It's fall on the calendar

But summer weather continues

Fall is here. As the summer 2022 season saw temperatures very much above average, highs will continue to do the same here for a few days. Thursday starts off great, kicking off fall with highs only topping out in the mid-to-upper 80s. Friday, we quickly rebound back to the 90s with lots of sunshine. This weekend will be the tale of two seasons, with Saturday nearing 100° for some folks. Upper 90s are expected once again, and you'll forget fall has started. Thankfully, this won't last for long, as mid-day Sunday, a stronger cold front will roll through, keeping highs from climbing into the mid-to-upper 90s. This will bring a stout northerly wind, which will bring temperatures down to the mid-80s for the remainder of the week. Several mornings next week will have the fall feel to them, with highs in the 50s and a cool northerly breeze. Unfortunately, we're not looking at anything in the way of rain over the next seven days. Chances continue to remain extremely and abnormally low, but hopefully a fall pattern could encourage some rain chances as we near October.

Why most Oklahoma state legislative races are uncontested

Keaton Ross
Oklahoma Watch

Nearly 70 percent of Oklahoma’s state legislative elections will be decided without a single vote cast in November.
Those uncontested, no-voters-required races span the state — from Bartlesville to Edmond to west Lawton, where a former Oklahoma Sooners football player named Larry Bush lost the closest state House race in 2018.
That November, nearly 75 percent of House and Senate races statewide included candidates from at least two parties.
Four years later, 182 Republicans filed to run for legislative seats and only 58 Democrats. After three unsuccessful campaigns, Bush was not among them.

“Campaigning takes a toll on your livelihood and your family, every aspect of your life,” Bush said last month from his Lawton insurance office, surrounded by family photos and an OU helmet he wore as a defensive back for the Gary Gibbs and Howard Schnellenberger Sooners of the 1990s.
“You’re putting everything out there and a lot of people can’t do that.”
When Bush started his first campaign in 2016, House District 62 showed signs of transitioning from red to purple. Half of its population identifies as Black, Hispanic or mixed race. Democrat Joe Dorman’s 2014 gubernatorial bid came up nine votes shy there.
Bush lost but ran again two years later, this time facing a 23-year-old city employee and former OU student government association president named Daniel Pae. In public forums, Bush vowed to support teacher pay raises and criminal justice reform efforts. Pae took similar stances while proposing legislation to support veterans and small businesses.
Bolstered by donations from Republican leadership, including a $2,000 contribution from House Speaker Charles McCall, Pae approached election day with the fundraising edge. Bush relied mostly on personal contributions of less than $500.

Pae won by 42 votes.
Oklahoma voters will decide only 31 of 101 House races and seven of 24 Senate on November 8, a far cry from those 2018 midterms, when the statewide teacher walkout inspired more than 100 active and retired teachers, support staff and school board members to file for state legislative seats.

Though many of those contests were Republican landslides, a handful of GOP-leaning districts were won by margins of six percent or less, including:
• in Muskogee, where Republican Chris Sneed defeated Jack Reavis with 53 percent of votes in House District 14;
• in Sequoyah County, where Republican Jim Olsen defeated Tom Stites with 52.8 percent of votes in House District 2;
• and in western Oklahoma, where Republican Todd Russ defeated Dennis Dugger with 52.7 percent of votes in House District 55.
This year, none of those districts have a Democratic candidate.
Uncontested races spiked in 2020, when few Democrats beyond the Oklahoma City and Tulsa metros ran. Party leaders blamed the COVID-19 pandemic and predicted a 2022 rebound.

The opposite happened. Oklahoma now ranks among the nation’s least competitive states for legislative races.
Ballotpedia, a nonprofit digital encyclopedia that compiles election information, provided Oklahoma Watch with data from 39 of 44 states that have legislative races on the ballot this year. Only Alabama has a higher percentage of seats without major party competition.
Without competitive local races, voters are more likely to become disengaged or feel alienated, studies have found. The same can happen to lawmakers who aren’t making their case to voters. A 2011 Georgetown University study found state legislators who run unopposed are less effective and engaged with constituents.
Larry Bush said he fears some members of his community, many already skeptical that their vote matters, will continue to lose faith in the democratic process if the seat remains uncompetitive.
“Once people get used to not voting, it becomes a habit that affects not only this election but the next election cycle,” he said. “Having more candidates out there certainly helps the cause and helps our party, so it’s discouraging.”
Pae, who serves in the House government modernization and technology committees, did not respond to interview requests for this story.
Seeds of GOP Dominance
Oklahoma Watch interviewed political experts, local organizers and current and former legislative candidates to gauge why uncompetitive races are rising. Expanding Repub-

Negligent homicide
Teen driver posts $50K bond

Jeanne Grimes
The Purcell Register
A misdemeanor charge in McClain County District Court of negligent homicide accuses a driver in the death of a passenger when he rolled his pickup.
Owen R. Pospisil, 19, of Newcastle, is free after posting $50,000 bond.
According to an affidavit, the single vehicle wreck occurred December 17 on State Highway 59 near Interstate 35.
With Pospisil in the 2007 Dodge 2500 pickup were four passengers, including Lydia Bledsoe, 18.
The pickup was eastbound on SH 59 when it left the roadway to the right, rolled and came to rest on its top.
During the rollover, Bledsoe, who was the driver’s side passenger in the back, was ejected.

She died at the scene, according to the affidavit.
Accident investigators interviewed Pospisil at OU Medical Center. He admitted driving the pickup and said he was en route from Mid-America Technology Center to Newcastle High School.
A light rain was falling and the roadway was wet, according to the affidavit.
Pospisil told authorities he saw another pickup start to slide on leaving the MATC. When he tried to accelerate on leaving the lot, he lost control of his pickup.
Pospisil and three other passengers escaped serious injury.

America’s foreigner flood, spread the love around

By Dr. Glenn Mollette

Nearly five million foreign nationals have entered the United States since Biden became President. Some people call them undocumented immigrants, some call them unauthorized immigrants, many call them illegal immigrants.

If they were entering the country legally with proper documentation then we would call them documented immigrants or legal immigrants.

Wyoming has 581,075 people. Have you ever been to Yellowstone National Park? Vermont has a population of 623,251 people. The District of Columbia has a population of 714,143 people.

