Ribbon Cutting held at Church Project

By MARIE MCCOLM

MONTE VISTA — Approximately 40 people gathered at the Church Project for its ribbon cutting and official opening on Friday, July 5.

Church Project owner Madeleine Ahlborn was joined by her parents from Wisconsin, her Godparents from Wyoming, and fellow artists to christen the building at 256 South Broadway.

Monte Vista Chamber of Commerce Manager Heather Hillin and members of the OptiMystics Citizen Action Network cheered with everyone as Ahlborn cut the red ribbon.

With the members of her board for the Church Project and the volunteers who helped with the many hours of restoration standing behind her, Ahlborn looked up at all the balloons near

HIPPY holds graduation ceremony

By MARIE MCCOLM

ALAMOSA — On Saturday, June 22, a graduation ceremony was held for San Luis Valley children ages 3-4 who completed the HIPPY Program.

Tiny smiling tots with their colorful caps and gowns, nice outfits, and pretty dresses, lined up to march at the Alamosa Rec Center, where the ceremony was held. There were about 72 people at the ceremony. Pomp and Circumstance played as the children happily marched in behind one of the HIPPY instructors, until they all reached their seats in front of the audience at the center.

Some special guests were present at the ceremony, including the Rocky Mountain PBS Daniel Tiger, and Alamosa Mayor Ty Coleman.

The room at the center was decked out with colorful balloons and tables and the HIPPY instructors wore bright orange shirts that had HIPPY and a picture of PBS Daniel Tiger on them, along with a cartoon graduate painted on the front.

HIPPY coordinator Beverly Martinez introduced and thanked everyone for attending the celebration.

"We are here to celebrate these children, and their amazing work and commitment to the HIPPY

According to the National Weather Service, June was the second warmest and second wettest on record. Seen here are the Rio Grande and the Blanca Massif on a recent early July afternoon.

June weather review

By NATIONAL WEATHER SERVICE

COLORADO — June of 2024 saw a meandering ridge of high pressure across the Rockies, which brought periods of very warm temperatures, as well as periods of abundant available moisture and heavy rainfall to portions of south central and southeast Colorado.

Alamosa recorded 2 inches of precipitation through June. This is 1.57 inches above normal and makes June of 2024 the second-wettest June on record, just behind the 2.58 inches of precipitation recorded in June of 1969. For the month of June as a whole, above-normal temperatures were experienced across south-central and southeast Colorado, with generally above-normal precipitation across south-central Colorado and pockets of above-normal and well-below-normal precipitation across southeast Colorado.

The preliminary average temperature in Alamosa for June was 64.3 degrees. This is 3.7 degrees above normal and makes June of 2024 the second-warmest June on record in Alamosa, just behind the 64.5-degree average June temperature in 2012. The average June maximum temperature in Alamosa was 82.3 degrees, which is 2.1 degrees above normal. The average June minimum temperature in Alamosa was 46.3 degrees, which is 5.4 degrees above normal.

the entrance of the Church Project, and said, "I am so thrilled to see all of you here today, as we celebrate the transformation of the historic First Baptist Church, into a creative space, to provide the freedom for all people, to unlock their creative potential. Over the last year since I have moved into the space, we have had more than 30 community members, and over 500 hours of volunteer work, that's been put into this space so far, to launch this transformation."

Ahlborn thanked her board of advisors, stating that she appreciated their support and creativity in helping her move the project forward, by helping her organize finances, and hang drywall, and reminding her to stay hydrated throughout the process.

"I can't thank these individuals enough for being the scaffolding in this wild vision that I have, which we call 'The Dream Machine,'" she said.

Ahlborn said that she appreciated the financial support from her parents, Seth and Carrie Ahlborn, and others such as First Southwest Bank, the LOR Foundation, the Redline Contemporary Arts Center of Denver, and The Gates Family Foundation.

"As an artist myself, I have always been intrigued by what a space is, where it can take us, and what it can become. This project belongs to the community of Monte Vista, and the greater San Luis Valley. We can build it together," she said.

Hillin, of the Monte Vista Chamber, welcomed Ahlborn to the community.

"Today we are celebrating the transformation of this historic Church into a vibrant community art center. The space, once a place of worship, will now be a sanctuary for creativity, inspiration, and community engagement. Special thanks to Maddy, (Madeleine) whose vision and hard work made this all possible," Hillin said.

Hillin handed Ahlborn a plaque from the Monte Vista Chamber.

The ribbon cutting took place one year to the day that Ahlborn moved into the location and began her restoration.

Ahlborn moved to the San Luis Valley in 2014. Last year, she was offered the chance to purchase the beautiful historic building for the Church Project by her former landlord Ron Douglas.

Ahlborn's vision for the Church Project is to provide the space and the freedom for people to unlock their creative potential.

"I really want this building to not only belong to me, but to belong to the community. I want people to feel that and to believe that they collectively own the building too," she said.

Ahlborn's parents said they were proud of their daughter.

"Carrie and I have been very excitprogram," she said. "Each of these children have given it their all, and successfully completed our program requirements. We are so proud of these children, they will all be receiving a diploma from HIPPY today. We are truly blessed that so many children have worked hard and dedicated their time and efforts to our program. We would also like to thank all the friends of the family, and family members who have joined us today to celebrate this big accomplishment."

HIPPY stands for Home Instruction for Parents of Preschool Youngsters. The duration of the program is 30 weeks. The program works by allowing instructors to come into the child's home and bring weekly curriculum for children to engage in with their parents. The program helps develop skills in different areas and specializes in fine motor, gross motor, social-emotional, science, creative arts, and literacy lessons. The program helps young children learn numbers, colors, shapes, days of the week, months, and provides many hands-on activities to promote growth and education in young lives all over the Valley.

With reading being a major part of the curriculum, each young student receives a new book, every three to four weeks to help promote early literacy. The HIPPY program also provides school supplies for children. The supplies are free to children for the duration that they are enrolled in the program.

After Martinez's introduction, all the HIPPY instructors joined their students in front of the audience and sang songs that included fun dance movements. Special guest Rocky Mountain PBS Daniel Tiger also joined the children and began to sing and dance with them. The instructors and Daniel sang the "Hokey Pokey," ed about this since Maddy found the church," Seth stated. "We were very happy to put money into the church, parents do these kinds of things for their children," he said with a smile. "It's a very exciting day for the future of Monte Vista, this is really great."

Carrie said, "We are so proud, this is a very important project, not only for Maddy but also for Monte Vista. I believe there will be more Church Projects around the country when the time comes. Maddy has been here a long time now and has gotten to know a lot of people. They have seen her vision; people collaborate here well. What is so amazing is how Maddy looks at this building, it's not a building, it's a piece of art."

Ahlborn's Godparents, Cindy and Tim Butera, surprised Ahlborn. When Ahlborn saw them, she did a double take, and then ran and greeted them with a big hug. Cindy and Tim both said they would not have missed her big day for anything.

"We are very proud of her. We knew she would be a wonderful woman and she is," they said.

HIPPY coordinator Beverly Martinez and Alamosa Mayor Ty Coleman pose for a photo during the graduation ceremony on June 22 in Alamosa. Coleman was one of the speakers at the event.

"If You're Happy and You Know It" and the "Wheels on the Bus." The children engaged with each of the songs. Coordinator Martinez danced and smiled with the students and instructors.

After the music and dancing, Martinez announced each instructor's name, and the children were then announced one by one and handed a diploma and congratulated on their accomplishments.

Mayor Coleman gave a small speech. He said that as a child he struggled with early literacy. He said he feels it is important to start education and reading as soon as possible to help children be successful.

"Early childhood education is so crucial in our community. Here are a few statistics. Children who read and engage in early childhood education are 75% more likely to graduate high school. In early childhood education settings, children learn valuable interpersonal skills such as listening, sharing, and expressing emotion. If a student cannot read by the third grade, they are more likely to drop out of high school because of the challenges that they face."

Coleman said that he feels it is important for students to learn early, because of all the challenges that he and others have faced. He really wants children to be given every opportunity to learn so that they can have the opportunity for future success.

A light lunch was served following the ceremony. Awards were given to various home visitors to celebrate their success with the children and all they do for HIPPY.

Martinez said the celebration went well. She also gave a special thank you to everyone.

"We have been planning the graduation all year long. I am always excited and very honored to be a part of everything with HIPPY. I have amazing home visitors, each and every one of them is unique and wonderful. They really bring something different to HIPPY and to myself personally, and without them there would be no HIPPY. They are truly amazing," she said.

The HIPPY program strives to serve diverse communities and is available to children living in Saguache, Rio Grande, Alamosa, Costilla, and Conejos counties. HIPPY also provides resources in English and Spanish.

OPINION & EDITORIAL

Rescue on the Rio

As most of you know, Miss Trixie and I have been driving for Narrow Ridge Outdoors/ Mountain Man Rafting for several years now. It's a fun endeavor, we get to meet all kinds of great people, and we work with a bunch of stellar youngsters, which is always invigorating.

Just this past week we were busy shuttling vans down to pick up rafters who were enjoying a great day on the river when someone flagged us down on the highway. She had seen our logo on the van and said, "I am so glad to see you as there are some people who have fallen in the river and need help badly."

Disclaimer: what follows may or may not be an accurate reflection of events.

So, we kicked into our rescue training mode and quickly found these poor folk clinging to rocks in the raging rapids, all life about to ebb from their cold bodies. Trixie remarked that they were a lot "older" people and I think she said that since she herself is starting to add on years like a runaway abacus.

But anyway, Ole Dutch and Miss Trixie assessed the situation and realized that the kayakers were close to unconsciousness so we both dove into the torrent disregarding the threat to life and limb of our own bodies. All I could think about as I swam out to them was poor little Cooper being an orphan if I did not live through the ordeal.

