of them. Avenger is loved by all, young and old and has garnered numerous fan favorite accolades at The World Finals too.

The show also includes the popular and unique trucks, Axe, Brutus, Rage and Nothing But Trouble. If five of the best monster trucks in the industry weren't enough, the August 12th show also features quad racing action as well as a Power Wheels Demolition Derby for kids ages 4-9. Tickets for the show are now on sale and can be purchased at www.waynecountyfair.com. The show will start at 7pm in the grandstand, and you'll want to get your tickets early as they have sold out in previous years.

thing in on one day. Each day features unique events so be sure to check the online schedule for event times. The Wayne County Fair celebrates the area's rich agricultural heritage with numerous exhibits, contests, and farm animals. Farm animals will be located at the north end of the fairgrounds.

"We're really proud of all the new entertainment we have coming to the fair and we've brought back a TON of popular entertainment from previous years including Dino Roar, Black Cat Hell Drivers, The Demolition Derby, Monster Trucks, Buffalo and Brandy, Harness Racing, Chainsaw Carving, Glass Blowing, Rosaire's Racing Pigs and much more," said Emily Grillo, Event Coordinator.

The Wayne County fair also offers two days for seniors. August 5 and 10 will be $6 for anyone 62 or older. This discount will also apply to veterans and active-duty military personnel.

The fairgrounds open at 9 a.m. Midway and rides open 12 noon - 11 p.m. Exhibit buildings open 10a.m. - 10p.m. Fairgrounds is located at 270 Miller Drive, Honesdale, PA 18431

An Ag tradition continues

One-hundred and sixty years ago, the Wayne County Agricultural Society became a chartered organization that laid the groundwork for the Wayne County Fair as we know it today. In 1862, the society's first order of business was to find enough land to host events and to hold patrons.

Twenty-two acres of land was purchased along the Dyberry River and the construction of a half-mile long track began. In 1902, the fair outgrew the speed-trial track and moved their events to a larger grandstand. Eventually that grandstand would expand again in 1931 to house 2000 patrons, sixty concession stands, harness racing, livestock contests and concert events.

While there are so many exciting things to enjoy at the fair, the longstanding agricultural roots only continue to get deeper, with several 4H competitions, livestock shows and more returning.

The Democrat spoke with one of the Wayne County Fair directors, Kathryn Dix, who also serves as their dairy barn superintendent, about this year's Ag offerings.

Dix noted that they have a large number of kids in their livestock programs, and even their "red metal building" or vegetable and all other non-livestock projects, have seen an increase in youth participation.

"It's really exciting," said Dix, "and good to see that everybody's getting back to doing all these events."

The 4H events set for opening weekend include the protein dairy show, as well as goat and sheep breeding shows. Dix explained that larger shows are slated for later in the week, with their biggest being the pig show set for Tuesday, August 9. Around 120 kids are enrolled in this year's pig show, and it's often the case that each kid brings two pigs, making it an all-day event.

A full schedule of the judging, livestock and 4H slate from August 5-13 can be seen on page 13.

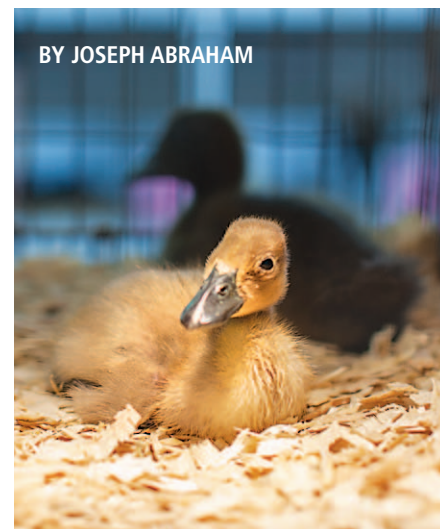

In addition to her involvement in the fair, Dix is the leader of the 4H club known as the "Pleasant Mount Go-Getters." The Go-Getters are one of the largest clubs in Wayne County, with approximately 52 kids. Most of the members participate in the livestock projects.

When asked about her favorite 4H event at the fair, Dix was quick to pick the dairy show.

"It's near and dear to my heart," said Dix. "I grew up on a dairy farm," adding that she, her husband and her daughter still help her in-laws who have their own dairy farm.

"The whole thing with 4H," Dix added, "is that the kids learn responsibility, life skills and make lasting friendships. It's amazing to see them as they get older ... that they're still friends with those kids they grew up with in the 4H program. The kids that I had earlier [on] now are bringing their kids back to the club. That's kind of nice to see and quite a few of them are the club's leaders now."

Endless entertainment

STORY BY JOSEPH ABRAHAM

The rides, Ag shows, fair food and action-packed demolition derby/monster truck events are enough of a reason to attend the 160th annual Wayne County Fair, but an added incentive is the impressive slate of entertainers scheduled. Here are just a few ...

Andy Rotz Entertainment brings a World-Class Wild West Showdown that is guaranteed to bring the house down. With energy and fun to burn, this action-packed Wild West Extravaganza is a smash hit with audiences everywhere. He'll be doing two shows daily and three shows on Friday, Saturday and on Camp Days.

Also performing daily is Michael Griffin Escape Guy, who offers an 'escape' from the normal with his show "50 Shades of Great!" which has a bit of everything. The show starts with the unexpected, and evolves from there, with each new trick adding a new dimension, and an aspect to the illusion you hadn't seen yet. To top it all off, he's a funny, funny man.

And then, you can't have a party without some good music. Performers include Gypsy on August 6, who will celebrate the music of Stevie Nicks and Fleetwood Mac, and then on August 10 its the Best of the Eagles, with America's top Eagles cover band, whose performance will be followed by fireworks.

All of these shows are included in your pay one price of just $12 that includes this world-class entertainment, parking, rides all day, animals, exhibits and more. Peruse this special section for a full schedule of events on the grandstand, and other fair happenings.
