Two weekend fatalities

Wreck kills 20-year-olds

By DAVID MELSON
dmelson@t-g.com

Two Bedford County men lost their lives Saturday night in a single-car crash on Fairfield Pike north of Shelbyville. Dakota “Blaze” Bryson, 20, of Spring Street in Wartrace, and Joshua Adcock, 20, of Dow Drive in Shelbyville were killed, said a report filed by Trooper Barry Qualls of the Tennessee Highway Patrol.

Bryson was northbound near 2419 Fairfield Pike, about a mile north of Minkslide Road, the THP said.

“He was attempting to negotiate a right-hand curve,” the report said. “He then traveled off the left-hand side of the roadway, striking several trees and overturning multiple times. The vehicle came to rest on its top off the southbound shoulder of the roadway facing east.”

Adcock was riding in the front passenger seat of the 2009 Nissan Altima, Qualls’ report said.

A rear-seat passenger, Brandon Thompson, 21, of Warners Bridge Road, was injured.

City updated on economic developments

By DAWN HANKINS
dhankins@t-g.com

During the May Shelbyville City Council study session, local Economic Development Director Shane Hooper gave an update on economic development efforts, advising that everyone’s “hard work” is beginning to pay off.

Hooper submitted a proposed budget for the Shelbyville Bedford Partnership for the next year, stating he would love to continue the work that has begun but will need the support of the City and County governments.

His proposed budget request is $210,000 from each the City of Shelbyville and Bedford County over the next three years. He concluded his presentation by advising that governing bodies and taxpayers will continue to see a return on their investments.

Establishment of the Shelbyville Bedford Partnership and the Shelbyville Bedford Community Foundation has been moving forward in several areas. The groups continue to reach out to existing industry with any assistance needed, he said.

As well, the economic groups are pursuing new industry—those which could locate more higher wage paying jobs here in Shelbyville/ Bedford County. This would be a boost to workforce development efforts.

Hooper discussed with Council some projects currently in the works: Project Cardinal which

Juneteenth Celebration scheduled for Saturday

By ZOË HAGGARD
zhaggard@t-g.com

Bedford County’s first ever Juneteenth Celebration will be Saturday, June 18, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the Shelbyville Square.

The event is co-sponsored by the Gilliland Resource Center and the Rosenwald Recreation Center to celebrate “a day about freedom.”

“So, you have two non-profits in town that have come together,” said County Commissioner Sylvia Pinson, who has worked with both agencies when she was arts and rec director in Shelbyville. She said they have been planning this event for around nine months.

“These two agencies coming together to provide this has been a great asset for them to bring,” Pinson said. “They have done really well in sponsorships, and everyone has been open to do their part as far as getting this celebration together.”

The Gilliland Resource Center is a historical research center that preserves the history and legacy of Shelbyville’s African American stone mason James S. “Jim” Gilliland. They are located at 803 Lipscomb St in Shelbyville and have hosted a Juneteenth Fish Fry previously.

Brief history of Juneteenth

According to the Smithsonian’s National Museum of African American History and Culture, Juneteenth marks June 19, 1865, when Union troops came to Galveston Bay, Texas, announcing that more than 250,000 slaves in the state were free by President Abraham Lincoln’s decree.

When the Emancipation Proclamation was written in 1863, it did not include states under Confederate control. The westernmost Confederate state of Texas did not recognize the emancipation until the end of the American Civil War, where some 750,000 soldiers sacrificed their lives.

President Joe Biden made June 19 a national holiday last year.

“I am excited that we’re bringing in a new event for Shelbyville-Bedford County and to highlight the new national holiday... We hope to continue the celebration each year and build on it,” Pinson said.

Hint for seniors with pets

Dear Heloise: We have reached our 70s and have a small dog that usually, but not always, accompanies us on trips from home. We thought that we should keep info about our dog in our wallets, along with the usual contact information. If something should unexpectedly happen to us and we're in need of emergency personnel, we have a note that explains that we have a dog at home alone. It has his name and what plans we have for him in case of our unfortunate demise. We've not only included his name, but also contact information should both of us be indisposed.

You never know when something bad might happen, and the pet doesn't need to be an unfortunate victim, too! We read your column daily in the Kennebec Journal here in Augusta, Maine! -- Greg B., via email

EMPTY SPICE JAR USE

Dear Heloise: I keep some flour in an empty spice jar. This is very handy when coating meat or fish, working with dough or dusting a baking pan. A spice jar could also be used for powdered sugar. -- Margaret S., La Mirada, California

BANANA BREAD BAKED IN A COFFEE CAN

Dear Heloise: Another thing about baking a loaf of anything in a coffee can is, coffee cans used to be a whole pound of coffee. The cans were bigger and thicker. I still make Steamed Boston Brown Bread at Christmastime

Hints from Heloise

in coffee cans that I saved from over 10 years ago, when they were bigger and thicker. I wash them and dry them thoroughly after I make the bread and store them for the next year. Of course, they are steamed in the cans in a canning kettle on a rack, not baked in the oven.