A few quick powerful strokes brought us to them and while Ole Dutch secured a firm grip on the gentleman and began an exit to the shore, Miss Trixie had quite another predicament to face. For you see the poor woman lost her grip just as Miss Trixie got to her and slipped away into the raging torrent. She made one last grab for the drowning woman and miraculously came up with a handful of pigtailed with which she was able to tow her to shore.

As I write this, Miss Trixie's eyes have gone to rolling around in her head like marbles. I have offered her mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, but she has refused to be rescued thus far.

Back to my story, even though we were now safe and sound on the bank, the poor kayakers were in miserable condition having been subjected to the icy water of the river for many hours. Fighting near hypothermia ourselves we nonetheless were able to carry these folks to the warm van and get them inside. We then began rubbing their extremities trying to keep them from going into shock or having a heart attack and certain death.

Miss Trixie saw that the woman was in really bad shape and given her history of survival on Mt. Everest, she grabbed Cooper and like a mini hot water bottle, thrust him down against the woman's ample bosom.

Trout Republic
by Kevin Kirkpatrick

Gathering every ounce of reserve strength ourselves, we were finally able to drive back down the valley and deliver them into safe hands for further treatment and we counted our lucky stars that it was not worse than it had been.

Both Miss Trixie and I were exhausted beyond description, but we had rafters and fishermen depending on our delivery of vehicles, so we just changed clothes and hit the road. Ole Dutch had to "man up" and Miss Trixie put on "her big girl panties" in order to complete our jobs and not disappoint those depending on us that day.

You never know each day when you begin how the Lord will use you to help others I guess, and this day was no different in that regard. Being in the right place at the right time is sometimes all it takes to be a blessing to someone else.

Miss Trixie is now full-on frowning at me over the description of the rescue and wants me to clarify some parts of it before I submit it for publication.

Well, in fact a woman did flag us down and knew that Mountain Man has a reputation of rescuing folks in dire straits, that's true. And two people did fall out of their kayak and in fact, they were very cold and in danger of hypothermia when we found them. Another truth. And we did take them back to town to safety and warm clothes.

But the rest of the story is what they call Literary License and makes it a lot more interesting at least. (Plus, do not fear, Cooper was not harmed in any way.)

And if you enjoyed that one you should hear the one about Little Sarah and the grave up on Del Norte Peak. It's a dandy.

As Miss Trixie always says, Ole Dutch never lets the truth get in the way of a good story.

Sharing memories

The following article by Tom L. Thompson, titled The Sign of Memories, was first published in The Last Word column of the Rocky Mountaineers Rendezvous, a newsletter for a great group of Forest Service employees from the Rocky Mountain Region, many of them long retired. I had the honor of providing the photograph used for that story.

While I am a bit younger than Mr. Thompson, I share the same sentiment and warm feeling as I pass the National Forest signs across the country. Thompson served as the Deputy Regional Forester of the Rocky Mountain Region for 12 years and before that, as the Forest Supervisor on the Siuslaw NF in the Pacific Northwest Region. He retired as the Deputy Chief with responsibility for the National Forests and Grasslands.

The Sign of Memories

As you travel across the country and come upon a National Forest or Grassland entrance sign, how does it make you feel? Especially, if it is a well-maintained sign, I just get this warm feeling of being home where I belong. In a sense it is a feeling of welcome, of security, of pride, of gratitude, and of just plain old comfort.

I have visited every national forest and grassland sometime in my 78 plus years, and from as early as I can remember to now, I have always had that same special feeling knowing that the Forest Service entrance sign signals a very special place ahead and it belongs to all of us. It is not for sale, and it will always be there, just for us.

In reflecting back on my early years, I think to a large degree it was a Forest Service sign that probably led me to a career in the Forest Service. Growing up on the high plains of southeastern Colorado it was quite a distance to the mountains of Colorado. On a very clear day if you were on a high point, you could sometimes make out the tops of the mountains off to the west. Every year our family set out on what I considered to be the most special week of the year and went off to the mountains. Like so many families the discovery of the National Forests started at the end of World War II.

Toward the end of World War II in 1945, my dad, who had worked at the Pueblo Air Base all through the war, was treated to a weekend fishing trip on the upper Rio Grande River by a grateful doctor who was indebted to my dad for all the neighbor-in-the-apartment next door mechanic work he had done on the doctor's Buick during the war years. With this experience my dad came to love the Rio Grande country and thus began what became a lifetime of annual visits back there.

I don't have vivid memories of my first trip there in 1946 at six months of age, but I do have many, many wonderful memories of those early great adventures for our family on the Rio Grande National Forest as I grew up. The log cabins where we stayed were built in 1926 and surrounded by National Forest. The cabins were one room with two beds, a wood stove, a table, a bench and a few chairs, no electricity, no running water, and the outhouse was shared with a few other cabins. There was fishing right out the door, clear crisp air at over 10,000 feet elevation, views of elk on the slopes every evening, and lots of space with aspen and spruce forests in every direction.

Every year when we would make our annual trip there, I so much looked forward to coming to the Rio Grande entrance sign because we were within a couple hours of being at the cabin. The dirt road up to the cabins was a very rough road, not paved like today, but that made it even more special because it was a "trip".

So early on I had a love for the Forest Service and at age 10, with the help of borrowed stencils from my uncle I made an official Forest Service sign for my room out of 4 x 11-inch piece of 3/8 inch plywood and even drew the Forest Service shield on the lower right corner. In looking at this sign today and the craftsmanship, the artistic touch, and the layout, I can see why I never did all that well in art classes. Even so the sign gave my room in our basement an identity and reminded me of a place off to the west where I yearned to be.

My own family continued with this tradition of making at least one trip to the Rio Grande as best we could over the years. In the mid-nineties we decided to begin using cabins down river a way that had electricity and indoor plumbing. There is a special spot on the ridge up near Spring Creek Pass in an open parklike meadow where I sat with my grandfather probably seventy years ago. I have sat there with my dad, my mom, my sons and daughter, and now my grandchildren and every time I come to the Forest entrance sign for the Rio Grande there are memories, but there is also so much gratitude that these places are still there and will be there for my grandchildren's sons and daughters and their grandchildren.

Gregg Goodland is the Public Affairs Officer for the Rio Grande National Forest and has had the honor of serving with Tom Thompson as organizers of the Memorial Grove ceremony for several years.

Renovation and resurrection of the historic county courthouse

'Historic on the outside, modern on the inside'

By PRISCILLA WAGGONER
ALAMOSA— Members of Alamosa's Chamber of Commerce got an exciting first look on Wednesday at Valley-Wide Health's plans to renovate and repurpose the historic downtown county courthouse.

Located at 4th Street and San Juan Avenue, the "old courthouse" is less than a block off Alamosa's Main Street, the main thoroughfare that dissects the Central Business District. But it's more than location that makes the courthouse a key piece of the downtown landscape.

Built in 1936 as part of the Work Project's Administration, the building is an impressive structure built using more than 450,000 bricks that were produced at a kiln north of Alamosa using local sand and clay. Built in a U shape overlooking a courtyard, the historic courthouse is an excellent example of the Mission Revival style of architecture.

When the county built a new complex of offices for county services and courts on Independence Way, the courthouse downtown was vacated, and it has been vacant ever since. That is, until 2023 when Valley-Wide Health Systems merged with SE Health Group, and the organization needed much more space to accommodate the increase in staff and services provided to the community.

Wednesday's presentation was made by Kristina Daniel, Chief Operations Officer of Valley-Wide Health Systems; Joe Aldrich, Director of Facilities; Krista Martinez, Director of Marketing and Services; and Jessica Massie, an architect with RTA Architects, the Colorado Springs-based company who is contracted to develop the design that will guide construction.

RTA Architects is known for working on health care, education and retail projects with special attention paid to community engagement and historic preservation, Massie said.

As she described the project, the courthouse is made up of four buildings, with the fourth – the jail – being added in 1938, two years after the building was completed.

The building is on the National Historic Register and the goal is to "keep it on the register," so the renovation will only include "a light touch" to the exterior of the building.

It occupies a total of 19,000 square feet with its strongest element being the "arcade", the succession of contiguous archways that run the lengths of the buildings.

The original Alamosa County Courthouse at 4th Street and San Juan Avenue to be renovated to serve as a new facility for Valley-Wide Health Systems, offering 'excellent support services in a centralized location.'

As part of the renovation, those archways will be enclosed in glass, preserving the distinctive look of the building's exteriors while allowing more flexibility for entrances in the interior.

Valley-Wide has a goal of providing integrated care and the three buildings built in a U shape overlooking the courtyard will house Behavioral Health – in one building, Primary Care – in a second building, and Physical Therapy – in the third building. There will be a centralized reception area, supporting, as Daniel described it, the goal of offering "excellent support services in one centralized location."

Massie also shared an interesting fact that only adds to the historic feel of the project.

In examining the building's structure, it was discovered that materials from the railroad were also used in its construction, including at least one railroad tie that serves as a support beam. Woodwork around the tie helps it to aesthetically blend in with surrounding wood.

There is also a time capsule buried on the property that Aldrich, director of facilities, suggested might be excavated long enough to add new items from this age to serve as a reminder of the past when uncovered by future generations.

The project's overall design includes some best practices when constructing spaces that support overall health. Opportunities for natural light (daylight) to be included in the design support the circadian rhythm, that 24-hour internal clock in the human brain that controls alertness and sleepiness. Different textures are also included in the design, which contribute to the reduction of stress. And finally, the design includes Safe Spaces for quiet, private conversations or opportunities for solitude and meditation. The thinking, at least for now, is that the design of the courtyard may play a crucial role in creating those types of spaces.

