

Benefit lunch for set for Cora Martinez

She is receiving treatment for brain cancer

By MARIE MCCOLM

CENTER — On July 20, at 1 p.m. the public is invited to attend a benefit lunch for beloved Center community member Cora Martinez. The cost for lunch is $12 per plate. A Frito pie plate or enchilada plate will be available and includes a drink and a dessert. The lunch is being held at La Sierra Bar, 380 S. Worth St., Center.

Cora Martinez, 49, is a native of Center. Martinez has worn many hats, including being a teacher and working for medical offices.

Martinez was recently diagnosed with medulloblastoma cancer. According to the National Cancer Institute, medulloblastoma affects more children than it does adults, it is a brain cancer. This type of cancer starts in the part of the brain called the cerebellum. The cerebellum controls balance and coordination. If caught early, and with appropriate treatment, according to the Cancer Institute, many patients can achieve long-term survival and be cured.

Cora's son, Evan Hurtado, spoke about his mother's diagnosis and hope for recovery for his mother.

"She was diagnosed with a type of cancer that is usually found in children. She has already undergone 5 weeks of radiation. After radiation, the doctor recommends that she does chemo as well. We don't know far down the road she will start chemo, but the doctor said she needs the chemo," Evan said.

Hurtado explained that his mother is looking better after the radiation treatments, and he believes the treatments

OBITUARIES

Larry Eugene Carpenter

Larry Eugene Carpenter, a longtime Valley resident, passed away in Alamosa, Colo., on July 4, 2024, surrounded by his family. He was born on May 22, 1941, in Center, Colo., to LT and Alice Carpenter.

Larry graduated from Sargent High School in 1959 and began farming in the Sargent community. He met his loving wife of 60 years, Connie Helms, and they married on Dec. 31, 1964. Together they raised their four children on the family farm growing potatoes and Coors Barley.

In 1988, they moved to Great Bend, Kan., and then to Greeley, Colo., where Larry continued farming. In 1995, they returned to the San Luis Valley and purchased Alamosa Truck Brokers. Larry retired from the brokerage in 2006 and began driving a shuttle van for Blue Peaks Day Services, a job that brought him great joy.

Larry was an active member of the Sargent community. He was a member of the Sargent Community Church, drove the athletic bus for many years, and during the basketball season you would find him in the Sargent Gym at the scorekeeper's desk. He was a member and served on the board of the Monte Vista Potato Association, a longtime member of the Monte Vista Elks, and in his later years a member of the Kiwanis Club of Alamosa serving a term as President and was the pancake chef for the 4th of July breakfast.

(Harriet) Lynn Knight-Montaño

(Harriet) Lynn Knight-Montaño passed away peacefully on the morning of June 22, 2024, in Crestview, Fla., at the age of 83. Born May 3, 1941, in Frankton, Ind., she was one of nine children to Helen (Soots) and Woodrow Knight.

In her early 30's Lynn moved to Colorado and on Jan. 14, 1988, she wed (Alex) Manuel Montaño. After Manuels passing in 2009, Lynn remained in Colorado until 2020 when she moved to be near family in DeFuniak Springs, Fla.

She enjoyed collecting antiques, loved her pets and was an amazing family historian.

Larry had a love of the outdoors and enjoyed hunting, fishing and being in the mountains. Many weekends were spent with his family at Santa Maria fishing and riding motorcycles in the summer and snow machines in the winter. He enjoyed many hunting seasons with his son and brother. Larry believed the mountains and their beauty were his church and the best way to honor his faith was spending time as a family enjoying the great outdoors.

Larry is survived by his wife, Connie, who stood with him for 60 memorable years; his children, Lynnette Carpenter, Steve Carpenter (Janalyn), Karen Goodwin (James), and Susan Seder; his seven grandchildren, Jade (Micaela) Gale, CJ (Samantha) Carpenter, Katelyn

Brown, Jace (Jude) Carpenter, Micalyn (Brady) Covert, Cadence Seder, and Tyson Tellez; and his three great-grandchildren, Bentlee, Cecilia and Tripp. He is also survived by his siblings, Donald Carpenter, Carolyn Gustafson, Mary Ann Arnett, Theresa Harrison, and Vicki Jones (Art), as well as numerous nieces, nephews, and extended family.

He was preceded in death by his parents Lawrence "LT" and Alice Carpenter, and his siblings Warren Carpenter, Virginia DePriest, and Isla Jean Crawford.

Larry was a man of few words. He will be remembered as a quiet and gentle soul by some, an ornery prankster by others, and a loving husband, father, grandfather, great-grandfather, brother, uncle and friend by many. He will be greatly missed.

A graveside memorial will be held on July 27 at 9:30 a.m. at the Alamosa Cemetery with a Celebration of Life Service at the Cattails Golf Course Knee Knockers Restaurant beginning at 11:30 a.m. with lunch following.

In lieu of flowers, please consider a donation in Larry's name to Alamosa Hospice del Valle or the Colorado Parks and Wildlife, Wildlife and Conservation Division.

Rogers Family Mortuary is in the care of the arrangements. To leave online condolences, tributes, and words of comfort for Larry's family, please visit www.RogersFunerals.com.

Lynn was preceded in death by her husband Manuel of Colo.; mother, Helen Albrecht of NY; father, Woodrow Knight of Ind.; sisters, (Shirley) Arleen of Fla., Vella of Fla., Ginger of Ind., (Margaret) Peggy of Ky., Donna of NY; brothers, (Lawrence) Larry of Ind., (Theodore) Teddy of Fla., many dear family members and friends.

Lynn is survived by her sibling (Charles) Charlie Albrecht of NY; stepdaughters, Kimberlee and Michelle of Colo., Taileigh of N.M., TJ of Ga.; several grandchildren and great-grandchildren, many nieces and nephews, cousins and friends that she loved dearly.

A Celebration for Lynn and interment will be held on a later date near DeFuniak Springs, Fla. Those wishing to attend are asked to contact her family.

