John D. Montgomery
The Purcell Register

The National Weather Service confirmed to The Purcell Register it was an EF2 tornado that damaged the David J. Perry Airport at Goldsby Sunday night and then moved into the eastern sides of Norman doing extensive damage.

The NWS spokesman said the tornado passed right by their building after it formed just southwest of the Goldsby Airport about 9:15 p.m.

Goldsby Mayor Glenn

Berglan reported the twister knocked over two 18-wheel trucks and overturned a couple of recreational vehicles at Floyd's RV, 912 N. Adkins Hill Road.

The NWS also said one power line in Goldsby was taken out by the storm.

Supporting public safety

Coalition getting three-prong support

A trio of Oklahoma associations including the Sheriff's Association, Chiefs of Police and the District Attorneys Association are teaming together to support public safety.

They are forming the Oklahoma Public Safety Coalition (OPSC) to support policy initiatives that further public safety in the state and actively oppose policies that would threaten public safety.

McClain County Sheriff Landy Offolter said he is in complete agreement with the coalition and the work it will perform.

"I support the OPSC and their efforts to promote public safety in the state," Offolter said.

"Our sheriffs and their deputies put their lives on the line every day to help protect innocent Oklahomans. As president of the OSA, it has become apparent to me that we need to work together with like-minded partners who consistently engage at the Capitol to fight for safety in Oklahoma," explained Logan County Sheriff Damon Devereaux.

The following was compiled by Oklahoma Watch from interviews, research and public statements by supporters and opponents.

Would the passage of SQ Michelle Tilley, campaign 820 affect the existing medical marijuana program approved by voters in June 2018?

> No. Only the Legislature can make changes to the medical program. Dozens of bills affecting that program are up for consideration in this year's session.

How have recent statewide elections for adult-use cannabis fared?

Recent elections in other states have been mixed. In November, voters passed adult-use cannabis in Maryland and Missouri; voters in North Dakota and South Dakota rejected it.

Who would regulate the adult-use market for cannabis if SQ 820 passes? The Oklahoma Medical Marijuana Authority became a standalone agency November 1 and would be responsible for regulating businesses operating in the recreational market. There have been discussions among industry groups about asking the Legislature to change the agency's name if SQ 820 were to pass.

The state question initially limits recreational business licenses to current medical marijuana business license holders in operation for at least Drummond, both Republicans, a year before the effective date of SQ 820. Opponents said full legalization sends the wrong message to children and the state hasn't done enough to deal with unintended consequences from the passage of medical marijuana in 2018.

The election will be March 7, with early voting on Thursday and Friday. It's the first time a state question has been before voters outside of a regular primary or general election since State Question 723 in September 2005.

With no other statewide race on the ballot, it's unknown how many voters will show up to the polls to vote on SQ 820.

have to put rules and regulations from SQ 820 into effect?

It would have until September 3, which is 90 days after the effective date of the law on June 5.

What are the personal-use protections under SQ 820?

Individuals 21 and older can have one ounce (28 grams) or less of marijuana, 8 grams or less of marijuana concentrate and/or 8 grams of marijuana in infused or edible products. They can also grow up to six mature marijuana plants and six marijuana seedlings at home, but only if they are out of public sight.

What does one ounce of marijuana look like?

You can't really tell without using a scale, because it depends on the density of the flower. Generally, you can fill a plastic sandwich bag to the top and it comes close to an ounce of marijuana.

Marijuana concentrate can take several forms, including liquid, chunks or goo.

What would SQ 820 do to address past marijuana-related crimes? The ballot initiative sets up a process for older marijuana convictions to be reversed, resentenced or dismissed. Courts must approve such expungements unless there's a risk to public safety.

Backers of SQ 820 said marijuana enforcement efforts for decades have disproportionately affected Black and Latino communities, as well as rural white communities.

Between 50,000 and 100,000 Oklahomans have past marijuana convictions that affect their ability to rent or buy housing, apply for jobs or get student loans. They said the unemployment rate for Oklahomans who have past convictions is five times the state average.

What are the penalties for violating the personal-use provisions under SQ 820?

A civil fine of $250 or lower would be levied for having plants in view of the public. Smoking or vaping marijuana in a public place where it's prohibited would carry a civil fine of $25 or lower.