Alaska’s population is 724,357. North Dakota has 770,026. South Dakota’s population is 896,581. The population of Delaware is 990,334. (Stats from populationreview.com).

These seven states combined have a population of under 5.5 million people. To get a more accurate count I suppose we could drop off Wyoming and that would put us closer to the total number of foreign nationals who have illegally without documentation entered crossed our borders.

In other words, our country has grown the population of at least six of our smallest populated states in six years.

However, there are no worries because densely populated states won’t remain that forever. We cannot add four to five million illegal immigrants every two years without having serious population issues in our nation.

What would a half million of these new unauthorized immigrants do to the state of Wyoming? What about Vermont? Would Vermont like to have a generous helping of a few hundred thousand people begging for housing and food?

The population of Kentucky is about 4.5 million people which is somewhere very close to the number of illegal immigrants. Where can Kentucky add a half million people? There are no jobs in East, Kentucky but a lot of devastation from the recent flooding.

West Kentucky is still trying to rebuild from the worst tornadoes in history. What about Lexington or Woodford County? They still have a nice ten mile stretch of horse farms that could easily accommodate one-half million foreigners. Put these people to work giving bourbon tours.

Texas Governor Greg Abbott and Florida Governor Ron DeSantis have the right idea, share the love. Open borders should never mean that Texas and other border states get all the love and joy of these millions of people coming illegally into America.

Texas already has 30 million people. Florida has 22 million people. Plus, Texas and Florida get hot. Hot weather and crowds are not a good combination. Martha’s Vineyard has less than 20,000 people. The climate is cooler. The water is pretty and there is some good fishing in the area as well.

I can see where immigrants would be content in this part of America. Rehoboth in Delaware would also be a nice spot for the undocumented foreigners.

Rehoboth is where Joe Biden likes to stroll along the Boardwalk in this quaint costal Atlantic community of fine restaurants, shops and summer vacationers. The illegals could certainly transform this little community.

California has a population of 40 million people. New York has almost 20 million and Illinois has almost 13 million with Chicago exploding with its own problems. Do any of them really have the financial ability to care for another million people?

If we do not get control of our border and regulate the flood of people who are coming into this country illegally, soon we will not have a country.

to be held quarterly in each state. While the president and Democrats continue to blame Russia for all of America’s energy hardships, the Biden Administration has in fact leased fewer acres of federal land for oil and gas drilling than any administration since President Truman.

Moreover, House Democrats continue to block the American Energy Independence from Russia Act from coming to the House floor for a vote. If enacted, this legislation would allow the United States to lower prices at home and help our allies abroad by unleashing American energy production.

The war in Ukraine has illustrated why the United States has a vested interest in producing our own energy. With the European price cap likely to take effect and inevitably be met with Russian backlash, even U.S. Secretary Janet Yellen is warning that energy prices could spike again this winter, despite the price decreases we have seen the last few weeks.

Unfortunately, instead of working on commonsense all-of-the-above energy policies, Democrats are stifling American energy production and threatening global security for the sake of misbegotten green energy policies at the bequest of the radical left.

The time is now for the president to come to the center, as he promised he would during his campaign, and negotiate with Republicans for the betterment of the American people and our allies around the world.

was created to bring together state leaders from the business community, nonprofits, government, and other fields to help them better understand the current issues facing our state and how they can work together to address them and make our state better.

Instead of simply watching videos about the state’s needs and issues, participants travel to various communities to get a first-hand look and hands-on experience with military issues, sovereignty, tourism, criminal justice, state government, education, economic development, agriculture, and energy.

We just completed our first program weekend at Ft. Sill in Lawton to learn more about the U.S. Army. Our class received the new recruit experience, from being awoken at 4:30 a.m. by a drill sergeant and participating in the physical fitness testing, to eating an “MRE” (Meals Ready-to-Eat) and repelling down a 40-foot wall in their obstacle course.

I was sore Sunday and had a new appreciation for our service members. There is so much to share about this experience, but one of my top takeaways is how much of an investment the military is making into the mental health of our nation’s soldiers.

Fort Sill’s Two Star Commanding General Major General Ken Kamper spoke to our class about the shift from focusing on the mission to focusing on the people and the relationships of those serving.

He expressed how important it is to focus on people first, so that we’re providing a better life for service members and their families. I believe the emphasis on these relationships will partner well with the mental health facility the state legislature approved during session.

The facility will provide mental health access to Oklahoma first responders and military service members to better address their trauma and reduce the number of suicides and individuals with substance abuse addictions.

lican influence and success in attracting voters and candidates were the most commonly cited contributors.

A Republican will occupy 74 of the 87 state legislative seats already decided. Nearly 40 percent of them faced a challenger who in most cases campaigned on right-wing social issues and loyalty to Donald Trump, the former president who twice won all 77 Oklahoma counties.

Only one Democratic legislative seat was settled during the June primary.

As the GOP built a supermajority in both chambers, it has exercised great influence on state government processes, including the once-per-decade redrawing of congressional and state legislative boundaries.

Oklahoma Democratic Party Chairwoman Alicia Andrews said Republican lawmakers used last fall’s redistricting special session to protect incumbents and thwart competitive races. A.J. Ferate, the state GOP chairman, did not respond to interview requests for this story.

While Republican leaders stressed they did not consider party affiliation or race, some political observers and Democrats accused redistricting officials of partisan gerrymandering, particularly in redrawing the state’s five congressional maps. State House and Senate boundaries redistricting received far less attention.

Lawmakers drew a predominantly Black, Democratic-leaning neighborhood just north of the Lawton-Fort Sill Regional Airport from Pae’s House District 62 into District 64, which encompasses part of east Lawton and rural eastern Comanche County. In replacement, they added a block of high-income, Republican-leaning housing developments in the city’s northwest corner.

“I could talk someone into running for a seat, but the way they’ve drawn the seats makes it nearly impossible for a Democrat to even have the remotest of chances,” Andrews said, noting that a handful of Democratic incumbents in Oklahoma City and Tulsa did not draw Republican challengers.

Data from Dave’s Redistricting App shows Republicans gained a slight advantage from the updated maps. The GOP has also benefited from increases in voter registration, adding nearly 120,000 voters from November 2018 to January 2022 while the Democratic party lost about 85,000.

