County commissioners from Garvin and McClain Counties came together in a special joint meeting August 14 to consider partnering to build a regional detention center.

The project, if approved, would allow the two jurisdictions to combine resources to build and staff a jail facility that would provide desperately needed bed space and modernized detention capabilities for both counties.

During the August 14 special meeting, commissioners heard from Larry Goldberg of Goldberg Group Architects, a Missouri-based firm that specializes in justice architecture and jail facilities. Goldberg was hired by the Garvin County Board McClain County Commissioners met in a joint meeting August 14 with the Garvin County Commissioners to discuss the feasibility of a regional detention center. We appreciate the hard work you do in keeping your property mowed. This is just a reminder that you are not allowed to deposit the clippings in the street or sidewalk.

Please sweep them up or blow them back in your yard, not your neighbors or across the street. This not only makes the street and property look bad, the clippings wash into the storm drains, clogging them.

Again thank you for maintaining your property. If you have any questions please feel free to call us at 405-527-6561 or 405-527-4656.

Lankford receives award

Senator James Lankford was recognized by the National Taxpayers Union (NTU) for his votes in strong support of limited government, low taxes, and fiscal responsibility. This year Lankford is one of only six Senators to have earned the "Taxpayers' Friend Award" for their voting record during the 2022 congressional session.

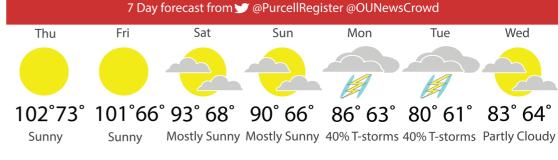

"Our country is in a debt crisis. Just like my fellow Oklahomans, I am committed to making the difficult choices to keep our budget on track. That is what we were all elected to do. Thank you to the work of the National Taxpayers Union for recognizing the common sense and fiscally responsible spirit of Oklahoma that continues to guide my work on Capitol Hill," said Lankford.

The Oklahoma Department of Corrections will take control of the Davis Correctional Facility, a medium-to-maximum security prison in Holdenville, on October 1.

CoreCivic, a Tennesseebased private corrections company, has owned and operated the prison since it opened in 1996. The state pays CoreCivic $55 per day for medium-security prisoners and $68 per day for prisoners in maximum-security and behavior-modification units.

The beginning of their marriage had its usual learning bumps and curves - socks left on the floor, differing opinions of room temperature at night, who would be responsible for paying the bills, and all the other myriad of things that have to be learned, argued and negotiated in a new partnership of living together. "Sweetheart, now that we have a house with a yard and a garage, we have to care of more than just the inside of an apartment. We have to mow the grass and stuff," he said.

"We need to 'divide and conquer.' So, let's divide the work 50/50. You work parttime and take care of everything inside our home, and I'll work fulltime and be responsible for the outside."

50/50 sounded equitable to the young wife, and she readily agreed. So, he mowed the grass and watched for anything the exterior of their house might need, while she tended to all the things inside.

Then the baby arrived. And she quickly found that their little bundle of joy brought an immense workload with it. Caring for their baby, housecleaning, clothes washing, cooking, and also trying to keep up with her part-time job to help pay the rent on their home kept her constantly busy and too exhausted for affection.

But, as she was reminded by her oblivious and now resentful husband, she had readily agreed to the aforementioned 50/50 arrangement. He just didn't understand why she was angry and depressed all the time. Predictably, their oncehappy marriage was headed for divorce.

Fifty/fifty in a marriage simply doesn't work. A marriage relationship can only successfully function for the long haul when both of you are determined to out-give your spouse, emotionally and physically.

There will be times in life when one spouse will have to give more, other times that spouse will need to be given more. But that is the way a good marriage works.

50 plus 50 can end up equaling 0, when both spouses are not committed to giving more than the other when it's needed.

Appreciation for Oklahoma's Main Streets

Congressman Tom Cole

Fourth Congressional District for the customary August district work period, I have had the privilege of meeting with several small business owners and Chambers of Commerce across the district. Just as Oklahoma's small businesses are critical to a prosperous economy, it is critical that they have an economy that allows them to prosper and succeed.