My point is the size of the cans has changed, as you pointed out. They are now, maybe, 10.5 ounces of coffee! The cans are much smaller, which is part of the problem. -- Rusti Stover, Houston, Texas

PLASTIC BAGS

Dear Heloise: I save the plastic bags from newspapers, bread, grocery produce, etc., and use them in my kitchen sink. I hang them over the garbage disposal spout for garbage as I am preparing meals. It keeps me from going back and forth to the garbage can. I store them in an empty dishwasher pod container. When my grandsons were in diapers, the bags were perfect for dirty diapers, especially when your garbage pickup is only once a week. Tie in a knot and toss. -- Patty, Bakersfield, California

Send a money-saving or timesaving hint to Heloise, P.O. Box 795001, San Antonio, TX 78279-5001, or you can fax it to 1-210-HELOISE or email it to Heloise@Heloise.com. I can't answer your letter personally but will use the best hints received in my column.

Toby Keith under treatment for cancer

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Country music star Toby Keith announced Sunday that he has been undergoing treatment for stomach cancer since last fall.

The multi-platinum-selling singer said on Twitter that he underwent surgery and received chemotherapy and radiation in the past six months.

"So far, so good," said Keith, an Oklahoma native who turns 61 on July 8. "I need time to breathe, recover and relax.

"I am looking forward to spending this time with my family. But I will see the fans sooner than later. I can't wait."

The status of Keith's performances for the remainder of this year wasn't immediately clear. His next performance is scheduled for June 17 in Wheaton, Illinois, according to his website. After Keith's announcement, the Ohio State Fair announced that his July 28 concert in Columbus, Ohio, has been canceled.

Keith's publicist, Elaine Schock, said in an email Sunday night that some tour dates will be canceled, "but I'm not sure how many at this point."

Keith's foundation has assisted children with cancer since 2006.

Heard understands verdict

NEW YORK (AP) — Amber Heard says she doesn't blame the jury that awarded Johnny Depp more than $10 million after a contentious six-week libel trial in her first post-verdict interview.

"I don't blame them," Heard told "Today" co-host Savannah Guthrie in an interview clip aired Monday on NBC. "I actually understand. He's a beloved character and people feel they know him. He's a fantastic actor."

"Today" plans to air more of its interview with Heard on Tuesday and Wednesday. The interview is airing nearly two weeks after the verdict, which also saw Heard awarded $2 million over her claim that one of Depp's attorneys defamed her.

Depp sued Heard for libel in Virginia over a December 2018 op-ed she wrote in The Washington Post describing herself as "a public figure representing domestic abuse." His lawyers said he was defamed by the article even though it never mentioned his name.

The verdicts brought an end to a televised trial that Depp hopes will help restore his reputation, though it turned into a spectacle that offered a window into a volatile marriage and both actors emerged with unclear prospects for their careers.

Guthrie pressed Heard on her credibility and what it meant to jurors in the clips released Monday. "There's no polite way to say it. The jury looked at the evidence you presented. They listened to your testimony and they did not believe you," she said. "They thought you were lying."

AG NOTES

By JOHN TEAGUE
UT/TSU Extension

The state veterinarian is announcing detection of Theileria orientalis Ikeda in a herd of cattle in Middle Tennessee. Theileria is a tickborne parasite that infects red and white blood cells and causes severe anemia in cattle. There is no vaccine to prevent the illness or effective treatment. Once an animal is infected, it is a carrier for life. The affected herd was in a county in Middle Tennessee showed signs of illness and lethargy, and despite veterinary attention and antibiotic treatments, ultimately some animals died.

Theileria is not a threat to human health. Humans cannot become sick from contact with affected cattle, and consuming meat from affected cattle is safe provided the meat has been cooked to an appropriate temperature. "The Asian longhorned tick is a common vector for this illness," State Veterinarian Dr. Samantha Beaty said. "Although we have not yet confirmed the presence of ALT in Maury County, we know it's already taken hold in several other Tennessee counties and will continue to spread. Cattle producers should take steps to protect their herds."

Producers can minimize risk by keeping cattle out of wooded areas and keeping pastures mowed short, particularly pastures that border woods. Producers should also regularly inspect cattle for ticks, use varying types of acaricides (ear tags, pours, back rubbers, etc.), use a clean needle for every injection, and notify a veterinarian if cattle show signs of lethargy or illness.

In partnership with the University of Tennessee and Virginia-Maryland College of Veterinary Medicine Diagnostic Lab, the Tennessee Department of Agriculture is collecting tick and blood samples from cattle to help identify the presence of the Asian longhorned tick and Theileria orientalis Ikeda in Tennessee.

The Tennessee Department of Agriculture is testing blood samples for Theileria for free until July 29, 2022. Results are available to producers upon request. Information gathered will be used to create county-level maps of tick and Theileria spread. Farm and ownership information will not be shared with the public.