Those GOP voters are increasingly deciding who ends up at the Capitol in the primary, where there were 17 more Republican legislative races than will be on general election ballots in November.

Michael Crespin, director of the Carl Albert Congressional Research and Studies Center, said the new maps have likely boosted some incumbents and discouraged challengers from running.

The state might also be reverting to a period of reduced voter turnout and political interest, Crespin said. Fewer than 50 state legislative races were contested in 2012 and 2014.

Just 40.7 percent of registered voters cast ballots in the 2014 midterm election, the lowest recorded rate since 1962.

“My guess is 2018 was a real high point for people running for office, and now a lot of that enthusiasm has waned we’re going back to normal,” Crespin said.

The Commitment of Running

For a $500 fee, any registered voter over 21 can file to run in their House district. The minimum age is 25 for the state Senate. Being competitive in November, candidates say, requires considerably more money, time and effort. Jennifer Esau, a special education teacher from Claremore, ran unsuccessfully for Senate District 2 as a Democrat in 2018. She’s running again, vowing to push for increased public education funding and better healthcare access.

Teachers haven’t lost their sense of political engagement, Esau said, but many have been worn down during the COVID-19 pandemic.

“It’s a big commitment to run for office, working all day just like anyone and then coming home and making the fundraising calls or knocking on doors,” she said.

Crespin said self-employed lawyers and those with more flexible careers are more likely to consider a run for state office and find time to campaign. An Oklahoma Watch review found

Join library staff for an evening with Pulitzer Prize finalist and PEN/Faulkner Award winner Hernan Diaz, author of In the Distance and Trust.

Diaz holds a Ph.D. from NYU and edits, the Spanish-language journal Revista Hispanica Moderna, at Columbia University.

Diaz's new book, Trust, is set during the roar of the 1920s around the Wall Street tycoon Benjamin Rask and his wife, Helen. Together, they have risen to the top of the world of seemingly endless wealth—all as a decade of excess and speculation draws to an end. But at what cost have they acquired their immense fortune? This is the mystery at the center of Bonds, a successful 1937 novel that all of New York seems to have read. Yet there are other versions of this tale of privilege and deceit.

Hernan Diaz's Trust elegantly puts these competing narratives into conversation with one another—and in tension with the perspective of one woman bent on disentangling fact from fiction.

The result is a novel that spans over a century and becomes more exhilarating with each new revelation.

The journey of a food recall

Kirsten Hollansworth
Extension Educator

Before a food product reaches a shelf or freezer section of a grocery store, the manufacturing process transforms raw ingredients into consistent products for consumption.

But what if the gourmet ice cream created from a blend of dairy products such as cream and condensed milk resulted in a food recall?

If there is reason to believe a product may cause consumers to become ill, a food producer will take the product off the market by issuing a recall with a company announcement. It is important for consumers to be aware of recalls because recalled foods may cause injury or illness, especially for people with weakened immune systems.

“The recall topic is very complex and there are many types of recalls initiated by different agencies,” said Ravi Jadeja, food safety specialist at the Robert M. Kerr Food and Agricultural Products Center.

What is the difference between a product recall and a product withdrawal?

A product recall is a removal or correction of a marketed product that the U.S. Food and Drug Administration considers to be in violation of the laws it administers and against which the agency would initiate legal action (seizure) if the company did not recall the product.

However, a product withdrawal is a removal or correction, which involves a minor non-food safety issue that would not be subject to legal action by the FDA, or which involves no violation. Examples include a normal stock rotation or product quality defects.

What are the FDA classes of recall?

The FDA has three very different and distinct classes of recall: Class I, II and III. In almost every case, the FDA will determine the classification of the recall.

A Class I Recall is for an emergency involving the removal from the market of product in which the consequences, immediate or long range, are life threatening and involve a direct cause-effect relationship. This calls for a full-scale public warning; either by the FDA or by the XYZ Company and 100 percent of the product is recovered from the market.

The warning details the nature of the problem; identification by product name, brand name and lot number; name of manufacturer and specific actions to be taken by the consumers such as how to destroy the product or where to take the product.

A Class II Recall is one in which the consequences may be immediate or long-range, with possible or potential life threatening or hazardous health consequences. The FDA refers to temporary or medically reversible health consequences and would ask the product to be checked and recover less than 100 percent of the product. The FDA may issue a press release.

A class III Recall is routine in nature where consequences to life are remote or non-existent. The FDA need not be advised and if advised, rarely releases a press release.

If a recall is requested by the FDA, the following information will be required:

- Identity of the product involved;
- Reason for the removal or condition and the date and circumstances under which the product deficiency or possible deficiency was discovered;
- Evaluation of the risk associated with the deficiency or possible deficiency;
- Total amount of such products produced and/or the time span of the production;
- Total amount of such product estimated to be in the distribution channels;
- Distribution information, including the number of direct accounts and where necessary, the identity of the direct accounts;

The discovery of bacteria, such as Salmonella, could result in a food recall. Another potential cause is the discovery of a major allergen which is not declared on the product label. Food recalls may happen because of the discovery of foreign objects in a product, such as metal or broken glass.

"Consumers can stay informed with recalls and public health alerts with the USDA Food Safety and Inspection Service," said Jadeja. "Also, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention updates food safety alerts and posts investigation notices for recent outbreaks."

During a recall, all affected product is removed from store shelves, but what about the products already sold? A recalled food product with a germ contamination can contaminate kitchen surfaces, including the drawers and shelves in a refrigerator.

It's important to throw out the food and clean the kitchen by sanitizing kitchen surfaces and cookware. In some cases, companies will offer a full refund for a contaminated product.

"FAPC offers various food safety trainings and one-on-one technical assistance to food companies to prepare their food safety and recall programs," Jadeja said.

Camilla Raye Whitely

Graveside services for Camilla Raye Whitely, 91, were held Tuesday, September 20, 2022 at the Washington Cemetery under the direction of the Wilson-Little Funeral Home in Purcell.

Mrs. Whitely was born in Criner, Okla., to WS Smith and Mila Kerbo Smith on September 14, 1931. She attended school in Criner, Oklahoma, until eighth grade and then on to finish high school in Dibble, Okla. By age 10 she would accompany her father playing piano for singing conventions and funerals when she was needed.