The great communities throughout Oklahoma are anchored by small businesses and the families that work to uphold generations of hard work and local reinvestment.

prisons released in 2016 found Davis. that the facilities tended to be more violent, less secure and not as effective in reforming prisoners as government-run facilities.

John Carl, a criminology professor at the University of Oklahoma who studies the U.S. prison system, told Oklahoma Watch in 2020 that private prisons tend to restrict prisoner movement and offer fewer programs than state or federally-run facilities.

"The easiest thing to do when managing a prison is to just keep it locked down all the time," Carl said. "But eventually these people get out and they're hot and they get into fights."

Criminal justice reforms, most notably the voter-approved enactment of State Question 780 that reclassified several drug and property crimes from felonies to misdemeanors, have helped Oklahoma lower its prison population and reduce its reliance on private facilities.

ing decreased need for mediumsecurity prison beds.

Emily Shelton, founder of the Oklahoma prisoner advocacy group Hooked on Justice, said the men housed at Davis and their loved ones should benefit from cheaper state rates for commissary items and phone calls. She said the transition also marks a win for justice reform advocates who have rallied against the privatization of prisons and jails for decades.

But implementing a culture previously incarcerated at transition.

"At the end of the day, we still have the gang members in the prison," she said. "All these deaths and overdoses, how drugs are coming in, none of that is going to change under DOC."

Bobby Cleveland, a former state lawmaker and executive director of the Oklahoma Corrections Professionals group, said he's concerned an expedited transition at Davis could further stress a prison system struggling to recruit and retain corrections officers.

Department of Corrections budget documents show the agency employed 1,277 state correctional officers as of April 30, down from 1,501 in March 2021. The Davis Correctional Facility operated at about 70% of its promised staffing level throughout 2021, according to documents obtained by The Associated Press.

"Right now we're robbing Peter to pay Paul," Cleveland said. "We take four officers out The state vacated the Cimar- of one prison and send them to ron Correctional Facility in another one for a week or two Cushing in September 2020, cit- to try and solve that. Well, that prison is now down. It's a train wreck."

State Rep. Justin Humphrey, a Republican from Lane who chairs the House Criminal Justice and Corrections Committee, said he doesn't believe the state has received good service from private corrections companies and supports the effort to phase out for-profit prisons. But the former probation officer said he's concerned corrections officials aren't giving themselves enough time to evaluate change could prove difficult, the prison's operations and said Shelton, whose son was condition and ensure a smooth #### takeover of the Great Plains Correctional Facility, a former federal private prison that began housing Oklahoma prisoners in mid-May, as a cautionary tale.

"They had a lot of physical problems with the facility with things like doors and electric and phones," Humphrey said. "When you move that quick, you also can have issues with food service and staffing. There are lots of issues we don't have worked out of that yet, so I have concerns about jumping onto another facility."

In a written statement, the Department of Corrections said operations at Davis will remain consistent with current Core-Civic practices immediately after the takeover.

Thompson, the corrections department spokesperson, said the agency is weighing a similar takeover of the Lawton Correctional Facility. Per the agree-

He cited the recent state ment inked between the agency and the GEO Group in June, the state could opt to purchase the 2,700-bed facility outright or terminate the contract altogether with at least 180 days' notice.

The Lawton prison, which houses about 12 percent of Oklahoma's prison population, has its own violent history. On August 16, a prisoner was airlifted to a hospital after a fight broke out. Four prisoners were taken to the hospital in mid-May after a large-scale fight broke out, local news station KSWO reported.

For those of you, both veterans and surviving spouses, who have considered filing a claim for VA benefits and not visited us, there is an easy way to start one. All you have to do is call VA at 1-800-827-1000 and tell the agent you want to start a claim for VA benefits. By doing so, VA will give you up to one year to file a Fully Developed Claim. Many of the people we assist will receive payments back to the Intent to file start date for benefits.