If you would like to submit tick samples for identification or blood samples for Theileria testing, please contact the State Veterinarian's office at 615-837-5120 or Animal.health@tn.gov for more information. (Released by the Tennessee Department of Agriculture.)

NOTE: The issue here is the potential for the parasite spreading throughout the Asian long-horned tick (ALHT) population and that particular population of ticks getting here and growing and spreading in Bedford County. There is a possibility that part of the herd that was diagnosed with this Theileria was purchased in another part of Tennessee where the tick population has been identified.

We need to keep up our management of our cattle herd here at a high standard and use the products mentioned above to help protect our animals from ticks in general. We also need to keep up surveillance for ticks and try to identify them in our efforts to keep the ALHT from entering our herds. When buying cattle, know where they came from, observe that they are in good health and free from ticks and such, and it is always good to isolate them before allowing them to enter the herd.

I have more information available. Send me an email and I will be glad to share UT and TDA information. I will also be sending it to those who receive the weekly email newsletter.

There is no mention of this disease in other species.

FARMERS MARKET

Still no word from the vendors about being able to supply the Farmers Market with any volume. We are still contacting our vendors from the past and will try to open soon.

WISDOM

Father's Day is coming up. Mother's Day was a few weeks ago. These days are special to me, especially that my Daddy passed on Father's Day a few years ago. And my Mother followed him just seven weeks later, during the Bedford County Fair that year. They both were very important to us.

Family has always been a priority for us. We talk to our children almost daily, regardless of where they are, and we keep in contact with our grandchildren. They have always known that Meme and Grandee hold them special, and we love to share ourselves with them.

One of my sisters had a birthday last week, and we surprised her with a creek-side party this weekend. A big picnic and wading in the water and just enjoying each other does wonders for all of the generations, us older ones and the younger ones, too. All of our Teague clan was there.

I have an old issue of Progressive Farmer magazine with its Cornerstone section on family. I read all of these quotes from a lot of people and there are some good ones. But there are two I like a lot. Walt Disney said "Life is beautiful. It's about giving. It's about family." Michael J. Fox said "Family is not an important thing. It's everything."

Think about it.

Grill for dad on Father's Day

While dad is usually associated with grilling burgers and steaks, why not let the gals do the grilling this Sunday, June 18, which is Father's Day. Dad, take a break. We've got this! Find below a great recipe for spicing up steak sandwiches.

Grilled Chipotle Steak Sandwiches

Marinade
1/2 C. favorite steak sauce or Worcestershire sauce
1/2 C. lime juice
1 medium tomato, chopped
1 chipotle pepper in adobo sauce, chopped
1 Tbsp. oil
1 clove garlic, minced
1/4 tsp. cayenne pepper
1/4 tsp. paprika
1 Tbsp. brown sugar
Salt and pepper to taste
1 flank steak, or favorite steak (about 1 pound)
1 loaf crusty French or Italian bread
Butter for spreading
1/4 C. shredded Monterey Jack cheese

Mix all marinade ingredients in a bowl. Reserve about 1/3 a cup of the marinade and pour the rest into a resealable plastic bag. Add the steak to the bag and allow to marinate for an hour or more in the refrigerator. Spray the grill with nonstick cooking spray. Heat the grill to medium heat. Remove the steak from the bag and place on the grill. Allow to cook 17 to 20 minutes for medium-rare doneness, or until desired doneness. Brush the steak while cooking with the reserved marinade — don't use the marinade that was in the bag with the meat. Remove the steak and let it rest for 10 minutes. Slice the bread lengthwise and butter each half. Sprinkle on the shredded cheese. Put bread on the grill to toast slightly and melt the cheese. Slice the meat and place on the bread. Cut into serving-size portions and enjoy with your favorite side dish.

HAPPY FATHER'S DAY

Father's Day history

Each year, the third Sunday in June is a time to pay homage to fathers and the millions of other men who have stepped into the role of father. While it may seem as though Father's Day has been around forever, it didn't become a nationally recognized holiday in the United States until 1972, when President Richard Nixon signed Joint Resolution 187 into law. Many thank Sonora Smart Dodd for making Father's Day happen. In 1909, while attending a Mother's Day sermon in church, Dodd felt fathers were equally deserving of praise. To honor her own father, a Civil War veteran and widower who raised six children alone, Dodd petitioned for a Father's Day on June 5th (the anniversary of her father's death) in her native Spokane, Wash. The celebration was deferred to the third Sunday in June. Another account says Grace Golden Clayton came up with the idea for a Father's Day in 1908 in Fairmont,

West Virginia. Clayton was inspired to celebrate fathers after 361 local men perished in a deadly mine explosion. Clayton brought the idea up to the minister of her local church. Historians say that Father's Day may even be a much older idea. St. Joseph's Day, which was celebrated each year on March 19 in Catholic nations of Europe since the medieval era, and later elsewhere around the world, commemorates Joseph, the husband of Mary and father figure to Jesus. It was said that Joseph should be held up as the ideal example of fatherhood. The Coptic Orthodox Church celebrates St. Joseph's Day on July 20. In the Orthodox Christian Church, the second Sunday before the Nativity is celebrated as the Sunday of the Forefathers — celebrating all of Jesus' male ancestors, with an emphasis on Abraham, the patriarch of the Jewish faith. —MS

Father's Day gift ideas for all types of dads

This Father's Day, families will gather to thank dads for all they do. Gifts often are part of Father's Day celebrations, and here's a list of gift ideas for dads with various interests.