With the development of the design now completed, the "next steps" to completing this extraordinary renovation include submitting the construction documents, targeted for August, and completing the permitting process which will be ongoing from August to November. In October, it is hoped that construction will begin with a completion date projected to be around September of 2025.

In his discussion, Aldrich made it clear that there were about 20 local contractors with the skill to be involved in the project and, while construction is ongoing, the courtyard will be used as the "lay down" for materials, minimizing any obstruction around the property with an emphasis on keeping the sidewalks along 4th Street and San Juan passable as well as the alleys.

While the timing of the purchase of the building may have been fortuitous for Valley-Wide, given how the organization is growing, it may also have been extremely so for the building, itself, which Massie said was "already showing signs of blight."

Against that backdrop, not to mention a real step in revitalizing downtown Alamosa, the historic courthouse serving as a new facility for Valley-Wide can only be looked at as a win-win for all involved.

SLVH launches ‘milestone’ renovation project

CEO Konnie Martin: ‘A significant change that our patients deserve’

By PRISCILLA WAGGONER

ALAMOSA — With the help of a $1 million grant from the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), San Luis Valley Health (SLVH) will be renovating a permanent structure to create five private rooms in an area of the hospital named “Three South.”

“The total project budget is about $3.1 million,” SLVH CEO Konnie Martin told the celebratory crowd of supporters who filled the lobby of the San Luis Valley Regional Medical Center last Wednesday. “Without this foundational funding from the USDA – a key piece in making this project happen - it would not have been possible for us to have achieved such a significant change.”

In a nod to the USDA directors who were present for the announcement, Martin added, “I also want to acknowledge how special it is to celebrate this accomplishment with USDA leaders, one former (Armando Valdez) and one current (Crestina Valdez), who are also known to us as friends and neighbors.”

The project will not increase the numbers of in-patient beds at SLVH, but will, instead, renovate existing space to create the private rooms that can accommodate the need for isolation, when needed. The rooms will also be updated to meet current standards of care, will have an up-to-date healing aesthetic and, of course, provide patient privacy.

Although the idea of the renovation has been a long-standing goal for SLVH, the possibility of it becoming a reality dates back almost three years to 2021 when the USDA announced Recovery Grant Funding was available.

But the situation that created SLVH’s undeniable need for renovation preceded the grant even being made public.

“In 2021, during the pandemic, RMC (SLV Regional Medical Center) was the only facility in this south-central region of the state accepting positive COVID patients,” Martin told the group. “Conejos County Hospital and Rio Grande Hospital provided care to less acute patients and patients recovering from COVID.”

“At the time we wrote the grant, we were averaging 22 patients a day - bed placement for patients presented significant challenges, both for patients with and without COVID. We were also getting calls from other areas of the state - and even out-of-state - who didn’t have beds available for COVID patients who needed them.”

“And RMC’s hospital rooms are semi-private and over-crowded with medical equipment, entering and exiting staff, bathrooms that don’t meet ADA requirements, and lack patient privacy.”

When the grant was made public, its goals - supporting immediate health care needs, helping to prepare for a future pandemic, increasing access to quality health care services and improving community outcomes – seemed tailor-made for SLVH, and an application was submitted.

“It was a perfect fit,” Martin said. “We’ve been looking for something like this for a long time,” Karla Hardesty, chair of the SLV Health Board of Trustees, told the Valley Courier. “We’re really excited to offer this to our patients. It will be a lovely asset to our facility.”

“We’re focused on improving access of care to our community across the Valley and even beyond, especially in the summer when we get people here from other places. I also think it’s very forward-thinking for us to be thinking about upgrades to our facilities. Patient quality is first and foremost but so is a good experience when people are going through hardships. They’re not here because they’re feeling good. They’re here because they need quality medical care. We’re able to do that having top notch facilities.”

Hardesty went on to add, “We’re fortunate to have partnerships with the USDA. It’s very supportive of poor, rural communities to make these investments and sustain our financials and our communities’ access to care.”

When asked what message she thinks an investment like new private rooms sends to the funders, Martin told the Valley Courier, “I think this shows federal agencies that leaders believe in what we’re doing here and we’re worthy of this kind of investment. And we’re going to do good things with federal money and turn it into a community solution.”

When asked what message adding five private rooms sends to the patient population of the Valley (and beyond), Martin responded, “We believe our patients deserve the best health care we can provide. Having private rooms with better visitation and state-of-the-art equipment is what our patients and our community deserve. And that is our goal every single day.”

“Another year has swiftly passed for Monte Vista Coop, and our unwavering dedication to meeting your needs remains steadfast. I extend my sincere gratitude to our employees and members for their invaluable contributions, which propelled us to another successful fiscal year,” he said.

Hinton spoke about the highlights of the past fiscal year and welcomed a “newer” board of directors. “In 2024, we donated over $150,000 to various causes and continued our support for graduating seniors through scholarships, nurturing the next generation of leaders,” Hinton said. “We have a newer Board of Directors that is extremely focused on your company’s future. We welcome your involvement in different coop committees and activities, along with providing any feedback. As always, my door remains open, and I look forward to engaging with more of you in the coming year. I wish all of you a healthy and prosperous year ahead.”

Each department is strategically operated with the best interests of area farmers and ranchers in mind, helping to keep the local economy robust and thriving.

Whether engaged in farming, ranching, recreation, or just living, fuel products are a necessity for everyone. Therefore, the Monte Vista Coop Energy Division delivers diesel, gas, and propane. The service department installs and services both residential and commercial propane tanks, and heaters.

Fuel is one of the necessities for a farmer or rancher. That is why the Monte Vista Coop delivers diesel, gas, and propane along with having a service department that installs both residential and commercial propane tanks. The Monte Vista Coop Energy Division offers a wide range of products and services, along with years of experience.

Now through Sept. 30, the Monte Vista Coop Energy Division August Propane Special is expanding to the Summer Fill Special. People can get the same great special delivered during a multi-month period beginning July 1-Sept. 30. During the Summer Fill Special, people can switch to an MVC tank and get tank rent waived until April 2025. MV Coop offers Budget Billing, where a person can spread their annual propane cost over 11 equal payments beginning in July. People can also receive an additional discount if they sign up for reoccurring monthly payments.

As a Cenex brand dealer, the Monte

Vista Coop provides all the conveniences people are accustomed to: 24-hour pay at the pump gas diesel fuel, freshly made cold and hot foods and tasty snacks and beverages at the C-Store location in Monte Vista. Download the MVC Loyalty app and start earning points toward selected purchases at the MVC C-Store.

The Monte Vista Coop Car Care Center offers tires, batteries, accessories, plus a mobile tire service truck. Whether at the station, on the road, or at the farm, MV Coop can provide complete tire service for any size vehicle with excellent service provided to all customers.

The Monte Vista Coop Equipment Division prides itself on matching each customer’s unique needs with the Kubota that will serve them best. They also offer quality hay and potato equipment services and products.

Fertilizer is also another necessity for Monte Vista Coop members. MV Coop’s Agronomy Division provides conventional and organic fertilizers, crop protection products, seed, and a variety of other agricultural products. At three locations, the Monte Vista Coop Agronomy Divisions can mix customized fertilizer blends to meet a grower’s unique needs and field conditions, and with the capability to spread dry or liquid at a variable rate, MV Coop brings even more value to customer’s bottom-line profitability. MV Coop now offers drone applications.

The Monte Vista Coop Farm Store is a hardware store with an agricultural emphasis. Carrying everything from paint and plumbing to tack and clothing, the Monte Vista Coop Farm Store is a major retail location for farmers and non-farmers alike. They also carry a large selection of PJ and Orange Line trailers, Troy Bilt mowers and tractors, stoves, top quality pet foods, lawn and garden fertilizer and products, and Powder River Cattle Equipment.

With feed warehouse locations in Alamosa and Monte Vista, the Monte Vista Coop Feed Division provides premium feed, essential livestock products, and educational insight.

Monte Vista Coop is passionately committed to providing its customers with the highest quality products, most innovative solutions, and services delivered with integrity and professionalism.

“This year, the Monte Vista Coop celebrates its 75th anniversary. The Monte Vista Coop would like to

One Surfing Way to Love Your Life

Editor’s Note: A new Joyce Meyers column was not available this week, please enjoy this column from the past.

If someone asked you if you love your life, what would you say? It seems most people would say they don’t love their life. But as believers in Christ, we can learn to love the life we have.

I know what it’s like to have a miserable life, and how wonderful it is to live with God’s peace and joy. I remember when God spoke to my heart and told me, “You’re not happy because you’re selfish.” It wasn’t easy to hear, but facing that truth helped me surrender my will to God, so He could begin working in me and help me make the changes I needed to make.

I discovered that the key to loving my life is making God’s love the central theme of my life. God is love. It’s not just what He does, but who He is. He loves us unconditionally, and when we believe that, it changes us; it makes us confident and secure.

Knowing you are loved gives you courage and boldness to step out and try new things, so you don’t have to be stuck with a negative attitude about life in general, or in a situation you hate. It gives you security that enables you to confront unhealthy relationships, knowing you’ll be okay—and even better than before—however things turn out.

Here’s how God’s love works in our lives: We receive His love for us, then we see ourselves the way He does and love ourselves in a healthy way, and finally, we let His love flow through us to others.

The goal is to take in the good things God offers us, and then go out in the world and give to others what He has given to us! God wants to give us His love, mercy, grace, and forgiveness, and He expects those things to flow through us to the people in our world.