Looking at the weather forecast we should start cooling down soon. Personally, I have had all of these 100 degree plus days that I want. Our volunteers have been very busy helping the many veterans and surviving spouses who are asking us for assistance with their VA claims and questions. Each week we are working diligently to process as many of the men and women who need our help. We are continuing to increase the number of our volunteers who have been accredited by VA to submit both veterans and surviving spouse claims for benefits. As an accredited organization we have computer access to the veteran's service and medical records which enables us to research those records for any injuries or illnesses that occurred during their military service. This access helps us to assist veterans with their claims for VA benefits.

Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church

By Stella Bledsoe

September 10, 2023, is the twenty-third Sunday of Ordinary Time. The Gospel reading is Matthew 18:15-20.

This reading centers on resolving conflicts within the Christian community. Jesus provided a method of handling conflicts fairly. Criticism of another's behavior must go beyond our own happiness.

We must embrace a deeper sense of responsibility for one another and extend a helping hand to those needing support.

Jesus said we should first address the matter privately. If unresolved, take another couple of people with you. Finally, if necessary, the larger community should step in.

All actions should have the underlying message of unity and divine guidance. Decisions to address a wrongdoing must be rooted in prayer and backed by divine support.

In the first reading for this Sunday, God instructed Ezekiel to warn evil doers that they would die for their wicked ways. God told Ezekiel that if he did not warn them and they died, God would hold Ezekiel responsible for the death.

In the same way, the Gospel reading warns us not to back away from confronting wrong. Our obligation to confront corruption and injustice is significant.

To uphold moral integrity, we must not shy away from declaring, "that is wrong." This principle extends beyond personal encounters, reaching into the fabric of our communities and political systems.

By speaking out against immorality, we take a stand against it, asserting our commitment to upholding what is right. This resonates with our individual responsibilities and our role in shaping the collective moral compass.

In essence, these teachings urge us to cultivate a culture of accountability, where the pursuit of justice and righteousness prevails. (https://young-catholics.com/2906/23rd-sundayin-ordinary-time-year-a/)

Please join us in celebrating the love of Jesus at Our Lady of Victory parish.

Our Lady of Victory parish is located at 307 West Jefferson. The church administrative office is located at 501 N.4th, and it is open weekday mornings. The office number is 405-527-

Weekend mass services are Saturday, 5 p.m.; Sunday, 11 a.m.; and Sunday, 1 p.m. (Spanish). Daily masses are Tuesday, 9 a.m.; Wednesday, 12 noon; Thursday, 7 p.m. (Spanish), and Friday, 9 a.m.

Peace be with you.

Front-Porch Gospel: 'Lick that Calf Again!'

Welcome to the 'front porch.' Sometimes we need to step back and look at ourselves. In Revelation, as we're studying again now in Lexington, the Lord walks in the midst of the seven golden candlesticks reminds me of a story from a long time ago.

About a decade ago, I heard the great motivational speaker Zig Ziglar tell a memorable story that contained a powerful lesson. He was speaking at Dallas' Reunion Arena in front of several thousand motivation enthusiasts, including a group of students whom I had taken to hear the iconic speaker.

I'll never forget how Mr. Ziglar owned the stage that day, bouncing around with the vigor of a teenager, telling story after story about his life experiences. This particular story was from when he was a boy after his family had just moved from Alabama to rural was about 10, his mama told him to go outside and hoe the

He grabbed the hoe and did as he was told, without complaint. After about half an hour, maybe she had been watching him and takes a good evaluation. It from the window, she came out to inspect his work. He described the sad scene with the classic Zig Ziglar chuckle: "I knew the inspection wasn't going to go the way I wanted," he laughed, "just by the way my mama was walking on the way out there. Whenever I did a shabby job of something, she'd always put her hands behind her back as she walked; and she'd shake her head the whole way."

Sure enough, that day she threw her hands behind her and was shaking her head before she had taken ten steps toward the garden. Things did not look up for Zig once she got sight of his work, either. She took one look at the halfway-tilled garden, grimaced, and with a Mississippi. One day when he scowl, said, "Son, you've got com to lick this calf again."