Law enforcement could not detain or arrest people for smoking or vaping in a public place. Landlords could not bar tenants from using or possessing marijuana, although they can prohibit smoking marijuana.

Adults 21 and older who How long would OMMA possess, produce or transport no more than twice the limits of personal use products could face civil fines of $200 or less and forfeiture of the product. Eight hours of drug education or counseling could take the place of the fine.

What are the punishments for underage age use or possession of cannabis under SO 820?

A civil fine of $100 or lower and confiscation of the marijuana. The fine could be waived if the person completes four hours of drug education or counseling. What ID requirements are there for adult-use purchases of cannabis? Customers would only need to show identification to verify that they are 21 or older. Retailers could not keep personally-identifiable information about any adult-use purchase for more than 60 days without the consumer's permission. How would adult-use cannabis sales be taxed?

Essentially, excise taxes would be double those on medical marijuana products. A state excise tax of 15 percent would be in addition to state and local sales taxes, which in most places would total around 10 percent depending on the local government sales tax rate. (Medical marijuana has a seven percent excise tax in addition to state and local sales taxes.)

Where would the tax revenue from adult-use sales go?

Sales tax revenue would go to the state and local governments. Money from the excise tax would first go to OMMA for administrative and regulatory costs.

Any excess would be split among public school grants for programs for at-risk students and after-schoolenrichment activities (30 percent); the state's general revenue fund (30 percent); drugtreatment grants (20 percent); local governments (10 percent); and state courts (10 percent).

How much money has been raised to support or oppose SQ 820?

There are no limits on campaign contributions or spending for state questions.

Yes on 820-Oklahomans for Sensible Marijuana Laws had $3.23 million in contributions in its year-end report through December 31. Organizers said most of that was spent on getting the initiative through the petition process and to a statewide ballot.

The group said it has spent $790,000 in 2023 on TV commercials, digital ads, canvassing materials and mailers, according to campaign reports filed Monday.

Protect Our Kids No 820 filed its organizational papers on January 31. Its most recent report indicates contributions of about $200,000, according to campaign officials.

Which groups are supporting SQ 820?

Philanthropic groups that have funded criminal justice reform efforts have donated or endorsed the SQ 820 campaign, including the Charles and Lynn Schusterman Family Philanthropies, Arnall Family Foundation, ACLU Oklahoma and Oklahomans for Criminal Justice Reform.

Others include Norml, the national group that backs reforming marijuana laws, United Food and Commercial Workers Local 1000 and Stu-

NEWS FROM CAPITOL HILL

The cost of canceling student debt

Congressman Tom Cole

President Joe Biden and Democrats'inflationary spending spree and high-tax proposals have certainly left Americans in financially challenging times. Meanwhile, they continue to push the mass cancelation of student debt, which would undoubtedly make our nation's inflationary crisis worse.

Unfortunately, the president's continual pause on federal student loan payments during the pandemic, turned now to an outright bailout, disproportionately benefits a few at the expense of many.

This week, the U.S. Supreme Court will hear oral arguments on President Biden's student debt forgiveness plan to forgive up to $10,000 in federally borrowed student loans per person, in the top half of the income or up to $20,000 if a person spectrum. The nonpartisan also received Pell Grants. The organization also argued that Supreme Court's decision will this policy will lead to more determine the legality of this inflation and drive up higher executive action and whether education costs. it exceeds President Biden's bailout for a relatively wellto-do group. While the White House argues this will benefit only those earning less than $75,000 per year, student debt cancelation is an unquestionably regressive policy proposal.

When compared to Americans who have no student loans, student loan borrowers are more financially well-off, whether measured by income or by wealth. Nearly one-third of student loan debt is held by the wealthiest quartile of Americans.

Moreover, a recent study from the Committee for a Responsible Federal Budget found that 57 percent to 65 percent of the student loan debt cancelation will benefit those

Additionally, the cancelation of these loans is fundamentally

The so-called cancelation of unfair. It will occur at the exstudent loans is an egregious pense of Americans who have worked hard, repaid their debts or chosen not to go to college at all. In a country that has always rewarded hard work and personal responsibility, this move is, quite simply, unprecedented.

