister beetles but generally not as severely as horses.

Scouting alfalfa along field borders for beetles before the hay is baled can save a horse's life. Seuhs said the insects are notorious for swarming and are known to congregate. They're most active in the summer, and when a swarm is present, the ground will appear to move.

"We've received reports of hay meadows and grass pastures that are infested, even areas around barns where people keep livestock," he said. "They're attracted to the flowering structures of certain weeds, so if you can control the weeds, the better the chance of reducing beetles in your area." Hay most often becomes contaminated with blister beetles when the insects are crushed in alfalfa from the swather. Beetles are killed by the crimper rollers and become trapped in the hay. The remains of blister beetles may be concentrated in a small portion of the hay from a field. Beetles are also killed and trapped when forage is driven on before the beetles have had time to escape. If left alone, the vast majority of blister beetles leave alfalfa shortly after cutting. Cutting without using crimpers and avoiding wheel traffic on freshly cut alfalfa are two of the best ways to avoid problems.

OSU Extension's fact sheet on blister beetles advises alfalfa producers take the following measures to avoid blister beetles in hay:

• Spray entire fields with a short residual insecticide just before harvesting. Spray the fence rows and field borders as well; or

• Inspect fields shortly before cutting and spray only the infested areas if any are found.

Seuhs said treating fields for grasshoppers as early as possible in the spring can help reduce beetle numbers

State 4-H Roundup has long been steeped in tradition for the delegates who make their way to Oklahoma State University for the three-day event. For more than a century, club members have been attending workshops, campaigning for state office and recognizing the achievements of their peers.

While tradition is important, the 101st State 4-H Roundup planning committee has a few new tricks up their sleeves for 4-H'ers who will be on the OSU campus July 27-29. This year's theme is 4-H – A Universe of Endless Possibilities.

"We're glad we're back to a 100 percent on-campus event this year. While we adapted and had a virtual event in 2020 and a hybrid event in 2021, there's nothing better than being back to State 4-H Roundup in person on the OSU campus,' said Steve Beck, state 4-H program leader.

"We're thankful we had the capability to continue with Roundup the last couple of years, but there's nothing like experiencing this event in person. The energy and enthusiasm are contagious and just add to the great experience. The new additions to this year's lineup of events will be a lot of fun for everyone," Beck continued.

New on this year's Roundup schedule will be a traffic safety program for teens. The goal of Oklahoma Challenge is to increase teen traffic safety in Oklahoma, said Nele Rogers, Oklahoma Challenge associate director.OklahomaChallenge is funded by the Oklahoma State Highway Office.

"Car crashes are the number one cause of death for people ages 16 to 24," Rogers said. "There are several reasons for this, including novice drivers, lower rates of seatbelt use, more likely to speed and distracted driving. About 45 percent of teen fatalities in traffic accidents aren't wearing seatbelts."

Part of this educational opportunity will be Think Fast Interactive, a national, high-energy game show-type activity.

Rogers said there will be a host, the contestants will have clickers and they'll compete to earn points for prizes all while learning about safe driving.

Oklahoma Challenge isn't just for teens who are driving; it also includes working with passengers.

"We work with pre-drivers in Oklahoma Challenge and help them become assertive passengers. They're the copilot and are in charge of the music, the GPS and other things that can cause a distraction for the driver. Everyone attending 4-H Roundup can benefit from Oklahoma Challenge. Our goal is to empower youth to become more safe and responsible drivers. We're happy to be able to offer this at 4-H Roundup."

Former Bryan County 4-H'er Bailey Rae will be on hand to teach a Master Class workshop for participants in this year's 4-H Has Talent vocal contest.

Finishing in the top nine in season 19 of the television program The Voice, Bailey Rae will share tips about performing and how to put your best foot forward on stage.

Bailey Rae, who was a 2017 state 4-H record book winner in the health and fitness project and a 2018 Key Club inductee, was named the 2021 winner of the Young Artist of the Year from the Texas Country Music awards.

"We're very grateful for Bailey Rae and the example she is showing Oklahoma 4-H members that they can achieve their dreams while still living in Oklahoma," said Cathleen Taylor, state leadership and civic engagement specialist with the state 4-H office. "She will also perform a short concert while at 4-H Roundup."

Duds to Dazzle is a new contest this year that will give 4-H'ers an opportunity to demonstrate their knowledge and skills learned in the clothing and textiles project.