Angelina Ortega

This obituary is in the loving memory of our mother. She died at the golden age of not quite 88 years old. She passed on with her two children at her side at the Alamosa Fire Department Capt. Zach Cerny said the trailer and load of hay were a total loss. The truck towing the trailer was unhitched and unharmful. Firefighters were on scene for about three hours, but the cause of the fire is unknown.

Cerny said both departments responded with seven personnel each, Alamosa with four fire trucks and Monte Vista three.

Alamosa also responded to two fireworks-caused fires on Independence Day, Cerny said, one at the public display at the fairgrounds and another at a personal residence.

OPINION & EDITORIAL

Summer on the wane

It's hard to believe but the summer is half over for most of us, and more so, I guess, for those who have kids in school.

That start date seems to have gravitated to an earlier and earlier time as the years have gone by and now some kids must start in early August.

It was not too long ago that school did not start until after Labor Day but with the advent of air conditioning in the classroom, they now start in what normally would still be called summer.

Miss Trixie says that only Ol' Dutch's schools ever started after Labor Day. And maybe she is right. Ol' Dutch was a handful way back then and a late start to school gave the teachers more of a break from his nonsense.

But in modern days, with this early start, the tourists will start packing up their campers, cars and trucks and heading back to wherever they came from after a sojourn in the beautiful Rocky Mountains.

For the folks past the years of herding kids around, they now start to look south for warmer climes, and it seems like they are leaving Colorado earlier and earlier every year in a mad rush to secure a favorite spot in Arizona or South Texas.

Even though the summer seems fleeting already and soon to pass into the proverbial books, there still is plenty to look forward to in the next two months. First and foremost is the huge Ladies Aide garage sale in Creede this week.

It's a grand time of fun and laughter amongst friends and culminates with a mad rush as people are allowed to fill bags with "treasures" the last hour or so of the sale. (On Thursday, July 18 this year. So, if you are reading this on Thursday morning, get yourself to the Virginia Christensen Center in Creede before 3 p.m.)

It's not free but for a nominal fee you can buy a bag and fill it to the brim with anything that is left over and if you buy enough bags, you too can have a garage sale with the purchased stuff. But regretfully it also means Miss Trixie brings home more junk.

I had told her some time ago that whatever amount she brings in, the same amount has to go out and now all of Ol' Dutch's things are outside. That didn't work out quite the way I planned and should teach me to legislate ill-advised rules.

We are currently still rafting on the Rio Grande with Narrow Ridge Outdoors/Mountain Man Rafting. 8200 Outdoor Sports is still offering great fishing trips for the neophyte and experienced anglers alike. So, there are a lot of opportunities for those wanting to still have fun.

And this weekend, Logger Days will arrive here in South Fork and a lot of folks will see the skills of modern-day Paul and Paulette Bunyans as they cut and dismember big logs brought to the Community Center from the area forests.

The Wood Carvers are happening this weekend in Creede, and soon the Gem and Mineral show will be there, too. Ol' Dutch will most likely get dragged along to see one or both of these gatherings.

Soon after that the long doldrums of August will start to drag on and by then the slow and low River will call my name and I will head out to wade the cool waters and catch some Rocky Mountain trout.

For Miss Trixie and me, the fall days of September herald in the start of Elk Season for Ol' Dutch and sometimes a bear or antelope or deer even finds its way into our ample larder.

And thankfully that is the case as if not for a bear season some 12 years ago, which was our first real date, Miss Trixie and I would never have begun our blessed journey on this Earth.

So, you and she can blame the Colorado Department of Wildlife and Parks for our cohabitation I guess and the rest, as they say, is history.

Miss Trixie has plenty of time to reflect on that as she lies naked on the bearskin rug I had made from that first hunt.

Well, maybe not lying on the rug but she does reflect a lot on that fateful day, and it causes a furrow to appear on her brow.

Happy 2024 summer folks, there is still lots of fun out there. Go grab yourself some.

A hike to visit old trees

The sun flashed through the rustling aspens as we quietly hiked a short downhill section of the trail. Reaching the bottom, the sky appeared a dazzling blue above the ridgeline on the short uphill slope in front of us. We anticipated an amazing view as a little spring in our step pushed us up the last 50 feet of the slope.

True to form, the Alamosa Canyon appeared in all its grandeur for our viewing pleasure. The prominent feature in our view, Cornwall Mountain projecting its nose for all to see, topped the slopes of the south side of the canyon. Farther back, Conejos Peak displayed her snow speckled slopes, a subtle reminder of where we live. Instantly in awe, we abruptly halted our forward progress to stand and appreciate what was ours for the taking.

Phones quickly took photos as our mouths eventually closed and we regained our composure. I wondered if that entire trail was designed for that single location.

We started the hike from the Comstock Campground in the Rock Creek drainage just south of Monte Vista. Seemingly following an old jeep road, the Alamosa River/Rock Creek Trail #703 quickly gains elevation through the cool forest as you pass over loose rocks and rutted sections, often making you pay more attention to your steps than you care to.

The views from the trail alternate from a dark forest to a more open aspen forest with better light, to open meadows then back into the darker forest. The lush green vegetation, fueled by the ample precipitation from this early summer, was a pleasing sight to most westerners. Not too much fire risk to distract us here.

Probably not quite at their peak, the wildflowers proudly displayed their brilliant colors and unique character. I'm not a flower expert by any means but the commonly known species were all there for us to enjoy. The mountain asters and fire weed mixed in well with the wild rose.

My favorites, Indian paintbrush and columbine were abundant and simply beautiful as they seemingly waved to me in the light breeze. We even saw monkshood and, of course, several species I can't identify.

After a while, the trail became less steep and more flowing-like as it guided us over the casual undulations of the mountain. More time for looking around while we hiked was welcomed. We eventually arrived at that amazing vista point I described earlier. A short pause for better appreciation of the view and we pushed on. I had to see some of my much "older friends."