God created us to be loved and to love others. First John 3:11 (AMPC) says, “For this is the message (the announcement) which you have heard from the first, that we should love one another.” That’s real Christianity.

If we really get down to it, how much do we really think about what we can do for other people? I’ve learned that when I’m selfish or too focused on myself—what I want or how I can get others to do what I want them to do—I am frustrated, easily offended, and upset much of the time.

In fact, if you’re having a bad day, one of the worst things you can do is to keep thinking about yourself and all of your own problems. It only makes things worse! So, what should you do? Get your mind off yourself and help someone else.

Helping others isn’t something you will normally feel like doing—it requires a decision. But making a choice to be good to others has the power to help you and them. It’s a spiritual principle....

The Apostle Paul says in Acts 20:35 (NIV): “In everything I did, I showed you that by this kind of hard work we must help the weak, remembering the words the Lord Jesus himself said: ‘It is more blessed to give than to receive.’”

So, if I’m having a bad day, this scripture tells me I can be happier by simply getting myself off my mind and helping someone else.

It’s actually amazing how just a few words of encouragement can change someone’s entire day. Sometimes it can even change their life! It can be as simple as picking up the phone and calling a friend who’s been going through a rough time, letting them know you’re thinking about them and praying for their situation. Or maybe you can send someone a text message to let them know how valuable they are and how much you care.

Would you like to make every day better? Would you like to find joy even in the midst of difficult times? Then begin taking even just a few minutes every day to think about what you can do to help someone else.

Because when you give your life away, you’ll find that it comes back to you in the most marvelous ways.

AHS principal headed to Center CSD

Lavier will be new asst. superintendent

By PRISCILLA WAGGONER

ALAMOSA — After spending a decade as the principal of Alamosa High School (AHS) preceded by almost twice that many years with the district where he was both in and out of the classroom, Andy Lavier is headed north to Center where he has been hired as that district's new assistant superintendent.

Lavier leaves behind a record marked by outstanding achievements, most notably in academic performance.

"Mr. Lavier leaves a legacy of being at the Performance Level for ten years during his tenure at Alamosa High School, and he has accomplished a great deal," says Diana Jones, Alamosa School District superintendent. "We wish him the best as he embarks on this new journey and opportunity."

Under Lavier's leadership, AHS also excelled in other areas, as noted by Luis Murillo, assistant superintendent.

"Mr. Lavier has been an integral part of AHS' success," Murillo says. "In his time at the helm, AHS transformed into a performing school and has stayed there for the past 10 years. Also, in his time at AHS, the student body competed in sports and academics, winning several championships. Andy bleeds maroon and will be missed. We wish him the best of luck in his leadership endeavors."

There are other accomplishments that can be attributed to Lavier, but they aren't the kind that end up in reports from the Colorado Department of Education or scoreboards on a field.

As principal, Lavier brought AHS and its students through the COVID-19 pandemic, one of the most challenging times for schools in recent history. The graduating class of 2024 started their high school experience at the height of the pandemic.

During that time, especially when the scope of the pandemic was not yet known, Lavier was a regular at school board meetings where, along with other principals, teachers, and staff, they would provide feedback to the ASD Board of Education about how things were going.

And, in the end, the class of 2024 was noted for the number of honors, scholarships and accolades they received.

During Lavier's tenure, AHS was also the target of what the FBI calls, "swatting," where a fake call is placed to the school saying there is an active shooter on campus.

As a result, the executive management team and their partnership with Lavier, other top administrators at the schools and staff, ASD now has a strong, flexible but effective security protocol.

In his role as principal, Lavier also addressed a grieving community when he spoke at the funeral of Eric Melgosa, Lavier's close friend and Alamosa's Athletic Director who passed away in January of 2023. Despite grieving himself, Lavier spoke with dignity and grace.

When asked about hiring the next person to AHS into the future, Superintendent Jones said the position will be posted immediately and "a hiring committee will participate in a first round of interviews."

SLV Regional Airport to receive federal funds

By JOHN WATERS

WASHINGTON, DC – The San Luis Valley Regional Airport in Alamosa will receive $456,849 in federal funding for snow removal equipment.

On July 2, U.S. Senators John Hickenlooper and Michael Bennet celebrated an additional $10 million in new funding from the Federal Aviation Administration's (FAA) Airport Improvement Program (AIP) and the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law for infrastructure improvements at 16 Colorado airports.

"From Yuma to Montrose, Colorado's airports help connect rural communities and power local economies," said Hickenlooper. "Our Bipartisan Infrastructure Law is delivering much needed improvements to make air travel safe and accessible for all Coloradans."

"Colorado's regional and municipal airports are an important part of our state – they connect our communities and boost local economic development," said Bennet. "This funding will support airports across Colorado as they make critical investments to meet our changing needs."

The investments are funded through the FAA's AIP and the Airport Infrastructure Grants (AIG) program, which deliver funding for airports nationwide to improve runways, taxiways, and airport signage, lighting, marking, and facilities. The programs receive funding from the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law, which Hickenlooper helped negotiate. The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law has provided over $399 million to Colorado airports across the state for infrastructure improvements since being signed into law., which deliver funding for airports nationwide to improve runways, taxiways, and airport signage, lighting, marking, and facilities. Spark Speaker Series continues July 10

By NANCY HARRIS

ALAMOSA – Spark the Change Colorado, a leading volunteer non-profit dedicated to service and community health, invites the public to its monthly speaker series, "Spark Speaker Series: Empowering Aging in Colorado."

The next event in the series is at 1 p.m. on Wednesday, July 10, at the Alamosa Senior Citizens Center. Hosted by the Retired and Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) of Alamosa County, the series addresses issues pertaining to older adults and their health and features local expert speakers on topics such as well-being, nutrition, volunteering, memory, physical health, and much more. All are welcome and no registration is necessary.

Each presentation in the series will take place on the second Wednesday of the month at 1 p.m. in the activity room of the Alamosa Senior Citizens Center, 92 Colorado Ave.

The featured speaker for July 10 is Deborah Palmer, MM, MT-BC, Board Certified Music Therapist, who has over 17 years of experience working with older adults, hospice, rehabilitation, and persons with special needs. Palmer's presentation is titled, "Music's Influence on Aging and Well-Being." The presentation will cover the basics of music therapy, how music impacts various aspects of aging, and how older adults can utilize music to maintain and improve health. The presentation will also include a live music demonstration.

In addition to Palmer's presentation, Nancy Harris, Spark the Change Colorado's RSVP Manager for Alamosa County, will talk about the benefits of volunteering in one's community and ways to get involved with RSVP.

"Come with an open mind, a desire to learn more about seniors and their well-being, and with your own ideas of future topics and speakers. We will be gathering input from participants at each of the events to determine what folks from our senior community are interested in

El Pomar approves $44K to SLV groups

By JOHN WATERS

COLORADO SPRINGS — The El Pomar Foundation trustees approved $44,000 allocated to eight nonprofit organizations and government entities in the San Luis Valley at the Foundation's May Trustees meeting.

Through the Foundation's grant making process, the following entities were awarded grants:

- Adams State University Foundation, Inc. (Alamosa) — $10,000 for School of Nursing infant and pediatric mannequins; competitive
- CASA del Valle, Inc. (Alamosa) — $5,000 for general operating support; regional merit
- City of Creede — $5,000 for food for youth at the Virginia Christensen multi-use facility; regional merit
- Manassa Saddle Club, Inc. — $2,500 for general operating support; regional merit
- San Luis Valley Animal Welfare Society (Alamosa) — $2,500 for general operating support; regional merit
- South-Central Colorado Seniors, Inc. (Alamosa) — $4,000 for Homebound meal delivery service; regional council
- Town of San Luis — $5,000 for Sangre de Cristo Cultural Heritage Center piano; competitive
- Valley Citizens Foundation for Health Care, Inc. (Del Norte) — $10,000 for cottage and geodome homes in the Community Wellness Center.

Adams State University honored the El Pomar Foundation with the 2015 Willis Fassett Jr. Award. President David Tandberg, Ph.D., appreciates their belief in the nursing program.

"Support from the El Pomar Foundation helps us train qualified providers for rural health care," Tandberg said.

Seniors, said, "We are gratefully thankful. The El Pomar Foundation has been a huge cheerleader for all the non-profits in the Valley, and we appreciate that. The funding will go to meet the needs of our services for our seniors."

Aileen Peek, Executive Director of the San Luis Valley Animal Welfare Society said of the $2,500 the group received from the foundation, "The San Luis Valley Animal Welfare Society greatly appreciates the donation of $2,500 from El Pomar Foundation. In this impoverished area that money goes to running our no kill shelter near San Luis. Dogs are in dog parks all day, dependent upon weather conditions, and not housed in kennels except at night. Our Society also helps with donations to CatsAlive and refers callers to veterinarians, behavior help and other shelters."

"The Town of San Luis is working closely with several organizations to re-establish the Sangre de Cristo Cultural Heritage Center as a destination point for Coloradans to not only learn the history of the oldest Town in our State but also as a place to experience the current cultural happenings in Southern Colorado, be that music, film, sculpture, painting, etc. The El Pomar Foundation is the latest organization to contribute to

The annual Ski-Hi Stampede will be in Monte Vista on July 11-14 at the Ski-Hi Complex.

Ski-Hi Stampede is back, earlier than ever before

STAFF REPORT

MONTE VISTA — Preparations for the annual Ski-Hi Stampede are underway, just a little sooner than usual. Everything kicks off on July 11 and runs through July 14. That's right, what usually takes place at the end of July, is sooner this year.

The Stampede Committee made the announcement following last year's event, with the goal of drawing more professionals to the PRCA rodeo the Ski-Hi Complex in Monte Vista.