Gaming Dad

The draw of popular video games doesn't abate for some men as they get older. If your dad is at home with game controller in hand, then gifts that feed his hobby can be ideal.

Virtual reality has made great strides. Devices that enable VR game play and other entertainment may appeal to Dad. There are a few options on the market, like the Oculus, Pico Neo, HTC Vive, and Valve Index.

Another option is to gift the Nintendo Switch Console, which enables your dad to play at home connected to the television or on the go with the handheld controller and screen combination so he never misses a chance to engage in game play.

Sports Dad

Tap into your father's love of sports with gifts tailored to his passion. Baseball and soccer are played during warm months, so tickets to a game is something dads and their children can do together. You also can cheer his team on in front of a new big-screen television he gets for being such a great dad.

Outdoorsman Dad

If your dad is most at home with a fishing pole and tackle box, kayaking a nearby body of water, or hiding in a tree stand during hunting season, then gifts that cater to his love of the great outdoors are perfect. Insulated thermoses, waterproof bags for storing phones or wallets, multitools, backpacks, and hiking boots make great gifts.

Techy Dad

Does the idea of the latest "smart" offering get your father all revved up? Then purchase gifts that cater to his love of gadgets. Maybe he can use a new tablet or laptop that bridges the gap between home and office. Could it be time to upgrade his smartphone? A doorbell camera or home security kit can help Dad keep an eye on the comings and goings around the house when he's away. Or help him create surround lighting effects that can react to content on the screen or music being played with LED smart lighting strips.

Practical Dad

Some fathers don't want flashy gifts, instead preferring ones that can be used everyday. Think about a new paper shredder or identity block roller stamp to keep sensitive information safe. If Dad takes long road trips, then he might be able to use a car visor extender or a smartphone holder. Shelving, racks or storage straps for the garage also may put a smile on Dad's face. This year, make Father's Day a smash hit with gifts that cater to Dad's interests.—MS

Eagles' Puckett resigns Head football coach accepts baseball position

T-G STAFF REPORT

Shelbyville Central head football coach, Josh Puckett, has resigned from his position. He met with the team on Monday morning.

Puckett will be taking the head baseball position at Haywood County and will also be an assistant football coach.

Puckett was hired as the Eagles' head coach in 2020 amid the COVID-19 pandemic and led the Eagles to a 7-2 record in his first year.

After moving up to Class 6-A in 2021, Puckett guided Shelbyville Central to the first-ever Class 6-A playoff win over Rockvale.

In 2019, he led Lake County to the Class 1A state title before being hired at Shelbyville.

He posted a combined record of 12-9 during his two seasons as head coach for the Eagles.

PGA chief slams Saudi-funded league

By DOUG FERGUSON

AP Golf Writer

BROOKLINE, Mass. — PGA Tour Commissioner Jay Monahan described the Saudi-funded league that has signed up Dustin Johnson, Phil Mickelson and Bryson DeChambeau as a “series of exhibition matches” that spends billions of dollars on players without getting a return on its investment.

Monahan also said players paid an exorbitant amount of money would “have to be living under a rock” to not know they would be criticized for the source of the money. LIV Golf is backed by Saudi Arabia’s sovereign wealth fund.

“I would ask any player that has left, or any player that would ever consider leaving, ‘Have you ever had to apologize for being a member of the PGA Tour?’” Monahan said from Toronto on the CBS telecast of the RBC Canadian Open.

They were Monahan’s first public comments since Thursday, when Greg Norman’s LIV Golf series began and Monahan suspended all PGA Tour members who played at Centurion Golf Club outside London.

The LIV Golf Series has eight tournaments this year — five in the United States — with $25 million in prize money for each one, 54-hole events with no cut and 48-man fields. Charl Schwartzel won the first one Saturday and earned $4.75 million.

More than prize money, some players received enormous signing fees. The Daily Telegraph reported Johnson received $150 million, while Mickelson did not deny a report that he was paid $200 million for the startup venture. It was not clear for how many years they are committed.

In recent days, Norman announced DeChambeau and Patrick Reed have signed up and are expected to play the first U.S. event in Oregon at the end of the month. None of the top 10 players in the world has expressed interest in the new league.

Monahan said he suspended the players for violating tournament regulations. They were denied releases to compete in the London event and chose to play anyway. Players typically get three releases for overseas events, and two dozen got them for the Saudi International.