Not too much farther towards the Silver Mountain Trail #704 junction they appeared, just as they always have. Most of them massive in girth and some of them towering well above the rest of the forest. The numerous old Douglas fir trees are a magnificent feature of this trail.

As you approach the large trees that are next to the trail you must take note of the size and grandeur of those farther away. It will give you a better appreciation for the ones you are compelled to stand under and take photos with.

They don't mind and their expression rarely changes so they are a safe bet to be photographed with. My wife took a photo of me standing next to a large tree with a trunk that reminded me of the bell bottom pants from the 1970's. It's pretty evident that this tree did, in fact, live through the 70's. My timber specialist estimates it at around 300 years old!

The decision point happened when we reached the trail junction. Do we head down the really cool but consistently steep trail to the bottom of the Alamosa Canyon, or head back for the truck? I had visions of me grumbling about the long uphill trek, and while I love that section of trail, brighter minds prevailed and we turned back for the truck.

It was a glorious Southern Colorado day, and the hike was wonderful, as expected. We never saw another human until after we got back to the truck. And, to my absolute surprise, my heart was warmed by the fact that we never saw even one tiny speck of litter. It makes me proud to be in an area where all the trail users take the extra care to not leave litter from their forest experience. I sincerely hope that this will be the case for everyone this summer!

Rhythms on Rio lineup has 'something for everyone'

Long running music festival set for Aug. 2-4

By R. SCOTT RAPPOLD

DEL NORTE — Rhythms on the Rio, the San Luis Valley's largest and longest-running music festival, will return to Del Norte on Aug. 2-4.

Organized by the South Fork Music Association, it has been held annually since 2006, except 2020 and 2021, to raise money to put musical instruments in the hands of San Luis Valley kids. Last year the event raised $15,000 for local school music programs.

This will be the third year it has been held in Del Norte, after the festival grounds in South Fork were sold for an RV park. It attracts music lovers from across Colorado, the region, and national visitors for the family-friendly atmosphere, affordable prices and idyllic mountain setting.

Organization president Scott Stecken said they are capping 3-day passes, which include camping, at 500 fewer than last year, to reduce overcrowding in the campground. He said these passes will likely sell out.

"The lineup is good. It has something for everybody. If you like rhythm and blues done the right way, you can't miss (Friday headliner) The California Honeydrops, with some funk mixed in there," he said.

"We've got some of the best up-and-coming acts in the jamgrass scene on Saturday, culminating with Daniel Donato's Cosmic Country, who is creating his own genre of music."

"And you can't go wrong with (Sunday headliner) Keller Williams. So, this is going to be a nationally recognized lineup that has something for everybody to enjoy."

Three-day passes are $190, with a $25 option for early entry Thursday. Campers and trailers require an RV pass. All can be purchased at Rhythmsontherio.com.

Single-day tickets (which don't include camping) are $60 Friday, $70 Saturday and $50 Sunday. Youth tickets (ages 13-15) are $25. Children 12 and under are free. They can be purchased online or at the festival gate. Camping passes are $30 more each night.

On Aug. 1, the Thursday before the festival, the festival is co-sponsoring, along with the Town of Del Norte, free live music in the town park, featuring Grateful Dead cover band Easy Jim.

The festival is held the same weekend as Del Norte's Covered Wagon Days, and Stecken said there have been noticeably more festival-goers at the parade and other events. With hot weather, last year also saw hundreds of people swimming in the Rio Grande.

The lineup is as follows:

• Friday: Alysha Brilla, Clay Street Unit, Alo and The California

Honeydrops.

• Saturday: Armchair Boogie, The Fretliners, Shadowgrass, The Lil Smokies and Daniel Donato's Cosmic Country, which will do two sets, including a full cover of the Bob Dylan album "Nashville Skyline."

• Sunday: Cousin Curtiss, The Runaway Grooms, Magic Beans, Digging Dirt and Keller Williams' Grateful Grass featuring the Hillbenders

Daniel Donat's Cosmic Country will be performing on Saturday, Aug. 3, at Rhythms on the Rio. He will be performing to sets, including a recreation of Bob Dylan's 'Nashville Skyline.'

The World Can't Give It to You

People search for happiness in a lot of places. They look to things like relationships, money, vacations, houses, clothes, and even open doors of opportunity. Yet, while these things can bring a degree of excitement for a period of time, happiness is based on what is happening "in the moment."

I was a Christian for several years before I understood that enjoying true peace, joy and fulfillment is the most important thing in life. It's something that goes far beyond happiness to a deeper joy, regardless of our circumstances. And no matter what we own, where we go, or what we do, only one thing can give us this true satisfaction—God.

Simply put, without God, we will never truly be able to have everyday joy.

Psalm 27:4 has become one of the foundational scriptures of my life. It says, "One thing have I asked of the Lord, that will I seek, inquire for, and [insistently] require: that I may dwell in the house of the Lord [in His presence] all the days of my life, to behold and gaze upon the beauty [the sweet attractiveness and the delightful loveliness] of the Lord and to meditate, consider, and inquire in His temple."

Seek is a strong word. It means "to crave, pursue, and go after something with all of your might." Many people want a greater relationship with God—and they want to have the immense joy and fulfillment that comes with it—but they don't crave and pursue Him or lay aside other things in order to have it.

I love Psalm 16:11. It says, "You will show me the path of life; in Your presence is fullness of joy, at Your right hand are pleasures forevermore."

The Lord desires for us to live with His joy—to be permanently, consistently satisfied. This all comes from spending quality time with God...from reading and studying His Word, talking to Him in prayer, or simply sitting quietly in His presence.

The truth is everything we need to live a joyful, successful life is waiting for us in His presence. Because of the sexual abuse I suffered as a child, I was forced to grow up quickly and worry about things a child should never have to worry about. As a result, I never had the chance to be a kid—to enjoy life care-free and simply have fun. As far back as I could remember, I was always tremendously serious and intense.