Wright's Amusements will be here beginning on Wednesday, July 10. The carnival will be in town for five days, complete with adventure-filled rides, tasty treats, fun-filled games, and much more.

On Thursday, July 11, the annual Rotary Chuck Wagon Dinner will take place from 5 to 7 p.m. right before the big kickoff concert.

This year Country Music Hall of Fame member Wynonna Judd is headlining the concert on July 11 at 7:30 p.m. Please see STAMPEDE on Page 2

Reverse 911 can save a life

By JOHN WATERS

ALAMOSA — On Sunday, June 23, at 4:51 a.m., many San Luis Valley residents were alerted of an emergency by the Reverse 911 system maintained by Alamosa County.

The reverse system operates across the country and sends emergency calls, texts, and emails alerting people to various events including natural disasters, evacuations, school emergencies and safety threats.

In 2009, Connecticut became the first state in the nation to utilize a reverse 911 system and now they are deployed across the U.S. and Canada. In 2004, reverse 911 was used in Granby, Colorado to notify residents of a bulldozer rampage. Reverse 911 was used in during the 2012 Sandy Hook — Newtown Connecticut school shooting. And locally the system has been used twice locally in the last few weeks.

If you did not receive the message sent out last Sunday morning, signing up to receive the notifications is easy. Go to the Alamosa County website at www.alamosacounty.colorado.gov and go to the red tab on the site, "Sign Up for Alamosa County Emergency Alerts," and click on it to be directed to the Hyper-Reach website and sign up. The website was launched in 1995 by the Asher Group, a computer service provider.

According to the company, Hyper-Reach is a leading provider of mass, enterprise and team notification systems for public safety, other government agencies and companies throughout North America.

Hope in the Valley brings addiction treatment services to region

By JOHN WATERS

ALAMOSA — Valerie Gurule-Duran, Clinical Director from the Hope in the Valley recovery center in Alamosa briefed county commissioners on June 26 regarding progress the addiction treatment facility has made recently.

Gurule-Duran told the commissioners, "We are a community-led program, we currently offer a detox that is a social, medical withdrawal detox. We don't carry narcotics onboard, but we have nurses on staff 24-7. Our doctors can call in and prescribe [meds] we are trying to get patients medications like Suboxone [opioid dependence treatment medication] we can definitely do that.

"We also have a partial hospitalization program, that is five hours a day, five days a week where they participate in groups. We are using a curriculum out of a company based in Los Angeles that is evidence-based and it covers many aspects [of recovery.] We also have outpatient treatment, which is three hours a day, three days a week.

"Our goal is we are trying to create this continual treatment, if somebody comes in, we are trying to not let them go out on the street. We use the encouragement to ask, 'What is your goal, what needs to happen, do you have adequate housing, do you need in-patient treatment? Do you need sober living?'"

Please see HOPE on Page 8

Wynonna is world renowned and known both as a solo artist and duet artist with her beautiful late mother, Naomi Judd. They were known on stage as The Judds. According to the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame, Naomi and Wynonna formed one of the most successful duos in country music history, recording 14 number one singles between 1984 to 1989. The Judds recorded many memorable songs such as, "Momma He's Crazy," "Rockin' with the Rhythm of the Rain," "Give a Little Love," and "Grandpa," along with one of their most notable songs, "Love Can Build a Bridge." Due to unexpected illness, Naomi retired in 1991, and in 1992, Wynonna made her debut as a solo artist and released many more successful albums.

Max McNown, a singer and songwriter from Bend, Ore., is the opener for Wynonna.

Stick around for the after-concert dance featuring the Justin Kemp Band, who will also perform nightly following the rodeo action on July 12 and 13 beginning at 9 p.m. Friday night Colorado's oldest PRCA rodeo returns to town, and brings all the thunder with it, including broncos, roping riders, the ever-popular barrel racers, kids' mutton busting, and bull riding. There will be rodeo action on July 12 and 13 evenings and July 14 in the afternoon. Downtown parades will take place July 12 and 13, beginning at 10 a.m. The parades are always filled with colorful floats from local businesses, and plenty of candy and treats are always thrown for all the kiddos and crowds to enjoy. For more information on specific times and where to get tickets, visit skihistampe.com.

Rio Grande County celebrates employee's 57 years of service

By LYNDSIE FERRELL
RIO GRANDE COUNTY — Rio Grande County Board of Commissioners welcomed Jody Kern, Director of Rio Grande County Social Services, alongside Larry Desbien, Director of the Division of Child Support Services and the Colorado Department of Human Services, to their work session on June 26 to celebrate Helen Martinez who has worked for the Department of Social Services for an astounding 57 years. Martinez is the longest standing employee in Rio Grande County and announced her retirement earlier this year. "We have been so pleased to have Helen for all these years. She has done wonderful things in the Department of Social Service and child support," said Kern. Martinez was presented with a plaque and an American flag for her years of service. The plaque presented by Desbien reads, "CDHS honors Helen Martinez for her 57.5 years of dedicated service, devotion and commitment to serving Coloradans in Mineral and Rio Grande County." Rio Grande County commissioners helped celebrate Martinez and acknowledged that she may be the longest standing county employee in the state besides one other county employee who will be celebrating their 58th year in another location. "We are just so happy to have had her services and we are going to miss having her in the office," finished Kern.

 Helen Martinez was presented with a plaque honoring her devotion to her job and an American flag to mark her willingness to serve. Pictured is Martinez with Rio Grande County commissioners Gene Glover, Scott Deacon and Tyler Ratzlaff.

For nearly 58 years, Helen Martinez has helped serve the greater Rio Grande County Community and has now chosen to say goodbye and enjoy her retirement. Pictured is Larry Desbien, Director Division of Child Support Services Colorado Department of Human Services.

Monday Night Jam Band performing in Creede

CREEDE—Mark your calendars for Creede Arts Council's upcoming Music in the Park concert from 2 to 4 p.m. on Sunday, July 7, in Creede's Basham Park. The Monday Night Jam Band, an eclectic group of Creede musicians, will be performing a range of rock, blues, folk and funk.

This is part of the Creede Arts Council's Music in the Park series of free public concerts. For more information, contact the Creede Arts Council at creedearts@outlook.com or check out the entire summer Music in the Park lineup at www.creedeartscouncil.com.

DN Public Library Summer Reading

DEL NORTE — The Del Norte Public Library's Summer Reading program started June 17 and will go through July. You can still register and participate. This summer's theme is "Adventure Begins at Your Library." This summer's program includes weekly activities on Thursdays from 4:30-5:30 p.m.; next one is July 11 at the library. Also go to the Del Norte Town

Park and read the latest story "Jules' Voyage to the World of Bees" in the Adventure Walk, then come to the library for a free honey stick. This book will only "bee" around for a little longer because High Valley Community Center will be sponsoring a new story. Look for it soon. The library also has Colorado Native Wildflower seed packets available courtesy of Generation Wild.

this effort, awarding the Town of San Luis $5,000 to go towards the purchase of a Baldwin Grand Piano for the Heritage Center theater. With the purchase of this piano, we are excited to be able to offer a top-quality instrument to attract top-quality musicians to San Luis and bring people from across Colorado to our small Town to experience everything we have to offer," said Teddy Leinbach with the Town of San Luis.

years, El Pomar has either developed or been entrusted with the stewardship of other funds and presenting merit grants in each region recommended by Trustees and regional council members. Competitive applications are accepted on a rolling basis. In an effort to increase impact and establish connections across the entire state, the Regional Partnerships program was established in 2003. Each of the Foundation's 11 regional councils advises El Pomar Trustees and recommends grants to help support its communities. The San Luis Valley Regional Council recommends grants in Alamosa, Conejos, Costilla, Mineral, Rio Grande, and Saguache counties.

"We have been open since May 22, and we have had a handful of people come into the facility and the transformation we are seeing is amazing." Commissioner Lori Laske said, "I am glad you are looking at residential in-patient because that is the gap we have in the San Luis Valley, and we appreciate you are working toward that.

On July 11, Hope in the Valley will hold an open house and ribbon cutting. Details will be in the Valley Courier when they are known. Hope in the Valley can be reached at 719-206-4673 and www.hopealamosa.org. For information regarding meetings of Alcoholics Anonymous and Narcotics Anonymous in the San Luis Valley, visit www.slvaa.org.

"Thank you guys, this is a resource that is needed," said Commissioner Vern Heersink. Commissioner Arlan Van Ry said, "I can speak from experience, I've never been shy about my recovery. As a Veteran, it is extremely hard to get any kind of treatment. Luckily, I was able to do it on my own. For the other Veterans who struggle with PTSD, one of the side effects is turning to dependency on alcohol or other drugs. If there is any way I can help, and assist with getting Veterans Affairs TRICARE, I am more than willing to help volunteer my time." Van Ry added he just celebrated 1,500 days of sobriety and offered he is willing to talk with any Veteran who is experiencing addiction. TRICARE is the Department of Defense health care program for uniformed service members, their families, and retirees. According to the website of the organization, "Hope in the Valley is more than a rehabilitation center; it's a haven built on empathy, understanding and the unwavering belief in the transformative power of recovery... Hope in the Valley stands tall, not just as a rehabilitation center, but as a living testament to the possibility of transformation, a testament that no matter how challenging the journey, hope can be found, and recovery is within reach."

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Level: Intermediate

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Welcome to the 102nd Ski-Hi Stampede

We are so excited to celebrate our 102nd anniversary this year! On Thursday, July 11, the Monte Vista Rotary Club will be doing dinner serving roast beef, baked potatoes, beans, with cookies and a drink. After supper, we are pleased to announce another spectacular concert featuring Wynonna Judd with special guest Max McNown. Immediately after the concert, join us for the first dance of the weekend featuring Justin Kemp. On Friday, July 12, the first rodeo of the event will kick off at 7 p.m. with the world class stock contractor Stace Smith and announcer Andy Seiler. Friday night is Family Night at the rodeo.

