Goose Creek Fire and Stage 2 Fire

MINERAL COUNTY—The Goose Creek Fire was reported at approximately 1:15 Sunday, June 28. It is burning several miles west of the Town of South Fork. The cause of the fire is currently listed as lighting.

The fire is burning in steep and rugged terrain near the top of the slope in the Goose Creek drainage, south of Lake Humphreys. Helicopters conducted numerous water drops on the fire June 28. The size of the fire as of June 29 was approximately 129 acres.

Monday, June 29 a Type 3 Incident Management Team (IMT) is managing the fire. Plans include a continued air attack with helicopters. Ground crews are developing alternative access options since the best access is near the top of the drainage and poses too high of a risk to firefighter safety.

The Rio Grande National Forest is currently under Stage 2 fire restrictions due to 0 percent of normal snowpack and severe drought conditions.

The following acts are prohibited on all National Forest System lands within the Rio Grande National Forest located within Alamosa, Archuleta, Conejos, Hinsdale, Mineral Rio Grande, Saguache and San Juan Counties, State of Colorado, ("the Restricted Area") and on all roads and trails located with the Restricted Area.

The purpose of this Order is to protect public health, safety, and natural resources by preventing wildfires.

PROHIBITIONS: This Order prohibits the following acts in the Restricted Area:

- 1) Igniting, building, maintaining, attending or using a fire, including fires in developed recreation sites (campgrounds and picnic areas), charcoal grills and barbecues, coal and wood burning stoves, and sheepherder's stoves.
2) Smoking, except within an enclosed vehicle, trailer or building.
3) Blasting, welding, or operating acetylene or other torch with open flame.

4) Operating or using any internal combustion engine without an effective and properly installed USDA- or Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE)- approved spark arrestor.

5) Operating a chain saw without an effective and properly installed USDA- or SAE- approved spark arrestor, a chemical pressurized fire extinguisher (with a minimum of 8 oz. capacity and rating of 2A) kept with the operator and a round point shovel with an overall length of at least 35 inches readily available for use.

6) Using an explosive. This includes but is not limited to fuses, blasting caps, fireworks, rockets, exploding targets, tracers and incendiary ammunition.

7) Possessing or using a motor vehicle off established roads, motorized trails or established parking areas, except when parking in an area devoid of vegetation within 10 feet of the vehicle.

The fire is burning in steep and rugged terrain near the top of the slope in the Goose Creek drainage, south of Lake Humphreys.

Valley suffers eighth COVID related death

SAN LUIS VALLEY—Monday Alamosa County confirmed another COVID-related fatality, a resident of a long-term care facility. There have been 8 fatalities of individuals with COVID-19 in the SLV. Twenty-one new cases for the SLV have been reported since Friday, 6/26: 12 from Alamosa County, 2 each for Conejos and Mineral, 4 for Rio Grande, and 1 for Saguache County. The total number of cumulative cases was 420 at end of day Monday. There are currently 98 known active cases. Thirty-one total people have been hospitalized, and 314 have completed isolation. Numbers are updated weekdays at slvemergency.org/slv-covid-19/.

Times of crisis often fuel innovation, and this pandemic is no exception. Cloth face coverings are necessary to slow the spread of COVID-19 but can create issues with communication. Not only do face coverings sometimes muffle sound, being able to see facial expressions is a critical component to understanding others, particularly for individuals who rely on lip-reading. Early on in the pandemic, some mask makers addressed this issue by creating face coverings where the mouth and lower face was visible through a plastic window. The effectiveness of these face coverings as compared to other types of face coverings made for public use is still unknown, but it is encouraging that people are coming up with solutions to help accommodate identified needs. The CDC elaborates, "If a clear face covering isn't available, consider whether you can use written communication, use closed captioning, or decrease background noise to make communication possible while wearing a cloth face covering that blocks your lips."

No matter what kind of face-covering you wear, it is important to wear one when you are around others or out in public during the pandemic, particularly when social distancing is a challenge. In combination with social distancing and handwashing, wearing a cloth face covering has been proven to be an effective deterrent to transmitting COVID-19. For updated recommendations from the CDC about cloth face coverings, see this link: https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-

ncov/prevent-getting-sick/cloth-face-cover-guidance.html

Current fire weather conditions are critical across the SLV region. Please be familiar with burning restrictions in your area. Also, be aware of the health hazards associated with wildfire smoke. If the smoke is thick enough that you can't see clearly 5 miles in any direction, it is unhealthy to be outside. People with chronic lung conditions, asthma, and other issues should be especially vigilant.