Maybe you can relate. Maybe life has thrown you some curves and left you joy-less. Or maybe you are so caught up in the hurry and worry of everyday life that you've forgotten how to simply stop, have fun, and enjoy yourself. If so, I want you to look at Matthew 11:28. Jesus says, "Come to Me, all you who labor and are heavy-laden and overburdened, and I will cause you to rest. [I will ease and relieve and refresh your souls]."

Jesus offers us rest and relief. It's the rest we need to live in the world and deal with stressful situations without letting them upset us, ruin our health or steal our joy. It's a supernatural rest we can only find through a personal relationship with Him—it's not something we can find in the

What is our part? We simply need to go to Him! Jesus never promised us we'd have a trouble-free life, but He said we can live above our circumstances. With His grace, wisdom, peace and strength, we can deal with stress and trouble and maintain a good attitude. His rest is a rest we can have in our souls—our mind, will and emotions.

Having this rest is like giving your soul a vacation. It means that no matter what's going on, you don't have to worry about it and try to figure everything out. It's a wonderful place to be, because when your soul is at rest in Christ, your emotions are stable and you have peace and joy.

"Since she has come back from Denver, you can see the difference in her face. She looks like she is doing better. Radiation seems to be helping. I am just hoping that she keeps getting better," he said.

Hurtado said that to receive the treatments his mother had to travel back and forth and will continue to do so for chemo.

"It's a lot of traveling," Hurtado stated. The reason for the benefit lunch is to help with the cost of traveling, including gasoline and other things that his mother may need," he said with a voice filled with emotion and added, "I love my mom, and I miss her. I want her to get better."

Hurtado said he and his family appreciate all the support given to help his mother. Hurtado said that although he knows it is going to be a long road, they are hopeful that his mom will get better and make a full recovery.

Regina Juhre of Center said, "Martinez is a beautiful light to so many people, she is inspiration, and hope wrapped in one. If anyone can beat this, she can. She has a fighting spirit and there are so many people rooting for her. We love you, Cora. Get well soon."

Judd stepped onto the stage in a black country and western style blazer, with light blue trim on the arms and pockets, gemstones on the sleeves, and a sharp black cowboy hat adorned with sparkling rhinestones. Her long, red, wavy hair cascading from under the hat and framed her beautiful smiling face.

The crowd went wild as she stepped to the front of the stage, complete with a blue string electric guitar and opened with the fan favorite "I Saw the Light." Many in the audience sang along with Wynonna.

During her 90-minute set, Wynonna sang "I Hear You Knocking," "I Know Where I Am Going," "Rock Bottom," and "Hey Good Looking," all the while speaking casually with the crowd throughout the evening. "Is this really happening? We are in Colorado," Wynonna said. "I am so glad to be here with you, it's been a long journey to get out here. Rodeos are my absolute favorite places to play, I was 18 years old when I played my first rodeo. You all are my kind of people."

"I wish the rest of the nation did life like you all do," she said with big smile.

Wynonna pointed to a woman in the audience holding a baby and said, "Glad you brought the baby and some headphones for her, too. She doesn't know who I am, and she don't care, but mamma does and that's what matters."

Wynonna explained that for those in the crowd who did not know who she was, that she was an artist who was formerly known as the Judds musical duo with her late mother, Naomi, who died in 2022.

The Judds were one of the most successful acts in country music history, winning five Grammy Awards for Best Country Performance by a Duo or Group with Vocal, and nine Country Music Association awards. They also charted more than 20 singles on the Billboard Hot Country Songs charts, including fourteen that went to number one.

The Judds disbanded in 1991 and Wynonna began a solo career. Wynonna has released eight studio albums, a live album, a holiday album, and two compilation albums, with over 20 singles.

In 2022, Wynonna was inducted into the Country Music Hall of Fame as a member of The Judds. Wynonna has five songs that are number one and she was part of 14 top hits with the Judds.

Wynonna told the crowd she loved country music because it was so "real." At one point, she looked up to the sky and said, "Thank you Mamma."

Wynonna sang some of her greatest hits, including "No One Else on Earth," "Tell Me Why," "Only Love," and "Grandpa." She invited the crowd repeatedly to sing along with her, and they did.

Wynonna lit up the stage, dancing, walking around and entertaining the crowd. At one point, she introduced her husband, Cactus Moser, who plays the drums fiercely in her band. Moser bantered with Wynonna to the delight of the crowd, even stealing a kiss on stage.

"Thank you for showing up for me tonight," she said. "Out of all my husbands, I love you the best," she said with a chuckle. The crowd went wild. Then Moser announced that he was from Colorado, with Wynonna adding that he was from Montrose.

Moser came from behind the drum set and stood next to his wife Judd and they played and sang a couple of songs together. Wynonna dedicated her song "Love is Alive," to Moser, and anyone in the audience who needed some inspiration that night.

Judd finished her set with "No One Else on Earth," but returned an encore song, that was followed with a firework display.

Max McNown, of Bend, Ore., got the crowd revved up for Wynonna with a crisp 30-minute performance playing a blend of original material and some well-known covers.

McNown sang a piece he wrote for his brother, Brock, who is battling cancer, called "Can't Hide Light." Brock was on the stage filming his brother's performance.

"This next song is really close to my heart. My older brother Brock, who is taking photos right there. I wrote this song about everything he has gone through, and how there's always a light in it, and it never ever went out so, you can't hide light," McNown said.

Local monuments from Del Norte Public Library find new home at museum

STAFF REPORT

DEL NORTE — With the Downtown Revitalization Project getting underway in Del Norte, the Rio Grande County Museum and Del Norte Public Library partnered on another project and saved two cherished monuments that would have been without a home.

While planning for the new sidewalk installation, engineers noted that both the Fremont and Del Norte Flouring Mill wheels in front of the library would need to be moved. Both monuments have been in front of the library for well over 70 years and were placed in front of the library by the local Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) sometime in the 1950s.