Rodeos will also take place on Saturday the 13th at 7 p.m., and Sunday the 14th at 2 p.m. Saturday's Rodeo theme is "Tough Enough to Wear Pink" - so make sure to wear your pink that day.

There will be parades on Friday, July 12, and Saturday, July 13, at 10 a.m. This year's parade theme is "Heroes Among Us."

Don't forget to take your family to Wright's Amusement Carnival as they exceed our expectations every year.

We hope you don't miss this opportunity to get out and spend time with friends and family and enjoy what the San Luis Valley community has to offer.

For more information, check out our website at ski-histampede.com, like us on Facebook and Instagram, or add us on Snapchat!

Have a great time at the 102nd Anniversary of the Ski-Hi Stampede!

Contractor Smith Pro Rodeos provides quality stock

MONTE VISTA — If the bulls look meaner, the horses rougher and the calves and steers more agile, thank perennial Stampede favorite stock contractor Stace Smith Pro Rodeos.

At end of 2023, the torch was passed from father to son as Riggan Smith began running the show for his father, Stace Smith.

Stace Smith PR produces more PRCA rodeos than any other PRCA stock contractor. In addition to PRCA rodeos, Smith Pro Rodeos produces PBR and Bronc Match events throughout the year. It is in large part to his experience that Stace Smith has been named PRCA Stock Contractor of the Year in 2004, 2005, 2006, 2007, 2008, 2009, 2010, 2011, 2012, 2013, and 2014. Smith and Harry Vold are tied for the most all-time PRCA Stock Contractor of the Year awards at 11.

Stace has worked at every level of rodeo, beginning as a contestant, then spending time as chute boss, and pickup man. Smith was chosen as pickup man for the Texas Circuit finals in both 2005 and 2007 and continues to pick up at several events.

In 2009, Stace Smith became a shareholder in Mesquite Championship Rodeo, and in 2014, Smith Pro Rodeos has served as the committee or partners with the committee at 26 of the 39 events produced. This one-of-a-kind experience gives them an inside edge on what it takes to help the committees achieve one of the ultimate goals of spectator sports, putting spectators in seats.

In 2014, Smith Pro Rodeos had seven PRCA rodeos nominated in the four "Rodeo of the Year" categories. Smith Pro Rodeos produces rodeos across nine different states from Mississippi through Texas, Colorado, North Dakota, Utah, and Wyoming.

Each performance is carefully planned, from building equal, exciting pens of livestock, to planning the order they will be presented according to the stock and rider's attributes. All timed event livestock come directly from the Smith ranch, so there are no mismatched pens or delivery issues. Because of these efforts, turnouts are at a minimum, so each rodeo is a balanced representation of the sport.

For more information, go online to www.smithprorodeos.com.

Andy Seiler to announce Ski-Hi Stampede

MONTE VISTA — The oldest rodeo in Colorado will be welcoming a familiar voice to announce the goings-on in the arena, this year. Andy Seiler is back handling the announcing duties for Ski-Hi Stampede.

Seiler has been in the business for over a decade and his career has followed an ascendant path being branded "an up-and-coming voice for professional rodeo," by Boyd Polhamus and according to former NIRA Commissioner John Smith. "I honestly believe Andy will be one of the best-recognized announcers in the sport of rodeo."

Rodeo is a family affair for Seiler as he and both parents competed in rodeo. In his high school competition days, he was a three-time champion team roper in the National High School Finals Rodeo. From there he qualified three times for the College National Finals Rodeo during his time at Troy College in Alabama.

To earn some extra money for college expenses, Seiler used his first-hand experience to take up gigs announcing at amateur rodeos. After winning the Walt Garrison Award of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association (NIRA), Seiler's first big break came in the form of an invitation from announcer Boyd Polhamus for Seiler to be his co-announcer at the National College Rodeo Finals in 2008.

After three years of working various rodeos including Rodeo Houston, Cervi Championship Rodeo and Harry Vold, he stepped away from the scene to get a "real" job, working for a feed supply company in Florida. During that time, he married his childhood sweetheart. Bringing about his next big break, in the form of another phone call from Polhamus asking Seiler to fill in as the announcer at Rodeo Houston.

From there, his announcing career took off as he was in demand at rodeos across the nation. All this eventually led to a prestigious spot at-mic for the National Finals Rodeo.

Seiler is well suited for his profession as he has plenty of experience with rodeo as well as a broadcast journalism degree. He also knows a thing or two about making the event fun for all ages as Seiler is a husband and a father.

He has announced all over the country in the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA).

Rodeo couple exhibits trick riding and roping, gun spinning

CONTRIBUTED

A pair of western entertainers will hit the "stage" at the Ski-Hi Stampede on July 12-14.

In the tradition of Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, Rider Kiesner and his partner Bethany Iles entertain with trick riding, trick roping, and gun slinging!

It's an exhibition of the Western arts, heralding back to the old west days of Annie Oakley, the Will Rogers Follies, and the glory days of TV, when westerns were king.

Kiesner and Iles are well-known for their work. Kiesner has performed at the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo, pro rodeo's world championship, seven times, and has done his act in all 50 states and 15 countries.

Their act is all western: Kiesner trick ropes and does gun spinning tricks, standing on a specially designed platform on his truck, doing such rope tricks as the butterfly, the wedding ring (with 70 feet of rope) and the Texas skip. Iles rides around the arena, doing dangerous yet beautiful trick riding stunts like the suicide drag, the shoulder stand, the liberty stand, the full fender drag, the stroud layout, and one of her newest, the cartwheel vault.

He's no stranger to the art of western talent. When he was nine years old, he got a Will Rogers trick roping kit for Christmas and taught himself to rope. His entire family, including younger brother Roper and parents Philip and Julie, took their show on the road. When Rider turned 18, he got his PRCA card and began his solo career.

Iles grew up with a mother who was terrified of horses, but when Iles saw trick riding, she and her twin sister knew that's what they wanted to do.

Bethany Iles will trickride at the Ski-Hi Stampede on July 12-14. The talented cowgirl will be alongside trickroper and gunslinger Rider Kiesner.

"My mom, being a good mom, signed us up to take riding lessons, and within a month, we had three head of horses," Iles said. The sisters made their own trick riding equipment and hung off horses, "which is totally not safe," she laughed. Their riding instructor hosted a trick riding clinic, which the girls attended, "and a year later, we had learned enough to do local shows," Iles said.

The two of them paired up in 2018 and have performed at rodeos across the nation.

World champion trick roper Rider Kiesner will entertain with his brand of fancy trick roping and fire. The Oklahoma cowboy has been a showman and entertainer for more than 20 years.

Kiesner is a four-time world champion trick roper and a two-time world champion gun spinner, and the couple is the 2020 PRCA Specialty Act of the Year.

They will entertain during each night of the Ski-Hi Stampede July 12-14. Performances begin at 7 p.m. on July 12 and 13, with a 2 p.m. matinee on July 14.

Stampede amateur events announced

MONTE VISTA — The Ski-Hi Stampede Committee announces the 2024 amateur events and rules.

All amateur contestants will participate in the slack-qualifying round of the Ski-Hi Stampede rodeo on Friday, July 12, at 1 p.m.

All participants must be residents of the San Luis Valley — no exceptions.

- Entry fees will be $100 per person per event.
- Calf Roping - $100
- Barrel Racing - $100
- Team Roping - $200

An individual may enter only once per event.

- Event will be a one go round timed trials.
- The 8 (eight) fastest times, who were successful in the qualifying round, will advance to the Ski-Hi Pro Rodeo performances on Saturday and Sunday, bottom four Saturday and top four Sunday.

• Amateur monies will be paid to the fastest four contestants during Friday's qualifier.

Stock, secretary and judges fees will be deducted.

Pay off will be as follows:

1st-40 percent; 2nd-30 percent; 3rd-20 percent and 4th-10 percent

• There will be no additional entry fee for participation in the Stampede Pro Rodeo. The fastest time in each event will be the winner of the amateur saddle for the event. The amateur saddle will be presented to the winner at the Sunday performance of the San Luis Valley Ski Hi Rodeo. In the event of a tie for the saddle, tie-breaker will be the best time from the qualifying round.

Individuals and teams will be scheduled in the Ski-Hi Pro Rodeo as follows:

• Number of individuals and teams will be divided equally for each of the two days (Saturday and Sunday) of the Ski-Hi Pro Rodeo.

• Competition order will be from slowest times from qualifier at the Saturday performance to the fastest times at the Sunday performance.

- Example (with eight maximum qualifiers with performance date and running order): Saturday, July 23 – Qualifiers 8,7,6,5; Sunday, July 24 - Qualifiers 4,3,2,1

• Once individuals and teams have qualified, and performance times have been set, there will be no changes or additions even if a qualifier must draw out for any reason.

• All communications about complaints or grievances shall be directed to the Ski-Hi Stampede Board of Directors at a monthly meeting by asking for a spot on the agenda to express the concerns. At no time will sponsors or other individuals be approached about grievances. Any violations of this clause may result in disqualification in this year's eligibility as well as all future year's eligibility in Ski Hi Stampede Rodeo events.

• Registration will be from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m., Monday, July 8, at the Ski-Hi Stampede Committee Building, 2330 Sherman Ave., Monte Vista. Contestants must have the following for registration: Entry fee (cash or check; if a participant's check bounces, they will not be allowed to compete for the saddle in the pro rodeo); proof of health insurance; proof of residency (driver's license of 90 days in the Valley)

• Anyone under 18 years of age must be accompanied by a legal guardian or have a notarized release from your legal guardians.