OBITUARIES

William Gallagher

ALAMOSA — William Gallagher died the afternoon of June 22, 2020, at San Luis Valley Health in Alamosa, Colorado. The son of James Aloysius and Sophia (Birk) Gallagher, he was born in Louisville, Kentucky, on May 7, 1920. The family moved to San Diego, California, six months later, and Bill spent his formative years in the state, mostly in greater Los Angeles. He graduated from Alhambra High School in 1938 and then attended Cal Poly San Luis Obispo (now California State Polytechnic University), where he earned a degree in animal husbandry and was a member of the school's first 4-year graduating class in 1942.

Bill enlisted in the United States Navy in July 1942. Commissioned an ensign, he subsequently was promoted to lieutenant junior grade and then to lieutenant. Because he had sailing experience on this grandfather's 40-foot schooner before the war, he was given command of the USS Romain (IX-89, an 84-foot schooner) and later the USS Saluda (IX 87, an 89-foot Yawl), both of which carried out submarine patrols and other duties between Florida and New England in 1942-45. Although Bill never saw combat during the war, he did have memorable experiences. Near Cape May, New Jersey, on the night of May 8, 1945 (the date of Nazi Germany's capitulation), a U-Boat surfaced 100 yards from the Saluda, and the two vessels exchanged messages with flashers. The next morning, the submarine was gone. Bill soon learned that a German submarine had surrendered at Cape May later May 9 and always believed it was the same one. Transferred to the Pacific Theater in the late summer of 1945, he turned down a promotion to lieutenant commander and completed active duty in February 1946. Mustered out in San Francisco, he returned to Pasadena, where his parents then lived.

On June 16, 1946, Bill married Shirley Rose Gray at the Episcopal Church of Our Savior in San Gabriel, California. The couple, who would have a 73-year marriage, soon had two sons, Timothy Newton (b. 1948) and Gary William (b. 1950). Bill farmed in Antelope Valley and the San Gabriel Valley between 1946 and 1954. He and Shirley Rose first lived in Lancaster, then in Alhambra, and in 1950 purchased a new home in San Gabriel. Increasing land prices in California led Bill to consider acquiring a farm in Nevada, but instead, he and the family relocated in the summer of 1954 to the San Luis Valley, where he and Dan Childs, an old friend from Cal Poly, managed a large landholding owned by the Chicago insurance magnate John D. MacArthur. The family lived east of Alamosa until Bill, eager to work for himself on his own farm, moved in 1957 to the Carmel District. Bill and Shirley resided in Carmel for more than 40 years, then took up residence in Alamosa in 1999.

Bill always described himself as a farmer, but he spent a great deal of his working life building things. A self-taught engineer, he oversaw the construction of lettuce-processing plants in Alamosa (1956), Las Cruces, New Mexico (1959), and Center, Colorado (1962-63), and during the 1970s and 1980s built structures of various kinds in the San Luis Valley (including two homes for himself and Shirley). He developed a wide network of friends and always took an interest in real estate. A generous and knowledgeable mentor, Bill helped a number of young people begin businesses, and took pleasure in their successes. His children and grandchildren often spoke about the range of people who considered him a friend, including those of his own generation as well as many who were much younger. Energetic and actively engaged with life into his 90s, he announced, to the astonishment of the family, that at age 97 he intended to buy and "flip" a house. In typical fashion, he accomplished his goal.

Bill always loved horses and enjoyed flying small aircraft. An accomplished rider, he bought and sold horses as a teenager in Alhambra and participated in rodeos in California and Arizona, most often in the bull riding and bareback bronc events. At Cal Poly, he was part of the team that won the Intercollegiate Rodeo championship at Victorville, California, on April 13, 1940. The silver spurs he won on that occasion remain a treasured family heirloom. He earned his pilot's license in the mid-1950s and over the next thirty years owned and flew, in succession, a Piper Tri-Pacer, a Mooney, and a Piper Comanche.

Bill made an indelible mark on his children and grandchildren. A great storyteller with an astonishing memory for details, he conveyed to them a huge number of sayings and anecdotes. The grandchildren compiled a list of what they called "Pappyisms," their favorite examples of his often comical and down-to-earth sayings. On a more fundamental level, Bill taught them, by his own example, the value of hard work and of keeping your word. He had little patience with excuses and did not worry about things over which he had no control.