He knew what it meant, but he still protested.

"Whatdo you mean, Mama?" "I mean you've got to do this job again. You can do better

"But, Mama," Zig protested again, "most mamas don't make their sons do any better job than this!"

"That may be," snapped his mama, "but you're not 'most mamas' son."

With that, she turned and walked away from the garden just the way she had walked out to it. For the record, the son of this particular Mississippi mama sweated a good while longer in the garden that day, licking that calf again.

P.S.: To get the point, the Lord's sure going to expect us to do the same thing sometimes. So, we might as well grab the hoe and go back to work. You understand.

No. 649-September 7-1 Time Family Education Rights & Privacy Act Notification to Parents

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) afford parents and eligible students certain rights with respect to their education records. When a student reaches the age of 18 or attends a school beyond the high school level these rights are transferred to the student. (An "eligible student" under FERPA is a student who is 18 years of age or older or who attends a postsecondary institution.) These rights include: 1. The right to inspect and review the student's education records within 45 days after the day Mid-America Technology Center receives a request for access. A parent or eligible student should submit to Director of Student Services, Dallas Krout written request that identifies the record(s) the student wishes to inspect. The school official will make arrangements for access and notify the parent or eligible student of the time and place where the records may be inspected. If the records are not maintained by the school official to whom the request was submitted, that official shall advise the parent or eligible student of the correct official to whom the request should be addressed. 2. The right to request the amendment of the student's education records that the parent or eligible student believes is inaccurate, misleading, or otherwise in violation of the student's privacy rights under FERPA. A parent or eligible student who wishes to ask the school to amend a record should write the school official responsible for the record, clearly identify the part of the record the student wants changed, and specify why it should be changed. If the school decides not to amend the record as requested, the school will notify the parent or eligible student in writing of the decision and the student's right to a hearing regarding the request for amendment. Additional on or before the presentment date, information regarding the hearing procedures will be provided to the parent or eligible student when notified of the right to a hearing.

3. The right to provide written consent before the Technology Center discloses personally identifiable information (PII) from the student's education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent. The school discloses education records without a student's prior written consent under the FERPA exception for disclosure to school officials with legitimate educational interests. A school official is a person employed by Mid-America in an administrative, supervisory, academic, research, or support staff position (including law enforcement unit personnel and health staff); a person serving on the board of trustees; or a student serving on an official committee, such as a disciplinary or grievance committee. A school official also may include a volunteer or contractor outside of Mid-America who performs an institutional service of function for which the school would otherwise use its own employees and who is under the direct control of the school with respect to the use and maintenance of PII from education records, such as an attorney, auditor, or collection agent or a student volunteering to assist another school official in performing his or her tasks. A school official has a legitimate educational interest if the official needs to review an education record in order to fulfill his or her professional responsibilities for Mid-America.

4. The right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by Mid-America Technology Center to comply with the requirements of FERPA. The name and address of the Office that administers FERPA is:

Family Policy Compliance Office U.S. Department of Education 400 Maryland Avenue, SW Washington, DC 20202

Plant trees this fall for decades of benefits

MelindaMyers

For The Purcell Register

Fall is a great time to plant trees in the landscape. The soil is warm and air temperatures are generally cooler, creating a better environment for the tree and the gardener doing the planting. The cooler temperatures promote root growth which helps the tree establish a more robust root system before new growth begins the following spring.

Proper planting as well as timing is important for growing healthy long-lived trees that provide shade, reduce energy costs, help manage storm water and so much more. Reduce the risk of injury, inconvenience, and expense by calling 811 at least three business days before putting the first shovel in the

This free service contacts all the utility companies who will mark the location of the underground utilities in your work area. Look up and avoid planting trees under overhead utilities.

Select trees suited to the growing conditions and those that will fit the available space once they reach full size. Trying to keep a 40-foot-tall tree at 15 feet negatively impacts the tree's natural beauty and requires lots of work on your

Once you select the right tree for the location make sure to give it a safe ride home. Transporting the tree in a pickup truck or trailer is easier for you and better for the tree. If this is not an option, consider spending a bit more money to have the nursery safely deliver your tree.