"This contest gives participants an opportunity to upcycle a textile that no longer meets its original purpose," said Cathy Allen, 4-H curriculum coordinator at the state 4-H office. "Someone could, for example, take an old jean jacket and upcycle it into a vest. It's a great way for club members to use their creativity and make something unused into useable and stylish products."

Blister beetles feed on grasshopper eggs laid in the cracks and crevices of the ground as a nutrient source for the winter. The size of a grasshopper population can be a sign of next season's blister beetle infestation.

While there is no way to completely eliminate the possibility of blister beetles in alfalfa, the best approach to management is to take all possible precautions to reduce the likelihood that they are present.

TSET opens new funding opportunity for youth programs

Endowment Fund (TSET) has opened a new statewide funding opportunity for programs that promote youth character development for students in grades three through eight.

TSET has issued a request for proposals from organizations that can deliver programs that provide education and opportunities for building character in an effort to strengthen leadership and decision-making skills for young Oklahomans.

Healthy habits learned early last into adulthood, and investments in helping young people

The Tobacco Settlement have confidence in healthy choices supports TSET's mission of preventing and reducing tobacco use and obesity.

> "Character development efforts have been shown to encourage healthy behavior and decision-making across the board, preparing children and teens to stand strong in the face of outside pressure for risky behaviors and negative health behaviors," said Julie Bisbee, executive director of TSET. "Today's youth face more challenges than ever, and investing in Oklahoma's children helps put us on a path to ensure a strong start."

Oklahoma ranks among the lowest on nearly every measure of child well-being: 42nd in health, 33rd in economic well-being, 45th in education, and 41st for positive family and community supports.

The state also ranks fifth in the nation for children impacted by Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs), with 20 percent of Oklahoma children under the age of 17 having experienced two or more ACEs, such as family violence, divorce, parental

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN APPLICANT REQUESTS THE FOLLOWING SPECIAL RELIEF that the Commission enter its order extending Order No. 688903 insofar as it established a 640-acre horizontal drilling and spacing unit for the Mississippian and Woodford common sources of supply underlying Section 35. Township 9 North, Range 4 West, McClain County, Oklahoma to cover and include Section 34, Township 9 North, Range 4 West, McClain County, Oklahoma and extend Order No. 687012 insofar as it established a 640-acre horizontal drilling and spacing unit for the Hunton common source of supply underlying Section 27, Township 9 North, Range 4 West, McClain County. Oklahoma to cover and include Section 34, Township 9 North, Range 4 West, McClain County, Oklahoma. The Mississippian and Hunton common sources of supply are conventional reservoirs and for a conventional reservoir the completion interval of a horizontal well in a horizontal well unit shall be located not less than 660 feet from the boundary of the 640-acre horizontal unit. The Woodford common source of supply is an unconventional reservoir and pursuant to OAC 165:10-29-2 the completion interval of a horizontal Woodford well drilled in a horizontal well unit with a north/ south lateral shall be located not less than 165 feet from any north/ south unit boundary and not less than 330 feet from any east/west unit boundary. A horizontal Woodford well drilled in a horizontal well unit with an east/west lateral shall be located not less than 165 feet from any east/west unit boundary and not less than 330 feet from any north/south unit boundary. Due to changes in technological development horizontal drilling is more economical and prevents waste and protects correlative rights. The horizontal well units may exist concurrently with any previously formed non-horizontal drilling and spacing unit, or any part thereof, and each such unit may be separately developed in that a well may be drilled into, completed in and produce hydrocarbons from the same common source of supply in each such concurrently existing unit with production from such well pursuant to the applicable unit. Therefore the following Orders are not being vacated.

Order No. 266211 insofar as it established a 320-acre standup drilling and spacing unit for the Hunton common source of supply underlying E/2 E/2 of Section 33 and W/2 W/2 of Section 34, Township 9 North, Range 4 West, McClain County, Oklahoma.

Order No. 294280 insofar as it established a 240-acre irregular drilling and spacing units for the Hunton (less Chimney Hill) and Chimney Hill common sources of supply underlying E/2 and E/2 W/2 Section 34, Township 9 North, Range 4 West, McClain County, Oklahoma.