It is also unfair to those Americans whose student loan debt would not be forgiven because it is privately held versus held by the federal government. Moreover, it is unfair to the 87 percent of Americans who do not hold federal student loan debt and will foot the bill, which the nonpartisan Congressional Budget Office (CBO) has calculated will cost taxpayers a massive $400 billion.

As Democrat lawmakers continue to push for mass student debt forgiveness, I'm proud to reintroduce the Can't Cancel Your Own Debt Act to disqualify members of Congress from participating in federal programs enacted during

Education problems

Dear John D. and Gracie,

It was a pleasure to visit with John D. last Friday when I dropped by to pick up my weekly must-read Purcell Register. We visited briefly about how really good area basketball teams are performing this year with some having an excellent chance to advance all the way to state. Of course since the topic was about my favorite sport, I had to bore Mr. Montgomery with a true tale of the last time I dribbled a basketball in the very famous Boney Mathews Gymnasium way back in the 1963 district finals between the Noble Bears and my Lexington Bulldogs. We won that contest by a single point and, much to my surprise and dismay, an obviously legally blind referee threw me - little old me - out of the game for I know not what. If I had to guess it may have been that harmless foul I imposed on Noble's point guard Orbin Idleman. But I digress. The real reason for this missive is to express a serious concern, bordering on panic, about the policies and politics surrounding common education in Oklahoma today. Our new Superintendent of Public Instruction, Ryan Walters, a former history teacher from McAlester, is off in right field throwing tantrums about non-existent problems. He is focused on 'woke' words and whatever Critical Race Theory is; then stays busy searching for boys who allegedly use the girls' bathroom; pursues pornographic books and socialist librarians; and in his spare time wants to determine funding levels for our 27 colleges and universities. Meanwhile, real issues like the teacher shortage, bottom 10 salaries, class size in the early grades, inadequate curriculum in small schools, etc., go unaddressed by the young Walters.

Concurrently, over in the legislature, instead of passing a straight up salary increase for both educators and support personnel, its leadership is trying to cobble together a funding package, combined with private and homeschooling tax credits, attached to a very regressive and counter-productive formula allocating an extra $300 million dollars to all schools with some getting as little as $62 per student and others as much as $745 per enrollee.

For years we have tried to equalize per student spending and now our current crop of lawmakers, apparently devoid of any historical understanding of how schools receive money and from whom, are primed to reverse much of that progress.

Perhaps cooler heads will prevail in the senate when the house bills arrive over there but then again maybe not. Remember the leader of the upper chamber is Senator Greg Treat of Oklahoma City who authored last year's ill-fated and destructive voucher scheme.

This whole situation reminds me a bit of what President Harry Truman once said about making friends in Washington. He opined if you really wanted one it would be best to just get a dog.

Sounds like a similar problem for teachers exists at the capitol

Sincerely, Cal Hobson

Supporting our ag youth

Hello John D.,

I was disappointed that The Purcell Register wasn't present at the 33rd Annual Purcell FFA & 4-H Purcell H Auction, Thursday, February 23, at the Purcell Ag Education Building.

The National Athem was sung by Purcell High School freshman, Kaden Pliler, and he "knocked it out of the park." What a voice and what poise!!

I know the Regionals were going on at Purcell High School, but hope you had a representative attending and I understand that the pictures taken by Elisabeth Baker may appear in this week's paper.

We need to support our Ag Youth! This is still a farming and ranching community. Jus' sayin...

Thanks, Kathy Smith

We spent over $120 billion from 1965 to 1973 which led to an oil crisis and rampant inflation. Are you better off today because America fought in Vietnam? Are you safer?

America spent over $2 trillion fighting in Iraq and Afghanistan. Then, we hurried and pulled out of Afghanistan leaving hundreds of millions of dollars in vehicles, buildings, bases, and weapons to be used by the Taliban.

The country is now in shambles. Girls are not allowed to go to school beyond the sixth grade. Women are treated horribly by the Taliban. What did we do to help Afghanistan? Are they better off now? Are we better off for our 13 years in that country?

We invaded Iraq. We lost over 15,000 active service members and contractors in Iraq and Afghanistan. Take a look at Iraq and Afghanistan today. What did we accomplish?

How far do we go? How Representatives own? America was involved in much can we afford? How long are we able to keep this up? Does this become another Afghanistan? American troops are not there, yet. When will this happen?