Her parents fostered her natural musical talent by working and saving their hard to come by money in order to pay for her and her sister's music lessons by sending them to the Stamps Quartet Music Company in Dallas, Texas. Raye never enjoyed reading music but naturally had a gift for playing by ear. As a young teen she was introduced to Earl and Lillie Fern Weatherford who were impressed by her talent. At age 16 she began touring with their group, The Weatherfords, that summer and in 1948 that job became full time. Raye soon married the group's lead singer, Les Roberson.

Raye traveled and lived in several states touring with the group during the height of the southern gospel music scene playing weekly for a time on WOWO Radio in Ft. Wayne, Indiana. Some of Raye's fondest memories were living and working with The Weatherfords as they lived in Los Angeles, and seeing Elvis backstage at an all-night singing in Tennessee.

She also recalled seeing so much racial injustice while touring the deep south states at the time and the deep impressions it made on her that she could not sit with many people of color in restaurants she had earlier shared a stage with. Later in life she loved seeing old friends and colleagues on the "Gospel Singing Jubilee" or on the "Gaither Homecoming" series and would reminisce about the time they had shared together.

Raye and Les had three children before she returned to Norman, Okla., and along with the help of her family, she began attending beauty school as a now single mother. Raye or "Robie" as she was known had a natural talent for hair styling, and hair color as well.

She later met and married Raymond Whitely and the two settled in Washington, Oklahoma, where they were able to find a home with a small hair salon attached. "The Hairport" was a popular weekly destination and gathering place for many of Raye's clients in McClain County.

Raye and Raymond soon had a son and Raye was pleased to be able to work at home while raising her children each day. The words "Wash Your Hands!" were always heard when her kids would come through the door after school. When hair lengths changed in the 70s many of the young men in Washington would come to her shop because she would cut their hair like they wanted which was not too short. Many people would remark that no one could do a shampoo and set like Raye.

Later she and Raymond sold their house and moved to New Bern, NC. and she started doing hair in the New Bern area and was happy to be doing what she loved but not running the show. They later moved back to Purcell, Okla., and then on to Betsy Lane, Ky., so that Raymond could care for his mother. Later they would move to Hemet, Calif., allowing them to be closer to their son, Randy.

After Raymond's death Raye remained in their home and late in her life started playing the piano again for the Valle Vista Baptist Church in Valle Vista, Calif. She enjoyed working on her own arrangements of gospel favorites often surprising her church family with her skill and talent. Raye spoke often with her children and siblings who were back in Oklahoma and would enjoy many long visits with her son in Los Angeles and then in Palm Springs, Calif. Having lived in Los Angeles in the 50s she was surprised and pleased how many things were still there that she remembered and always loved going out for an evening meal at the places she loved the most.

She never missed the "Young And The Restless" and watched QVC almost religiously to keep up with the latest beauty and fashion trends until her health declined this summer. Raye proudly danced to her own drum and we all know she wouldn't have had it any other way. She will always be remembered for her laugh and her smile which she shared daily with her friends and loved ones.

Raye is preceded in death by her parents, WS and Mila Smith; her husband, Raymond Whitely and son, Bill Roberson.

Raye is survived by her children, Terry Roberson and wife, Kathleen, of Norman, Okla.; her daughter, Kelly Roberson of rural McClain County; her son, Randall Whitely of Palm Springs, Calif.; her sisters, Faye Mitchell and Bill of Lindsay, Okla., and Kaye Hickson and Ken of Hall Park, Okla.; her brother, Royce Smith and wife, Pat, of Choctaw, Okla.; seven nieces and nephews; her grandchildren, Jarrod, Jon, Matt, Leslie, Sarah and Eric and five great-grandchildren.

Watch:

more than two-thirds of sitting state senators are attorneys, business owners, ranchers or retired.

“It’s a hard job being a state representative,” Crespin said. “It doesn’t pay that great, and it’s also weird because it’s a full-time job that’s technically part-time, so a lot of people can’t do it.”

Bush said the pressures of campaigning weighed heavily on his business and family life. He said candidates without job flexibility or savings would likely have an even more difficult time running a campaign.

“Democrats, we just don’t have a lot of money, and we don’t raise a lot of money,” he said.

Vulnerable to Negative Ads

Locked in a tight race for the eastern Oklahoma House seat vacated by John Bennett, Democrat Tom Stites made an unusual request of his Republican opponent Jim Olsen.

“In the spirit of fun and sportsmanship, I invite you to grab your gun and meet me somewhere to shoot targets,” Stites, who describes himself as pro-gun and anti-abortion, said in an August 2018 video posted to his campaign Facebook page. “We can find who is the most skilled and experienced with these awesome firearms.”

Olsen declined the highly-publicized challenge and Stites’ opposition funded ads connecting him to high-profile Democrats unpopular in eastern Oklahoma.

On Sept. 17, 2018, Olsen’s campaign spent $660 on a billboard advertisement, campaign finance records show. On Oct. 16, one day after a dark money group donated $2,500, Olsen spent $8,000 on mail advertisements.

“They put me and Hillary Clinton and Nancy Pelosi on a big billboard in one of the main areas of the county, even though I never supported them,” he said. “It’s just such a caustic environment.

I don’t want to say it’s embittered me, but in some ways but it has.”

Olsen, who won with 53 percent of votes, since has gone unopposed through two election cycles. The 62-year Roland legislator recently sponsored two so-called election security bills and a measure to retroactively legalize conversion therapy on LGBTQ individuals.

Through the late-2010s, moderate-to-conservative Democrats from places like Idabel and McAlester ran successful state House campaigns. As the Republican Party made voter registration gains in rural areas, the state’s Democratic caucus concentrated in Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Norman and Stillwater.

“It’s a tough thing to do in eastern Oklahoma right now, running as a Democrat,” Stites said. “It’s much easier to jump on the Republican bandwagon.”

Carter Johnson, outreach director for the United Rural Democrats of Oklahoma, said a lack of funding and external support makes it difficult for rural Democrats to differentiate themselves from the national party. Candidates who don’t have prior political experience or high name recognition are particularly vulnerable, he said.

“When you’re in a rural area with state House campaigns running off of $20,000 maximum, you aren’t able to fend off those mailers or television ads,” Johnson said.

A More Competitive Future?

