Laughlin Gulch burn postponed

SAGUACHE — The Saguache Ranger District announced Monday that the Laughlin Gulch prescribed fire plans have been postponed for several weeks. The district received the beneficial moisture from the last storm. However, it was significantly more moisture than anticipated when the planned burn was announced on May 3.

The project is targeting slash "jackpots" and calls for green up of the fine fuels in the area to serve as a holding feature. This moisture will benefit the new growth and bolster the containment capabilities of the burn. The need to postpone is based on the drying of the target fuels to ensure the fire will meet project objectives.

The Saguache Ranger District will advise the public when conditions become more favorable and planning for the prescribed fire resumes.

County Sheriff Terry Wetherill, Mineral County Emergency Manager Clint Leggitt and Rio Grande County Emergency Manager Brian Burrell spoke about the coming runoff season and gave some tips on how to be safe while still enjoying the rivers around the Valley.

According to reports from several agencies, runoff levels for the 2024 runoff season are on the lower side but according to local officials, that does not remove the danger of swift water and peak river flows during this spring season. "Depending on the rate of snow melt and any kind of rain on snow event, the water levels in rivers and tributaries can continue to rise though I think we are near the peak for the year. It is still important to use caution while out on the river," said Mineral County Emergency Manager Leggitt.

As water levels rise, more dangers must be considered when recreators head out on the water. "People need to consider bridges. When a river is at its peak, the height of water rafts and bridges must be considered. It is also important to pay attention to personal safety devices such as life jackets and helmets. If you do go overboard or fall into the river, make sure you know what to do to protect yourself, such as moving into a defensive swimming position," said Mineral County Sheriff Wetherill.

Though local officials are not expecting a high runoff year, teams are still working to prepare for an emergency should one arise. At the end of April teams with the Mineral County Search and Rescue conducted swift water training which included training with ropes and mock rescue.

"We advise people who plan to go out on the river to always go in pairs or if fishing alone, to be knowledgeable of how to react in case of an emergency. If you are not experienced, then find someone who is and have them go with you or teach you fundamentals. And please, if you're out on the river, wear a life jacket," said Wetherill.

In addition to safety protocols, it is also important to be aware of floating debris. Trees, limbs and other obstacles that can damage rafts or cause someone to lose balance while wading in the river are floating through the water. Undercurrents can be dangerous in deep areas when the river is moving at peak flows.

Anyone wanting to know more about swift water safety can visit www.swiftwatersafetyinstitute.com to learn safety protocols or receive training.

George W. Blake

George W. Blake, 103, passed away at Homelake Veterans Center in Monte Vista, Colo., on May 8, 2024.

He was the only child of Florence Rosa (Sears) of London, England and George W. Blake of Plymouth, England. George Jr. was born on January 29, 1921, in the Bronx, NY. Shortly after his birth the family moved to Flatbush in Brooklyn, NY. He grew up in Brooklyn attending P.S. 119 and then on to graduate from Textile HS in Manhattan.

At 15 years of age he met Helen, the love of his life, and except for his military service overseas during WWII they were together for the rest of their lives. After almost 70 years of marriage Helen passed away in 2013.

George served almost 5½ years in the Army during WWII with over 3 years of his service overseas. He was assigned to an Artillery Unit for the Harbor Defense of Pearl Harbor, T.H. 1941. George was trained as a Morse Code radio Operator and later was in charge of a Radar installation for Artillery Fire. At the end of the war, he was discharged with the rank of Staff Sergeant. Following his discharge he joined the Air Force Reserves.

Upon his discharge from the Army, George became employed by the Research Department of Bell Telephone Laboratories in NY. Due to the nature of his assignments and the expansion of Bell Labs, George and Helen moved several times and have lived in 5 states: VA, NY, NJ, IL, and CO. In 1983 after 37 years with the company he retired from the Bell Labs in Denver and moved to Salida, CO.

George was sent to the University of Hawaii by the Army and while majoring in electrical engineering, he did the equivalent of his freshman year. Later he continued his college education on the GI Bill by attending Brooklyn Polytechnical Institute. Due to his relocation to the Bell Labs in NJ, he transferred to Rutgers University where he completed his education as an engineer.

George was active in community service during his adult life serving as a volunteer on the Fire Department in NJ, Auxiliary Police in IL, and after retirement George did other volunteer functions. He was on the Boards of Starpoint, The Ark Valley Humane Society, The Salida Elks, The Mesa Heights Homeowners Association, and District Director of The Pearl Harbor Survivors Association. And he was especially proud of his many hours of volunteer service during his eight years as an EMT on the Chaffee County Ambulance. He was also a life member of Salida Post 808 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

George is survived by his three daughters, Margaret Glaser (Andrew) of Annandale, NJ, Barbara Swift of Maple Park, IL and Colleen Trinko (Paul) of Glen Ellyn, IL. Five Grandchildren Drew Glaser, Jeff Glaser (Jen), Amy Glaser, Kari Soprych and Megan Loebbaka (Cale) and ten great grandchildren Jack & Lucy, Eve (Arthur), & Indra (Andrew), Ella and Andrew, Ethan and Emma, Sawyer and Charlotte. OPINION & EDITORIAL

We can do that

If you know anything at all about Ol' Dutch, it is that he has always been a can-do type of person. I don't know if there is anything I haven't done or am not willing to try to do myself. And if you also know that I have Scottish blood flowing through these old veins, you will know the reason for doing so. Yes, true to that heritage I am tight as bark on a tree when it comes to money.

That also came fairly honestly to me as my family have all been frugal. Mostly out of a need due to lack of mammon but also, we just like to do our own projects and count Home Depot and Lowes as a pilgrimage. And generally, I do not mind a bit as I know I will get a better-quality product in the end if I do it myself even though it may take me longer to get it done.

Having grown up in a church family I had ample opportunity to help build, clean, mow, set up chairs, bring food and other things as those needs became available. But the one thing that drives me to distraction about that process is all the people who are always so gung-ho when some project or need is announced and say, "We can do that."

Almost every time I have heard "we can do that," it means, "Dutch, get ready to work." When it comes time for the deed, I always seem to find myself working while the well-meaning become weary in well-doing, which is in the Bible actually.

In Galatians, you'll find the advice that people need to be careful not to get worn out doing good works but if they persevere, they will reap a reward in due time. I don't know about you, but "due time" seems to be a "long time" when it comes to reaping back. But it does pay eventually.

As you all know Miss Trixie and I have been in the middle of building a house and most of the work has fallen on yours truly, Ol' Dutch. And I would not have it any other way I guess but I can tell you this. I have heard "we can do it" from more than one person and for some reason they were all no shows when it came time for actual work.

And yes, I do understand that people are busy, but those alligator mouths need to learn to stay shut when the subject of work for others comes up.

In writing this column, Miss Trixie has informed me that when she says, "we can do that," it is supposed to be words of encouragement because apparently, she thinks that will help me. It doesn't.

For other folks, saying "we can do that" makes them feel good at the moment they say it and their intentions were good, too, at that time. But we all know what the road to Hell is paved with and I can see why Abbot Bernard of Clairvaux coined the phrase way back in the mid 1100's.