It would also bar members of Congress from any serviceor employment-based student loan cancelation for time served as a Member of Congress. This legislation would ensure lawmakers cannot use their position of power to benefit themselves while earning six figures annually paid for on the American taxpayers' dime.

While I understand the high costs of attending a university can be daunting, seeking scholarships, grants and work-study programs can make this more affordable.

Glenda Gay Ivy

Funeral services for Glenda Gay Ivy, 62, of Lexington were held Tuesday, February 28, 2023 at the First Baptist Church in Wanette, Okla. Interment followed at the Lexington Cemetery under the direction of the Wilson-Little Funeral Home

Mrs. Ivy passed from this life February 20,

Glenda Gay Garver was born on April 5, 1960 in Lake Charles, Louisiana, the fourth of five children born to Everett Lee Garver and Carol Eyvonne Reed. Growing up during challenging times, Glenda developed a bond with her brothers that continued until her passing through daily phone calls and weekly hugs; David always gave the best hugs according to mom.

On November 28th, 1975, Glenda became the happiest girl in the whole USA when she married the love of her lifetime, Ronald Dean Ivy. Ron and Glenda started their life together at an early age and spent the next 41 years chasing the rodeo, traveling the highways and dirt roads, raising kids, serving others, raising animals, and playing with grandbabies.

Glenda lived an impassioned and faithful life: dedicating herself to her husband, their five kids, her grandkids, her church, her tribe, and anyone else lucky enough to have her in their lives.

Glenda was a proud member of the Citizen Potawatomi Nation and actively pursued opportunities to bring that culture to her family. She tirelessly devoted her time to creating tribal regalia for the whole family. As she did throughout her life, she always made an effort to ensure everyone felt welcome at the Pow Wow, at her home, or just in her presence.

Glenda devoted herself to the Lord and made a lifelong commitment to him. She helped lay a foundation for her children and her children's children that provide a way to live this life and a path to the next. She also set the standard for those kids to see what hard work looks like. By raising five kids with a truck-driving husband rolling down the road, the countless hours spent tending to dogs, horses, and other critters, service jobs from firefighting to caretaking, and still finding time to raise, nurture and cultivate her children; Glenda taught the values of true love and true grit.

Glenda's greatest impact to this world is through her five children: daughter, Terri, and sons, Dennis, David, Daniel, and Dustin. She raised five amazing individuals who know how to love unconditionally, know how to serve unselfishly, and know how to work devotedly. These five will continue the lessons Glenda passed to them through their nine children who will continue to share Glenda's life lesson to future generations.

Glenda has spent the last sixteen years loving, hugging, holding, cheering, and chasing grandbabies. Without question, this is the happiest thing she got to do. She was an amazing grandma who went out of her way to make sure she was part of the lives of all her grandchildren. She gave her love and her time unconditionally. Glenda will be incredibly missed as those grandchildren continue to grow.

Glenda will be dearly missed as a mom, as a grandma, as a sister, and as a friend!

She was preceded in death by her parents, Everett Garver and Carol Reed; brother, Richard Garver; parents-in-law, William and Tinnie Ivy; brother-in-law, Robert Bruce; niece, Toni Bruce; nephew, John Garver, and love of her life, Ronald Ivy.

Glenda is survived by her daughter, Terri Fulton (Jeremiah); sons, Dennis Ivy (Melanie), David Ivy (Alicia), Daniel Ivy (Crystal) and Dustin Ivy (Victoria); brothers, David Garver (Trena), Jerry Garver (Davlyn) and Lewis Garver (Susan); in-laws, Larry Ivy, Linda Ivy and D'Ann Bark (Danny); nine grandchildren and a host of other family and friends.

Tips and tricks for beginning gardeners

Trisha Gedon Extension Educator

Growing vegetables sounds like fun, and who doesn't like pretty flowers in the landscape – but where does a beginning gardener start to cultivate a green thumb?

David Hillock, Oklahoma State University Extension consumer horticulturist, said there are things novice gardeners need to keep in mind before turning over the first shovelful of soil or filling the first pot.

"Location is a key part of successful gardening. Most plants need at least six hours of continuous sunlight to perform at their best," Hillock said. "Good soil is also a must. Have a soil test done to see what nutrients may need to be added to the soil."