There is no production from the Mississippian, Woodford and Hunton common sources of supply or a member thereof from any non-horizontal well in the unit.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT APPLICANT REQUESTS THE FOLLOWING SPECIAL RELIEF: That the relief requested herein made be made effective prior to the issuance of this Order.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that this cause be set before an Administrative Law Judge for hearing, taking of evidence and reporting to the Commission.

Schools must notify parents and eligible students annually of their rights under FERPA. The actual means of notification (special letter. inclusion in a PTA bulletin, student handbook, or newspaper article) is left to the discretion of each school.

This notice fulfills the annual notification that Purcell Public Schools intends to forward records upon request, without consent, to officials of another school district in which a student seeks or intends to enroll.

A parent has the right to file a written complaint with the Student Privacy Policy Office regarding an alleged violation of his or her rights under FERPA. The rights afforded to parents under FERPA transfer to a student when the student turns 18 years old or begins attending a postsecondary institution at any age. Once the rights afforded to parents transfer to a student, parents generally may not file a complaint alleging a violation of FERPA. Complaints may be made via submission of an electronic form to the U.S. Department of Education, Student Privacy Policy Office, 400 Maryland Avenue SW, Washington, DC 20202-8520. For further information regarding FERPA, within the Purcell Public School District, please contact Shelly McGowen, Director of Special Services, 919 1/2 N. 9th Street, Purcell, Oklahoma, 73080, (405) 442-0099 X109.

Audit:

Auditors pinpointed questionable expenditures like arcade games, Christmas trees, smart watches, sofas, televisions and refrigerators totaling $652,720.

The extraneous items made up more than 10 percent of all purchases. The $5.5 million is the total of purchases the auditors did not analyze and could contain unauthorized items.

The tally of noneducational items families purchased with program funds was higher than previously reported in a joint investigation The Frontier and Oklahoma Watch published in May.

Auditors also found Oklahoma failed to follow federal guidelines for four of Stitt's five educational relief programs, the report shows.

State officials gave the Florida-based company ClassWallet a no-bid contract to administer the Bridge the Gap Digital Wallet program and distribute grants to families.

The auditors also found poor record keeping for another relief program managed by ClassWallet called Stay in School. The the state said it would take steps to improve its monitoring of federal grants.

According to the audit, Oklahoma said that it was working in a "high-pressure environment" due to the effects of COVID and that it acted in good faith to "ensure funds associated with Bridge the Gap initiative were properly expended when it contracted with ClassWallet."

But the auditors say the state cannot just pass blame to Class-Wallet.

Oklahoma did not say it would return the funds or review for any other unallowable Bridge the Gap expenditures, auditors wrote

"As the recipient of the GEER grant funds, Oklahoma was responsible for ensuring that its grant funds were used properly," auditors said.

The Frontier and Oklahoma Watch reported in May the state had returned $2.9 million in unused educational relief funds to the U.S. Department of Education. The audit revealed the funds were returned to the program distributed tuition U.S. Department of Education grants for up to $6,500 to stu- and reallocated in May 2021 dents already attending private to the Oklahoma Department schools during the pandemic. of Education to be distributed Oklahoma could not provide to public schools for s summaries of purchases, but it wasn't until February 2021 – a month after the program ended that the former director of statewide operations for Oklahoma accessed the information, and they only did so once, the audit said.

The auditors found that "Oklahoma did not use all available controls in ClassWallet's digital wallet system" to monitor how grant money was spent.

Walters granted "blanket approval" to purchases made from pre-approved vendors on the ClassWallet platform, which included Office Depot and, for a short time, Home Depot. Walters was executive director of the nonprofit organization Every Kid Counts Oklahoma and not a state official when he approved the purchases.

Oklahoma's 'Stay In School' Program Also Lacked Proper Oversight

For the Stay in School program, auditors were unable to verify eligibility for eight of 10 randomly selected students.

Students who attended eligible private schools could receive tuition assistance through the program. But ClassWallet aged by the state Department subcontracted the eligibility of Education. Stitt used $8 milverification to a separate company that automatically deletes

I cannot imagine what she would have gone through had she had to leave her school, too," the parent wrote. She asked not to be named out of concern for her daughter's privacy.

> For Stay in School, Bridge the Gap Digital Wallet, and two other educational relief programs, called Learn Anywhere Oklahoma and Skills to Rebuild, the state couldn't show auditors evidence that relief money went to organizations "most significantly impacted by the coronavirus or deemed essential for carrying out emergency educational services," as required by the program.