Johnson said rural Democrats can regain momentum by targeting areas that supported ballot initiatives to implement criminal justice reform, legalize medical marijuana and expand healthcare access.

Though urban voters were most likely to support State Question 802 in 2020, voters in rural Caddo, Pontotoc and Cherokee counties supported the Medicaid expansion question.

“We need to find the people who voted for Medicaid expansion and voted for Trump,” Johnson said. “Those are people we can talk to and say we want to lower your prescription drug costs and fix your roads. If they’re with us on the issues, but they’re not with us at the end of the day because we’re not reaching them, that’s the problem we need to fix.”

Andrews said expansion is possible in some rural and suburban areas.

“Voters in Oklahoma largely vote down party lines, but if we can break it down and explain to people what they’re actually voting for, we can change the electorate here,” she said.

Bush, the insurance agent and former OU football player, said the party needs to focus on local organizing and outreach to attract new candidates.

Dragons rack up yards, points

In 51-6 rout of Lexington

John D. Montgomery
The Purcell Register

Purcell racked up 341 yards rushing and 302 passing in a 51-6 victory at Lexington last Friday night. Sophomore Boston Knowles lit up the Bulldogs for 202 yards on the ground finding the end zone on runs of eight and 17 yards in the opening quarter. He scored on a 26 yard scamper in the third quarter when Purcell pulled away with another 23 points to add to their 21-7 halftime margin.

Later in the third stanza, Knowles scored his fourth touchdown of the night snag-one interception. His longest touchdown pass completion was 66 yards to fellow senior Jose Ochoa. Sophomore Kash Guthmueller broke free for a 77 yard touchdown jaunt in the fourth period to close out the Purcell scoring. Monday night was round two of the Battle for the Bridge in Purcell. The Lady 'Dawgs got a late 3-run homer from Cora Vasquez to win the game, 8-6. Lexington was up 4-0 in the top of the fourth when Purcell pushed two runs across and got on the board. They scored three more in the bottom of the fifth to go ahead. And they added another in the bottom of the sixth. Down 6-4, Lexington had to have runs in the seventh and they delivered with Vasquez's long ball. Lexington had nine hits in the game, led by Brodie Anderson's two. Izzy Pack was in the circle. She fanned three batters. Last week, Lexington added wins over Little Axe, 6-4, and

The Washington Warriors clinched a home draw for the Regional softball tournament after they defeated North Rock Creek 6-4 last week. For Washington, the defending State champs, everything is coming together late in the season. "Things are trying to finally click for us," head coach Tylor Lampkin said. "We had five batters hitting .400 or better last week and eight hitting over .300. The biggest thing is our strikeouts have gone way down. We're putting the ball in play and forcing the issue."

North Rock Creek Sophomore Olivia Palumbo got the start in the circle against the talented Cougars of North Rock Creek. "It was good for Olivia and our program to put her out there," Lampkin said. "She made it to the fourth inning and they started to catch up to her during their third time through the lineup." Palumbo struck out one batter and gave up two hits and two walks. She was not credited with any earned runs. Maggie Place came on in relief and struck out three batters. Washington scored two runs in the first inning and another in the third. Rock Creek evened the score in the fourth when they scored three. The Warriors put up two runs in the fifth

Purcell had a very busy week on the softball diamond playing eight varsity games and three junior varsity games with the varsity going 3-5. "Playing 11 games in five days is a lot," head coach Sarah Jones said. "Then we turned around and played Lexington in a big district game on Monday. The Bulldogs prevailed in that key contest 8-6. Lexington scored four runs in the top of the seventh and then held the Dragons scoreless in the bottom half of the frame. Freshman Lili Del Toro was the big stick for Purcell going 3-4 with a pair of RBIs. "That game could be the a determining factor in where we end up in regionals," Jones said. "We spoke before the Lex game that no matter where we go for regionals we will have to beat someone twice." Depending on outcomes of Tuesday's games the Dragons will know their destination for regionals. Jones said it could be Washington or Lindsay. It all depended on the Little Axe vs. Lex outcome and Candler vs. Bethel Tuesday. In the Dale Festival the Dragons went 0-2 losing to

Games opens up district portion of schedule

John D. Montgomery
The Purcell Register

With everyone at 0-0 in district play, Lexington will kick off league play and the second season at home Friday night when they host Tishomingo at 7:30 at Floyd West Field.

The Indians are coached by former Purcell Dragon Head Coach Scott O’Hara and stand 2-1 on the season.

They have wins over Wynnewood and Elmore City-Pernell with their lone blemish a 60-30 loss at the hands of Wynnewood.

Lexington Head Coach Keith Bolles said his club has been getting back to basics in preparation for the district portion of their schedule.

“We are relatively healthy and ready for district play,”

Lexington vs. Tishomingo
Floyd West Field

Bolles said.

Tishomingo will operate out of a spread on offense.

“But sometimes they will bring everyone in and get in double tights,” Bolles said. “They will try to pound you for a while and then jump back in the spread.”

Defensively the Indians employ a 4-3.

“They have three linebackers who play really well and they have good size up front,” Bolles reports.

“For us to do what we need to do is to play four quarters not just one or two,” the coach said.

In last week’s 51-6 loss to Purcell Bolles said his team had some spurts .

“There were times where the defense would come up big in the first half. Then we had some off plays. We’d have one or two good plays and then go into a daze and don’t play for a play.

Patience

Wayne freshman Karsen Adams watches a pitch during the Bulldogs’ 1-0 over No. 17 ranked Roff (Class B). Adams was credited by her coach for a disciplined at-bat in the game to get on base, and later score the lone run. Wayne opens the playoffs today (Thursday) at Vanoss.

Districts at Vanoss today

Wayne vs. Velma-Alma at 12 p.m.

Emily Montgomery
The Purcell Register

Today Wayne is in Vanoss for District play. Games start at noon when the Lady Bulldogs play Velma. They play again at 4 p.m. against host Vanoss.

The District winner will move on in the postseason.

Monday night Wayne won a defensive battle with Roff, 1-0 (Class B #17). Despite being outthit by the Lady Tigers, 7-2, the Lady Bulldogs got another win.

“That was a great defensive game. I’m proud of the girls for their defense. In the past that is what has hurt us, but they didn’t panic when things got tough,” head coach Nikki Herrin said.