He probably had a church to build, a rectory to add on to or some such thing and everyone around probably said they would help only to never show up for the actual project. I think the funniest part of those encounters with people is that after the work is all done and the paperwork filed, they still take credit for what "we" built.

So, if you have a project, be it church related or personal in nature, you can expect a chorus of voices encouraging you to go right ahead with said venture. And as long as you know that "We" means "Me", as in you alone, you will be good for the journey.

How did so much stuff pile up?

By RICH WANDSCHNEIDER

A few years ago, I turned a carport into a bedroom. But first I had to empty out the books, papers, furniture, rugs and tools that were in the carport. Then I took it all to a storage unit where rent was $50 a month.

After three years of thinking about it, and only occasionally pawing through the storage unit for a lost item, I finally sorted out a handful of books and items that meant something — I could have fit them in a suitcase! — and held a yard sale for the rest.

I think about that when I see storage facilities spreading and expanding across the country. At least 500 units have been built here in eastern Oregon's Wallowa County, population 7,500, and storage businesses can be found in towns and suburbs across the West.

A local entrepreneur who owns about half the local units is now building in regional towns as well: Concrete slabs with metal buildings on top, single light bulbs inside, no plumbing.

I'm past 80 now, and, although my house is small, I have held onto a lot of stuff. In the normal course of events, my children would inherit it.

But my two children and their families live in Arizona and Guam, busy building their own inventories of stuff. In a previous age, when there was a family house and three or more children to a house, the house and its basic furnishings would go to one child, and the remaining children would parcel out anything else.

In my nuclear family, it worked like this: Mom passed on, and no one wanted or needed the house, so Dad called a summit meeting as he prepared to go into assisted living.

We four siblings gathered for a week in the sunny Southern California backyard and emptied the house. Dad sat in his captain's chair and laid down the rules: if you brought it into the house — sculpture from Africa, old sports equipment — you took it away. Or traded with a sibling. One table was set up for stuff to go to Dad's best friend and another for a yard sale, and off we went to sort through the remaining items.

When it came to Dad's fine collection of old cameras, they went to brother Phil, in Dad's estimation the only one of us who knew how to take a decent photo. The tools were split between sister Mary and me: "You both at least know the difference between an end wrench and a crescent"

Dad said that he had seen families argue and split over parental leavings, and he wanted no part of that. So, on we went, sorting through grandma's rag rugs, old diplomas, a collection of bell bottom pants and lots of keepsakes, all the while drinking beer and retelling old stories.

We cried some as we set Dad up with a few things for the assisted living place, then left for our own homes. I got Dad's last Ford — his cars were always Fords — as he figured my family needed a good second car more than did the others.

It was a wonderful week.

I don't have plans for a summit, but I am looking around the house and thinking about what child or grandchild might want the things I have held onto, such as carpets from Turkey, artwork by Northwest artist friends, cast iron cookware and so many books.

Books written and signed by Ivan Doig and Ursula LeGuin — they can go to libraries now. And I smile thinking about taking my best Turkish carpet to a granddaughter's first house.

Last week, Nez Perce artist Carla Timentwa brought a fine collection of beadwork, woven basket hats and shell dresses to the Josephy Center in the town of Joseph, where I work. She said she'd ignored her grandmother's teachings as a child, but on becoming a grandmother herself, took up the arts and began making things to give away: hats for granddaughters who serve food in the Longhouse, a fine beaded vest for her husband, dresses for young women to wear at naming and mourning ceremonies.

It's important, Carla said, to take care of others as they come into the world, as they grow and as they leave. It's a good lesson — giving is always more important than storing stuff away.

Busy watching final season of United States

LA JOLLA — God bless America, and how's everybody?

Daily Variety reports TV shows are spread out over so many platforms that sports and news are our only nationally shared experiences. This past week I've been unable to watch the NFL Draft or the NBA playoffs or the Kentucky Derby. I'm too busy watching the final season of the United States.

Cinco de Mayo was a festive drinking holiday in America Sunday honoring the date in history that Mexican forces routed the French Army in 1862. Ah yes, the French Army, everybody's favorite homecoming opponent. I'm so pro-Hispanic that candy would come out of me if you hit me with a stick.

North Korea's Kim Jung Un said Friday he has a hypersonic missile that can reach L.A. in 20 minutes. His CIA dossier says Kim dates underage women, takes Viagra, snorts cocaine, drinks Cognac and loves NBA basketball. You'd think he would spare Los Angeles out of professional courtesy.

Golden Bachelor Gerry Turner and his glamorous bride Theresa Nist divorced on three months after getting married on TV. Such is life. If you're a celebrity and you're married to a celebrity, you know that your marriage is over when your wife will only let you watch her get undressed on Only Fans.

Al-Jazeera reported Friday that Teheran University will offer full four-year scholarships to any U.S. college professor who is expelled while participating in anti-American riots and chanting Death to America. I'd add a warning to the Queers for Palestine. Before leaving, pack a quick-opening parachute.

George Washington's statue at George Washington University in DC was covered by protestors in a Palestinian headdress. George, no Muslim by any means, brewed beer, distilled whisky, raised tobacco and grew industrial-strength cannabis. His first book was Fear and Loathing on the Appalachian Trail.

Donald Trump accused Biden of running a Gestapo administration Saturday. If you keep score, the Democrats call Trump Hitler, Trump calls Democrats the Gestapo, and anti-Israel protestors now call for death to the Jews. The KKK must be mortified to realize they're now regarded as the Middle Way.

Politico reported Sunday that South Dakota Governor Kristi Noem gave a thirty-minute speech at the RNC fundraiser at Mar-a-Lago on Saturday.

However she was not included in the onstage photo with Trump and the other GOP speakers. Kristi's not just in the dog house, she's in the gravel pit.

President Biden gave a speech on the economic benefits of immigration Friday, then said Japan's economy is stagnant because they don't like immigration and are xenophobic toward foreigners. The president has a good point. Just look at the way Japan reacted when Godzilla emerged from Tokyo Bay.

The Bank of England said new British currency will go into circulation in June bearing the portrait of King Charles. The bank added that all currency with the late Queen's portrait will still be honored. The difference is, they had to widen the King Charles bills a little bit to accommodate his ears.

Governor Gavin Newsom signed into law a bill call the California Food Safety Act that could threaten snack foods Oreos, Skittles, Cheetos, Doritos, Fruit Loops and Captain

Trinidad State a semifinalist for 2025 Aspen Prize

CONTRIBUTED

WASHINGTON DC — On May 7, the Aspen Institute named Trinidad State College as a semifinalist for the 2025 Aspen Prize for Community College Excellence. The Aspen Prize is the nation's signature recognition of high achievement and performance among community colleges. The institutions selected for this honor stand out among more than 1,000 community colleges nationwide as having high and improving levels of student success, as well as equitable outcomes for Black and Hispanic students and those from lower-income backgrounds.

"At Trinidad State we see potential in every student who walks through our doors," said Trinidad State President Rhonda M. Epper. "Our students are successful because our faculty and staff believe in them and are committed to making their dreams a reality. We are so honored to be included in this esteemed group of community colleges."