Bill leaves behind a legacy of friendship and accomplishment. He is survived by his son Tim and his wife Marsha, his son Gary and his partner Joan Waugh, his grandchildren William Paul (Yasuko) Gallagher, Angie (Jason) Rossback, Tami (Matt) Sliwkowski, and Marlena (Steven) Halko, and eight great-grandchildren. Bill's ashes will be scattered at an appropriate place by members of the family in a private ceremony.

Rogers Family Mortuary is in care of the arrangements. To leave memories and your condolences for Bill's family please visit www.RogersFunerals.com.

Barbara M. Lee Salazar, 86

ALAMOSA — Barbara M. Lee Salazar, 86, passed away on Friday, June 26 at Penrose-St. Francis Hospital in Colorado Springs, Colo. A life-long Alamosa resident, she was born on Dec. 4, 1933 to Pascual and Mildred Lee.

She attended Alamosa schools and graduated from St. Scholastica Academy in Cañon City, Colo. in 1951. Barbara worked in the financial field for many years, including the Mount Carmel Credit Union; she retired from the Alamosa County 12th Judicial District in 2000. She was a member of the Credit Women International and Business and Professional Women Foundation.

Barbara was a devout Catholic and an auxiliary member of The Legion of Mary-Sacred Heart Catholic Church. She dedicated her life to her church and faith and was well-loved and respected throughout the community.

She was known as Grandma Barbara to not only her grandchildren, but to numerous nieces, nephews and friends. Barbara was an avid sports fan and loved the Denver Broncos, Colorado Rockies and Air-Force Falcons.

She especially enjoyed the time spent with her loving family.

CENTER — Peggy Yovonne Duran, 62 years of age and resident of Center, Colorado, left this earth and entered into heaven on June 19, 2020.

Peggy was born on February 18, 1958, to Toby M. Duran and Louise O. Trujillo Duran in Los Angeles, California. She was united in marriage to Miguel Castro Robles.

Peggy was so full of life. She loved God, loved her life, and loved people. She was always with a smile and a song in her heart, and when it came out of her mouth, it was heavenly. She could sing! She loved to sing. She enjoyed cooking, having a clean home, and liked calling and communicating with her loved ones. Yard sales, pedicures, The Goodwill, and Pier 1 were on her agenda and her favorite things to do as she would travel often to Grand Junction to be with and spend time with her children and grandchildren with the hopes of soon retiring to live there close to them. They were her pride and joy. She was an amazing wife, mom, grandma, daughter, sister, auntie, cousin, and friend to many. Her love for Jesus was evident. Her life was a beautiful testimony and

Alamosa BOE wrestles with mask issue

STAFF REPORT

The Alamosa School Board's June meeting commenced the evening of June 29. The Board continues to work through the COVID-complications inherent to opening this fall. Of course, students' safety is their number one concern.

As of now, the Board is considering the idea of presenting students with an option: either attending school physically or virtually. The Board ensures both curriculums are of equal quality. This decision is contingent on both the State's approval and the local public health department guidelines.

This issue opened up the conversation around what school offers children that they cannot get online.

The pros compete with the cons here, as students need stability and socialization. However, the cons of COVID are also present. These facts are why the Board wants to provide students with the option.

There was some tension surrounding the students' use of masks while physically present at school. The Alamosa School District would only be requesting students to wear masks, not requiring them. Some Board members expressed concern here, but Superintendent Rob Alejo admitted: "There is a big question mark regarding whether or not it is legal to require people to wear masks."

The Board discussed, at length, procedures for re-opening for the 2020-2021

school year. Alejo reminded members the document is "alive," meaning it will change according to need. Some questions brought up concerned when and how the district would determine whether or not to shut schools down. Much of the school year will be touch-and-go, but be sure the Alamosa School Board is anticipating these complications and developing procedures to ensure students' safety.

The meeting ended with the assistant superintendent, Marsha Cody, giving her report. She highlighted members of the Accelerated Design Network team, who set out to work with families and ensure quality educational experience, if they choose distance-learning.

Moose baseball splits with Buena Vista

ALAMOSA — Following guidelines set by the public health department, the Alamosa Mean Moose resumed action on the Ortega diamond on Saturday, splitting a double header with Buena Vista.

Coach Paul Duarte said both teams practiced social distancing and an extra effort was made to sanitize balls and other equipment regularly during the games. Plans were presented to public health in advance.

Allowing the visitors early leads in both contests, Alamosa battled back in the offensive opener to win 11-8, dropping the nightcap 6-5.