- Team Roping – Must be the complete team!
- All participants must enter in person!

Mutton busting
Participants must be between ages of 5 and 7 years old and less than 50 pounds. They must be a San Luis Valley resident and show proof of age and insurance. Child must be present at entry office to weigh in. There will be a limit of 10 mutton busters per day. All mutton busters must report to the west end of the grandstand before the saddle bronc riding begins. Contestants not reporting on time will not be allowed to compete.

See website for more information and all the rules, www.skihistampede.com.

Wynonna to headline Stampede concert

STAFF REPORT

MONTE VISTA — Longtime country artist and multiple award winner Wynonna Judd will be the featured act for Ski-Hi Stampede concert on Thursday, July 11, as the 100-year plus event moves up two weeks earlier than normal.

Up and coming artist Max McNown will be the guest artist. Tickets are available at skihistampede.com.

Wynonna is one of the most widely recognized and awarded female country musicians in history. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Wynonna_Judd In all, she has had 19 No. 1 singles, including those with The Judds. Her solo albums and singles are all credited to—and performed under—the singular stage name, Wynonna.

She first rose to fame in the 1980s alongside her mother, Naomi, in their mother-daughter country music duo, The Judds. They released seven albums on Curb Records, in addition to 26 singles, of which 14 were No. 1 hits. In 2023 Wynonna was named the best country music artist picking up the “country champion” award at the “People’s Choice Country Awards”.

McNown is a singer-songwriter from Bend, Oregon. His soulful music attracted international attention on TikTok and other social media platforms, which built an engaging and committed fanbase.

His powerful lyrics and resonant vocals led to collaborations with renowned producers and songwriters and the opportunity to audition in front of Katy Perry, Lionel Richie, and Luke Bryan during the 2023 season of “American Idol.”

Stampede Parade Grand Marshals

Ronnie and Carolyn David

Ronnie and Carolyn David were high school sweethearts and have been married for 60 years.

Ronnie graduated from Sargent High School and Colorado State University with a degree in science and physical education.

Carolyn graduated from Monte Vista High School and St. Joseph Hospital School of Radiological Technology in Denver.

They returned to the Sargent area following graduation and Ronnie taught and coached at Sargent schools. Carolyn worked at Monte Vista Hospital, and they also farmed.

They raised three children, Kirk of Monte Vista, Stan of Pagosa Springs, and Marcia Schneider of Abilene, Kan., and have one grandson, Brody of Colorado Springs.

Their greatest joy was supporting their children and grandson in their various activities and sporting events. There were many hours spent on bleachers and traveling but "what fun it was."

Ronnie served on the Colorado Potato Administrative Committee, the Sargent Steering Committee and two terms on the Sargent School Board. He coached grade school, junior high and high school basketball for more than 20 years, most of that was as a volunteer. For 35 years, he refereed football and basketball both locally and on the state level. "Being around young people adds a lot of joy to your life."

Carolyn volunteered on the Stampede Parade Committee, 9 Health Fair and has been a member of Bethlehem Chapter #56 Order of Eastern Star for 50 years and has enjoyed helping with all their philanthropic work. Carolyn was director at Legacy Assisted Living for 24 years and gained so much enjoyment from serving the seniors of the community.

The David's enjoy spending as much time as possible with family and at Santa Maria Reservoir. Carolyn still enjoys playing bridge, volunteers at the Rio Grande Hospital and serves as a member of the Monte Vista Community Ambulance Board of Directors.

Rodney and Domey Salazar

Domey and Rodney Salazar were born in the little community of Lariat. Growing up they were neighbors, Domey went to Catholic school, and Rodney went to public school.

They met in high school and were high school sweethearts.

Rodney graduated high school and Domey later got her GED.

They have five wonderful children, who are doing well; nine grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

After the kids got older, Domey went to work at HeadStart and then with Dr. Hilmes. She also worked at McDonalds Clothing Store. Then later, she worked at Polston Elementary School as a teacher's aide before retiring.

Rodney's first job here in Monte was for Boy's Market, then for John Rogers Motors, who sold to Steinert Motors. Then he went to work for Phillips 66. He was offered a job with the Department of Agriculture (US Forest Service) as seasonal labor. After 32 years of service, he was promoted from labor to mechanic helper, to heavy equipment operator before retiring as supervisor of the forest road maintenance crew.

Rodney served on the board of directors for HeadStart, Colorado Migrant Council and the 12th Judicial Court in Alamosa. He has been a lifetime member of the Monte Vista Elks Lodge, where he served in various offices with 39 years of service to date.

When they were younger, Domey and Rodney bowled in leagues and hunted. Rodney loved to golf. They also loved to dance.

Nowadays, they enjoy going to casinos and working on their condominium. Rodney just celebrated his 90th birthday with family and friends.

"Life is pretty sweet," they said.

Dance the nights away with the Justin Kemp Band

MONTE VISTA — Thursday, Friday and Saturday night's dances will feature the Justin Kemp Band.

Justin Kemp was born and raised in Hobbs, N.M., on the Texas Border. Growing up in a musical family he was heavily influenced by the great Merle Haggard, George Jones, Keith Whitley, and all of the legends going back to the 1970's.

Once he picked up the guitar at the age of 11 there was no turning back. He began songwriting in high school and pursued music at South Plains College in Levelland, Texas. With the support of his father, David Kemp, who also plays bass and keyboard with the band, the Justin Kemp Band was born.

Justin co-writes many of the original songs the band records along with his father and bandmate David Kemp. Their recent releases include "Borrow A Kiss," "Money In My Pocket," "Better Man," "Heart's Desire" and "Legends Never Die."

Justin and the band tour nationally and he also performs as a duo with David. They have opened for many major acts including Joe Nichols, Chase Rice, Dylan Scott, Travis Tritt, Tanya Tucker, Josh Abbott Band, Kevin Fowler, and Wade Bowen to name a few.

He likes and covers the music of Luke Combs, Brett Young, Jon Pardi, Midland & Cole Swindell. Justin and the band have toured primarily in the South West.

In 2018 he signed a management deal with Heart Songs Records and he has spent the last year writing, recording in Nashville and continuing to tour with his five-piece band.

Justin Kemp Band was on multiple 2019 Country Artists to Watch lists. His successful single "Better Man" garnered him a place on Apple Music's hot tracks for 9 weeks.

Still tough enough to wear pink on Saturday

SAN LUIS VALLEY — For more than 100 years, the Ski-Hi Stampede has entertained crowds from all over the country and provided one of the best pro-rodeo events in the state. Not only has the Ski-Hi Stampede brought joy to the Valley, guests to the area and fun for all who attend, they have also provided donations to a local cause and have helped save the lives of many through their generosity.

The Stephanie L. Miner Women's Imaging Center at San Luis Valley Health in Alamosa was created when Miner, a local teacher, was diagnosed with breast cancer after her fourth child was born. When Miner lost her fight with cancer, her family approached SLV Health with the idea and starting funds for a center where women could go for early detection, prevention and all the state-of-the-art equipment needed to fight the disease.

It was in 2006 that the members of Ski-Hi Stampede board of directors approached the hospital and asked if they could help by becoming a part of a nation-wide program known as "Tough Enough to Wear Pink." The Saturday, July 23, program is an initiative supported by Wrangler and has participants from around the country.

"The Ski-Hi Stampede Committee's commitment to the TETWP campaign has raised more than $100,000 to directly benefit the Stephanie L. Miner Women's Imaging Center," stated Kelly Gurule, SLV Health Foundation director.

The Stampede committee, in conjunction with the San Luis Valley Health Foundation, is encouraging everyone to participate. All staff and volunteers for the event will be wearing pink throughout the festivities. "We know everyone is proud to be "Tough Enough to Wear Pink," said Gurule.

Tough Enough to Wear Pink was created by project founder Terry Wheatley in 2004. Wrangler presented the pink western shirts during the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo that same year and has continued as the head sponsor for events nationwide. The program has raised cancer awareness as well as raised funds for research, equipment and to help families with financial assistance. The amount of money raised has been staggering in the 18 years since the program's inception.

Wrangler donates all funds raised that come through their program to the national Breast Cancer Research Foundation that has been dubbed one of the best charitable programs in the nation. According to the website, "The Breast Cancer Research Foundation" (BCRF) was founded in 1993 by Evelyn H. Lauder as an independent, not-for-profit organization dedicated to funding innovative clinical and translational research. In 2010, BCRF awarded $33 million to 172 scientists across the United States, Canada, Latin America, Europe, the Middle East, and Australia. Currently, more than 90 cents of every dollar donated is directed to breast cancer research and awareness programs."

Gurule was pleased to talk about the things the donations have done for the center to date. Funds from previous years have been used to purchase equipment and maintain the center so the services provided there can be available to those that need them.

"There is one thing that people really need to understand," said Gurule. "The money that is raised here stays here in the Valley to help local residents and provide local services."

The women's imaging center in Alamosa directly benefits from the funds raised during Ski-Hi Stampede, so keeping the money local is of the utmost importance. Breast cancer awareness, prevention and early detection is paramount in the fight against this disease.

Through these efforts, women from all over the world have the tools and support necessary to overcome the disease and find new hope in life.

Mutton Busting, an unforgettable experience

MONTE VISTA — Nobody expects to break or ride a sheep, but it has a benefit. It's a chance for little kids to get a taste of adventure, a feel for what it's like to be a cowboy. They might get bruised and they'll definitely get dirty, but it's an experience they will never forget. Mutton busting is the sport of bareback sheep riding. Kiddie competitors challenge themselves and the sheep to see who can hold on the longest as they try for a qualifying time in the rodeo arena.