Awarded every two years, the Aspen Prize honors colleges with outstanding performance in six critical areas: teaching and learning, certificate and degree completion, transfer and bachelor's attainment, workforce success, broad access to the college and its offerings, and equitable outcomes for students of color and students from low-income backgrounds. The winner will be announced in the spring of 2025, and will receive a $1 million award, which comes with the prestigious honor.

Joshua Wyner, executive director of the Aspen Institute College Excellence Program, congratulated the semifinalists. "Each of these colleges has demonstrated a sustained commitment to moving beyond enrollment and retention as the markers of student success to defining their success by whether the education they provide changes lives," Wyner said. "These colleges understand that enrollment and graduation matter most when tied tightly to post-graduation success in transferring for a bachelor's degree and in securing fulfilling, good-paying jobs and careers."

The Aspen Prize selection process began in October 2023, when Aspen invited 150 community colleges to apply, based on data showing strong, improving, and equitable student outcomes in key areas such as retention, completion, and transfer. One hundred and eighteen colleges applied, and their applications went to a diverse selection committee of 18 higher education experts who assessed each application based on extensive data and narrative answers to questions. Following interviews with leadership teams from applicants receiving top scores, 20 semifinalists were selected. In the coming weeks, the committee will continue its review and narrow the field to 10 finalists, which will be announced in June.

After the 10 finalists are announced, next steps in the process include:

- Fall 2024: Multi-day in-person site visits to each of the 10 finalists, during which the Aspen Institute and partners will collect additional information and data, including extensive employment and earnings data on graduates from the finalist colleges.

- Winter 2025: A distinguished, independent Aspen Prize jury will review data and qualitative summaries that synthesize each part of the 14-month analyses, then meet for a full day to select the winner and others for additional recognition.

- Spring 2025: Announcement of the Aspen Prize winner and celebration of the 10 finalists in Washington DC.

To read more on the selection process, visit <https://highered.aspeninstitute.org/aspen-prize/>.

Multiple agencies engage in high-speed chase of stolen car

CONTRIBUTED

RIO GRANDE COUNTY – Deputies with the Rio Grande Sheriff's Office engaged in a high-speed pursuit at about 3 p.m. on Tuesday after being notified via their Automated License Plate Reader that they had just passed a stolen vehicle west of Del Norte on Highway 160.

According to a statement from Rio Grande County Sheriff Anne Robinson, after confirming a stolen vehicle report from the Colorado Springs Police Department, RGCSO deputies attempted to stop the vehicle on Highway 160 at County Road 44 within Rio Grande County.

The vehicle was a 1996 Subaru Legacy station wagon.

The vehicle's driver began to stop and fled from the deputies. With the assistance of the Monte Vista Police Department, an attempt to deploy a tire deflation device west of Monte Vista was unsuccessful. The vehicle continued through Monte Vista.

As the pursuit approached Alamosa another attempt to deploy a tire deflation device was made by the Alamosa Police Department. The vehicle swerved to avoid the Stop Sticks, spun out of control off the roadway, but was able to regain the roadway and continue toward Alamosa.

The pursuit was discontinued before entering city limits due to concerns for public safety.

The unoccupied vehicle was located in a residential neighborhood in Alamosa a short time later. The identification of the driver of the vehicle is pending further investigation.

The Rio Grande County Sheriff's Department would like to thank its law enforcement partners and the Colorado State Patrol Regional Communications Center for their assistance and support.

Valley-wide power outage

Storm causes transmission line failure on Poncha Pass

By JOHN WATERS
News Editor

SAN LUIS VALLEY —A winter storm caused a large power outage and impacted the entire San Luis Valley when a power line tripped and failed on Poncha Pass at about 7:40 a.m., on Friday morning.

Lee Boughey with the electricity distribution cooperative, Tri-State Generation and Transmission Association told the Valley Courier that, "Due to the heavy, wet snow, both the 115kV transmission line operated by Xcel Energy and the 230kV transmission line operated by Tri-State and Western Area Power Administration tripped, resulting in the outage in the valley from 7:40 a.m. to 9:50 a.m. [power to most of Alamosa was restored at 11 a.m.

"Tri-State's 230kV line is back in service, but at this time, [1 p.m. Friday] the 115kv line from the north remains out of service. The utilities are all coordinating on this issue.

"Notably, Tri-State is providing crews, poles, and equipment to help replace structures damaged on the SLVREC system."

Shortly after the Valley lost power, the San Luis Valley Rural Electric Cooperative (SLVREC) posted this to Facebook, "We have 21 transmission structures down affecting members from Waverly to San Acacio. Crews are working on distribution backfeed to restore power to our members. The hope is to have members backup by late morning if there are no issues with the main distribution line. Tri-State crews will arrive later today to assist."

Colorado Public Radio reported Costilla County Emergency Manager Lucas Casias stating, "We've had power outages in the past in our area, but Valley-wide power outage, no. This is something new that we're experiencing right now...at least that I'm aware of."

Power to most of the Valley was restored at 11 a.m.

In this photo taken on the morning of May 10 at the Great Sand Dunes Visitor Center, power was out, and the facility was closed after about six inches of snow had fallen. ALAMOSA — On Saturday, April 20, several local families and children came together for the annual Hope and Home Teddy Bear Clinic. The clinic is an event designed for local children in the foster care system, and all children in the community were welcome to attend.

Kids brought their favorite stuffed animal to the Teddy Bear Clinic for a "wellness check." These stuffed animals, with the support of their child owner, visit a variety of stations from height and weight to optometry, to MRIs, x-rays, and even surgery if a stuffed bear needs a new button eye or some additional stuffing. This play and imagination are designed to help children create positive associations with the medical community, especially for those who may have had traumatic experiences in the past, such as children in the foster care system.

Thanks to numerous volunteers from SLV Health and Adams State University nursing program, the event was a huge success. The event broke a record this year by having the longest patient ever attending the clinic – a six-foot-long stuffed snake. Fun was certainly had by all, as well as the therapeutic benefits that this adorable event offers.

"As a mom who has adopted from foster care, and as someone who has gone on to license and support numerous local foster families, I can't overstate the importance of events like this. It's amazing to see how many children are impacted each year and we simply couldn't make it happen without the volunteerism and support of the community. We are truly grateful for those who joined us from SLV Health and Adams State University," said Annie Reed, Hope and Home Program Manager.

If you have ever considered becoming a foster parent, or if you would like to be part of this event in 2025, call Hope and Home at 719-670-8090 or email Reed at areed@hopeandhome.org.

that was really exciting. You could feel there were more students on campus and that really boosted the climate on campus," said Tandberg.

Tandberg continued to state that the institution needed that increase with renewed energy moving forward especially in the aftermath of COVID and the effects it had on in-person learning.

"We also had a fantastic year with the state budget. We did a lot of work like we did last year with strategy and lobbying.

When I started as Interim President, Governor Jared Polis came through and met with me and we spoke about what he could do to support Adams State," he said.

Through several conversations and before being appointed the president of Adams State, Tandberg secured additional funding through the state to help with programs, rebuild the facility building and to help with support for rural community colleges beyond what the institution typically gets from state funding.