The wheels were made with local quarry stone sourced from the original stone quarry outside of Del Norte. The grist wheels were used to make the first white flour in Del Norte in 1876. The land which the flouring mill was on was owned by J. Cary French but after an extended visit to Kansas for the birth of his daughter, Salome French, his claim on the land was jumped by Paul Steele.

Over the years, the land exchanged hands and in October of 1876 the mill was erected after $16,000 was raised by the Town of Del Norte. The Oct. 6, 1876, Del Norte Prospector reads, "Del Norte is going to get its flouring mill. Outside the town a $16,000 fund was raised to build the mill and Sam Kaucher, from Denver, was here to find a site and build the mill. Farmers are being urged to plant more wheat."

The Del Norte Flouring Mill was born but it didn't last long. Over the next 10 years, the mill fell into disrepair and was forgotten in the boom days of Summitville and the following silver boom in Creede. The wheels were moved at one point and were later found behind the library when the DAR organization came to install the Fremont Monument, according to sources.

The Fremont Monument is a Colorado Historic marker, marking the area in which Fremont and his doomed men camped as they wandered into the La Garita Mountains in search of the fastest and easiest route to reach California in 1848. The monument is on the state's historic register as monument No. 152 and represents a significant part of the Valley's unique history.

Both monuments have found a new home at the museum and are on display for people to see thanks to the many efforts of the Town of Del Norte Public Works Director Kevin Larimore, Del Norte Public Library Board President Glynnis Williams and the Rio Grande County Museum.

Two pieces of Del Norte's history were brought to the Rio Grande County Museum from the Del Norte Public Library for preservation. The Fremont Monument and the 150-year-old Del Norte Flouring Company original grist wheels are now on display.

Covered Wagon Days just weeks away

By LYNDISIE FERRELL

DEL NORTE — As this busy summer begins to slide toward fall in the Valley, Del Norte is gearing up for its annual Covered Wagon Days and the four-day event is set to be a grand time for all.

Beginning on Thursday, Aug. 1, the town will be a great place to come for an afternoon of fun, farmers markets and music in the park. Kathy's Fabric Trunk will be hosting the annual quilt show and the Rio Grande County Museum has opened an antique quilt and clothing show for all to enjoy. The San Luis Valley quilt Guild will be selling their $10 items to raise money for several charity projects for the coming year.

The Town of Del Norte will be hosting its Thursday night Music in the Park and Mercado Del Norte will be set up in the Del Norte Town Park for an evening of live entertainment and fun for the entire family.

Friday will feature the annual Veteran's Dinner at the High Valley Community Center with proceeds going toward Veteran services and places like the Homelake Veteran's center in Monte Vista. Tickets for the dinner can be purchased at the door.

Saturday will be a day packed full of fun beginning early in the morning with the Val Alto Pancake breakfast and followed by the Bees Knees 5K walk and run that takes participants along trails in some of Del Norte's beautiful back country. Whether looking to fill up on pancakes or participate in the 5K, both are at the High Valley Community Center.

By 7:30 a.m., people can also wander to the Del Norte Public Library's annual Booksale. This event is a great place to come and stock up on books for the coming winter or even as a gift for the bookworms out there! All proceeds from this event go towards the library.

The annual Covered Wagon Days parade kicks off at 10 a.m. along Grande Avenue which will be closed this year from 10 a.m. until noon. This year's theme is "The good, the bad and the ugly" which should bring out the true old west side of Del Norte.

Covered Wagon Days in Del Norte are only a few weeks away.

Following the parade is the annual Ice Cream Social at the Rio Grande County Museum and the barbecue lunch fundraiser at the Del Norte Fire Department.

Saturday afternoon brings people to the Del Norte Town Park where there will be vendors, a car show and something for everyone to enjoy. Sunday morning is the annual fly-in breakfast at the Kent Rominger Airport and church in the Town Park followed by a barbecue lunch.

Round 2 of the summer is here

By HIGH VALLEY COMMUNITY CENTER

DEL NORTE — High Valley Community Center is so glad to have everyone back after our break! July has already been a whirlwind of fun, and we cannot wait to see what other excitement is in store.

There are some super exciting field trips coming up! We are going to Pagosa Springs for a movie and park day on July 17, the Rio Grande Farm Park on July 24, and Lathrop State Park on Aug. 1 to end the summer on a high note. Please keep an eye out for our field trip cards with all the details online and on the front desk each week.

This past week, we learned the sport of fishing with Colorado Parks and Wildlife! We all ventured out to Beaver Creek Reservoir with fishing poles in hand to catch as many fish as possible. The kids had so much fun learning about how to hook their bait on and techniques to give them the best chance at reeling in a big one. They even got to take a fishing pole home!

We are so excited for another week of fun. Find updates online at theHVCC.org.

HVCC would not be possible without the support of our community! Please consider donating to help us continue to build and implement excellent programming to teach our youth how to have a positive impact on the world around them.

CPW applauds USFWS decision on Rio Grande chub and sucker

MONTE VISTA — Generations of Colorado Parks and Wildlife staff were rewarded for their work this month as the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service announced its decision to not list the Rio Grande chub and Rio Grande sucker under the Endangered Species Act (ESA).

Colorado Parks and Wildlife commended the USFWS for its June 17 decision that acknowledged critical partnerships that have ensured neither species is in danger of extinction or likely to become in danger of extinction.

Valley projects net $394K in GOCO grants for staffing and farm and ranchland conservation

CONTRIBUTED

DENVER — The Great Outdoors Colorado (GOCO) board awarded a $294,375 grant to Rio Grande Headwaters Land Trust (RiGHT) to hire two new conservation staff positions and providing staff training in the San Luis Valley; a $75,000 grant through Keep It Colorado to RiGHT for a conservation easement that protects JRA Farm on the Rio San Antonio; and a $25,000 grant through Keep It Colorado to Colorado Cattlemen’s Agricultural Land Trust (CCALT) for a conservation easement that protects Rockin’ S Ranch in the southern part of the Valley.

