lots of fun in our Catskills fall

As we begin to feel the crisp air and observe the landscape transform into a vibrant tapestry of reds, oranges, and golds, we welcome you to experience the magic of fall in the Sullivan Catskills. This time of year is extremely special as we embrace the season's beauty and the many special events that make our region a truly enchanting destination.

Autumn in the Catskills is a season of traditions, new and old. Whether you're a local or a visitor, there's something for everyone to enjoy. Imagine spending your weekends exploring scenic drives that wind through our charming towns, where you can take in the breathtaking fall foliage. Along the way, you'll find a variety of fall festivals that celebrate the best of our local culture and community—from art and music to food and crafts.

For those who enjoy outdoor adventures, the cool weather provides the ideal setting for hiking, biking, and exploring the trails in our picturesque region. Or if you're looking to relax and unwind, try cozying up by the fire, taking a scenic stroll, or enjoying one of our farmers' markets, where you can sample the bounty of the harvest season. The tastes and smells of autumn are all around, from fresh produce to warm cider donuts that will tempt your taste buds.

As the days grow shorter and the nights longer, our calendar of events comes alive with music, theater, and cultural experiences that celebrate the rich heritage of the Catskills. There's no better time to discover the unique charm of our region and create memories that will last a lifetime. We invite you to immerse yourself in the wonder of fall in the Sullivan Catskills, where every corner offers a new adventure, and every moment is an opportunity to embrace the season's joys. Whether you're seeking excitement or tranquility, you'll find it here.

Thank you for being part of our community. We look forward to sharing this beautiful, transitional season with you. For more information on all our happenings this season, be sure to visit our website, www.sullivancatskills.com and download our Sullivan Catskills GO! App.

halloween on a farm

The Cunningham Family Farms has gone through many transitions over the years from primarily meat and vegetables for the family, to a sweetcorn roadside stand, to what is now a desired destination each Fall for people near and far.

where you can find pumpkins, gourds, ornamental corn, and sweet treats. There is an obstacle course for the kids, life size checkers, a hay ride, and gem mining in the old Lost Irishman's Mine.

The farm is also the home of Sullivan County's largest corn maze at approximately four acres - a place where you just might get lost in the corn stalks.

Whether you're a kid or an adult, the Cunningham Family Farm is sure to bring a smile to your face and joy to your afternoon.

The haunted mine is full of gems, hay bales have been converted into Halloween decor, and sunflowers are ripe for the picking.

the fall harvest festival

The transition from Summer to Fall can sometimes feel a bit too soon, wishing for the sweet sunny days to stick around just a little bit longer. Thankfully the Harvest Festival at Bethel Woods Center for the Arts helps ease the transition. Starting the first weekend in September and running into October, each Sunday the Harvest Festival features something special along with their farmers market with farmers and artisans from all around

Take a stroll through the farmers market for fresh baked goods and breads before taking a pleasant ride in a horse-drawn wagon around the grounds.

The annual farmers market includes live music, food trucks, crafts, and more.

the region.

From the Donuts on a String Challenge to the Steinholding Competition, the Annual Pie Eating Contest and Paint & Sips, there is a bit of something for all ages.

And if spooky is more your scene, their Peace, Love and Pumpkins festival will be returning for its fourth year. Think daily evening garden trails of uniquely hand-carved jack-o-lanterns and glowing displays of themed pumpkin art from October 11 to the 27. But beware, October 25 is Friday Fright Night, when the trails are reserved for a haunted walk-thru experience.

For more information you can visit bethelwoodcenter.org

Crafts from local artisans, a corn maze, and alpacas make the harvest festival an afternoon treat.

care for a good scare?

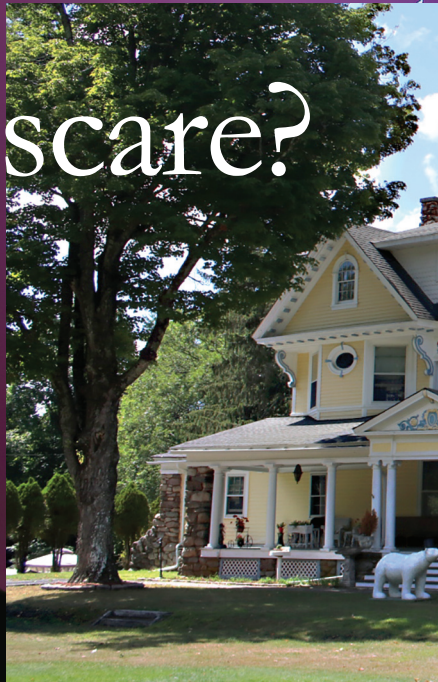

by Autumn Schanil

September and October is the time of year when you get to enjoy all the things you love most about the Fall season - the turning of the leaves on the trees, the cooler nights while the days are still warm, pumpkins, the final vegetable harvests, apple picking, and of course, Halloween.

What would spooky season be without the haunted legends, paranormal aura, and dark history of some of the most historic hotels, buildings and properties here in the Catskills.

The Shanley Hotel located in Napanoch, just above Ellenville, is believed to be inhabited by at least 14 spirits and has been visited by paranormal researchers and ghost hunters alike. In 1895, fifty years after the hotel was built and opened, it burned to the ground but was quickly rebuilt to what it is now. It's believed that the fire set off a series of tragedies that still haunt the hotel today. The Shanley is now open year round where guests can stay overnight or attend weekend events. Many visitors have reported rocking chairs moving, whistling, footsteps, piano music, shadows, and more.

The Burn Brae Mansion in Glen Spey is also a place well-known for paranormal activity with recorded voices on tape, glowing circles on cameras, doors opening and slamming, children's voices, and the ghost of a woman in white. The mansion is open for overnight stays, group investigations, and also hosts Murder Mystery dinners.

And that's not all, the Catskills are filled with haunted trails and cemeteries, you may just need to ask around to find the best ones! So whatever your Spooky Season entails, have a ghostly time.