Natural light isn't the only thing to consider when picking a location. Make sure the garden spot is close to an irrigation source because dragging a hose all over the yard quickly becomes tiresome. Also, keep the garden location close to the house.

"The easier the access, the more likely you'll be to take care of gardening chores, such as watering and pulling weeds," he said.

Hillock cautions new gardeners to take a reasonable approach.

"It's a good idea to start small in the beginning," he said. "It's perfectly fine to start with just a container or two of herbs or a small bed with a zucchini mound and a tomato plant. It can be easy to get overwhelmed with too big of a space in the beginning. Only grow things your family will eat."

Casey Hentges, host of OSU Agriculture's "Oklahoma Gardening" television show, offers tips on five easy vegetables for beginning gardeners to grow or the top five herbs.

Laura Payne, OSU Extension horticulture specialist in Payne County, cautions new gardeners about spending a lot of money on tools and other supplies in their inaugural year of gardening.

"Anytime I start something new, I always feel like I need to have all the tools now," Payne said. "Don't invest a lot of money on pots, tools and gadgets right away. Start with just a few basic tools and go from there. Consider starting with a trowel, a small pair of loppers or shears and a pair of gardening gloves. Gardeners may even be able to upcycle some things from around the house. Spend some time and determine if gardening is a hobby you're going to enjoy. If so, then invest in more equipment."

It's important for gardeners to know what USDA Plant Hardiness Zone they live in. Growing zones/planting zones help gardeners determine what flowers, plants or vegetables grow in a specific region. Oklahoma growing zones range from 6a in the northwest part of the state to 8a in the southeast corner.

"When going to the local nursery or garden store, check the plant tags to ensure your choices are designed to grow well in your area," Hillock said. "The tags also provide vital information on proper planting techniques, along with light and irrigation requirements."

Gardening is one of the most popular leisure activities, and following these tips will help beginning gardeners get started without being overwhelmed.

STATE QUESTION ANALYSIS

One question will appear on the March 7, 2023, Special Election Ballot. This initiative petition was placed on the ballot by gathering signatures from citizens. The question is reprinted here as it will appear on the ballot followed by a brief summary.

STATE QUESTION

Legalizing recreational use of marijuana for persons 21 or older.

INITIATIVE PETITION 434 STATE QUESTION 820

This measure creates a state law legalizing recreational use marijuana for persons 21 or older. Marijuana use and possession remain crimes under federal law. The export of marijuana from Oklahoma is prohibited. The law will have a fiscal impact on the State. The Oklahoma Tax Commission will collect a 15% excise tax on recreational use sales, above applicable sales taxes. Excise tax revenues will fund implementation of the law, with any surplus revenues going to public school programs to address substance abuse and improve student retention (30%), the General Revenue fund (30%), drug addiction treatment programs (20%), courts (10%), and local governments (10%). The law limits certain marijuanarelated conduct and establishes quantity limits, safety standards, restrictions, and penalties for violations. A local government may prohibit or restrict recreational marijuana use on the property of the local government and regulate the time, place and manner of the operation of the marijuana businesses within its boundaries. However, a local government may not limit the number of, or completely prohibit, such businesses. Persons who occupy, own, or control private property may prohibit or regulate marijuana-related conduct except that a lease agreement may not prohibit a tenant from lawfully possessing and consuming marijuana by means other than smoking. The law does not affect an employer's ability to restrict employee marijuana use. For the first two years, marijuana business licenses are available only to existing licensees in operation one year or more. The law does not affect the rights of medical marijuana patients or licensees. The law requires resentencing, reversing, modifying and expunging certain prior marijuana-related judgments and sentences unless the State proves an unreasonable risk to a person. The Oklahoma Medical Marijuana Authority is authorized to administer and enforce the law.

SHALL THE PROPOSAL BE APPROVED? FOR THE PROPOSAL — YES AGAINST THE PROPOSAL — NO

A "YES" vote is a vote in favor of this measure. A "NO" vote is a vote against this measure.

SUMMARY: After collecting more than 160,000 signatures, State Question 820 will appear on a Special Election ballot March 7, 2023. Supporters had hoped to have the question on the November 2022 General Election ballot but were stymied by the signature verification process. All voters are being asked to allow adults, 21 years of age and older, to legally purchase and consume cannabis from licensed dispensaries. Marijuana use and possession remains illegal under federal law.