When transporting your tree, use a tarp to cover the top of the tree to prevent wind damage to its leaves. Protect the trunk by wrapping it with a towel where it will rest on the vehicle. Always move the tree by the root ball, not the trunk, to prevent damage to the roots.

Keep your tree in a cool, shaded location until planting. Mulch balled-and-burlapped trees with wood chips to help keep their roots moist. Water new home. these and container-grown to keep the roots slightly moist.

away from the trunk. Dig the planting hole to the same depth as the distance between the root flare and the bottom of the root ball so the root flare is at or slightly above the soil surface.

Digging deeper can result in the soil settling and water collecting in the depression around your tree. Make the hole at least three to five times wider than the root ball.

Roughen the sides of the planting hole to avoid glazed soil that can prevent the roots from growing into the surrounding soil. Carefully remove container-grown trees from the pot and loosen or slice pot bound and girdling roots circling the trunk and root ball before planting.

Place the tree in the planting hole so the trunk is straight and the tree is facing the desired direction. Remove the tags and twine and cut away any wire baskets and burlap on balledand-burlapped trees.

Fill the planting hole with existing soil so the roots adjust to their new environment. Avoid amending the soil as this encourages the roots to stay in the planting hole instead of moving out into the surround-

Water thoroughly to settle the soil and moisten the root ball and surrounding soil. Spread a two-tothree-inch layer of wood chips or shredded bark over the soil surface surrounding the tree. Pull the mulch back several inches from the trunk.

Mulching helps conserve moisture, moderate soil temperature, reduce competition from grass, and prevent weeds. It also keeps tree-damaging mowers and weed whips away from the tree trunk while eliminating the need for you to hand trim.

Only remove broken, damaged, and rubbing branches at the time of planting. Research shows that the more leaves a tree has, the more energy it can produce, and the quicker it develops new roots and recovers from transplant shock. #### Bonnie L. Shobert

Bonnie L. Shobert died September 2, 2023, in Lexington, Oklahoma at the age of 93 years 11 months 29 days. A family visitation is scheduled for 10 a.m. Thursday, September 7, 2023, at Wadley's Funeral Service. Graveside service will follow at 11 a.m. Thursday, September 7, 2023, at the Lexington Cemetery, entrusted to the care of Wadley's Funeral Service. Bonnie was born September 4, 1929, in Corbett, Oklahoma to Dave and Myrtle (Latimer) Smith. She spent her formative years in the tight-knit Corbett community. After attending small community schools, Bonnie embarked on an academic journey that culminated in her graduation from Lexington High School in 1948.

In Pauls Valley, Oklahoma, Bonnie married Oneal W. Shobert on June 4, 1949. The beginning of their union saw them residing in modest apartments closely connected to their places of work for eleven years. In a testament to their resilience and devotion, they went on to build their family home in the Slaughterville area in 1961—a loving abode where Bonnie created cherished memories until her final day.

Bonnie dedicated an admirable thirty-eight years of her life to Central State Hospital in Norman. Within the hospital's walls, she embraced various roles and responsibilities over the years. Starting off as a compassionate Nurse Aide, then working in Laundry before finding her passion within clerical and accounting work in the business office. Bonnie began her journey at Central State in the Lexington Annex in 1948 and, after transferring to the main hospital in Norman in 1971, she continued her dedicated service until her well-earned retirement in 1986.

Bonnie was a person of few words, often described as gentle and reserved. Her character shone with an unwavering commitment to truthfulness and an unwavering aversion to gossip or criticism. When called upon, she would graciously offer her candid and unfiltered opinions. She delighted in the quiet joys of reading, homemaking, and nurturing her loved ones within the confines of their cherished home. Above all, Bonnie seized every opportunity to immerse herself in the embrace of her family's love.

Bonnie was preceded in death by her parents, Dave and Myrtle Smith; her husband, Oneal Shobert; her siblings, Ruby Rose, JB Smith, Aline Blumhoff, Vautress Nicholson and Lawrence Smith; her grandson-in-law, Mike Gilmore; and nephew, Mike Nicholson.