Monahan said that was a single event associated with a recognized tour (Asian Tour), compared with a series of events that poses a direct challenge to the PGA Tour by playing in the U.S.

“It’s my job to protect, defend and celebrate our loyal PGA Tour members, our partners and our fans, and that’s exactly what I did,” Monahan said.

Norman and some players in the LIV Golf event have talked about being free agents, able to play wherever they wanted, and have positioned the new league as adding to world golf instead of competing with the PGA Tour.

Johnson, Sergio Garcia and Graeme McDowell were among those who resigned their PGA Tour membership. Mickelson, already at The Country Club on Sunday to start preparing for the U.S. Open, has said he plans to keep the lifetime membership he earned with 45 wins and six majors.

Asked why players couldn’t play both tours, Monahan answered with a question of his own.

“Why do they need us so badly?” he said. “Those players have chosen to sign multiyear, lucrative contracts to play in a series of exhibition matches against the same players over and over again. You look at that versus what we see here today.”

Top-seeded Vols knocked out of NCAA tourney

By ERIC OLSON

AP Sports Writer

No. 1 national seed Tennessee got knocked out of the NCAA baseball tournament on the same day Mississippi, the last team selected, punched its ticket to the College World Series.

Sunday produced the biggest surprises of a tournament that went mostly according to form in the regional round. Super regionals have made up for that lack of drama.

Notre Dame beat Tennessee 7-3 in the deciding third game of their super regional and joined Ole Miss, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas and Texas A&M in the CWS.

The final two CWS spots will be filled Monday when Connecticut plays No. 2 Stanford and Auburn meets No. 3 Oregon State in Game 3s. The CWS begins Friday in Omaha, Nebraska.

Tennessee is the third straight No. 1 national seed to get eliminated in super regionals. Arkansas was bounced last year and UCLA in 2019. There was no tournament in 2020 because of the pandemic.

“Notre Dame will get to Omaha and enjoy that and probably do some damage. It’s a really tough group,” Vols coach Tony Vitello said. “What needs to stick with our guys, once time passes ... What do they say? Time heals all wounds? I don’t know who ‘they’ are, because sometimes those take a long time.”

Until Sunday, the Volunteers were the toast of college baseball with an explosive offense and a pitching staff stocked with projected major leaguers. They finished with a school-record 57 wins after getting out to a 31-1 start and sweeping the SEC regular-season and tournament titles. Their 158 homers were fourth-most all-time in Division I. They lost just one three-game series before the super regional in Knoxville.

Three Notre Dame pitchers combined to allow five hits, with freshman lefty Jack Findlay giving up one and holding the Vols scoreless over the last five innings.

The Irish erased a 3-1 deficit in the seventh inning. David LaManna, who entered the game with one home run, hit a two-run shot to tie it and Jack Brannigan followed with the go-ahead blast. The Irish added three more runs in the eighth.

The Irish had been in line for a top-16 national seed, which would have made them a regional host, but the NCAA selection committee made them a No. 2 regional seed and sent them to Statesboro, Georgia.

They won three games there, won the super regional opener 8-6 and bounced back from a 12-4 loss Saturday to earn their first trip to the CWS since 2002.

“We’ve battled and fought for years to get to this moment,” said coach Link Jarrett, whose team lost a three-game super regional to eventual national champion Mississippi State last year.

“Those are just exceptional human beings. They grasp what’s going on in the competition, they go do it, and to think this moment would be with a freshman finishing the most critical game, quite frankly, in the history of the program in this venue against that team.”

Notre Dame will take on Texas in its College World Series opener.

Mississippi, the last team to receive an at-large bid and a No. 3 regional seed, beat Southern Mississippi 5-0 in Hattiesburg. The Rebels, who won 10-0 Saturday, posted their first shutouts of the season and Southern Miss was blanked in back-to-back games for the first time since 1987.

Ole Miss pitchers allowed just seven hits in the two games and struck out 21 as the Rebels reached the CWS for the first time since 2014.

Oklahoma will return to the CWS for the first time since 2010 after wrapping up its super regional with an 11-2 win at No. 4 national seed Virginia Tech.

The Sooners hit five home runs, two by Tanner Tredaway, and Cade Horton struck out eight over six innings and retired 11 of the final 13 batters he faced.

Oklahoma will open the CWS against Texas A&M, which earned its spot Saturday with a sweep of Louisville.

“Dream come true,” Tredaway said. “We’ve all just worked our tail off. I just can’t be more proud of these guys and all we’ve put into that’s led up to this moment now.”

Arkansas scored twice in the bottom of the ninth inning to beat North Carolina 4-3, with the winning run coming home on Brady Slavens’ single into right field. The Razorbacks are heading to Omaha for the seventh time since 2004.

Texas will make a second straight CWS appearance and record 38th overall after getting out to a big lead early and routing East Carolina 11-1. Ivan Melendez hit his nation-best 32nd homer and Tristan Stevens pitched six strong innings for the Longhorns. The Pirates have made the most tournament appearances (32) without advancing to the CWS.