Mutton busting is similar to bull riding, except that the contestants wear more protective gear and are closer to the ground. A sheep is held still, either in a small chute or by an adult handler, while a child is placed on top in a riding position. Once the child is seated, the sheep is released and usually starts to run in an attempt to get the child off. Often small prizes or ribbons are given out to the children who can stay on the longest.

There are no set rules for mutton busting, no national organization, and most events are organized at the local level. However, children who begin as mutton busters could go on to be top Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) money winners or, at least, tops on the hometown rodeo circuit.

The vast majority of children participating in the event fall off in less than 8 seconds. Age, height and weight restrictions on participants generally prevent injuries to the sheep and implements such as spurs are banned from use. In most cases, children are required to wear helmets and parents are often asked to sign waivers to protect the rodeo from legal action.

The practice has been documented as having been introduced to the National Western Stock Show in Denver, at least by the 1980s when an event was sponsored by Nancy Stockdale Cervi, a former rodeo queen. At that event, children ages five to seven who weighed less than 55 pounds could apply, and ultimately seven contestants were selected to each ride a sheep for six seconds.

There are no statistics about the popularity of the sport, but anecdotal reports suggest thousands of children participate in such events every year in the U.S. Supporters consider the event both entertaining and a way to introduce young children to the adult rodeo "rough stock" riding events of bull riding, saddle bronc, and bareback riding, and they may liken its rough-and-tumble nature to the way youth sports such as football are played.

Barrel racing is an exciting sport

Sports fans and athletes have a plethora of sports to enjoy in this country and around the world, and those options include equestrian events. Equestrian sports have a deep-rooted history and have inspired some avid fans, including those enamored with the sport of barrel racing.

Barrel racing originally was established as an event for women on the rodeo circuit. While men rode bucking broncos and bulls and competed in roping events, women displayed horse speed and stamina in barrel racing competitions. Today, barrel racing primarily is a female sport at both the collegiate and professional levels.

Barrel racing can be an entertaining experience for spectators and a rewarding one for riders. The goal of the barrel race is to complete a perfect pattern in the least amount of time, so the rider who completes the pattern the fastest wins the competition.

The pattern riders face is a complicated cloverleaf design. Riders can choose to enter the first barrel to the left or the right. They circle the barrel and proceed across to barrel number two, then finish out at the third barrel, where they will complete the pattern and exit the course. The approach to the first barrel should be carefully timed and executed to set the stage for the rest of the course.

An official distance between barrels exists for professional races. Riders cover 90 feet between barrel one and two. There is 105 feet between barrels one and three and between barrels two and three. Finally, 60 feet marks the distance between barrels one and two and the entry/exit "score" line.

According to Michigan State University Extension, barrel racing requires a mild-tempered horse with natural athletic ability. Horses need to be fast, agile and intelligent. A hot-headed horse is not a good choice because he may fight the rider and cause injury. Riders also must be in tune with their horses' movements and sit correctly in the saddle to allow the horse to hug the sides of each barrel. Riders need to be both physically fit and capable of planning ahead to accommodate their horses' speed.

Experts advise riders to run horses through repetitive drills to improve their performance. A horse learns by release and will think he's done a good job if a rider moves on to a new task. If riders are unhappy with a turn, they should return to the same barrel over and over until it is mastered, as riders need their horses to remember the good techniques. Horses can do drills running straight lines as well as circles. Soon both horse and rider should develop a feel for each other and move more intuitively together.

Although barrel racing has been around for a long time, one of the premier governing bodies of the sport was only established 66 years ago. The Girl's Rodeo Association was formed when 38 cowgirls came together in San Angelo, Texas, to create an organization dedicated to the promotion and advancement of women in the sport of rodeo. In 1981, the association changed its name to the Women's Professional Rodeo Association, and it remains one of the most influential sanctioning bodies in the sport. It also is the oldest women's sports association in the United States and the only one governed entirely by women.

In 2007, the WPRA instituted the My Horse's Choice Junior Division for girls ages 17 and under. The junior division introduces a whole new group of members to the ranks of professional competition and allows mothers and daughters to compete for world points at some of the same events.

Barrel racing is most popular in the western and southern areas of the United States and some parts of Canada. To learn more about a particular racing circuit or the sport of barrel racing, visit www.wpra.com.

Renowned rodeo champions

The Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association has produced its fair share of memorable performers over the years. One of the more prestigious honors a rodeo rider can earn is the PRCA All-Around Cowboy Champion, which is given to the rodeo competitors who are most successful in two or more events. The following are a handful of rodeo competitors to win multiple All-Around PRCA All-Around championships.

- Trevor Brazile: The record holder for most all-around titles, Brazile eclipsed former record holder Ty Murray in 2010 when he won his eighth all-around championship. The 2014 season marked the ninth straight year the Texas-born Brazile was named the PRCA All-Around Cowboy Champion.

- Ty Murray: Though Murray's record for most all-around championships has been eclipsed, he remains one of professional bull riding's most recognizable faces, having crossed over into popular culture with appearances on television shows such as "Walker, Texas Ranger," "WWE Raw" and "Dancing With the Stars."

- Lewis Feild: A member of the Pro Rodeo Hall of Fame, Feild is a three-time winner of the PRCA All-Around Cowboy Championship, with three consecutive wins from 1985 to 1987. Feild's son, Kaycee, is an accomplished rider as well.

- Tom R. Ferguson: The Oklahoma-born Ferguson is another legend of rodeo, having won six all-around championships during the 1970s. Ferguson was also something of a trailblazer in rodeo, as he was the first rodeo competitor to earn more than $100,000 in the arena in a single year, a feat he accomplished in 1978.

- Larry Mahan: Upon winning the PRCA All-Around Cowboy Championship in 1970, Mahan became the first rodeo competitor to win five such championships in a row. Mahan's 1973 comeback even garnered him some acclaim and attention in an unlikely place: Hollywood. "The Great American Cowboy," a documentary film from Kieth Merrill, focused on Mahan's comeback and battle with Phil Lyne for the world championship. The film would win the 1973 Academy Award for Best Documentary Feature.

- Jim Shoulders: The first competitor to ever win the bareback, bull riding and all-around events at the PRCA Championships, Shoulders also had a successful career outside of the rodeo arena, where he was a notable presence in print and television advertisements for jeans, boots and beer.

Bull riders' gear protective as well as functional

Many fans of sports like baseball, basketball and football enjoy wearing jerseys of their favorite players when attending a game, watching at home or gathering with fellow fans to watch somewhere in public. While it's nearly impossible to attend a professional sporting event today without seeing someone decked out in the same attire as their favorite player, such sightings are less likely to occur within the sport of rodeo.

Unlike baseball and basketball uniforms, the gear worn by many professional bull riders has more practical applications, namely to protect riders as much as possible. The following is a rundown of the gear professional bull riders wear during competition.

- * Headgear: While many professional bull riders are allowed to wear cowboy hats during competitions, the Professional Bull Riders, Inc., mandates that all new members who turned 18 years of age on or after Oct. 15, 2012, wear helmets. Those born before that date do not have to wear helmets, but some choose to do so to protect their heads from potentially threatening blows. In addition, bull riders can wear face masks to shield their faces and jaws from injury.

- * Vest: A protective vest is worn by bull riders to absorb shock and dissipate any blows to the body. The vest also was designed to protect riders' torsos from punctures caused by direct contact with the bulls' hooves and horns during competition.

- * Glove: Bull riders only wear one glove, which is on the hand they use to grip the bull rope. This leather glove makes it easier to grip the rope and offers some measure of protection to riders' hands and fingers.

- * Chaps: Riders wear chaps on their legs, and professionals often wear chaps emblazoned with logos of sponsors. Chaps offer extra protection for a rider's legs against the hooves and horns of the bull.

- * Bull rope: The bull rope, which is equipped with a handle braided into the rope, is a rider's only anchor during a ride. The rope is flat and braided from nylon or grass and goes around the bull's girth area behind the animal's front legs.

- * Boots: Bull riders' boots include a special spur ridge on the heel, and this helps their spurs to remain in place. Some riders wear pull-on boots, while others prefer boots that lace up.

- * Spurs: Spurs help bull riders stay in position once the ride begins. These spurs come equipped with dull rowels, which are the revolving disks at the end of spurs. The rowels are dull so they do not injure or cut the skin of the bull.

More information about bull riding is available at www.pbr.com.

2023 Stampede Concert was a hit

Stampede carnival offers fun for all

MONTE VISTA — The Wright's Amusements Carnival is expected to be at full capacity for 2024.

Based out of Elbert, Colo., Wright's Amusements has been in operation for over 50 years. The carnival is a part of Stampede tradition and features a variety of attractions from children's rides to newer varieties of thrill rides.

In 1962, Floyd Wright and his two brothers, Frank and Charles, launched a traveling carnival that put family fun first. A half century later, Floyd Wright's nephew, John Ring, runs the show in the same treasured tradition. "My life — my heritage—is all about making sure people have a great time," says Ring. "What better 'job' is there?"

There are several options that are available for purchasing carnival tickets. Pre-order armbands are available at the Ski-Hi Stampede Office. On Wednesday, July 10, the carnival will hold a canned food drive. Those who bring two canned food items can purchase an all-day carnival pass for $25.

There will be fun for all ages at the 102nd Ski-Hi Stampede and the attractions that Wright's Amusements provides will be no exception.

Wright's Amusements will be open from 5 p.m. to midnight on July 10, and during the Stampede from 11 a.m. to midnight on July 11, 12 and 13; and from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. on July 14.