The Lady Bulldogs pushed one run across the plate in the first inning thanks to a walk by Karsen Adams and a single by Faith Brazell.

“Karsen got a walk and I’m proud of her for being disciplined at the plate. If she hadn’t walked, we could not have gotten the run.”

In past games the Lady Bulldogs have had an inning where things seem to fall apart defensively, but, according to the coach, that didn’t happen in this game.

“They had the bases loaded with no outs and the girls held their composure and did not let things get out of control. We got out of that inning and ended up winning the game.”

Brazell was on the rubber for Wayne the whole game. She threw a complete game shut out, striking out seven.

“A goal for us has been to use all of our pitches in a game and Faith did that against Roff. She threw a great game.”

Last week Wayne added three more wins with a 5-1 victory in Rush Springs on Tuesday, a 4-3 win against Fletcher in a make-up game on Thursday and an 11-2 run rule over Springer on Friday.

The game with Springer went five innings and the Lady Bulldogs had eight hits, led by Addison Keeler’s two.

“We didn’t play our best, but it was enough to pull out the win,” Herrin said.

Thursday’s game with Fletcher was another game that Herrin was proud of her team.

They had the lead through the entire game, but allowed Fletcher to score two late runs .

Brazell was in the circle for the win, fanning 12 batters. And Keeler led the team at the plate, going 2-3 with an RBI.

Last Tuesday’s win over Rush Springs was a good conference win, according to Herrin.

“Rush Springs is a good team and it was a good conference win.

“Faith threw a good game and again used all of her pitches. Her change up was most effective at keeping them off balance.”

Wayne had 10 hits and Jordynn Debaets and Brazell led the team with two apiece.

Tuesday night Wayne was in Ninnekah for their final regular season game.

“The girls are playing well right now and we’ve talked about how they are more than capable of winning.

“I’m proud of the progress they’ve made and we are ending the season on a roll,” Herrin said.

With the win against Roff on Monday, Wayne’s record moved to 12-8.

can of formations and toss them out all over the field.

“They run anything from a diamond formation to a pro I all the way to empty,” Beller said. “All of those formations use the same personnel which makes it hard to get aligned. They try to spread you out.”

The Bomber quarterback is a four-year starter who has a big arm, Beller reports.

Frederick’s top receiver is 6’5” and 220 pounds and is very talented.

“They try to move him around. Overall, he’s a real solid receiver,” the coach said.

Key to a Warrior victory will be getting lined up properly.

“When we are on defense we need to make sure to get aligned correctly and then run to the football once we recognize the play. We need to get them on the ground before their athletes get rolling,” Beller said.

“It’s also very crucial to win the line of scrimmage,” he confirmed. “Our front five offensive linemen have to control their four defensive linemen.

Washington made the most out of its week off by healing some of its most banged up.

“We got most of the guys back this week but still have two or three who will be out for a few weeks,” Beller said.

“We are starting to heal up and get guys back to practicing this week,” he confirmed.

Wayne eyes District games

Start off with Elmore City on Friday

John Denny Montgomery
The Purcell Register

Wayne begins the District part of their schedule Friday at Elmore City with a 7 p.m. showdown with the rival Badgers.

The two schools have been evenly matched in recent years and the rivalry has developed into a testy relationship between the pair.

“They have had this game circled and we know and understand that,” Wayne head coach Brandon Sharp said.

“They want to beat Wayne and we’ll have to play really well to win.”

The Badgers are 0-3 to start the season, with losses to the OKC Patriots, Allen and Tishomingo.

“They are a lot better than their record shows,” Sharp said.

Wayne at Elmore City
Wheeler Field • 7 p.m. kick off

“We’re going to have to come out and play our best game with the guys we have out. Other kids will have to step up.”

Elmore City lines up in a 4-3 on defense but will walk up players to the line of scrimmage to show a five-man front.

“They’re physical and fast and we understand it will be a tough game,” Sharp said. “We’ll have to be disciplined and not have bad penalties.”

Of - fensive-

ly, the Badgers will use multiple formations but the bottom line is they want to run the football.

“They have a talented quarterback and good backs,” Sharp said. “We understand it will be a tough game.”

Crooked Oak

Wayne was defeated 14-7 last Friday by the Ruf-Nex.

The Bulldog offense failed to get much going with the ball and were hampered by untimely penalties and missed opportunities.

“We had our chances,” Sharp said. “We had the ball inside the 10 yard line twice and didn’t score. Holding penalties killed drives.”

Kaleb Madden scored Wayne’s only touchdown, an 80-yard punt return in the second quarter.

Adolfo Vasquez put the cap on it with the extra point.

The Wayne defense did their part, only allowing 156 yards rushing on 38 carries.

Vasquez had 11 tackles to lead the team.

The Wayne D had several takeaways to keep Crooked Oak in check.

Eli Hobson had nine tackles and a fumble recovery.

Lane Jones caused a fumble and recovered a fumble.

Jaxon Dill had an interception.

Wayne is 1-2 this season.

Dragons:

“The offensive line played well,” head coach Tracy Scott confirmed.

He was talking about the play of Tavian Engert, Rowan Ardery, Carter Goldston, Jace Clary and Brendan Bacon.

Turnovers and penalties marred what was a dominating performance.

Purcell lost three fumbles and threw an interception and dropped a punt.

“Once he settled down Galyean did a good job,” Scott said. “The running backs ran well and the receivers caught the ball well.”

Five different receivers caught balls, including four out of the offensive backfield. Knowles and Lincoln Eubank led the receiving corps with three catches each while Ochoa, Tyler and Paysen Purcell stabbed two each.

Junior Ryker Fink led the stingy Purcell defense with 14 tackles and had a safety. As a team, Purcell held Lexington to 156 total yards, 59 on the ground.

Guthmueller finished with nine tackles while Payson Purcell and Adam Edelman each made eight stops.

“The defense played well,” Scott said. They got after ‘em and ran to the ball well. There are still some things to work on and get better.

“Week to week we’re getting better defensively. We’re in district play now and we still have got to clean up turnovers a double and an RBI.

The senior class continues to be a dominate force for the Warriors this season. Lampkin said he’ll lean on them as the Warriors begin the playoff stretch.