Senior-to-be Tyler Duarte stole the offensive show in the first tilt and took the win on the hill as starting pitcher. His four runs batted in came on a sacrifice fly in the first, a single in the third and a double in the sixth. He went four innings on the mound, allowing six runs on three hits and striking out eight before being relieved by Kade Jones.

Alamosa outhit the Demons 8-6 with Duarte and Case Zimmerman contributing multiple hits.

After trailing 4-1 early, the Moose took the lead for good with two runs in the fourth after exploding for five runs in the third. The offensive onslaught came on a double by Zimmerman and singles by Duarte and Dustin Curto.

Alamosa Mean Moose's effort to come back from down five runs in the second inning came up just short, as they fell 6-5 to Buena Vista in the second game. The home team tallied three runs in the failed comeback as Michael Madril, David Jordan, and Dawson Honeycutt fueled the rally with RBIs.

Case Zimmerman started the game for Alamosa, allowing six hits and six runs over two and two-thirds innings, striking out five. Donovan Ramirez and Madril entered the game from the bullpen, throwing three innings and one and one-third innings respectively.

Madril, Tyler Duarte, Honeycutt, Kade Jones, Zimmerman, and Ramirez each managed one hit to lead the Moose.

Alamosa's Dawson Honeycutt sends dirt flying as he successfully stole second base in Saturday's opening day win over Buena Vista.

Tyler Duarte dominated the mound and his bat in Saturday's opener, knocking in four runs and earning the win on the mound, striking out eight in four innings of work.

2020 Adams State Football Schedule Released

ALAMOSA — The 2020 Adams State Grizzlies Football Schedule has been released! The Grizzlies will open up on the road September 5th against non-conference opponent Western New Mexico, and will then wrap up their non-conference schedule with their home opener, which will also mark the first home night game since the 2015 season, as they prepare to take on Eastern New Mexico on September 12th at Rex Stadium. After that, they will open up RMAC play again on the road in Week Three, against bitter rival Western Colorado. The Grizzlies will be the beneficiary of a home-dominant schedule, as they play six contests at Rex Stadium to just five on the road. Home and away opponents are as follows:

Mines, Week 7 - Chadron State, Week 10 - Fort Lewis

Dates and times are listed on the 2020 schedule at asugrizzlies.com

An important note is that all contests are subject to change, depending on the actions the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference and/or the NCAA take prior to the Fall 2020 season.

Stay tuned, as we will release the 2020 Adams State Grizzlies Women's Volleyball Schedule Monday, with Women's Soccer to be released Tuesday.

HOME: Week 2 - Eastern New Mexico (non-RMAC), Week 4 - Black Hills State, Week 6 - Colorado Mesa, Week 8 - CSU-Pueblo, Week 9 - New Mexico Highlands, Week 11 - Colorado Mines

AWAY: Week 1 - Western New Mexico (non-RMAC), Week 3 - Western Colorado, Week 5 - South Dakota

Conejos County Rotary Club bridging social distance

LA JARA — During this pandemic turmoil, social distancing and isolation are common terms used daily and quarantine has turned some family's lives upside down. Members of the Conejos County Rotary Club found a way to bridge the social distance between partners, friends and family members by preparing Quarantine/Coronavirus care packages for families who find themselves in quarantine during this pandemic. Members filled 10 boxes and delivered them to the Conejos County Public Health department that will see to their distribution.

"There's everything from cereal, shampoo, toothpaste, face masks and non-perishable items in these care packages. We felt the need to help families that are having trouble obtaining essential items while in isolation," said Rotarian Steve Cordova. Club members felt that Public Health had a great pulse on what's taking place in the county and partnered with them to help reach those who need the care package the most. Testing positive can be a frightening experience and this is a way to reach out and brighten someone's day during these challenging times. "Most malls are closed and we can't splurge on new shoes, so we challenge community members to use that money to purchase and prepare your own Quarantine/Coronavirus care package and deliver it to your local public health office," said Rotarian Julie Gomez-Nuanes. For more information, contact Conejos County Rotary Club at POB 145, La Jara, Co 81140.

New rules and what they mean for all Coloradans

DENVER — The Colorado Parks and Wildlife Commission recently adopted a rule change, requiring all visitors 18 or older to possess a valid hunting or fishing license to access any State Wildlife Area or State Trust Land leased by Colorado Parks and Wildlife. This new rule will be in effect beginning July 1, 2020.