Will Merrick, Development Officer for Pioneer Library System Foundation said, "I love the kids' excitement expressed on their faces. I took my boys when they were little, and it was always an amazing experience, full of excitement and happiness. I love working at PLS and supporting our programming services for families throughout our service area."

Vehicles at this year's Touch A Truck will include police cars, ambulances, fire trucks, utility trucks, tow-trucks, tree service trucks, petroleum trucks, moving trucks, shredder trucks, the PLS Mobile Maker Lab, and more!

Speaking of her own favorite vehicles, Beverly Theige, Children's Department Manager for Norman Public Library Central shared, "I love cherry pickers and helicopters. I rode in a helicopter with a clear floor as a child and it was magical seeing our neighborhood from above! As with these, I also hope that someday we might see a hot air balloon again, but the real dream vehicle that we would like to see is the Oscar Meyer Weinermobile/Frankmobile!"

Kelsey Williamson added, "I love the little trolly, it makes me think of Mr. Rogers! And I second, Beverly, the dream is the Oscar Meyer Weinermobile!" Touch A Truck will be held at the Cleveland County Fairgrounds at 615 E Robinson Street in Norman Saturday, September 23. Event hours are 9 a.m. - 12 p.m., with the first hour serving as a quiet hour for those with noise sensitivities. During that time, trucks will refrain from honking horns or making loud noises. Registration is not required for attendance.

You will find row covers available in various weights that provide different levels of cold weather protection. Select the one best suited to your climate and the vegetables you are growing.

Loosely cover the plants with the fabric and anchor the edges with stones, boards, or landscape pins. Just lift the row cover to harvest, recover, and leave it in place until the harvest is complete, or the temperatures drop below what the row cover and plants can handle.

Wait for the soil to cool before planting lettuce, spinach, and other vegetable seeds that require cooler temperatures to germinate.

Increase germination success by planting the seeds as directed, watering them in, and covering the row with a wooden lath to keep the soil cooler.

Remove the lath as soon as the seeds sprout. Or start the plants indoors and move them into the garden as transplants. Then help keep the soil cool throughout the remainder of summer by mulching with leaves, evergreen needles, or other organic mulch.

Increase the health and productivity of your second planting by preparing the soil before planting seeds and transplants. Mix an inch of quality compost into the top six inches of soil or fertilize with organically rich low-nitrogen fertilizer.

Once your seeds and transplants are in the ground, be sure to water them properly. Keep the seedbed and roots of transplants moist for the first few weeks. Gradually reduce the watering frequency as seedlings sprout and grow, and transplants become estab-

The draft proposal presented by Goldberg is for a 40,000 square foot facility, consisting of about 270 beds, which could be expanded later if needed to nearly double that size.

Garvin County's jail currently has about 70 beds and stays at capacity. McClain County has 50 beds and is having to contract with other facilities to house detainees beyond that number.

"We need a hundred beds, today," McClain County commissioner Wilson Lyles said.

In addition to housing, the proposed detention center would include booking and intake rooms, program and support space and office space for jail administration, as well as special needs and medical day rooms.

"What we're trying to do is give the sheriffs a little bit of capacity for mental health issues that are plaguing our correctional facilities," Goldberg said.

A specific site for the detention center was not identified or discussed during the meeting, though officials have previously said a location close to U.S. Interstate 35 and situated near the county line would be most convenient for both jurisdictions. "You can see if you look at the elevations and the renderings, there's no guard towers, there's no barbed wire. The idea is it looks more like an office build-

The estimated cost for the sample facility Goldberg presented to commissioners was just over $35 million, which would likely be financed through the issuance of revenue bonds.

One of the things we were directed to do was to come to the table with an approach that might utilize your existing appropriations or what have you, but would not require either county to necessarily increase sales tax or any other tax by doing this project," Goldberg said.

He presented sample numbers, based on the feasibility study he'd already worked on for Garvin County, that indicated the existing allocation or operating budget for each county's jail, when combined, could potentially cover annual debt service for the new facility.