“That group of seven has been here three years already and now into the fourth,” he said. “You rely a lot on your senior leadership and that’s been pretty big for us. I don’t think the moment ever gets too big for that group. Even when Rock Creek tied the game in the fourth inning they never panicked.”

Prague

Washington picked up two wins against Prague last week, 1-0 and 8-1, for a grand total of two runs allowed.

Lampkin said his defense has been playing at a high level and is making it difficult for other teams to score.

“Prague is a State caliber team,” he said. “We played really good defense against them.”

Place started the first game and Loveless started the second, with Palumbo coming on in relief.

Elly Allison was 2-4 with a homer and a double in the second game.

Loveless tripled and Tinley Lucas, Emjay Lucas and Wood all doubled.

As a team, the Warriors had 16 hits.

Washington scored two runs in the first and third innings and four in the sixth for a comfortable win.

In the first game Place led the way with eight strikeouts while the Warrior offense was limited to two hits.

Now begins the road to the State tournament for the Warriors, who are 29-2 this season.

“We’re getting ready for the playoffs,” Lampkin said. “It’s the fun time of the year.”

Ryker Fink got the nod as the defensive Player of the Week for his 14 tackle performance in the victory over Lexington. “He played really well,” Scott said.

The Offensive Player of the Week nominee is Brody Galyean, who was 12-16 passing for 302 yards and three touchdowns. He also rushed the pigskin eight times for 45 yards.

The Offensive Lineman of the Week nomination went to Jace Clary, who graded out at 97 percent against Lexington.

To finish out their week, Lexington hosted Little Axe on Tuesday and Western Heights today (Thursday).

Regionals begin September 29 and assignments were not out as of presstime.

Playoffs:

Southmoore, 8-2 and to Silo, 4-2.

“Those games last Friday got the best of us because we were so tired,” Jones said.

Hadleigh Harp’s 2-2 outing at the plate led the offense.

Jones said pitcher Ella Resendiz was in a great deal of pain. Del Toro came in and finished the game allowing only one hit.

In the Silo game Jones said despite their fatigue the Dragons played with a lot more energy.

“After we had a break we had a lot more energy. We had much better at bats. Hannah (Whitaker) and Lili (Del Toro) spent time in the circle and did a good job. But our defense was struggling. I was proud of the girls for keeping up the energy when I knew they were tired.”

In that game the Purcell bats were quiet with Whitaker and Carli Thomas getting the only two hits.

In a 4-1 loss to Tuttle last Thursday the Dragons hit the ball hard but once again stranded too many base runners.

“We left eight runners on base,” Jones said. “We just needed a couple of those hits to fall and it’s a different game. Tuttle had a good pitcher we needed to see. Ella had a good game in the circle striking out seven and allowing one earned run.

Purcell traveled to Little Axe September 13 and posted a 3-2 victory over the Indians. The Dragons out-hit Little Axe 8-4 but committed four errors that kept them in the game.

Whitaker was 3-4 and Harp went 2-2. Lauren Holmes had a 2-4 outing and Resendiz also had a hit.

Whitaker started in the circle fanning six. Resendiz came in an finished the game with five strikeouts.

“For some reason playing at Little Axe makes things a little harder for us. When we play them at home it is a completely different tempo. Playing there we aren’t ourselves but we got the W.”

The following day were two district makeup games with Crooked Oak. Purcell shutout the Lady Ruf-Nex 13-0 and 12-0.

“It was a good day because a lot of girls got a lot of playing time,” Jones said.

Anika Raper went 2-2 at the plate and had an RBI. Savanna Edwards, Harp, Helton, Carli Thomas, Payci Constant and Kenna Esparza all had hits.

Jones said Edwards, Helton and Del Toro combined to strike out 14 in the circle.

Purcell is scheduled to play at Blanchard today (Thursday) and then begin the playoffs Saturday. They have one more regular season game at Lone Grove next Monday.

Regionals begin on the 29th.

In 2023 all veterans and surviving spouses who receive the Oklahoma Sales Tax Exemption Card will be required to fill out the new Registry.

To fill it out digitally either go to <https://registry.odva.ok.govregistration> or login to the ODVA website, click on benefits. The address is listed at the bottom of the first paragraph.

After completing the registry call the ODVA at 918-781-9253 to request the new tax letter and auto tag card. Veterans and Surviving Spouses who need assistance registering, please stop by our office in Norman Monday thru Friday from 9 a.m. until noon.

From what I have heard, the reason for the new Sales Tax Exemption is there are many more people using the cards than the number that were issued. We are more than happy to assist you with getting registered.

From the continual TV ads from lawyers, I bet everyone who served 30 days or more at Camp Lejeune and Marine Air Station New River are aware of the contaminated water that both marines and their families were exposed to while serving at either of those bases.

We would like to help file claims for any veteran or family member who has been diagnosed with any of the presumptive diseases that are listed. The dates for exposure are from Aug. 1, 1953, through Dec. 31, 1987. There are two different lists of presumptive conditions one is for veterans who served there with the other presumptive list of conditions for dependents who lived there.

As always there is no charge for our services, we are a 501-3C Non-Profit volunteer organization.

We are encouraging all the people we are working with to consider becoming a volunteer with our Veterans Foundation. We do not require that our volunteers are veterans to be accepted. I know that there are many in country who would like to join our team of volunteers. With our computer systems volunteers can receive training no matter where they live. Our system makes it quite easy to help from home no matter the location.

As always, we need more volunteers to assist us in improving the lives of our veterans and their families. We have hundreds of thousands of veterans and surviving spouses in our state who need our help to receive the VA benefits that they are eligible for.

Would you consider being a part of our Veterans Foundation? Volunteer Applications are available on our website or stop in Monday thru Friday from 9 a.m. until 12 p.m. at 1233 West Lindsay Street in Norman.

For those who may have questions about VA benefits I’m available at the Foundation each Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday morning from 8 a.m. until 12 noon.

We are a 501c-3 non-profit organization and there is never a charge for the services we provide to veterans and their families. We do accept financial contributions to be used to support veterans and this organization.

We also accept donations of wheelchairs and other types of handicap equipment that can be given to other veterans or their families. Other items that we accept are cars, trucks, motorcycles, or items that can be given to veterans or sold to raise funds.

We are open to active clients Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to noon each day.

Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church

By Stella Bledsoe

September 25, 2022 is the twenty-sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time. During Ordinary Time, the Gospel focuses on the teachings and miracles of Christ during his time on earth.

The Gospel reading is Luke 16:19-31. Jesus again uses a parable to teach. In this parable, a rich man dies and is in Hell. In life, he had everything. He looks up into Heaven and sees Abraham. Abraham is with Lazarus, a poor man in life who was hungry and longed to eat the scraps that fell from the rich man's table. (Remember, this is a parable, and this is not the same Lazarus that Jesus raised from the dead.)

Abraham addresses the rich man telling him there is a gulf between Heaven and Hell so that all are prevented from crossing from one side to the other. The rich man asks Abraham to send someone to warn his brothers so they will not end up in Hell also. Abraham tells the rich man that the words of Moses and the prophets are available to the brothers, and they should listen to them.

The rich man persists asking Abraham to send someone from the dead to convince his brothers. Abraham says in Verse 31, "If they will not listen either to Moses or to the prophets, they will not be convinced even if someone should rise from the dead."

Recall that a parable is a usually short fictitious story that illustrates a moral attitude or a religious principle. This parable has three areas of concern. First is blindness. Lazarus was in the rich man's presence, but the rich man did not "see" him. The first time he really saw Lazarus was after death.

The second area of concern is isolation. Sometimes we are so concerned with our possessions that we wall ourselves off from others. The rich man had many possessions, but he isolated himself in his wealth.

The final concern is faithlessness. "The one true need that we have in life is the need for purpose, for meaning for our existence. Purpose and meaning can only be found in God. But to possess God means that we must look beyond all that is mundane. Sometimes we fight this call to love. It is too demanding for us. So, what do we do? We hide behind our stuff. We want to find meaning in the amount we have accumulated. We let our material possessions define us. We condemn ourselves to a life of futility. We condemn ourselves to our own hells." This material used with permission of its author, Rev. Msgr. Joseph

A. Pellegrino, Diocese of St. Petersburg, FL.

Fr. Tommy Lane said this: "What is the parable saying to us? Surely it is asking us to reflect once again on our consumption to see whether it is moderate or gone out of control. Surely it is asking us to reflect on whether we are sufficiently sensitive to the needs of those around us who are suffering in any way.

"What is being critiqued in the Scriptures today is when we ignore what is happening around us. Indifference to those who are in need and who are suffering is what the Scriptures put before us today as sinful. What we do to others we do to God. What we do to others we do to Jesus."

We celebrate the love of Jesus at Our Lady of Victory parish all year long. Our Lady of Victory parish is located at 307 West Jefferson. The office has relocated to 501 N. 4th in Purcell and is open weekday mornings. You can call the office at 405-527-3077. Weekend mass services are Saturday, 5 p.m.; Sunday, 11 a.m.; and Sunday, 1 p.m. (Spanish). Daily masses are Tuesday, 9 a.m.; Wednesday, 12 noon; Thursday, 7 p.m. (Spanish), and Friday, 9 a.m.

Peace be with you.

Sunray Baptist Church

Pam Kyzer sang "You Can't Say He Didn't Love Us" for our morning special.

Brother John Wiley preached from Psalm 85 and explained "The Ingredients for Revival." God is angry with sin and is holy, mighty and eternal. In these scriptures, the Psalmist wants God to revive his nation.

To have revival, we must have a recognition of need and turn to God for our remedy. Our only hope is for God to revive us. Restoration and revival can only be accomplished through God.

Revival is a sovereign move from God. He initiates it. We must hear the Word and respond, act and move. The Word of God can change lives. Every week God has something to say to us. We have a need for it and repentance will receive mercy and peace.

This coming Sunday we will have a meeting following morning worship to present the findings and recommendation of the pastoral search committee. All church members are urged to attend.

Brother John Wiley will be bringing the morning message.

We will be observing Pastor Appreciation Day on October 9. Our annual Ladies Casserole Cookoff lunch will be after morning worship.

Please join us for Sunday School and worship at Sunray Baptist Church. We are located at 2223 North 9th Street in Purcell. For additional information call 527-6808.

Green Avenue Church of Christ

This past Wednesday we began a new series of Bible study on what it means to be a Christian. Steve Adams will be presenting this interesting series of Bible studies over the next few weeks. We welcome you to join us in this study.

We began another element of our general study of the issues of life and death as we introduced the subjects of war and defense on Sunday morning. It was noted that there seem to always be questions as to whether a Christian may serve in the military or if they may act in defense of self, family or nation.

On Sunday morning, Keith Shackelford began with a reading of Hebrews 6:9-19 and then introduced his subject from verse 12 with a sermon titled "How May We Inherit the Promises?" He first pointed out that God has planned to provide an inheritance for those who obey Him.

Then he showed how this text introduced the promises made to Abraham and how that now the promises of inheritance are all in Christ and through faith, endurance and confidence we may inherit these good promises of God as joint-heirs with Christ.

"The Sin of Judah, Etched in the Heart" was the title of the sermon Sunday night. This title was developed from the text of Jeremiah 17:1-18 in which we learned about some of the sins of Judah (like idolatry and misplaced trust).

God condemned them for trusting other men or their own wicked hearts instead of trusting in God. Jeremiah concluded this prophecy with a prayer that he would not lose confidence in God and that God would faithfully perform His word.

We invite you to meet with us for Bible study at 7 p.m. Wednesday night and 9:45 a.m. Sunday and our worship services on Sundays are 10:45 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

1. As of the date of his death his name only was a tenancy in common interest in a portion of the real property and home located at 4122 Bradfordbrook Dr., New-interest was created by reason of the Decedent having mistakenly having taken the property out of joint tenancy so as to place the property in his and his wife's new married name. Nevertheless, despite the mistake, the tenancy in common interest constitutes a part of the Decedent's wife's homestead. The legal description of the only asset of the estate is:

An undivided one-half interest in the Lot Thirteen (13) portion only of the home and the land on which it is located of the Decedent and his wife, Jeannette B. Alston. The home is located at 4122 Bradford-is legally described as follows:

Certain real property and prem-a point subtending a curve; thence on a curve to the left radius being

2. There are no other assets in the estate. All bank accounts and all other assets of any value are