Ruggs' lawyers bid to block Vegas fatal crash blood evidence

By KEN RITTER

Associated Press

LAS VEGAS — Lawyers for ex-Las Vegas Raiders wide receiver Henry Ruggs are asking a judge to throw out evidence that prosecutors say shows Ruggs had a blood-alcohol level twice the legal limit while speeding at 156 mph on a city street before a fiery crash that killed a woman in November.

In a court filing that effectively delayed a preliminary hearing of evidence, Ruggs’ defense team argues police didn’t have a legal reason to ask a judge to authorize a warrant to obtain Ruggs’ blood.

“True probable cause did not exist,” attorneys David Chesnoff and Richard Schonfeld said in a document submitted May 23 to Las Vegas Justice of the Peace Ann Zimmerman. “The mere fact of Mr. Ruggs’s involvement in a fatal vehicle collision does not, in itself, give rise to probable cause to believe he was driving under the influence of alcohol.”

Ruggs was hospitalized and no field sobriety test was performed at the crash scene to determine if he was impaired, the document said. It notes that a police officer asked his sergeant what to do without an impairment finding.

The unnamed sergeant is recorded on body-worn camera audio responding that, “driving behavior and death alone is going to get you a warrant all day,” the court filing said.

Zimmerman pushed back from next week to Sept. 7 the date of a preliminary hearing to determine whether Ruggs will stand trial in state court on felony driving under the influence and reckless driving charges. She scheduled a July 12 hearing on the evidence question.

Schonfeld declined to comment ahead of the hearing, while prosecutor Eric Bauman said Friday he’ll “contest the motion and we will see what the court decides.”

Ruggs, 23, is a former first-round NFL draft pick. He remains on house arrest in Las Vegas with electronic GPS and alcohol monitors. He faces a mandatory two years in state prison and maybe more than 50 years if he’s convicted.

Ruggs also is charged with misdemeanor gun possession after police reported finding a loaded handgun in his demolished Chevrolet Corvette.

The Canadian Open featured Rory McIlroy, Justin Thomas and Tony Finau contending for the title, and Justin Rose challenging to shoot 59 or lower until he had to settle for a 60.

“You’ve got true, pure competition, the best players in the world here at the RBC Canadian Open, with millions of fans watching. And in this game, it’s true and pure competition that creates the profiles and presences of the world’s greatest players. And that’s why they need us. That’s what we do,” Monahan said.

“But we’re not going to allow players to free ride off of our loyal members.”

Still unclear was how the situation proceeds. The USGA has said it will not deny a player who earned his spot in the field at the U.S. Open, and the R&A is likely to honor the “open” nature of the British Open next month at St. Andrews.

Lawsuits are likely if PGA Tour players try to enter an event after being suspended for signing up and playing with LIV Golf. Norman has said LIV Golf would support its players.

Daniel Suarez celebrates in victory lane after taking the win at Sonoma.

Suarez makes history with Cup win at Sonoma

By GREG BEACHAM

AP Sports Writer

SONOMA, Calif. — Daniel Suárez had tears in his eyes for so many reasons Sunday after he realized a lifelong dream by crossing the finish line first at Sonoma Raceway.

While Suárez was overjoyed to become the first Mexican-born driver to win a NASCAR Cup Series race, he quickly felt overwhelmed with gratitude and memories of his motorsports journey. He also thought about the multitude of fans backing him across the continent and beyond, including several hundred red-shirted supporters screaming their hearts out in the Sonoma grandstands as part of his Daniel’s Amigos outreach program.

“I just feel extremely lucky,” Suárez said after holding off Chris Buescher to the checkered flag.

“I’m fortunate to be that driver that the whole Hispanic community can connect with,” he added. “I feel like I have an entire country and community behind me. The people wearing red shirts today, those are my people. Some of them, they have exactly the same journey I have — coming from Mexico, not knowing the language, trying to find an opportunity, having goals and trying to make that dream happen. These are my people, and I feel lucky to be the person to represent all of them.”

Despite those poignant thoughts, this occasion was not solemn for the 30-year-old native of Monterrey who finally won in the 195th career start of a Cup Series career that began in 2017.

After his tears dried in the car, he quickly called for the pinata shaped like a taco that he’s been keeping on hand for his first win — and he celebrated by punching a hole through it with his fist.

“Nobody knows how much sweat, sacrifice and tears this has caused me,” Suárez said. “This whole time, I was always dreaming about winning in the Cup Series.”

Suárez drove his Trackhouse Racing Chevrolet to the third Cup Series victory of the season for this rising 2-year-old team co-owned by former driver Justin Marks and music star Pitbull.

Suárez got past Buescher and took charge early in the final stage on this hilly road course in Northern California wine country, and he persevered through a pit stop and a caution to emerge in front with 23 laps to go. Buescher pushed him aggressively, but Suárez made no significant mistakes while rolling to victory.

Buescher’s second-place finish was also a season best in his RFK Racing Ford. He fell just short of his second career victory.

“Hurts to be that close, but congratulations to Suárez,” Buescher said. “We were trying, trying to get him. Ran out of steam there.”

Suárez is the fifth foreign-born driver to win a Cup Series race, and he’s the first to win on all three of NASCAR’s national series. He won the Xfinity Series championship in 2016, and he also won a Truck Series race that year.

“I have never met a more determined, focused, hard-working racer in 20 years in this sport,” Marks said. “It’s amazing how consistent he is, how that fire continues to burn.”

The success of Suárez and Trackhouse Racing could be a welcome boost to a sport eager to expand its cultural footprint. After moving to the U.S. 11 years ago with a desire to race on bigger stages, Suárez is a major success story for NASCAR’s Drive for Diversity program, which aims to bring new perspectives and backgrounds to a largely monocultural organization for much of its history.

Michael McDowell finished a season-best third in front of Kevin Harvick in cloudy conditions in Sonoma Raceway’s first Cup Series race at full capacity since before the coronavirus pandemic. Austin Cindric was fifth in the final race before the Cup Series’ one-week midseason break.

New guys

Suárez is the fourth first-time winner of this wide-open Cup Series season, joining Chastain, Cindric and Chase Briscoe.

Chute works

Sonoma Raceway restored the 1.99-mile Chute track layout for this race after using the longer Carousel configuration in the previous two editions in 2019 and 2021. The shorter track didn’t appear to lead to more contact in the racing, and not much happened in the first two stages, which were won by Larson and Joey Logano.

regardless of what their parents intended and their wills specified, men are in charge and women should shut up.”

Spanos Ruhl issued a separate statement saying the allegations by her sister are untrue.

“Throughout this entire ordeal that was instigated without justification by my sister Dea Berberian, my brother Dean has been unfailingly respectful of me and of my wishes. And he has been fighting, along with my brother Michael and me, to fulfill the wishes of our mother, Faye, relating to our family and our businesses,” she said. “To characterize Dean as somehow being less than fully respectful of the women in our family is just not right.”

According to the trust’s financial statements, debts totaled over $358 million as of Dec. 31, with debt service and expenses of at least $11 million per year. The trust’s stake in the Chargers makes up 83% of its holdings.

Forbes valued the Chargers at $2.6 billion in its recent franchise rankings. The trust’s share could be worth nearly $988 million.

win today and obviously sets me up well going into next week in Boston,” McIlroy said. “But right now I just want to enjoy this and focus on this.”

McIlroy has been one of the strongest opponents of the LIV Golf series and spoke out against the money being paid to players like Phil Mickelson and Dustin Johnson. Greg Norman, who runs the LIV Golf, said in a story in the Washington Post that McIlroy had been “brainwashed” by the PGA Tour.

McIlroy won for the second time this season, adding to his October win in Las Vegas in the CJ Cup. He won for the 21st time on the PGA Tour.

“This is a day I’ll remember for second alone.

“Rory played great,” Finau said. “He closed it out and hat’s off to him on a week like this. That’s fantastic playing on the weekend. I played great, he just played a couple shots better.”

Thomas was third at 14 under. Justin Rose matched the tournament- and course-record with a 60 — with three eagles and three bogeys — to tie for fourth with Sam Burns (65) at 14 under.

A week before the U.S. Open, the Canadian crowd was enormous having been kept away since 2019, and thousands surrounded the 18th green as the threesome of McIlroy, Thomas and Finau finished.

“It was really cool to be a part of and just really happy to get the

a long, long time,” McIlroy said soon after the victory. “Twenty-one PGA Tour wins, one more than somebody else.”

It was a dig at Norman, who had 20 career tour wins.

McIlroy repeated the jab later in the his main interview session when his victory total and accomplishments were noted in his introduction, saying: “And one more than Norman.”

“I had extra motivation of what’s going on across the pond,” McIlroy said. “The guy that’s spearheading that tour has 20 wins on the PGA Tour and I was tied with him and I wanted to get one ahead of him. And I did. So, that was really cool for me, just a little sense of pride on that one.”

India, China growing markets for shunned Russian oil

By KRUTIKA PATHI and ELAINE KURTENBACH
 Associated Press

NEW DELHI — India and other Asian nations are becoming an increasingly vital source of oil revenues for Moscow despite strong pressure from the U.S. not to increase their purchases, as the European Union and other allies cut off energy imports from Russia in line with sanctions over its war on Ukraine.

Such sales are boosting Russian export revenues at a time when Washington and allies are trying to limit financial flows supporting Moscow's war effort.

A report by the Helsinki, Finland-based Centre for Research on Energy and Clean Air, an independent think tank released Monday said Russia earned 93 billion euros ($97.4 billion) in revenue from fossil fuel exports in the first 100 days of the country's invasion of Ukraine, despite a fall in export volumes in May.

"Revenue from fossil fuel exports is the key enabler of Russia's military buildup and aggression, providing 40% of federal budget revenue," it said.