Since the approval of medical marijuana by voters in 2018, Oklahomans with marijuana licenses are currently able to purchase cannabis products from licensed dispensaries. To date, more than 360,000 Oklahomans, or more than 9 percent of the state's population, have licenses to purchase cannabis from the hundreds of dispensaries that have opened in the

The state law allows local governments to impose restrictions on the location of dispensaries but it may not limit or prohibit such businesses.

Just like medical marijuana regulation, the Oklahoma Medical Marijuana Authority would be in charge of business regulation. A yes vote on March 7 would allow Oklahoma adults to possess up to one ounce of marijuana, six plants and six seedlings.

The 15 percent tax on marijuana sales is in addition to state and local sales taxes.

It is believed to be one of the first times in U.S. history where a marijuana issue is the only question on the ballot. Twenty one states and the District of Columbia have legalized the purchase and consumption of marijuana for recreational purposes.

The Washington Warrior girls basketball team defeated KIPP Tulsa 61-45 to win the Regional basketball tournament at Beggs last Saturday.

They will play Luther in the Area tournament Friday at 6 p.m. in Enid.

coach Kale Simon saw plenty of room for improvement.

"We didn't play as well as we wanted but it's hard to complain about a 47 point win," he said. "We did some good things but we hadn't played in over a week and it showed."

Breanna Lindert led all scorers with 17 points.

She got scoring help from Rielyn Scheffe and Kelby Beller who had 13 and 10, respectively.

KIPP

The Warriors followed the Chandler win with a 61-45 win over KIPP Tulsa in the Regional finals.

Preslee Johnson gave the Warriors 18 points and led all scorers.

Scheffe finished with 13, Lindert had 12 and Beller scored 11.

"I was proud of our girls in the win," Simon said. "We didn't shoot well from three and we were missing layups. We had to grind and I'm proud of our girls for finding a way to win."

The coach said his team turned up the pressure on defense, which led to some easy baskets.

52-51 loss to Lone Grove ends the Bulldogs' season in Regionals

Last Friday night Lexington lost a one-point heartbreaker, 52-51, to Lone Grove to end their basketball season in the Regional tournament.

"We trailed the whole game but Ty (Mixon) hit a three with 25 seconds left to go up two. Then their post hit a three with three seconds left and they won by one," head coach Tyler Thetford said.

In Friday's loss Mixon was the leading scorer for Lexington with 17 points. Fifteen of his points were from behind the arc.

"They ran a match up zone to contain the middle. This opened up the outside shots and our work paid off," Thetford said.

In fact, Lexington finished the game with 11 three-pointers, accounting for more than half of their total points.

Joining Mixon in double figures were Drew Dierking with 12 and Zeke Faulkenberry with 10.

Thursday night Lexington picked up a 74-68 win over Frederick sending them on to face Lone Grove.

Senior KK Eck paced the Dragons in the victory over Frederick with 18 points. Joining her in double digits was sophomore Tinley Winters with 11.

Sophomore Ella Resendiz led the Dragons with 12 points in the Regional finals against Silo.

"Frederick is a solid team that has some really good guards who can shoot the ball from anywhere," Cooper said. "Our girls came out on fire in the first quarter and got us a solid lead, led by KK Eck. "We were able to get some easy baskets in transition and get after it defensively. As anticipated though, no lead is safe with a team that can shoot the ball well. Frederick came back in the second half with a vengeance. Our team weathered the run and was able to hold them off to secure the win."

Cooper said he thought the Dragons did a good job of controlling Silo's big, Tianni

"She was the focal point of our defensive plan," Cooper said. "Both Tinley Winters and Ella Resendiz were incredible in how they defended her. She had to work for every point.

"Offensively, we just did not hit enough shots. I thought we settled more for threes and missed a ton of opportunities to attack the paint and score.

The Sunray Kids did the special for our World Missions Day. A good offering was received to benefit BMA missions and our missionaries, the Woods family in Ukraine.

Brother John spoke from Luke 15:11-32 and said that God calls us to repentance so we can be saved. He related the parable of the prodigal son who wasted what his father had given him, suffered need and became desperate. Sin promises great satisfaction, but leads to despair and no solution.