The first grant is part of GOCO’s Planning and Capacity program, which invests in projects that address opportunities, explore issues, engage communities, and examine trends in the outdoors.

RiGHT will hire two new staff positions and enhance staff training to promote conservation and restoration in the Valley. With this added capacity, RiGHT expects to create cost and administrative efficiencies, increase the donor pool and donations by as much as 30%, and advance 2-3 new conservation easements per year, while better serving and representing the region.

A conservation connector position will help RiGHT’s three program directors conserve new properties, steward lands with conservation easements and restore ecosystem function on public and private lands.

Additionally, an administrator/events and outreach coordinator will engage the community through events and targeted fundraising, and support the executive director in administrative and operational tasks. To better represent the population of the Valley, RiGHT hopes to recruit a local candidate for one or both positions.

Staff training will include Esri geographic information system (GIS) mapping and drone operations, allowing the organization to conduct these activities in-house and reduce outside contracting costs while supporting staff retention through professional development opportunities.

“We are so grateful to GOCO for this opportunity to enhance our capacity and excited to continue supporting local agriculture, conservation, and restoration efforts,” said Laura Cusick, Rio Grande Headwaters Land Trust’s interim executive director. “This funding ensures that RiGHT can conserve more acreage, further

SLV Health launches 'milestone' renovation project

CEO Konnie Martin: 'A significant change that our patients deserve'

USDA – a key piece in making this project happen - it would not have been possible for us to have achieved such a significant change.”

In a nod to the USDA directors who were present for the announcement, Martin added, “I also want to acknowledge how special it is to celebrate this accomplishment with USDA leaders, one former (Armando Valdez) and one current (Crestina Valdez), who are also are known to us as friends and neighbors.”

The project will not increase the numbers of in-patient beds at SLVH, but will, instead, renovate existing space to create the private rooms that can accommodate the need for isolation, when needed. The rooms will also be updated to meet current standards of care, will have an up-to-

ALAMOSA — With the help of a $1 million grant from the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), San Luis Valley Health (SLVH) will be renovating a permanent structure to create five private rooms in an area of the hospital named “Three South.”

“The total project budget is about $3.1 million,” SLVH CEO Konnie Martin told the celebratory crowd of supporters who filled the lobby of the San Luis Valley Regional Medical Center last Wednesday. “Without this foundational funding from the date healing aesthetic and, of course, provide patient privacy.

Although the idea of the renovation has been a long-standing goal for SLVH, the possibility of it becoming a reality dates back almost three years to 2021 when the USDA announced Recovery Grant Funding was available.

But the situation that created SLVH's undeniable need for renovation preceded the grant even being made public.

"In 2021, during the pandemic, RMC (SLV Regional Medical Center) was the only facility in this south-central region of the state accepting positive COVID patients," Martin told the group. "Conejos County Hospital and Rio Grande Hospital provided care to less acute patients and patients recovering from COVID.

"At the time we wrote the grant, we were averaging 22 patients a day - bed placement for patients presented significant challenges, both for patients with and without COVID. We were also getting calls from other areas of the state - and even out-of-state - who didn't have beds available for COVID patients who needed them.

"And RMC's hospital rooms are semi-private and over-crowded with medical equipment, entering and exiting staff, bathrooms that don't meet ADA requirements, and lack patient privacy."

When the grant was made public, its goals - supporting immediate health care needs, helping to prepare for a future pandemic, increasing access to quality health care services and improving community outcomes - seemed tailor-made for SLVH, and an application was submitted.

"It was a perfect fit," Martin said.

"We've been looking for something like this for a long time," Karla Hardesty, chair of the SLV Health Board of Trustees, told the Valley Courier. "We're really excited to offer this to our patients. It will be a lovely asset to our facility.

"We're focused on improving access of care to our community across the Valley and even beyond, especially in the summer when we get people here from other places. I also think it's very forward-thinking for us to be thinking about upgrades to our facilities. Patient quality is first and foremost but so is a good experience when people are going through hardships. They're not here because they're feeling good. They're here because they need quality medical care.

We're able to do that having top notch facilities."

Hardesty went on to add, "We're fortunate to have partnerships with the USDA. It's very supportive of poor, rural communities to make these investments and sustain our financials and our communities' access to care."

When asked what message she thinks an investment like new private rooms sends to the funders, Martin told the Valley Courier, "I think this shows federal agencies that leaders believe in what we're doing here and we're worthy of this kind of investment. And we're going to do good things with federal money and turn it into a community solution."

When asked what message adding five private rooms sends to the patient population of the Valley (and beyond), Martin responded, "We believe our patients deserve the best health care we can provide. Having private rooms with better visitation and state-of-the-art equipment is what our patients and our community deserve. And that is our goal every single day."

San Juan Sports celebrates 50 years of adventure in Creede

By LYNDISIE FERRELL

CREEDE — San Juan Sports is celebrating its 50th year in business on July 13. The store will be closing the section of Main Street in front of the store and having a giant street party to celebrate 50 years of adventure and a lifetime of service to Creede.

George Ameel started the business as “San Juan Hiking” in June 1974. It was located where the Creede Olive Oil company is now. When it first opened, the business focused on hiking gear and custom T-shirts but over the years it expanded to include some apparel and in 1980 moved to its current location, at 102 S. Main St., and changed its name to San Juan Sports.

San Juan Sports became a staple of Creede, and a place people could go for all their outdoor adventure needs. Their slogan quickly became, “Before you go out, come in!”

Ameel was a popular local resident and often was seen at the 4th of July parades, skate-skiing down Main Street or working in the community hosting mushroom forays and wildflower workshops.

In 2006, Ameel began considering selling the store and in 2011 Amy and Michael McNeil bought it from him, and his wife Charlene, in February of that year. In April 2011, San Juan Sports went under construction to remodel the look and layout of the store.

The new rustic and eclectic look gave San Juan Sports a special welcoming feeling when customers walked in the doors. Soon, a new tradition would begin where folks that bought new shoes would toss their old ones over the sign out front and this soon became a permanent part of the store’s history.