India, an oil-hungry country of 1.4 billion people, has guzzled nearly 60 million barrels of Russian oil in 2022 so far, compared with 12 million barrels in all of 2021, according to commodity data firm Kpler. Shipments to other Asian countries, like China, have also increased in recent months but to a lesser extent.

In an interview with The Associated Press, Sri Lanka's prime minister said he may be compelled to buy more oil from Russia as he hunts desperately for fuel to keep the country running amid a dire economic crisis.

Prime Minister Ranil Wickremesinghe said Saturday said he would first look to other sources, but would be open to buying more crude from Moscow. In late May, Sri Lanka bought a 90,000-metric-ton (99,000-ton) shipment of Russian crude to restart its only refinery.

Russia is moving to diversify its exports. Russian Ambassador Anatoly Antonov met Philippine President-elect Ferdinand Marcos Jr. on Monday and offered Moscow's help to provide oil and gas. He did not specify the terms.

Marcos Jr., whose six-year term is set to begin June 30, did not say if he was considering the offer.

Since Russia's invasion of Ukraine in late February, global oil prices have soared, giving refiners in India and other countries an added incentive to tap oil Moscow is offering them at steep discounts of $30 to $35, compared with Brent crude and other international oil now trading at about $120 per barrel.

Their importance to Russia rose after the 27-nation European Union, the main market for fossil fuels that supply most of Moscow's foreign income, agreed to stop most oil purchases by the end of this year.

"It seems a distinct trend is becoming ingrained now," said Matt Smith, lead analyst at Kpler tracking Russian oil flows. As shipments of Urals oil to much of Europe are cut, crude is instead flowing to Asia, where India has become the top buyer, followed by China. Ship tracking reports show Turkey is another key destination.

"People are realizing that India is such a refining hub, taking it at such a cheap price, refining it and sending it out as clean products because they can make such strong margins on that," Smith said.

In May, some 30 Russian tankers loaded with crude made their way to Indian shores, unloading about 430,000 barrels per day. An average of just 60,000 barrels per day arrived in January-March, according to the Centre for Research on Energy and Clean Air.

Chinese state-owned and independent refiners also have stepped up purchases. In 2021, China was the largest single buyer of Russian oil, taking 1.6 million barrels per day on average, equally divided between pipeline and seaborne routes, according to the International Energy Agency.

While India's imports are still only about a quarter of that, the sharp increase since the war began is a potential source of friction between Washington and New Delhi.

The U.S. recognizes India's need for affordable energy, but "we're looking to allies and partners not to increase their purchases of Russian energy," Secretary of State Antony Blinken said after a meeting of U.S. and Indian foreign and defense ministers in April.

Meanwhile, the U.S. and its European allies are engaged in "extremely active" discussions on coordinating measures, perhaps forming a cartel, to try to set a price cap on Russian oil, Treasury Secretary Janet Yellen told a Senate Finance Committee meeting on Tuesday.

The aim would be to keep Russian oil flowing into the global market to prevent crude oil prices, already up 60% this year, from surging still higher, she said.

"Absolutely, the objective is to limit the revenue going to Russia," Yellen said, indicating the exact strategy had not yet been decided on.

While Europe could find alternative sources for its purchases of about 60% of Russia's crude exports, Russia also has options.

India's foreign minister, Subrahmanya Jaishankar, has emphasized his country's intention to do what is in its best interests, bristling at criticism over its imports of Russian oil.

"If India funding Russian oil is funding the war ... tell me, then buying Russian gas is not funding the war? Let's be a little even-handed," he said at a recent forum in Slovakia, referring to Europe's imports of Russian gas.

India's imports of crude from Russia rose from 100,000 barrels per day in February to 370,000 a day in April to 870,000 a day in May.

A growing share of those shipments displaced oil from Iraq and Saudi Arabia, most of it going to refineries in Sika and Jamnagar on India's western coast. Up until April, Russian oil accounted for less than 5% of the crude processed at the Jamnagar oil refinery run by Reliance Industries. In May, it accounted for more than a quarter, according to Centre for Research on Energy and Clean Air.

India's exports of oil products like diesel have risen to 685,000 barrels per day from 580,000 barrels per day before the invasion of Ukraine. Much of its diesel exports are sold in Asia, but about 20% was shipped via the Suez Canal, headed for the Mediterranean or Atlantic, essentially Europe or the US, said Lauri Myllyvirta, a lead analyst at CREA.

It's impossible to quantify the exact amount of Russian crude in refined products being shipped out of India, he said. Still, "India is providing an outlet for Russian crude oil to get through the market," he said.

China's imports also have risen further this year, helping Russian President Vladimir Putin's government record a current account surplus, the broadest measure of trade, of $96 billion for the four months ending in April.

It's unclear if such exports might eventually be subject to sanctions meant to cut the cash flowing to Russia.

Regarding the sanctions, "Are those measures effective? And if not, how is the oil market working around them?" Myllyvirta said.