"Really the argument is that operating in rural educated areas is that it just costs more. We don't have the economies in scale, the purchasing power, the available vendors. We have to do everything that another university does but in an environment that can be challenging. At Adams State, we also serve students that are first generation, low income. We are the only majority/minority institution in the state," he said.

Tandberg is also working to improve infrastructure at the campus, sending out requests for bids to companies that would come in to do energy performance evaluations that would include looking at HVAC systems, new windows and doors and improvements to other areas that could potentially save the university money in the long term.

In addition, the university is working to offer incentives to new enrollment students through their new program "Adams Promise" which is a program recently launched by the university to offer free tuition and fees for families that make less than $70,000 a year.

Tandberg also spoke about the challenges the university is facing with Federal Student Aid applications and getting students to sign up.

"We have been working to get the application process streamlined and to a point where it was easier to access," he said.

Beyond the financial and enrollment challenges, Tandberg is trying to focus on bringing students back to campus, getting them out of their dorm rooms and reminding students and staff that they should be having fun and interacting with others.

Adams State is also looking at housing options. Tandberg spoke about current conversations that are taking place regarding housing solutions for employees and teachers.

"We still have people come to apply for positions but then leave because of the price of housing or lack thereof so we are looking at options," he said.

Tandberg finished his presentation by speaking about the university's continued partnership with Colorado State University and its agricultural programs and the possibility of creating more programs for in-person students.

Take a Step into Your Destiny

When it comes to running their race and fulfilling the dreams that God has placed in their hearts, I believe a lot of Christians are stuck in the starting blocks. They aren't sure how a situation is going to turn out or exactly what they should do... so they do nothing.

Instead of running the race that God has set out for them (Hebrews 12:1), they are letting worry and anxiety keep them frozen at the starting line.

You see, God has an amazing plan for your life and so many good things in store for you...if you are willing to take a step.

God wants you to participate in the miracle He is doing in your life. If you think that you're going to wake up one day and supernaturally be at the finish line, you're going to be disappointed. It doesn't work that way.

In our relationship with God, each one of us is given the great opportunity to walk out our faith. Just as Adam and Eve walked with God in the cool of the garden, or just as the disciples walked with Jesus on the roads of Galilee, we are called to walk with the Lord on a daily basis.

But in order to walk, you have to do something—you have to take the steps that God leads you to take. Every day, God is encouraging you to go—to step out, commit your plans to God, and trust that He can help you be all that you can be, just like it says in Psalm 37:5 (NKJV): Commit your way to the Lord, trust also in Him, and He shall bring it to pass.

But many times, because we aren't sure of all the steps, we don't even take the first one. We're waiting for God to tell us how the next five years of our lives are going to work out, and God is telling us what to do today.

I've learned in my relationship with God that He doesn't always give me the entire plan—He usually just gives me the next step. God keeps secrets and hides things from us so we will walk in faith and continue seeking Him. He always reveals what we need to know at the right time.

Your dream may be to have a ministry that reaches the world, but God is asking you to take step one—share the Gospel with your neighbor across the street.

You may be praying that God will give you your own business, but God is asking you to take step one—show up for work on time and be faithful at the job you have now.

You may be trying to figure out how to lose a certain amount of weight, but God wants you to take step one—exercise for 20 minutes today.

We have a tendency to get so wrapped up in the destination that we never even begin the journey! So, what is God asking you to do today? Faith is always active—always. It is not passive. Faith requires that you move forward into what God is telling you to do.

Sometimes people say to me, "Joyce, because I'm not one hundred percent sure what God is saying to me, I'm afraid I'm going to take the wrong step."

I understand this concern, but did you spot a certain word in there? "Afraid." It is not the will of God for fear to rule in any area of your life—especially your walk with Him. Don't be afraid to take a step because you think it will be the wrong one. God sees your heart. He knows that you are trying to please Him and live in obedience to His Word.

He is not a cruel, angry God who is going to punish you if you take a misstep along the way. He sees your heart is right and you are trying to take a step toward His plan for your life...and He is going to bless you for your desire to walk in your destiny.

So, take a step—God is waiting for you!

BEARS

 mean food," said Matt Yamashita, CPW's Area Wildlife Manager for Area 8 that covers Aspen, Glenwood Springs and Eagle and Pitkin counties. "People who think it's one time, no big deal, are totally wrong. It is a big deal when you compound that 'one time' with how many 'one timers' they get from your neighbors, too. It adds up."

The first bears to emerge from their winter dens are typically males (boars) followed by females (sows) that did not give birth to cubs over the winter. The last bears to emerge from winter dens are the females who gave birth to this year's cubs, usually in late April.

Early-season natural food sources for bears include grasses, aspen buds and other vegetative matter that is beginning to sprout. Those gentle food sources, the first crops available to them, help a bear's digestive system and metabolism adjust back to normal after not consuming anything for months.

"Their bodies need to adjust to the fact that they haven't consumed anything for sometimes six months," said Mark Vieira, CPW's Carnivore and Furbearer Program Manager. "There is a phase called 'walking hibernation' that refers to bears who are out on the landscape moving slowly and eating what tends to be vegetative material that starts to pass through their system to get their bodies ready for early summer food sources. That is when they will move back into the typical omnivore diet that we see bears eating the rest of the year."

Over 90 percent of a bear's natural diet is grasses, berries, fruits, nuts and plants - native crops dependent on moisture. Wildlife officials monitor weather patterns in the spring and summer to help determine what natural forage will be available in the summer and fall.

Data shows there are fewer human-bear conflicts and interactions in years with good moisture and abundant natural food sources.

Though most human-bear interactions occur in the late summer and fall months, a late frost or prolonged dry weather could lead to localized natural food failures and a rise in conflicts. A lack of natural food availability pushes black bears to be more persistent in their search for human-food sources. Being bear aware not only protects your home and property, but it can save a bear's life.

Starting with proper bear aware practices in the spring may help prevent bears from discovering your home or neighborhood as a food source that they will return to throughout the year.

Become Bear Aware

Colorado Parks and Wildlife reminds people to take simple precautions to avoid human/wildlife conflicts and help keep bears wild.

Bear-proofing your home:

- Keep garbage in a well-secured location. Only put out garbage on the morning of pickup.
- Clean garbage cans regularly to keep them free of food odors: ammonia is effective.
- Keep garage doors closed. Do not leave pet food or stock feed outside.
- Use a bear-resistant trash can or dumpster.
- Bird feeders are a major source of bear/human conflicts. Attract birds naturally with flowers and water baths. Do not hang bird feeders from April 15 to Nov. 15.

- Don't allow bears to become comfortable around your house. If you see one, haze it by yelling, throwing things at it and making loud noises to scare it off.

- Secure compost piles. Bears are attracted to the scent of rotting food.
- Clean the grill after each use, and clean up thoroughly after cookouts.
- If you have fruit trees, don't allow the fruit to rot on the ground.
- Talk to your neighbors and kids about being Bear Aware.

Cars, traveling and campsites:

- Lock your doors when you're away from home and at night.
- Keep the bottom-floor windows of your house closed when you're not at home.
- Do not keep food in your vehicle; roll up windows and lock the doors of your vehicles.
- When car-camping, secure all food and coolers in a locked vehicle.
- Keep a clean camp, whether you're in a campground or in the backcountry.