In 2018, the owners busted through the south wall and extended San Juan Sports to the space south of the original building, which had been a dream of Ameel’s for a long time. In 2020, Amy and Michael’s dream became a reality when they opened Sunnyside Bar, a beer and wine bar located inside San Juan Sports.

Sunnyside Bar got its name from a dairy topper from the Sunnyside Dairy that was found under the floor while running plumbing for the bar. Since it opened, Sunnyside has become “Creede’s Living Room” hosting karaoke, game nights, sports events, live music, town events and even birthday parties.

San Juan Sports in Creede is gearing up to celebrate 50 years of business in the small mountain town and plans to honor the original and current owners of the store.

In September of 2023, Ron and Deb Durre, of Monte Vista, purchased the store and continue to honor its legacy and push its boundaries. In May 2024, they opened Sweet-T’s, two doors down from San Juan Sports and it is the town’s ice cream and souvenir shop.

When asked what advice he had for the next

50 years, original owner Ameel said, “Go with the flow! And listen to your customers!”

For 50 years, San Juan Sports has been the place to go for all outdoor gear. Now it’s also the place to go to get a drink, meet up with friends, get the latest trail reports, sing your heart out, meet up for a race, gear up before a backpacking trip, and, most of all, gather with friends.

For the 50th celebration, attendees will be able to have drinks from Sunnyside Bar outside on the street. There will be burgers and hotdogs served as a fundraiser for the Creede boys basketball team, a bounce house for the children and music all day.

Lucky Overton and the Yardangs will be performing at noon, Corey and the Contradictions (FKA The Bent Ears) performing at 3 p.m., and The O’s, a singing along, dancing along, drinking along, and playing along type of band, will perform at 6 p.m. San Juan Sports is also encouraging anyone who has ever worked at the store to attend. Ameel, the founder of San Juan Sports, will be there as well as the new owners, Ron and Deb Durre.

SLV Regional Airport to receive federal funds

By JOHN WATERS

WASHINGTON, DC—The San Luis Valley Regional Airport in Alamosa will receive $456,849 in federal funding for snow removal equipment.

On July 2, U.S. Senators John Hickenlooper and Michael Bennet celebrated an additional $10 million in new funding from the Federal Aviation Administration's (FAA) Airport Improvement Program (AIP) and the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law for infrastructure improvements at 16 Colorado airports.

"From Yuma to Montrose, Colorado's airports help connect rural communities and power local economies," said Hickenlooper. "Our Bipartisan Infrastructure Law is providing much needed improvements to make air travel safe and accessible for all Coloradans."

"Colorado's regional and municipal airports are an important part of our state — they connect our communities and boost local economic development," said Bennet. "This funding will support airports across Colorado as they make critical investments to meet our changing needs."

The investments are funded through the FAA's AIP and the Airport Infrastructure Grants (AIG) program, which deliver funding for airports nationwide to improve runways, taxiways, and airport signage, lighting, marking, and facilities. The programs receive funding from the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law, which Hickenlooper helped negotiate. The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law has provided over $399 million to Colorado airports across the state for infrastructure improvements since being signed into law, which deliver funding for airports nationwide to improve runways, taxiways, and airport signage, lighting, marking, and facilities. The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law has provided over $399 million to Colorado airports across the state for infrastructure improvements since being signed into law.

Annually, the Airport Improvement Program receives $3.3 billion in federal funding. In other previously announced financing, the San Luis Valley Regional Airport in 2023 received $2,012,948 to construct an Aircraft Rescue and Firefighting building and an additional $550,000 for the facility in 2024.

Aquatic Wildlife. “The responsibility of successfully managing these two species deeply aligns with our mission, and we are thankful for the continued support and collaboration with all of the partners who have made this announcement possible.”

CPW along with several agencies and species experts consulted with the USFWS during its status review for each of the cool-water fish species that occur within the Rio Grande Basin.

For several decades, CPW and multiple partners including federal agencies, states, tribes, municipalities, non-government organizations and private landowners have worked to conserve the two species and implement long-term management actions to ensure their persistence.

“CPW has provided steady leadership in the recovery of Rio Grande sucker and Rio Grande chub, though this progress has always been mediated through strong partnerships,” said CPW Native Species Aquatic Biologist Daniel Cammack. “Through a shared commitment to execute the meaningful and collaborative conservation actions, the future for these important native species is bright.”

Historic accounts suggest that Rio Grande chub and sucker were some of the most common fishes in the Rio Grande and its tributaries, though declines were evident as early as the late 1800s because of dewatering, habitat degradation and invasive species establishment. Recognizing significant declines, CPW initiated conservation efforts of these species in the early 1990s.

Work included translocations to establish new populations, broodstock development, genetic testing, invasive species removal and habitat protection and enhancement. CPW identified both species as Tier I Species of Greatest Conservation Need under the State Wildlife Action Plan and designated Rio Grande sucker as State Endangered and Rio Grande chub as a Species of Special Concern.

Over the past three decades, CPW and its partners have completed five chemical reclamations and numerous habitat and connectivity enhancements related to these species. The CPW Native Aquatic Species Restoration Facility (NASRF) in Alamosa has served a critical role in recovering both fishes, innovating novel culture techniques and writing the book for production methods of these fish.

“Since 2002, NASRF has stocked nearly 450,000 Rio Grande suckers in 20 waters and 1.2 million Rio Grande chub in 11 waters,” Cammack said.

CPW maintains two Rio Grande sucker broodstocks and seven Rio Grande chub broodstocks to sufficiently represent genetic diversity within Colorado and has produced fish for the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish to support repatriation projects for the partner agency.

Cammack said CPW’s aquatic biologists have worked tirelessly to monitor and conserve aboriginal populations and to identify suitable habitats for reintroduction efforts.