According to Goldberg's estimates, additional revenue generated from housing detainees for other agencies in the counties, Chickasaw Nation Lighthorse and the U.S. Marshals Service, along with things like commissary service could potentially help cover the detention center's operating budget.

Once the revenue bonds are paid off, Goldberg said, "Revenues derived from this project could be a great economic engine for both of these jurisdictions for a long time.'

Commissioners also heard from public finance banker Gregory Vahrenberg, with Raymond James Public Finance, and bond attorney Jacob Bachelor of Centennial Law Group regarding the financing and bonding process that would be necessary for building a joint detention Bachelor said he thought the project as proposed was very viable.

'You may not need a lot of extra money to fund this project. You may not have to ask voters for a lot of new sales tax money. I'm not promising that, but that's kind of what it sounds like preliminarily," Bachelor said.

Unlike school bond projects in Oklahoma, which are usually issued as general obligation bonds repaid with ad valorem or property taxes, Bachelor said, municipal or county projects like the proposed detention ing than somebody's idea of an center are generally funded with old jail. tax money or other municipal or reference. county revenues.

A public trust would need to be set up to issue revenue bonds for the project, Bachelor said, adding that the trust could represent both counties or could be designed another way, depending on how the counties wanted to structure it.

"There's a lot of flexibility on how the two counties want this to go. We can pretty much engineer and create whatever model you all want to do," Bachelor said.

Two options presented were to create a trust set up under one county with the other county leasing bed space, or a trust set up under both counties with representation from each county on the trust board.

McClain County Commissioner Wilson Lyles asked if additional sales tax is needed, how can commissioners reassure voters each county will be contributing an equitable amount to a joint facility.

"It needs to be fair on day one, but you also need to have a mechanism where it's fair in year 10 and fair in year 20," Vahrenberg said. "Counties can grow at different paces and usage can change. Some of the operating agreements that we've had on joint projects have what we call a true-up mechanism at the end of each year, so that you look in year two and year three or year five and say, 'Okay one county is using slightly more than they thought, the other one not quite as much,' and then you have this annual rebalancing of that allocation of lease payments or debt service based on usage.

"Fifty-fifty may be fair on day one, but it may change in year 10, so you want to have that mechanism in place where it moves as the usage moves."

Assistant District Attorney Kristina Bell, who represents the board of county commissioners in both Garvin and McClain Counties, expressed concerns about structuring agreements to protect the interests of both counties.

She asked if anyone was aware of other multijurisdictional regional jail partnerships the group could look to for boards and each county's sheriff.

Goldberg said he is aware of very few. His firm has done about 13 different feasibility studies over the years for multijurisdictional projects, but almost none of them have come to fruition.

"Right now, we're really very blessed with wonderful officials in both counties that work very well together. But I worry about political or policy changes that might happen down the road with one or the other," Bell said. "I just want to have things in place, so we think of as many contingencies as we can, so everyone is protected."

Bachelor said one way to do that is with a joint operations contract, much like a traditional partnership agreement, that hashes out details and proper procedures from day one, but also looks to the future.

Vahrenberg said, while not an example of a justice center project, he has worked on revenue bond issues where two municipalities have come together to create a joint utility authority.

"The water treatment plant may be built in one city, the wastewater treatment plant in the other, and we've got some really good examples of those operating agreements that contemplate that true-up mechanism and how are we going to split the operation and maintenance, and what happens if something unforeseen happens?" Vahrenberg said. "In those situations, you build in a provision where the board of that authority can go in and amend the documents so long as it's not detrimental to bondholder's interests.

"So even those things that we don't know what they might be five or 10 years down the road, we built up a mechanism where we can address that.

"And as long as it's not hurting the credit quality of the bond issue then you can have that flexibility to make those adjustments."

Commissioners took no action on the regional detention center during the August 14 meeting but agreed to continue discussions with their own

Elevated fire danger will be in place across most of the state through the weekend. High temperatures will again be above normal and when combined with ongoing dry conditions, elevated fire danger is firmly in place. It has been weeks since most areas in the state have seen measurable rainfall.