- When camping in the backcountry, hang food 100 feet or more from the campsite; don't bring any food into your tent.

- Cook food well away from your tent; wash dishes thoroughly.

Protecting your chickens, bees, livestock:

- Keep chickens, bees and livestock in a fully covered enclosure, especially at night.
- Construct electric fencing when possible.
- Don't store livestock feed outside.
- Keep enclosures clean to minimize animal odors.
- As a scent deterrent, hang rags soaked in ammonia or Pine-Sol around the enclosure.

Rio Grande County Museum home to Bunker Site exhibit

STAFF REPORT

DEL NORTE — The Rio Grande County Museum has been home to the Bunker Site Exhibit for the past three years, bringing researchers and educational professionals from across the U.S. Originally created as a traveling exhibit by the US Forest Service, the Bunker Site Exhibit is a unique look at history in the San Luis Valley and showcases archeological finds that date back hundreds of years, further confirming that indigenous groups have been using the area for resources and served as part of the Old Spanish Trail.

The Bunker Site is a 16-acre area discovered several years ago by local ranchers Bob and Judy Bunker.

“The site lies at the foot of the Sangre de Cristo Mountain Range on the East Fork of the Old Spanish National Historic Trail. The site has a manicured feel to it with wide openings between large pinon pine trees due to extensive de-limbing. Wetlands and sand to the west, and mountains to the east confined travelers along a corridor that provided forage, fuel, and cover. These and other environmental factors would have made this campsite the Holiday Inn of the Old Spanish Trail.”

The site was excavated by local archeological teams and continues to be excavated today with more artifacts being found year to year. Initial findings included axe blades, musket balls, coscojos (also known as Spanish tack), metal points and tree rings that date back to the Old Spanish Trail era and proof that the site has been used for over a thousand years.

According to the exhibit’s description, “The Old Spanish Trail was pioneered by Mexican trader Antonio Armijo in 1829 as a pack trail and later, an emigration route that connected Sante Fe and Los Angeles. Traders carried woolens, made from the wool of churro sheep that were traded in Los Angeles for hundreds and sometimes thousands of strong Californian mules and horses.”

The San Luis Valley has a long history related to both sheep and burros dating back to its origins in the mid-1800s. Many Spanish settlers came to the area because of the abundance of resources after the Spanish Land Grant agreements were finalized. Evidence of the use of the trail remains to this day in other locations outside of the Bunker Site and remain points of curiosity for researchers worldwide.

The Rio Grande County Museum is home to several artifacts related to not only the Bunker Site but other locations where evidence of indigenous people’s follow along the Old Spanish Trail in the form of petroglyphs that date back between 6,000 and 10,000 years old. A large photographic collection of local petroglyphs is showcased at the museum and fall tours are held in partnership with the Bureau of Land Management and Rio Grande National Forest to help share education about the sites, their historical significance

RGC Sheriff’s Office awards scholarship through CSOC

By LYNDISIE FERRELL

RIO GRANDE COUNTY — In a special meeting hosted by the Rio Grande County Board of Commissioners and the Rio Grande County Sheriff’s Department, Rio Grande County Sheriff Anne Robinson presented Cayden Larimore from Sargent School District with this year’s County Sheriffs of Colorado Scholarship.

Larimore has had an exceptional record in the Sargent School District. In the letter he submitted for the scholarship he states, “I started my freshman year in 2020, the same year that an aviation class was introduced into Sargent High School. I signed up for the class, thinking it would be interesting to learn about the world of flying, something that had never piqued my interest before.”

Through the aviation class taught by Jay Sarason, Larimore found his calling and dove into the world of aviation.

“I was fortunate enough to have an extremely ambitious teacher for this class, who inspired me more than I could have ever imagined. This teacher, Jay Sarason, spent just as much time with students outside of the classroom as inside. He took us on field trips, teaching us to fly for free, and helping in any way that he could. The first time that I went flying with Jay, I was instantly hooked,” he said.

Rio Grande County Sheriff Robinson opened the award ceremony with the scholarship program’s philosophy statement, “To carry out our commitment to the Honorary Members of the association, County Sheriffs of Colorado (CSOC) established a scholarship program in 1978. Since then, the program has continued as a meaningful expression of the sheriffs’ and CSOC’s respect for education and training. We consider these scholarships as an investment in the future of Colorado’s communities.”

Robinson continued highlighting Larimore’s plans stating that he wants to attend the Airline Transportation Pilot Program and obtain his certificate to fly a commercial airline.

“Larimore has a laundry list of involvement and community oriented, and we appreciate his dedication,” Robinson said.

The judges that helped review the applications for the scholarship chose Larimore as a deserving applicant. Larimore accepted the scholarship in the presence of Rio Grande County Commissioners, his flight instructor Bill Shoen and his family.

Outside of scholarships, CSOC provides training and resources to peace officers throughout Colorado.

“Peace officers know the dangers of the job when choosing this career. The profession requires hard work and long hours, with risk of injury and death looming daily. Officers are at high risk for suicide, divorce, post-traumatic stress syndrome and substance use disorders because of repeated exposure to high-stress, life-threatening situations. These first responders do this important work anyway. They show up each day because the rewards of serving their communities cannot be measured.

“CSOC works to ensure these peace officers have the best professional training available, helping to reduce the dangers and mitigate the personal risks inherent in the profession as they serve their communities.”

Show love for the outdoors this spring by recreating responsibly

By COLORADO PARKS AND WILDLIFE

DENVER — With warmer weather in the forecast, outdoor enthusiasts are flocking outside to see what's blooming in nature on Colorado's colorful landscapes. Colorado Parks and Wildlife (CPW) encourages state park visitors to act as stewards for the state's land, wildlife, and water by balancing outdoor recreation with mindful conservation.

Coloradans and out-of-state visitors play an integral role in keeping our state parks clean, living in harmony with wildlife, and making the outdoors safer to explore.

Below are a few tips from our experts on how to recreate responsibly and show respect to our great outdoors.

Know Before You Go

Colorado spring weather is unpredictable, and conditions change constantly. Spring in Colorado brings melting snowpacks, muddy trails, thinning ice, cold water temperatures, and strong currents on rivers and streams.

- Check the weather where you plan to explore and change your outdoor plan based on the forecast. Follow travel advisories to avoid hazardous conditions and a search and rescue operation.

- Check the CAIC avalanche forecast (www.colorado.gov/avalanche). Avalanches occur year-round anywhere there's snow on steep slopes. Start early and end early to help avoid wet snow problems, and watch out for wind-drifted snow at high elevations.

- Be aware of seasonal closures of public lands extended in April.

- Stay hydrated. Bring more water than you think you (and your pet) will need.

- Bring layers of clothing for elevation and changing weather conditions.

Boating and River Safety

Last year, most water-related fatalities occurred because people did not wear a life jacket.

- Wear a life jacket.

- Dress accordingly and protect yourself from the dangers of cold water shock. Regardless of your age or experience level, cold water can quickly create a drowning emergency.

- Paddle boards and kayaks are considered vessels, and life jacket requirements apply.

- Heavy rain or snow melting in nearby mountains can raise water levels quickly and without notice. Check river flows at <https://dwr.state.co.us/Tools/Stations>.