The prodigal decided to be a servant, not a son. He received an unexpected reception from his father who welcomed him

The church should have the same attitude towards sinners, going after them, bringing them in to be saved.

The evening message was from Acts 1: 15-26 and clarified the role of Apostles. Matthias was chosen to take the place of Judas. The Apostles had a lot of authority. They had to convey proper doctrine and prove themselves with signs and wonders.

Sunday morning our Bible aging Timothy to be prepared study delved into numerous Biblical descriptions of what a person's attitude should be towards money and finance. We learned that the teachings throughout both the Old and New Testaments are essentially identical: it is God who gives us these blessings; we must not be covetous; we must not let the pursuit of wealth lead and ruin our lives; we must learn to be generous with what we have been given, and many other such things.

This past Wednesday we learned from Paul's instructions to Timothy that the true, simple message of the gospel had been fully preached and that it must be upheld faithfully in the church.

He warned Timothy that there would be some false teachers coming along who would try to gain control over men with things like forbidding to marry and abstaining from certain foods. He was encour- not we will follow Him.

to take a firm stance for the truth with the truth.

This coming Wednesday we will host our monthly study of the songs we sing.

The sermon Sunday morning finished up the book of Ruth. Keith Shackleford offered several small lessons to learn from the fourth chapter, one of which was the example of an invitation.

Boaz was determined to deal with the issue at hand on the matter of Ruth, so when he came to the gate of the city to conduct this business he first called his kinsman and elders of the city over, invited them to sit and listen to the business, and then asked his kinsman to make a decision, declaring publicly what he would or would not do.

It was pointed out that our invitation to Jesus is very similar: we are invited to sit, listen, and decide whether or

On Sunday evening, Steve Adams presented a sermon which focused on a word found in the reading of 2 Timothy 4:1-4. The word "sound" (as in 'sound doctrine') was the subject of the lesson. We examined this word in its many uses throughout the Bible. The word means something which is healthy or wholesome.

It was noted that when specifically applied to the doctrine, then it signifies pure truth, unmixed with any falsity. Studies like this show us that God has always placed a premium on His words and that we should never change or exchange anything He has said for something else. We invite you to meet with

Splinters and Planks

For this week's "front porch" visit, we come to one of life's true realizations: Sometimes when our life- boat is torn to pieces, we have to cling to 'Splinters and Planks." Please read on.

As the years pass, the more I understand how our Lord feels when He turns around one day and sees, as John records, that "many of his disciples went back, and walked no more with him" (John 6:66). That moment must have deflated the Lord, because He immediately turns to His disciples with that classic response of disappointment: "Will you also go away?"

A very similar feeling comes over us today, doesn't it, when we, to use the metaphor, look from the deck of the ship out over life's churning waters: Too many good people, great friends and loved ones, who once sailed on that blessed old ship of Zion are no longer on board. Somewhere along the way, when life's storms blew in, they fell overboard amidst the strong, swirling gales.

We originally wrote these thoughts back in 2008, inspired after we had listened late one night to an eloquent and spirited preacher tell one of the Apostle Paul's stories. Sometimes you can tell early on in listening to someone when he has a special lesson; so, quickly, you grab your notepad and listen intently.

So is it this night. The fiery preacher relates the grand old story of the apostle Paul's longawaited voyage to Rome. Paul had long desired to go to Rome to preach the gospel, and the Lord had promised he would go. But the sailing would not be easy. I suppose it never is.

A contrary wind is there to greet the ship, and the sailors finally have to throw everything of value overboard. Nothing is more valuable than their lives. Still, the ship bound for Rome appears to be destined for the bottom of the ocean; so the sailors panic and prepare to jump – just as it is with many wind-tossed souls today, in line with our previous metaphor.

But the apostle Paul hollers out a life-saving command, similar to what he had done some years ago to a flailing jailer a moment away from entering unprepared into eternity (Acts 16:28).

"Stay on the ship!" he says: Don't jump! (Acts 27:31). Oh, that was about as sound of advice as these men would ever hear!

Today we want to sound out the same alarm, offer the same plea: Let's stay on that old ship of Zion. Get in – and stay in – the grand old church that Jesus purchased graciously with His own precious, life-giving blood (Acts 20:28; 1 Peter 1:18-19). There's not a safer place to be than in that old ship. Don't jump overboard. There's safety on this well-traveled, battered vessel. There's blessing, forgiveness, and hope.