"Above normal temperatures and a lack of rain mean wildland fuel dryness is concerning," said State Forester Mark

Behind a balanced offense and a stingy defense led by Keller Howard, Washington extended its winning streak to 17 games knocking off always tough Sulphur on the road last Friday night,

Quarterback Major Cantrell was a very efficient 9-10 passing for 186 yards and a trio of touchdowns. He also rushed seven times for 73 yards including a 43-yard

Cantrell and Nate Roberts opened the Warrior scoring hooking up for a 12 yard pass and catch in the first period.

Hudson Howard, who continues to shine, bolted in from 29 yards out in the opening frame giving Washington a 14-0 lead heading into the second quarter.

Cantrell found Mason Singletary open for a cross-country 74-yard touchdown pass play in the second quarter when Sulphur put up their 10 points.

Lex plays at Wayne

Friday kick off is at 7:30 p.m.

After having a Friday night off last week, Lexington will be back in the fray this Friday night at Wayne.

Bulldog Coach Keith Bolles said he is sure coach Brandon Sharp has been working on correcting mistakes that were made in their 24-8 loss to the Konawa Tigers last week.

"They had some big play opportunities and I'm sure coach Sharp is working on getting those corrected," Bolles said. "They improve each week," Bolles continued about Wayne. "I expect a good game and we're looking forward to Friday night."

Bolles reports Wayne runs a spread offense and operates out of a 4-4 stack on defense.

"Their defensive line is aggressive and penetrates that causes havoc in the backfield," Bolles said. "Their linebackers flow really well.

"They have a good running back," the coach continued. "It's early on in the season. They are finding their identity like a lot of teams are doing."

291.34 No. 618-August 31-3 Times

OF OKLAHOMA KANELLOS D. CHARALAMPOUS,

Corporation Plaintiffs, ROBBIELEE, STEPHEN MENDEL, KATHRYN MENDEL, individuals,

> Case No. CIV-23-499-R ORDER

Before the Court is the Plaintiffs' Correction to Notice of Service by Publication and Motion for Order Allowing Publication in the Purcell Register on Defendant (the "Motion") (Dkt No. 28). The Court has already concluded and ordered that alternate service on Defendant Lee is appropriate, including service by Publication (Dkt No. 20). After reviewing the application and for good cause shown, the Court hereby finds and concludes that:

1. Alternative service of the Summons and Petition (the "Service Papers") on Defendant Lee is appropriate and can be accomplished by (i) mailing by first class mail this Order along with the Service Papers to Defendant Lee, (ii) posting this Order and the Service Papers on the front door mcafeetaft.com of Defendant Lee's residence, and (iii) publishing this Order and the Orders to Appear in The Purcell Register (newspaper authorized by law to publish legal notices in McClain County, Oklahoma), one (1) day for three (3) consecutive weeks is reasonably calculated to give the Defendant actual notice of these proceedings and an opportunity to be heard.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that Plaintiff may serve Defendant Lee by (i) mailing by first class mail this Order along with the Service Papers to Defendant, (ii) posting this Order and the Service Papers on the front door of Defendant Lee's residence, and (iii) publishing this Order allowing alternative service and the Orders to appear in The Purcell Register (newspaper authorized by law to publish legal notices in McClain County, Oklahoma), one (1) day for (3) consecutive weeks. To the extent any of these methods of service have already been accomplished pursuant to the Court's prior order (Dkt. No. 20), they need not be repeated for purposes of compliance with this Order. IT IS SO ORDERED this 23rd

As always, the Memory Makers band was in tip-top shape and added to the night's enjoyment with a few tunes made famous by Jessi Colter, Captain and Tennile, Dallas Holmes and Carole King.

Please join us next month on Saturday, October 7, when we welcome guests, April Davis, Mike Deviney, Annie Reed, Tracy Watts Felan, Wayne Gibbs, Dea Newsom along with emcee John Williams, plus the highly anticipated appearance of the one and only Checkers! It's going to be a fantastic show!