- Don't boat or paddle in conditions you are not comfortable and confident paddling in.

- Boat and raft with a buddy and avoid floating alone, especially during high flows.

- For recreationists who want to go rafting but are uncomfortable navigating more challenging water conditions, CPW recommends hiring

Sargent holds memorial dedication for Adams

Bench placed in honor of the longtime educator, advisor

By MARIE MCCOLM

MONTE VISTA — Approximately 40 people attended a memorial dedication ceremony for Sargent School District teacher and FBLA advisor Sharon Adams on May 1. Adams passed away Thursday, Nov. 23, 2023.

A memorial bench with a plaque honoring Adams will be set up at the school. The bench was placed at the school and the plaque will be added when finished.

Sargent Academic Booster Club member Shon Davis, who is also RG Bank CEO and president, welcomed everyone to the event and reminded them to stick around for the dinner afterward.

"The dinner is free, with a suggested donation of $10. Any money received will be given to Sargent FBLA. Which is 100% the way Sharon would have wanted it," he said.

Davis then introduced the song "For Good" from the musical "Wicked."

"Kerry Adams, Sharon's husband has stated that this was one of Sharon's favorite songs, and he asked that it be played today," Davis said.

Davis then began to talk about the dedication of the bench that sits in front of the Sargent School District building.

Four SLV grads among Boettcher scholars

By PRISCILLA WAGGONER

DENVER — The Boettcher Foundation has announced the 2024 Class of Boettcher Scholars. Listed among the 50 outstanding graduating seniors from around the state are four students from the San Luis Valley, including Brock Benton (Alamosa High School), Jaymi Gile (Alamosa High School), Gus Miller (Monte Vista High School) and Kaia Skadberg (Centauri).

The Boettcher Scholarship is considered to be one of the most prestigious scholarships offered in the state of Colorado, not only recognizing the most remarkable students but also in providing full tuition and expenses for four years of college at the Colorado college or university of their choice.

As part of the announcement, scholars offered some information about themselves.

When asked about his accomplishments, Benton (AHS) said, "My proudest achievement is creating an entire student-supported mental health team within my school." Benton will be attending the University of Colorado.

Gile (AHS) stated, "My favorite Colorado experience is camping outdoors with my family and becoming a Junior Ranger at the Great Sand Dunes, my second home." Gile is also attending the University of Colorado.

In speaking of his accomplishments, Miller (MVHS) said, "My proudest achievement is having learned the ability to lose and be unsuccessful graciously and celebrate even the smallest of accomplishments and continue on." Miller plans on attending Colorado State University.

Skadberg (Centauri), who will be attending the Colorado School Mines, said, "During my undergraduate career, I plan to acquire a degree in engineering and learn not only how to work but how to live."

As described by Curtis L. Esquibel, Senior Director of Communications and Community Engagement with the Boettcher Foundation, the Boettcher Scholarship Program has been in place since 1952, aiming to retain Colorado's inspiring high school graduates within the state for their college education. More than 1,900 students applied for the scholarship this year.

Scholars are selected based on academics, service, leadership, and character. In addition to receiving an $80,000 scholarship award across four years, Scholars can also receive institutional, merit, and/or need-based aid from their respective campuses. The Boettcher Scholarship is more than just financial assistance; it includes a comprehensive program and support system designed to help Scholars maximize their academic and leadership capabilities.

The Boettcher Scholar community is a robust network of over 2,800 leaders who have made significant contributions in various fields such as business, government, nonprofits, and education.

This year's cohort of 50 Scholars includes the following:

- A stuttering awareness advocate who spreads information and insight on stuttering to her 230,000

Jaymi Gile, Alamosa High School

followers on TikTok.

- A student who works full-time, takes care of younger siblings before and after school, and still maintains the highest GPA in her school's 20-year history.

- A student that lives off the grid, commuting 90 minutes to school every day and relying on solar energy to power her life.

- The year-round manager of a local nonprofit bike repair shop, overseeing a team of 10 peers.

- A "Positive Peer" presiding on her city's Municipal Teen Court, focused on issuing judgments rooted in compassion that have the greatest potential for positive change in the respondents.

- A proud, self-proclaimed "nerd" with a mission to destigmatize STEM education by making it more accessible and appealing to younger generations.

- A scientist, so passionate about science that she conducted her own, self-designed research on algae at home throughout high school.

- A 4th generation farmer who is committed to returning to the family farm after college.

"As we welcome the newest cohort of Boettcher Scholars, we're thrilled to highlight their remarkable talents and passions. These dynamic thinkers and leaders bring a diverse array of skills and interests to our community," said Vanessa Roman, director of scholarships & foundation programs. From self-taught knitters and private pilots to vocal soloists and innovative entrepreneurs, their commitment to leadership and service has already enriched communities across the state."

a Colorado-licensed river outfitter guide to help facilitate the outdoor opportunity.

“On the surface, rivers and streams can seem calm, warm, or shallow. But even the most experienced outdoor enthusiasts can become victims to deceptively strong currents, cold water temperatures, and unexpected changes in depth,” said Michael Haskins, River Outfitter Licensing and Swiftwater Investigator. “You should always wear a life jacket, paddle with a buddy, know your limitations, and scout rapids before floating them.”

Stick to Trails

Melting snow leaves trails and vegetation more vulnerable to damage. Be sure to stick to trails and walk in the middle of them — even if wet, muddy, slushy, or icy — to avoid erosion and damage to trailside plants.

• Yield to uphill hikers and bikers, be considerate when needing to pass, and keep control of your pets on the trail.

• Use the CPW Park Finder Tool to find trail maps at each Colorado state park and to learn about trail closures.

• Download the free COTREX app to find recreational trails in Colorado for public use and closure alerts.

• Wear sturdy footwear to stay on trails in wet and muddy spring conditions.

“Our trails wear down over time and require upkeep,” said State Trails Program Coordinator Joe O’Brien. “Going off trail is one of the big causes of erosion on trails, and that erosion can harm surrounding vegetation and all the life that lives in the nearby streams and rivers.”

Leave it as you Find It

Colorado is beautiful all on its own. Leave plants, rocks, and historical items as you find them so others experience the joy of discovery.

• Don’t pick wildflowers so they can help the bees and other ecosystems.

• Carving or hacking plants and trees may kill or disfigure them.

• Park in designated areas — undesignated parking can destroy vegetation and block outdoor first-responder vehicles in an emergency.

Trash the Trash

• Throw all your trash away in trash cans and help leave our outdoor spaces clean.

• Pack it in, pack it out. Whatever you bring into the outdoors, take it out with you.

• Don’t leave a pet waste bag on the trail.

• Bring plastic grocery bags to carry trash when trash cans are not available or full.

Be Careful with Fire

Although parts of Colorado have received high moisture levels this year, drought conditions still impact whether campfires are allowed or restricted this winter.

• Check fire restrictions or bans at www.coemergency.com.

• Use designated campfire areas when allowed and available.

• Put fires out with water until you can touch the embers.

• Never leave a campfire unattended.

Keep Wildlife Wild

Spring can be a particularly sensitive time for wildlife since many species are nesting, having their young, or coming out of hibernation.