“Synergy between field biologists and hatchery staff has translated to reestablishing multiple populations of both species in the San Luis Valley,” he said. “This progress is especially evident for Rio Grande sucker, as there were only two self-sustaining populations of this species in Colorado by the early 2000s. Now, there are eight established sucker populations with multiple other reintroduction sites showing great promise.”

Following the 2014 petition to list these species under the ESA, CPW coalesced with multiple state and federal agencies, tribal entities and other stakeholders throughout the species’ range to form the Rio Grande Chub and Sucker Conservation Team.

In 2018, a Conservation Agreement with 12 signatories, including CPW, was finalized to implement carefully coordinated conservation measures for both species to mitigate the threats that could eventually lead to their federal listing under the ESA. The conservation team collaborated on a Conservation Strategy for each species, which was adopted in 2021.

Over the past two years, species experts from CPW have served on the Technical Advisory Team to support USFWS in developing a Species Status Assessment (SSA) for each species. This included providing thorough input on early drafts of the SSA and enhancing the scientific accuracy and defensibility of this document to support an informed listing decision.

“CPW biologists played a significant role in the writing of this strategy, which details specific conservation actions and collaborative approaches that will reduce and/or eliminate threats to the long-term viability of both species,” Cammack said. “Following this announcement from the USFWS, we look forward to continued partnership with the conservation team as we continue to advance conservation goals for these unique species.”

June weather review

By NATIONAL WEATHER SERVICE

COLORADO — June of 2024 saw a meandering ridge of high pressure across the Rockies, which brought periods of very warm temperatures, as well as periods of abundant available moisture and heavy rainfall to portions of south central and southeast Colorado. Alamosa recorded 2 inches of precipitation through June. This is 1.57 inches above normal and makes

June of 2024 the second-wettest June on record, just behind the 2.58 inches of precipitation recorded in June of 1969. For the month of June as a whole, above-normal temperatures were experienced across south-central and southeast Colorado, with generally above-normal precipitation across south-central Colorado and pockets of above-normal and well-below-normal precipitation across southeast Colorado. The preliminary average temperature in Alamosa for June was 64.3 degrees. This is 3.7 degrees above normal and makes June of 2024 the second-warmest June on record in Alamosa, just behind the 64.5-degree average June temperature in 2012. The average June maximum temperature in Alamosa was 82.3 degrees, which is 2.1 degrees above normal. The average June minimum temperature in Alamosa was 46.3 degrees, which is 5.4 degrees above normal.

protect water rights, and include more voices from the community we serve in the San Luis Valley?

RiGHT has served the San Luis Valley since 1999 and, as the organization embarks on its 25th year, they're celebrating over 32,000 acres conserved via 57 easements, 95% of which are on working lands.

The next two grants are part of Keep It Colorado's Transaction Cost Assistance Program (TCAP), which re-grants GOCO funds to nonprofit land trusts to help cover the costs associated with conservation easement transactions. It enables landowners who have urgent opportunities to conserve their properties, but who face financial barriers to facilitating the transaction, to conserve land more quickly.

With its $75,000 TCAP grant, RiGHT will conserve JRA Farm, a traditional 80-acre property comprising farmland, hay meadows, and riparian acres, including approximately half a mile of river frontage. With two branches of the Rio San Antonio running through it, the property is prime habitat for the Southwestern Willow Flycatcher. This project builds on previous efforts by Rio Grande Headwaters Land Trust to support the area's historically underserved Hispano landowners in reaching their conservation goals.

With its $25,000 TCAP grant, CCALT will conserve Rockin' S Ranch, a 301-acre working cattle ranch in the southern San Luis Valley near Antonito. The landowner prioritizes rotational grazing and riparian improvement practices. Rich in wildlife and wetland habitat, the property is critical for aquatic species such as the globally threatened Rio Grande chub, and birds such as greater sandhill crane, golden eagle, and bald eagle. The landowner comes from a multi-generational Hispanic ranching family in the Valley.

Ducks Unlimited is contributing $50,000 to the project.

To date, GOCO has invested more than $5.3 million in Conejos County and partnered to conserve 6,438 acres of land there. GOCO funding has supported the San Luis Valley Generation Wild community, the Conejos Ranchland Initiative conserving important agricultural lands, and the North Conejos Activity Complex, among other projects.

Great Outdoors Colorado (GOCO) invests a portion of Colorado Lottery proceeds to help preserve and enhance the state's parks, trails, wildlife, rivers, and open spaces. GOCO's independent board awards competitive grants to local governments and land trusts and makes investments through Colorado Parks and Wildlife. Created when voters approved a constitutional amendment in 1992, GOCO has since funded more than 5,700 projects in all 64 counties of Colorado without any tax dollar support.

Why you need dental insurance in retirement.

Many Americans are fortunate to have dental coverage for their entire working life, through employer-provided benefits. When those benefits end with retirement, paying dental bills out-of-pocket can come as a shock, leading people to put off or even go without care.

Simply put – without dental insurance, there may be an important gap in your healthcare coverage.

When you're comparing plans ...

- ▶ Look for coverage that helps pay for major services. Some plans may limit the number of procedures – or pay for preventive care only.
- ▶ Look for coverage with no deductibles. Some plans may require you to pay hundreds out of pocket before benefits are paid.
- ▶ Shop for coverage with no annual maximum on cash benefits. Some plans have annual maximums of $1,000.

Medicare doesn't pay for dental care!

That's right. As good as Medicare is, it was never meant to cover everything. That means if you want protection, you need to purchase individual insurance.

Previous dental work can wear out.

Even if you've had quality dental work in the past, you shouldn't take your dental health for granted. In fact, your odds of having a dental problem only go up as you age.²

Early detection can prevent small problems from becoming expensive ones.

The best way to prevent large dental bills is preventive care. The American Dental Association recommends checkups twice a year.

Treatment is expensive — especially the services people over 50 often need.

Consider these national average costs of treatment ... $222 for a checkup ... $190 for a filling ... $1,213 for a crown.³ Unexpected bills like this can be a real burden, especially if you're on a fixed income.