Things may seem better for the moment in the world's smooth, satisfying waters, but they're not. There's a deadly drop somewhere up ahead. But the God who rescued us from those hypnotizing waters in the beginning and made a way to get us onto Old Zion will make a way to get the ship to shore.

The ship that Paul and over 200 others sail on finally gives way to the boisterous wind and waves, and the ship is torn apart. They are close enough to shore that some could swim in, for God had promised that none would perish who stayed on board. What a promise that is! The rest hold on the best they can, "some on boards, and some on broken pieces of the ship," and they make their way safely to shore (verse 44).

Our late-night, old-fashioned preacher described that scene eloquently, saying, "They made it to shore on splinters and planks."

Ah, isn't that the way it is with us. Sometimes we have to cling to a splinter of faith. That's all we may have, but – with God's help - that's enough. Sometimes all we can do is hold on to what we have. It may not be much, just a splinter here and a splinter there.

But God is always true to His promise. No, He didn't say Paul and those sailors would make Give Away will be Saturday, March 18, from 12-4 p.m. Clint has been ordering a large variety of food, so there will be a good selection for shopping!

The lesson for this week is taken from the Old Testament. In Micah 6:1-8, we read where God is asking the Israelites what their complaints against God are. God wants to know what has been done to make them tired of God, who has been nothing but faithful to

Then comes the question of what must they do in order to repair their relationship, or covenant, with God. In verse 8 we find the answer: "O people, God has told you what is good, and this is what God requires of you: to do what is right, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with your God."

Humans have a built-in inclination to do good and to do evil. Both make up our whole selves, Genesis, we read of where Eve children. (and Adam) are faced with the Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil. The Tree doesn't embody either good or evil in itself. It embodies Knowledge.

If we look at Good as being Blessed and Evil as being Cursed, the Tree holds no value judgment. It only shows what "Is." With Knowledge we learn to know the difference between Good and Evil.

Humans existed without knowing what was good or what was evil because they just didn't have any way to tell good from evil. When they ate the fruit of the Tree, they suddenly knew the difference and could see what was good and what was evil. We might say this was when humans began to develop a conscience.

In summary, we read in Micah 6 that God has a controversy with Israel and goes

Our next regular Food on to explain how to repair the

Remember that a covenant is where each side makes promises to each other. One example is that of marriage vows, but there are others. An everyday example is that of a loan or even using a credit card. A company gives us the use of a certain amount of money with the understanding that we will pay it back, plus a little extra to take the money's future value into account.

Even more importantly, we have a covenant with God, through Jesus, when we make the decision to follow Jesus' teachings, or The Way, as symbolized by our baptism or some other public acknowledgement of our commitment.

Following The Way is simple but not easy. Micah shows us that the elements of a "right" relationship with God doesn't require the burnt sacrifice of calves or rams with gallons and we have choices to make of olive oil. It doesn't require in our actions. For example, in the sacrifice of our firstborn

Chickasaw Cultural Center's film festival set March 11

Acclaimed First American actors, filmmakers to attend

SULPHUR, Okla. - "Montford: The Chickasaw Rancher" will be in the spotlight Saturday, March 11, as the Chickasaw Cultural Center's Holba' Pisachi' Native Film Festival returns.

The Holba' Pisachi' ("Showing Pictures") Native Film Festival provides a dynamic avenue to share Chickasaw and First American culture.

"The film festival is important because it allows us to carry on a form of storytelling, which is important in First American traditions," Fran Parchcorn, Chickasaw Cultural Center executive officer, said. "We are celebrating and uplifting Native filmmakers who are working to preserve our culture."

A Chickasaw Nation Productions film, "Montford: The Chickasaw Rancher," will have its first-ever film festival screening at Holba' Pisachi'. The film was recently named by Collider.com as one of the "Best Westerns on Netflix Right Now."

"Montford: The Chickasaw Rancher" cast members Martin Sensmeier (Tlingit, Koyukon-Athabascan), Tatanka Means (Oglala Lakota, Omaha, Navajo) and James Landry Hébert, as well as content producer Jeannie Barbour (Chickasaw) will headline the event.