• Colorado is home to big game species, including elk, mule deer, moose, and bighorn sheep. Human disturbance can cause stress for wild animals and reduce females’ chances of successfully raising offspring.

• Do not feed or approach young wildlife.

• Be bear aware on trails and while camping to help reduce human-bear conflicts.

• Keep dogs leashed on trails to prevent them from chasing wildlife.

• If you see wildlife that appears sick or injured, leave it alone. Call your local Colorado Parks and Wildlife office and ask a trained wildlife officer for guidance.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you’ll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here’s How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

“We are gathered here at this bench, to remind everyone who passes this bench to take a pause, so that students, teachers, administrators, and community members, who pass by here, can take a moment, some time, a pause, to remember and learn about Sharon Adams and her impact on Sargent School District, FBLA, and the community,” he said.

Davis emphasized that her impact with Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) was not just at Sargent - it was district wide, statewide, and nationally.

Davis then introduced Sargent High School Principal Michelle Shelley David.

“As I remember Mrs. Adams, I think back to the strong qualities that she modeled for her students and colleagues,” David said. “The first quality that I remember is that she was always available to students and staff. Her second quality was consistency. She expected students to all not be at the same level, but to all give their best effort. The third quality was her commitment to her values. What she valued she committed to. She defined commitment by her presence, her passion, and her persistence. Even though she had retired it took about two years for her to turn in her school keys because she wanted access to her passion. It is my great honor to have known such a wonderful woman. This bench is a beautiful memorial dedicated to her memory and what she meant to the Sargent community. Thank you.”

Chance Padilla, who was a student of Adams, also spoke.

“Sharon was the type of person that always put others first,” Padilla said. “Besides my parents, Sharon was my number one supporter, without her I wouldn’t be the person I am today. Sharon was more than an advisor and a teacher. She got to see me during defeat and exhaustion. During those times she was there, encouraging, strategizing, and building me into a strong individual. I am truly grateful for all those stories that I have of Mrs. Adams. I can’t wait to share them with my children. I hope that everyone finds their Sharon Adams. An influential, encouraging, loving, number one fan, to cheer for them during their victories and support them during their challenges. Thank you.”

Current FBLA Advisor Stephanie Mc Bartlett also spoke at the ceremony.

“Mrs. Adams is the reason I went to business school,” Mc Bartlett said. “She was always inspirational too, always in your corner. Last summer in August when she found out I was the business teacher, she called and congratulated me. She said anything you need let me know, I will be the anonymous donor to get you anywhere. I said thank you Mrs. Adams. I am bringing back the Mrs. Adams FBLA at Sargent. My whole chapter made it to state and nationals are coming next year for you. Thank you.”

Davis said plaque would state how Adams gave 37 dedicated years to Sargent School District as a business teacher, and FBLA Advisor, from 1979 to 2017. Davis read the entire heartfelt inscription. It details her accomplishments, and her winning Teacher of the Year in 1987, 1988, 1996, 1997, and she has also been recognized with many recognition awards over the years. Adams took her students to state FBLA 37 times and took her students to nationals 33 times. She also remained active in the school district after she retired, helping with many activities.

Sharon’s husband, Kerry, spoke at the ceremony saying that Sharon found a home that she never wanted to leave in Sargent.

“The song that began tonight, was adapted from the play ‘Wicked,’ that musical was adapted from ‘The Wizard of Oz,’ the series features a young Kansas girl, who looks for and discovers life outside the farm but realizes of course that there is no place like home,” he said.

Kerry explained that the series reminded him of his wife, Sharon, who grew up on a small farm in Kansas, and left Kansas looking for adventure.

“She got here to the Sargent community and found a home that she never wanted to leave,” he said. “She wanted to share that idea with her students, finding adventure yet keeping the option to always come home. I hope that in your travels, students, that you are able to realize that, that you are as the song said a couple of minutes ago, that you are changed for good. I am sure if she were here now, she would want me to thank you all for creating a place for her to sit and look out at where she called home. I hope you take the time to use this wonderful bench that’s out here to help solve life’s great mysteries. I know you will be able to talk to Sharon here. Please sit down and enjoy it. We appreciate, we want to thank Sargent FBLA. Thanks to all of you for coming and honoring Sharon so nicely. Thank you very much.”

Rio Grande National Forest Comprehensive Over Snow Travel Management Planning Project begins

45-day comment period begins immediately

CONTRIBUTED

DEL NORTE — The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Forest Service, Rio Grande National Forest announced today the beginning of the forest-wide Over Snow Travel Management Planning Project.

A Notice of Intent to prepare an EIS was published in the Federal Register on April 30, establishing the official 45-day comment period for the project. The resulting decision from the analysis will set parameters that will guide over-snow travel on forest roads, trails and cross-country use for the next 15-20 years across the 1.8-million-acre Rio Grande National Forest.

The project will require an Environmental Impact Statement and, when completed, will be an addendum to the Rio Grande National Forest Land Management Plan, which was signed in May of 2020. The Over Snow Travel Management Plan will provide direction for motorized use across the Rio Grande. The direction will likely amend the current direction in the Rio Grande National Forest Land Management Plan.

Interested parties wishing to submit comments on the Over Snow Travel Management Planning Project should submit them online at <https://cara.fs2c.usda.gov/Public/CommentInput?Project=65529>

"The Over Snow Travel Management planning process will require a great deal of public involvement in order to develop the best product that balances winter motorized travel needs with the appropriate use of our natural resources," said Forest Supervisor Dennis Kuhnel. "We invite and look forward to collaborating with our tribes, interested forest users, our valuable communities, and our partners from other agencies on this important process."

Kuhnel adds that this process will be a long undertaking that will follow the guidelines set forth in the National Environmental Policy Act for an Environmental Impact Statement. Rio Grande National Forest personnel will aim to complete the process in approximately two years.

The next step in process will be to release draft Environmental Impact Statement which will be available for public comment.

Additional information about the Over Snow Travel Management Planning Project can be viewed at www.fs.usda.gov/detail/riogrande/landmanagement/planning/?cid=fseprd1154726 and in the official project record at www.fs.usda.gov/project/riogrande/?project=65529.

A copy of this news release will be translated into Spanish and soon available at www.fs.usda.gov/news/riogrande/news-events.

The UPWalker is a revolutionary new mobility device that can change your life by changing the way you walk. It enables you to stand upright when you walk— with your spine straight and your eyes looking straight ahead. Your weight is supported by your upper arms and shoulders, some of the strongest parts of your body. Traditional walkers and rollators force you to put the pressure of your body weight on your hands and wrists. You push them in front of you, looking at the ground instead of where you going. The UPWalker moves with you, with your body perfectly aligned and your feet free to walk in a normal fashion. Its easy-adjust height system allows it to be the perfect fit/height for anyone from 4'10" to 6'1" and supports up to 300 pounds. The new stand-assist handles enable you to distribute your weight across your arms and shoulders, not your hands and wrists to help reduce back, neck, wrist pain and discomfort. It features comfortable arm pads, hand brakes, a fold-down seat, a backrest and two storage bags. It's built with aircraft-grade aluminum to be sturdy yet lightweight, and its sleek design and oversized wheels make it perfect for tight spots in the house or walking in the yard.

CSU Extension receives grant from the SLVREC Energy Foundation

CONTRIBUTED
MONTE VISTA — The Colorado State University SLV Area Extension office would like to thank San Luis Valley Rural Electric Coop for its donation of $10,000 to the endowment fund from the SLVREC Energy Foundation.

Beginning in 2021, the SLV Extension office has been in a rebuilding period. After years of instability and a reduction of staff, Larry Brown has stepped into the leadership role to rebuild the extension in the San Luis Valley.

In the last two years, the full-time staff has doubled. Operating now with a Director/Ag Specialist, a Youth Development/4-H Specialist, a Family and Consumer Science Specialist, a Juntos 4-H Specialist, and Office Administrator. Their newest addition, made possible by 3 years of funding from the Outcall Foundation, is a second 4-H Specialist. Brown's team focus now is to secure permanent funding for an additional 4-H agent.

"We are extremely grateful and appreciative of all who have generously jumped on board and contributed to the project. Once our funding in the endowment fund is secured, this community driven project will leave a lasting legacy for our youth," officials stated.

If anyone is interested in donating to the endowment fund, checks can be dropped off at the SLV Extension office at 1899 E. Hwy 160 in Monte Vista or mailed to PO Box 30 Monte Vista, CO 81144. If you have any questions, call 719-852-7381.

Laughlin Gulch prescribed burn planned

'Burn window' becoming likely week of May 13

BY RIO GRANDE NATIONAL FOREST DEL NORTE — Conditions on the Laughlin Gulch prescribed fire project west of Saguache are becoming favorable for ignitions to begin as early as May 14.

Rio Grande National Forest fire managers have been closely monitoring the site and report that the fine fuels are beginning to green-up, one of the planned control features for the burn. Based on the current weather forecast, they are projecting the other elements of the burn plan will be in alignment soon. Ignitions will take place only if conditions meet treatment objectives.

"The Laughlin Gulch prescribed fire aims to treat approximately 105 acres of slash, designed to improve winter range habitat conditions for area big game," said Tristram Post, Saguache District Ranger. "We are pleased to be working with our Bureau of Land Management and Colorado Division of Fire Prevention and Control partners on this project."

Part of the La Garita Hills Restoration Project, this Saguache Ranger District burn area is approximately 10 miles west of Saguache, CO. The larger area of the project covers approximately 210 acres and fire will be applied where it has the most opportunity to provide benefit to the resource. Due to the location of the fire, smoke will be visible from around the San Luis Valley and will be heavier locally. No significant smoke impacts are expected.

Burning will be announced on the Rio Grande National Forest Facebook and X social media platforms.

San Luis lands over $725k in grants

Will be used to improve its Town Plaza
By JOHN WATERS

COSTILLA COUNTY — The Town of San Luis has been awarded $544,777 from the Colorado Department of Local Affairs and $181,000 from the Colorado Department of Transportation to improve its Town Plaza.

Town Clerk Teddy Leinbach said of the project, "The plaza is just north of the Town Hall...with this grant, we are going to take out a few trees, redo all the pavement, and make this a much nicer space to enjoy, visitors will be able to enjoy it after walking the Stations of the Cross. This will be a hub for all of our events, Santana, and Founders Day. We will have pavilions, a fountain, lots of greenery, and spaces for food trucks and other vendors. We envision it to be a focal point of our Main Street."

Leinbach said while there is not yet a specific date for the groundbreaking, he is hopeful it will be within a month or so. "Susan Sanderford (Town Manager) has been working on this grant for about five years, Covid delayed it a lot. She came up with this, there has been planning and community input and the writing of the grants to get it implemented and constructed," said Leinbach.

The Town of San Luis has also recently received a federal $500,000 — Environmental Protection Agency (EPA funded through the bipartisan infrastructure law. The funds are all revitalization-focused, with projects ranging from the removal of asbestos, mercury, and other hazardous materials.

EPA officials were in San Luis last month and in an interview with the Valley Courier, EPA Regional administrator KC Becker said the grant was made possible by working with grant facilitator JSI International. "This is a great thing, they have to handle the burden of all the federal compliance. For these small grants, it is hard to apply, you need a full-time person to do the paperwork. With this, you can reach smaller communities. I love it, we can get dollars all over the place."

San Luis is experiencing a renaissance, since 2011, the non-profit Acequia Institute has received over $3 million in grants to finance the San Luis Food Sovereignty Initiative to acquire the R&R Market in San Luis, finance farm equipment, conduct outdoor education and other projects.

Regarding the economic benefit the restoration of the R&R Market will have, Town Manager Sanderford said, "This is really important, it is the heart of our downtown. This has been the gathering place for locals, so it is really important we get this up and going. We are supportive and will do whatever the Town can do to get this functioning again."

Newcomer's Guide to Gardening in the San Luis Valley

Hardiness Zones

By EMILY FOLZ

CSU Extension

SAN LUIS VALLEY — I didn't fully understand the point of flannel-lined jeans until my first winter in the San Luis Valley. It gets seriously cold here!

You have to admire the stalwart evergreen trees and shrubs that stand so majestically in the blowing cold of winter and provide color to our winter landscapes. And the deciduous trees and shrubs that drop their leaves in autumn but come leafing back in spring, some with a show of colorful blossoms.

Other plants have no intention of subjecting themselves to these bitter conditions and instead "die back" and spend the winter underground, reappearing when the weather starts to warm up in spring.

No matter how they do it, plants that have found a way to survive the winter are called perennials. The ones that can't are called annuals.

Each geographic area in the United States has been given a hardiness zone designation based on its average annual extreme minimum winter temperatures. Hardiness zones help you determine which plants will be perennial in our area, that is which plants can survive the winter.

The website <https://planthardiness.ars.usda.gov/> has an interactive map where you can enter your zip code and find your hardiness zone. Parts of chilly Alamosa County are zone 4a with average annual extreme minimum winter temperatures of -30 to -25 °F. Areas north, south, east and west of Alamosa are a bit warmer. Villa Grove, Antonito, Fort Garland and Del Norte are all zone 5b with average annual extreme minimum temperatures of -15 to -10 °F.

When you purchase a plant, look for a tag or information that tells you which hardiness zones the plant will do best in. For example, most lilacs are hardy in zones 3 - 8. You can choose to plant things that are hardy in zones 6 and higher, but they will be an annual in our area since they are unlikely to survive the winter. Rosemary is hardy in zones 7-11 and is a perennial in those zones. But it is an annual in zones 6 and lower. At the times we lived there, NC was zone 7b and Ky was zone 6b.

Be aware that even if a plant is suited to our hardiness zone, it may not suit our area. It must also be tolerant of our high elevation, frequent high winds, alkaline soil, arid conditions and short growing season.

What is your hardiness zone? What trees and shrubs have grown best for you? What perennial flowers do you have in your garden? Please share your photos! Have a gardening question or comment? Send me an email at: SLVgardening@gmail.com

This beautiful, sweet smelling lilac bush at the Blanca Fort Garland Community Center is not only hardy to zone 3, but also thrives in the Valley's harsh environment.