"Colorado Parks and Wildlife manages over 350 State Wildlife Areas and holds leases on nearly 240 State Trust Lands in Colorado, which are funded through the purchase of hunting and fishing licenses," said Southeast Regional Manager Brett Ackerman. "The purpose of these properties is to conserve and improve wildlife habitat, and provide access to wildlife-related recreation like hunting and fishing that are a deep part of Colorado's conservation legacy."

Because these properties have always been open to the public, not just to the hunters and anglers that purchased them and pay for their maintenance, many people visit these properties and use them as they would any other public land. As Colorado's population - and desire for outdoor recreation - has continued to grow, a significant increase in traffic to these SWAs and STLs has disrupted wildlife, the habitat the areas were acquired to protect, and the hunters and anglers whose contributions were critical to acquiring these properties.

Because funding for these properties is specifically generated by hunting and fishing license sales and the resulting federal grant match, requested options such as "hiking licenses" or "conservation permits" would not allow for the maintenance and management needed. Any funding from one of these conceptual licenses or permits would reduce the federal grant dollar for dollar and thus fail to increase CPW's ability to protect and manage the properties.

"This new rule change will help our agency begin to address some of the unintended uses we're seeing at many of our State Wildlife Areas and State Trust Lands," said CPW Director Dan Prenzlow. "We have seen so much more non-wildlife related use of these properties that we need to bring it back to the intended use - conservation and protection of wildlife and their habitat."

"We do anticipate some confusion based on how the properties are funded, and the high amount of unintended use over time in these areas. We plan to spend a good amount of time educating the public on this change," said Ackerman. "But in its simplest form, it is just as any other user-funded access works. You cannot use a fishing license to enter a state park, because the park is not purchased and developed specifically for fishing. Similarly, you cannot use a park pass to enter lands that are intended for the sole purpose of wildlife conservation, because a park pass is designed to pay for parks." State law requires that the agency keep these funding sources separated.

CPW is a user-funded agency and, unlike most government agencies, receives very little money from the general fund. The new rule requires all users to contribute to the source of funding that makes the acquisition and maintenance of these properties possible. But the activities that interfere with wildlife-related uses or that negatively impact wildlife habitat don't become acceptable just because an individual possesses a hunting or fishing license. Each SWA and STL is unique and only certain activities are compatible with each property.

Many questions on the new rule are answered through our State Wildlife Area Frequently Asked Questions document. Visit cpw.state.co.us for additional information on agency projects and funding.

Boyfriend's sudden ghosting causes hurt and confusion

DEAR ABBY: I am dealing with the worst heart-break ever. I don't know what I did to make my boyfriend stop liking me. He won't talk to me or text me back, and now he has blocked me on Facebook. One minute he said that he would always hang out with me and the next he told me to stop messaging him and blocked me. All of this has made me go out of control, and now I want to hate on everyone. How can I stop this awful hurt? -- LOVE HURTS IN OREGON self busy. Focus on other things and talk with your friends and family about your feelings. If you do, you will soon realize that others have experienced the same disappointment you have. And, above all, remember that although this experience may have been romantic for a while, it has run its course.

DEAR ABBY: I am at my wits' end with my husband. I have a vision impairment as a result of ocular cancer, and he refuses to stop making fun of me about it. He teases me constantly about being blind, about not being able to read, and about how bad my eyes are.

My eyes ARE very bad, some days much worse than others, but I'm not totally blind. And, Abby, I can read -- just not the way I used to. When I tell him it hurts my feelings, he either gets angry at me for being "too sensitive" or brushes it off because he's "just being honest."

He is very religious, and I have thought about reaching out to his pastor about this because it bothers me so much, but I'm agnostic and don't have a relationship with him. It hurts me, but it's almost worse because our daughter watches it, and I don't want her to think it's OK for her daddy to bully me like this. -- CHALLENGED IN TENNESSEE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

You are NOT too sensitive, and your husband is NOT just being honest! He may be punishing you because you had the nerve to get ocular cancer, or he may simply have a sadistic streak. This is not how good Christians behave; it is how hypocrites do.

That you are an agnostic -- many intelligent and pious individuals are, by the way -- should not stop you from having a conversation with your husband's pastor. However, even if the pastor were to craft a sermon on the subject, I doubt it would change your husband's behavior. If you are going to continue in this marriage, you must find a way to change the way you react to the mistreatment you are receiving. Perhaps once he finds he can't get the reaction he's looking for, he will stop.

DEAR CHALLENGED:
