RG C ounty commissioners discuss Dominion Voting System again

RIO GRANDE COUNTY — After hosting an informational work session pertaining to Dominion Voting Systems earlier in June, the Rio Grande County Board of Commissioners opened another public forum on June 26 to consider their previous decision to renew a contract with the voting machine company.

The discussion was opened by Rio Grande County Commissioner Gene Glover who began by stating that he was not happy with Dominion Voting Systems and though it was too late to rescind their previous decision for the election in November, he was for rescinding the expansion of the system, but to replace it would take more time.

“None of us are happy with Dominion. We all know that, and we all know it is too late to stop it this year. It is a federal mandate that you have an electronic voting machine. I am not in favor necessarily, in expanding the

Ladies Aid prepares for annual rummage sale

Group is celebrating 125th anniversary this summer

By LYNDIE FERRELL

CREEDE — With Fourth of July celebrations happening this week, the Creede Ladies Aid is ready to come out and celebrate its quasiquintennial (125th) year with the community they are proud to serve. The organization has been hard at work planning for their rummage sale and the two-day event is set to capture the love, pride and joy the society has for Creede.

Creede Ladies Aid is ready to celebrate its 125th anniversary. This organization is the oldest community organization in Creede's history and in honor of that heritage, the group is planning to celebrate all summer with a variety of events geared toward the community they love to serve.

On July 17 and half a day on July 18, the Virginia Christensen Multi-use Facility will be transformed into a treasure trove of used items, antiques and so much more. From baked goods to auction items to help raise funding for the organization, there is something for everyone at this area-favorite event.

Beginning two days prior to July 17, Ladies Aid will be receiving donations from anyone who may have something to give for the rummage sale and if someone needs help gathering or transporting the items, they need only call for help. Email Janet Harrison at janetbalthesharrison@gmail.com, to schedule a pickup.

For the past 125 years, Ladies Aid has helped the Creede community in so many ways and while looking back through the years, only one word comes to mind, "blessed."

"This is really exciting for us, and it makes me very proud to be a part of this organization. When you look at the bigger picture and look back through the years and all the good things the Ladies Aid has done for Creede and the support of the community for us, it's just amazing," said Ladies Aid Member Janet Harrison.

As their quasiquintennial year gets started, the committee planning events is looking for recipes, photos, historical anecdotes or any other historical information about the organization from anyone willing to share. The theme for the year beyond the whimsical word "quasiquintennial" is Hearts and Hands Moving Mountains. This theme will be present in everything the organization plans to do this summer.

Though details are still being worked out, the group plans to participate in the Fourth of July Parade, to host a community celebration and to hold their annual Ladies Aid Rummage sale for two days in July.

Through the years that Ladies Aid has served Creede they have done everything from providing the first safety net for Creede residents including supporting other local organizations like the Mineral County Search and Rescue, the Creede Repertory Theatre, Creede Early Learning Center, the local veterinary clinic, the Care and Share Program and more.

Not only do they support other local organizations, but the group also provides medical help and other financial assistance, grocery vouchers for fresh food for families in need, bereavement dinners for mourning families, make and sell migrant worker and foster child bags and much more.

"We are just so proud of the work we do and the community we serve. It is our greatest blessing, and we want to make sure and thank the many women who are here during the summer, our generous and outstanding men who come out every year to help and to the Creede community for all of the support. This will be a great year, so get excited," said Harrison.

system that we originally approved, but as far as getting rid of the Dominion Voting System, we are in a process where it is going to take time after this election," said Glover.

Rio Grande County Commissioners were approached several months ago by Rio Grande County Clerk Cindy Hill to approve a standard upgrade to the existing contract with Dominion Voting Systems and approve the initial update to the contract.

The machine used by Rio Grande County has passed all of the audits, tests and requirements presented by the Colorado County Clerk Association or CCCA. According to Hill, this is an upgrade to the existing contract and is a first amendment to the original contract signed March 31, 2017. No new equipment is being added, no programming changes have been made since 2017. The contract renewal approved by commissioners will include new equipment and improved software scheduled to be installed in July.

Hill also explained that the new software and equipment must undergo the Logic and Accuracy Testing (LAT) and pass all Colorado State requirements before it is used in the election this fall. During the testing LAT Judges mark 25 ballots each, will run all possible voting combinations, all ballot marking devices must be tested and the results are hand counted to confirm accuracy. If there are any errors detected or found the process is repeated until 100 percent accuracy is confirmed.

Rio Grande County Commissioner and Chairman Tyler Ratzlaff said, "We have done our research. We have talked with Dominion and to the State of Colorado. It is not just federally mandated to have an electronic voting system; it is state statute as well. You have to have computerized counting. So, I am afraid it is a fight. We think it is a fight we need to fight, but those fights have to happen at the state and federal level."

Commissioner Scott Deacon said that the fight needed to start somewhere.

The meeting continued with people urging the commissioners to ensure all updates and security patches are properly installed. The commissioners stated this was a part of the contract that was approved.

OPINION & EDITORIAL

Let the celebrations begin

As you read this, most of us will be celebrating the 4th of July and the founding of our Great Nation.

Some 248 years ago our forefathers signed the Declaration of Independence, and we embarked on a great adventure as a nation. Most of the founding fathers lost their fortunes, lands, families and even their very lives in the epic struggle to cast off the yoke of bondage that Great Britain had long held over our people. And in that selfless struggle, they created a country that has outlasted the perils that assaulted us on every side.

And yes, I know we have our problems and it's obvious that we are lacking in true patriots in our leadership as they enrich themselves at our expense. But all in all, we have a great nation, and the opportunities are endless for men and women here to have at least some measure of success if they work hard enough.

Ol' Dutch is not sure where the idea of a cookout on July 4th came from, but it surely was a great idea whomever dreamed that up. We do know that George Washington himself gathered the boys together and had a shindig to celebrate the signing of the Declaration.

Evidence of that bar tab is listed as follows; 54 bottles of Madeira, 60 of Claret, 22 of Port, 8 of hard cider, 12 beers, 7 bowls of alcoholic punch and 8 bottles of whiskey. Now I don't know how many people were present at that party, but it sounds like they got a tad pickled at the least.

And good for them. They had endured terrible hardships and deprivations and I think they probably deserved to tie one on for a change.

And while we are also going to have a party, ours will be a lot more reserved in nature. We will have Brats and hamburgers and all the fixings that Miss Trixie is so good at making. And will be joined by friends and neighbors to celebrate this great day in history.

I am not sure where the idea of fireworks came to celebrate the 4th, but it's long been one of Ol' Dutch's favorite things. There is nothing that calms the soul like shooting off a ton of loud, bright, explosive, popping, noisy fireworks both with and at one another.

Growing up we were able to get a lot of great fireworks and so we had a blast, literally. And yes, once in a while some kid would lose a finger or two due to careless handling of said crackers, but we were all raised on the premise that natural selection took out the weak and stupid, so we didn't think much about it.

In many states you can still get some great boomers to enjoy the day but of course, some people in different governing bodies have decided that they know "best" for us and have outlawed all but the weakest fireworks around.

Gone are the cherry bombs and M-80's of days long past and now even the rockets and mortars that fly so high and make wondrous decorations in the night sky are often outlawed and forbidden. It's a crying shame actually that we cannot even be trusted to shoot off some bright star shells and here in Colorado they don't give us much.

So, Ol' Dutch will once again be relegated to watching the local city sponsored fireworks display out his back door. And while it's not even close to the same as shooting them off myself, it's one of the best public displays around.

My grandfather had his solution to the ban on big boomers as he would step out the back door in the dark and shoot off his 10-gauge shotgun. Considering the origins of the celebration being a war, it may just be closer to what the founding fathers would have approved of anyway.

I hope this 4th of July finds you with family and friends and that you will stop and consider the sacrifices of the many who went before us so that we might enjoy living in this great country.

Ditch 'inefficiencies' give us wetlands

Imagine Westerners waking up one morning only to discover that many of their most cherished wetlands have dried up, gone. This is not fiction during these times of determining the true value of water.

Most wetlands in the arid West owe their existence to the "inefficiencies" of unlined irrigation canals and flood irrigation. But when well-intentioned urban folks insist that irrigation companies use water more efficiently by piping their ditches, the result may be more about loss than water "saved" for rivers.

One of the least-known truths in the West is that many of our wetlands are the result of irrigated agriculture. For example, an irrigation company in northern Colorado irrigates about 24,000 acres, thanks to 146 miles of ditches.

The area served by the irrigation company also has approximately 1,300 acres of wetlands, and it's no accident that most of those wetlands lie below a leaking ditch. A study by Colorado State University discovered this connection using heavy isotopes to create hydrographs of groundwater wells, ditch levels and precipitation. This is a West-wide issue.

We all know that climate change has been causing hotter, drier weather, and that helps reduce the flow of the Colorado River that 40 million Westerners depend on. In the Laramie Basin of Wyoming, 67% of its wetlands are attributed to agriculture. In North Park, Colo., close to 75% of all wetlands are byproducts of irrigated agriculture.

Decades ago, Aldo Leopold wrote, "There are two spiritual dangers in not owning a farm. One, you think that heat comes from the furnace and two, you think that breakfast comes from the grocery store."

May I add a third? We don't know

much about the water we depend on.

Farmers and ranchers produce two "goods," a private good and a public good. They're compensated for the private one by producing food. Their public goods, ecosystem services, are not compensated, though they include wetlands, biodiversity and plants sequestering carbon.

But knowing that rural agriculture uses 79% of the Colorado River's water, our urban neighbors tell their rural counterparts to conserve water or, better yet, sell it to them.

Meanwhile, the environmental community would like rural agriculture to use less water so more could stay in the rivers to help fish and provide recreational opportunities.

Clearly, there are too many demands for the West's diminishing water supply. Drinking water, ag water, river health. Where do wetlands fit in?

Wetlands cover 1% of the West's land surface, yet half of our threatened and endangered species rely on them. Wetlands serve a similar function to our kidneys: They filter out impurities from human land uses, making our environment healthier.

Perhaps it's time for all of us to wise up a little. Many of these wetlands are human created; that is, they were created by farmers and ranchers and are not "natural." Many will disappear in the pursuit of water conservation. Must it be water conservation and efficiency at all costs?

Will we prioritize water for urban uses, including urban sprawl? Or will we support more water staying in our rivers to create a healthier environment? Will water for food production be considered a necessity? Do green lawns trump healthy rivers and wetlands?

With more informed conversations about our region, talks between rural and urban neighbors, perhaps we could pursue a triple bottom line: water for food production, water for urban uses, and, yes, water for our region's rivers, streams and wetlands.

Wouldn't we all like that? Let's figure out how to make that happen.

COLORADO SPRINGS — The El Pomar Foundation trustees approved $44,000 allocated to eight nonprofit organizations and government entities in the San Luis Valley at the Foundation's May Trustees meeting.

Through the Foundation's grant making process, the following entities were awarded grants:

- Adams State University Foundation, Inc. (Alamosa) — $10,000 for School of Nursing infant and pediatric mannequins; competitive
- CASA del Valle, Inc. (Alamosa) — $5,000 for general operating support; regional merit
- City of Creede — $5,000 for food for youth at the Virginia Christensen multi-use facility; regional merit

Adams State University honored the El Pomar Foundation with the 2015 Willis Fassett Jr. Award.

President David Tandberg, Ph.D., appreciates their belief in the nursing program.

"Support from the El Pomar Foundation helps us train qualified providers for rural health care," Tandberg said.

Monica Wolfe, Director of grant recipient, South Central Colorado Seniors, said, "We are gratefully thankful. The El Pomar Foundation has been a huge cheerleader for all the non-profits in the Valley, and we appreciate that. The funding will go to meet the needs of our services for our seniors."

Aileen Peek, Executive Director of the San Luis Valley Animal Welfare Society said of the $2,500 the group received from the foundation, "The San Luis Valley Animal Welfare Society greatly appreciates the donation of $2,500 from El Pomar Foundation. In this impoverished area that money goes to running our no kill shelter near San Luis. Dogs are in dog parks all day, dependent upon weather conditions, and not housed in kennels except at night. Our Society also helps with donations to CatsAlive and refers callers to veterinarians, behavior help and other shelters."

"The Town of San Luis is working closely with several organizations to re-establish the Sangre de Cristo Cultural Heritage Center as a destination point for Coloradans to not only learn the history of the oldest Town in our State but also as a place to experience the current cultural happenings in Southern Colorado, be that music, film, sculpture, painting, etc. The

In this May photo, graduates of the Adams State University School of Nursing are about to receive their BSN degrees. The El Pomar Foundation has awarded the school $44,000.

El Pomar Foundation is the latest organization to contribute to this effort, awarding the Town of San Luis $5,000 to go towards the purchase of a Baldwin Grand Piano for the Heritage Center theater. With the purchase of this piano, we are excited to be able to offer a top-quality instrument to attract top-quality musicians to San Luis and bring people from across Colorado to our small Town to experience everything we have to offer," said Teddy Leinbach with the Town of San Luis.

Founded by Spencer and Julie Penrose in 1937, El Pomar Foundation has an established legacy of general-purpose grant making. The competitive process remains the Foundation's primary vehicle for organizations to receive funding. Also, over the past 87 years, El Pomar has either developed or been entrusted with the stewardship of other funds and presenting merit grants in each region recommended by Trustees and regional council members. Competitive applications are accepted on a rolling basis. In an effort to increase impact and establish connections across the entire state, the Regional Partnerships program was established in 2003. Each of the Foundation's 11 regional councils advises El Pomar Trustees and recommends grants to help support its communities. The San Luis Valley Regional Council recommends grants in Alamosa, Conejos, Costilla, Mineral, Rio Grande, and Saguache counties.

San Luis Valley Amateur Radio Association hosts annual Field Day

By MARIE MCCOLM

MONTE VISTA — The San Luis Valley Amateur Radio Association (SARA) hosted a Field Day demonstration on Saturday, June 22, at Chapman Park. It was part of a nationwide event, and everyone was welcome to attend.

The event was a test day for ham radio broadcasters to send signals and messages to each other all over the United States.

Safety Officer Skip Randall said that it was a great day for various signals to go back and forth, and they had some great responses from all over. He also spoke about how he got started in amateur radio.

“I have been doing this for about 25 years. Years ago, I took off on my sailboat to go cruising. I got licensed at a station, so that I could get networks and weather reports while out on the water. You could also talk to other boaters, that also had amateur radio as well. I sold my boat, I am no longer sailing here in Colorado, but I had many years of good experiences with sailing and amateur radio,” Randall said.

Amateur radio is also known as ham radio and is taken from a nickname for an amateur radio operator. This type of radio entails employing different kinds of radio communicative equipment, as a way of connecting with people. Amateur radio licensing began in 1912. The first licensing was dependent upon the operator being able to appear in the field office and having the ability to operate the radio station.

Ham radio and licensing have since grown in popularity so much so that it has become a worldwide network that can reach all over the United States and even as far out as the International Space Station.

Ham radio is used for many types of communication, but one of the radio’s largest areas of importance is the capability to use this type of radio in case other existing forms of communication fail, in the instance of a major emergency or worldwide catastrophe.

Local amateur radio association member, Matt Nolting spoke about the event and how he and his 5-year-old son use the radio to keep in touch.

“We use GMRS, which is an amateur band of radio, it’s like the walkie talkies that you buy at Walmart, just a little more detailed, so you can only talk to each other. We live in between here and Alamosa, we use the radio all the time when he goes out to play. He could be walking a little way, and me and my wife can just call him, and we know where he is.”

Nolting said that another fun aspect is that Santa Claus also comes over on the radio and speaks to the kids.

Vice president of the local group, Rick Syring said, “My wife and I are both out here today. She doesn’t like talking back and forth as much as she likes working with the digital side. She is here working on the digital side, with a computer. We have fun doing this together.”

Syring said that his favorite part of being involved in ham radio is talking to different people.

“We were camping last week. We were at 2,800 feet; we were really high. I talked to a person in Indonesia, born in Serbia and one in Slovenia. When we were talking it sounded like they were right here. This really reaches all around the world.”

Syring said that being able to talk to everyone all around the world and send emergency signals and messages is one of the main purposes of ham radio. He explained that Field Day was also to show everyone how to set up in the instance of an emergency.

“We have a couple of solar panels set up to charge our batteries here. It’s always a learning experience, to set everything up somewhere else and it’s a lot of fun,” Syring said.

ALAMOSA — The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service will be conducting limited prescribed fire operations on the Alamosa, Baca, and Monte Vista National Wildlife Refuges to remove slash piles of natural materials including wood and brush to improve wildlife habitat.

Professional fire personnel from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Mid-Plains Fire Zone, along with state, and federal partners, as needed, will conduct the fire operations. Planned target dates for burning will be during the remainder of June and through July. The Refuges’ Auto Tour Routes and Walking Trails may be temporarily closed to the public during fire operations for safety concerns.

“For your safety, please avoid these areas. Areas will re-open as soon as possible based on fire activity and safety,” officials stated.

Smoke will be visible to local residents, towns, and highways during the day and may last for a few days following burning operations. Signs will be posted along the nearest major roads and all burns will be monitored until they are declared completely out.

On Thursday, June 27, at 2:45 a.m., the Alpine Search and Rescue Team from South Fork Fire Rescue was paged out to an injured hiker. This was a mutual aid response with members from Saguache and Alamosa Volunteer Search and Rescue participating. The hiker was at 11,000 ft. in the Willow Creek drainage of Sangre de Cristo range with a broken ankle. SAR Teams worked with rope belay and a wheeled litter to bring the patient down to a usable landing zone for helicopter evacuation. The Cañon Helitack Crew provided air support for this rescue.

Hope in the Valley brings addiction treatment services to region

By JOHN WATERS

ALAMOSA — Valerie Gurule-Duran, Clinical Director from the Hope in the Valley recovery center in Alamosa briefed county commissioners on June 26 regarding progress the addiction treatment facility has made recently.

Gurule-Duran told the commissioners, “We are a community-led program, we currently offer a detox that is a social, medical withdrawal detox. We don’t carry narcotics onboard, but we have nurses on staff 24-7. Our doctors can call in and prescribe [meds] we are trying to get patients medications like Suboxone [opioid dependence treatment medication] we can definitely do that.”

“We also have a partial hospitalization program, that is five hours a day, five days a week where they participate in groups. We are using a curriculum out of a company based in Los Angeles that is evidence-based and it covers many aspects [of recovery.] We also have outpatient treatment, which is three hours a day, three days a week.

“Our goal is we are trying to create this continual treatment, if somebody comes in, we are trying to not let them go out on the street. We use the encouragement to ask, ‘What is your goal, what needs to happen, do you have adequate housing, do you need in-patient treatment? Do you need sober living?’

“We have been open since May 22, and we have had a handful of people come into the facility and the transformation we are seeing is amazing.”

Commissioner Lori Laska said, “I am glad you are looking at residential in-patient because that is the gap we have in the San Luis Valley, and we appreciate you are working toward that.”

“Thank you guys, this is a resource that is needed,” said Commissioner Vern Heersink.

Commissioner Arlan Van Ry said, “I can speak from experience, I’ve never been shy about my recovery. As a Veteran, it is extremely hard to get any kind of treatment. Luckily, I was able to do it on my own. For the other Veterans who struggle with PTSD, one of the side effects is turning to dependency on alcohol or other drugs. If there is any way I can help, and assist with getting Veterans Affairs TRICARE, I am more than willing to help volunteer my time.”

Van Ry added he just celebrated

1,500 days of sobriety and offered he is willing to talk with any Veteran who is experiencing addiction. TRICARE is the Department of Defense health care program for uniformed service members, their families, and retirees.

According to the website of the organization, “Hope in the Valley is more than a rehabilitation center; it’s a haven built on empathy, understanding and the unwavering belief in the transformative power of recovery... Hope in the Valley stands tall, not just as a rehabilitation center, but as a living testament to the possibility of transformation, a testament that no matter how challenging the journey, hope can be found, and recovery is within reach.”

On July 11, Hope in the Valley will hold an open house and ribbon cutting. Details will be in the Valley Courier when they are known.

Newcomer’s Guide to Gardening in the San Luis Valley

By EMILY FOLTZ

CSU Extension - Colorado Master Gardener

SAN LUIS VALLEY — We have some crazy tough plants here in the Valley, and surprisingly some of them are roses.

There’s a decades old rose bush growing in the piled up dirt on the side of our dirt road. It collects tumbleweeds all winter and the county regularly buries the lower half of it when they grade the road. Despite this complete mistreatment, it covers itself in brilliant orange-red and yellow blossoms every June. Growing nearby it, I found a smaller, similar rose bush hidden under a pile of tumbleweeds, a two-stemmed beauty with arching branches draped against the split rail fence, each branch decorated with multiple orange-red blossoms. Let me introduce you to the Austrian copper rose, a gorgeous, rugged, “species rose” with a no nonsense, can-do demeanor.

Austrian copper rose is a variant of the non-native Rosa foetida species rose. It often grows as a dense shrub 4-6 feet tall and wide, although I’ve found several growing as smaller 2 to 4 stem bushes. Its blossoms are usually a beautiful orange-red with yellow centers, but occasionally it has all yellow flowers or a mix of both.

Unlike roses that are bred for particular attributes, species roses like the Austrian copper rose develop in the wild. When grown in the garden, they are typically low-maintenance plants that choose to flower even when they’ve been ignored. Species roses often bloom only once for a few weeks in spring or summer, but some have a second lesser bloom in the fall. They often produce beautiful rose hips, the fruit of the rose, that provide fall and winter color as well as food for wildlife.

In addition to the Austrian copper rose, I’ve seen two other sturdy species roses growing in the valley. One is the Persian yellow rose, another variant of Rosa foetida. It was lighting up multiple gardens in Alamosa last month. Historically, the Persian yellow rose has been used to develop new rose cultivars because of its vivid yellow color. Once you see it, you’ll understand why. It is stunning! It grows as a large shrub 4 to 7 feet tall and when it flowers in its one heavy flush, it is covered with vibrant yellow blossoms in the most spectacular show of color.

The Valley also has Rosa woodsii, or Woods’ rose (also called wild rose and mountain rose). This species rose is one of Colorado’s native roses. It has delicate blossoms ranging in color from pale pink to fuchsia. After its blossoms fade, it produces beautiful deep red rose hips that persist into winter.

You’ll find Woods’ rose growing in the mountains, along streams, and along our country roads where it too tolerates getting dirt piled on it by the road graders. It will grow in full sun or part shade, and is very drought tolerant. It loves to spread but is containable. Mine lives on the sunny east side of the house where it is bounded by a walkway. Woods’ rose can grow as a large shrub measuring 3 to 6 feet tall, but my roses grow as multiple, individual, straight and curved stems no more than a foot high. They gave us a beautiful show of pink blossoms for much of May.

I’d love to hear what roses you’ve grown here in the valley. Have you had luck with other rose varieties? Please share your experiences and your photos!

What Real Love Really Looks Like

Editor’s Note: A new Joyce Meyers column was not available this week, please enjoy this column from the past.

I have made it a priority to study about love in the Word of God. Getting a revelation about how much God loves me and learning to receive His love has been life-changing for me. It’s the key to being able to really enjoy my life because when I learned how to receive God’s love, then I could love others.

This is so important because the best way—the only way—you can have a happy, powerful life is to get your mind off yourself and do something for someone else. Helping people, being a blessing and adding value to other people’s lives is what it means to walk in love and follow the example of Jesus.

Ephesians 5:2 (NKJV) says, “Walk in love, as Christ also has loved us and given Himself for us, an offering and a sacrifice to God....” Jesus—our perfect and holy Savior—gave His life for us, took all of our sin upon Himself, and shed His blood so we could have a personal relationship with Him and become the righteousness of God. That was His gift to us. And once we experience the gift of salvation, our gift to God is following Jesus’ example in the way we live our lives.

Jesus says in John 13:34, “...Love one another. As I have loved you, so you must love one another” (NIV). If we will learn how to follow this one commandment, everything else in our lives will fall into place. Because when we live a life filled with God’s love, then we can become everything we’re created to be.

Be a Good Samaritan
In Luke chapter 10, Jesus tells the story of the Good Samaritan to demonstrate what it means to love God and your neighbor as yourself. In verses 30-37, we read that a man was traveling from Jerusalem to Jericho when “he was attacked by robbers. They stripped him of his clothes, beat him and went away, leaving him half dead.”

A priest and a Levite both passed by him and neither stopped to help. Verse 33 says, “But a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came where he was. And when he saw him, he had compassion” (NKJV). Notice that he “had compassion” for this man and he was moved to do something to help him.

He dressed his wounds and took him to an inn where he could get the care he needed. He paid the innkeeper and told him, “Take care of him; and whatever more you spend, when I come again, I will repay you” (v35).

There are a few things I want you to notice here. First, the Samaritan was traveling the road and was probably going somewhere he needed to be; he had a plan but he was willing to stop and help this man even if it meant his plan was interrupted.

Also, he gave his best effort to make sure the man had good care and then paid for him to get it. He was obviously willing to pay whatever it was going to cost because he told the innkeeper, “Whatever more you spend, when I come again, I will repay you.” So he was planning to come back and make sure everything the man needed was covered.

This Is Love!
Jesus is showing us in this story what real love looks like. First Corinthians 13 lists the characteristics of God’s love: it is patient and kind, never jealous, boastful or rude; it does not demand its own way, is not irritable and keeps no record of being wronged. Love rejoices when truth wins out. It never gives up, never loses faith, is always hopeful, and endures through every circumstance. Love never fails!

Now, if you’re thinking, “There’s no way I can live up to this list!” I want to tell you, “Yes, you can!” You can love others like this because as a born-again Christian, you have everything you need to be like Jesus.

It’s not always easy because we have to resist the temptation to be selfish, but 1 John 4:4 says that the Spirit of God in us is greater than our enemy. So in Christ, we have the power we need to walk by faith and live a life of love.

It’s important to understand that God is not expecting you to be perfect in your love walk or to do it without His help. What He wants is for you to seek Him through prayer and studying the Word, and as you do, lean on Him for the grace to do what He’s asking you to do each day.

God is love, so you can rest in the truth that He is patient with you, He’s always with you, He believes in you and He will not give up on you. With God’s love in your life, you can learn how to live a life of love!

Woodcarver's Rendezvous to mark 33 years in Creede

By LYNDISIE FERRELL
CREEDE — The annual Woodcarver's Rendezvous in Creede is celebrating 33 years of artistic talent in the small mountain town and though the event has been dwindling in numbers over the past several years, it plans to mark the occasion and have a fun and interactive time as always.

The event began 33 years ago when founders Fran and Ivan Vanaken, who after years of teaching the art of woodcarving in schools to students, thought Creede would be the perfect place to start a woodcarving club. According to the history, Fran invited members of another club based out of the Front Range to the area to see if they were interested in hosting an event in Creede. It didn't take long for word to spread about the unique venue and beautiful location before the Woodcarver's Rendezvous took hold.

This year's event will feature over 15 instructors that come from all walks of life to teach the art of woodcarving to participants.

The event takes place in the underground community center located north of town where instructors and vendors will pack the long corridors with a wide variety of wooden homemade gifts and classes for participants.

The event begins on Saturday, July 13, and continues all week long with live and silent auctions, classes, lectures from several instructors, daily drawings and ends with a banquet to close out the week. The event is made possible through the auction items that are donated by participating artists that come to not only share their expertise in the art of woodcarving but to share their personal works of art as well.

Students that register for the event can learn everything from carving walking sticks to mastering the art of creating wood figures with a chisel. Participants learn how to make Christmas ornaments, wooden drums, wood burning techniques and so much more. There are even classes that teach the art of stone carving, making jewelry, watercolor painting, and bead crocheting.

Though the event has slowed over the last few years, with fewer and fewer participants, event coordinators are preparing for a much more successful year this year and ask that anyone wishing to participate in any of the classes, can preregister online or do walk-in registration during the week. Registration for any left-over openings in the many classes being offered will be available on the first day of the event.

Not only do visitors come to learn new art forms, but they also stay to enjoy the many shops in and around Creede, take time to enjoy the outdoor recreation opportunities and visit the Creede Repertory Theatre. The Ladies Aid Bazaar will be taking place at the old gym on July 17 and 18. The Bazaar is a wonderful place to go in between woodcarving classes to find a special gift or something needed around the home. Participants of all ages are sure to find something to do for the entire week, so don't miss out and register now!

For a full class schedule or to preregister for the event, visit www.creedewoodcarvers.com.

WATKINS—The visionaries behind the creation of the Colorado Division of Aeronautics were honored with the "Lifetime Achievement Award" by the Colorado Aeronautical Board (CAB) for their crucial roles in its establishment. Colorado's 39th Governor, Roy Romer, and former Colorado State Senator Lewis Entz received their awards on Thursday, June 6, during a ceremony at the Colorado Airport Operator's Association (CAOA) Spring Conference.

Entz, 92, served 14 years as county commissioner for Alamosa, followed by 16 years as a house representative (1983-1998). During his first eight years, a new law set term limits. He served a full eight-year second term, and then he spent another six years in the Senate (2001-2006). Entz was born in Monte Vista and currently resides in Hooper. He served in the U.S. Marine Corps from 1951-53.

On May 24, 1988, on the tail of Senator Entz's aircraft, Colorado Gov. Romer signed House Bill (HB) 88-1250 into law, leading to the creation of the Colorado Division of Aeronautics under Colorado Revised Statute (C.R.S) 43-10. Please see AWARDS on Page 8

Rio Grande Hospital opens doors to wellness

By LYNDISIE FERRELL

DEL NORTE—Rio Grande Hospital rolled out the red carpet on Saturday and welcomed more than 200 people to its new Wellness Center in Del Norte. The project has been in the works since 2017 and was near and dear to many who work at and support the hospital.

Attendees were greeted as they came in the door by local artist Casey McCoy who did an amazing job on the drywall mural in the main lobby of the building. The piece captured the essence of what the Wellness Center was going to be for the community, bringing to life the image that Rio Grande Hospital CEO Arlene Harms helped to make a reality for the greater Rio Grande County community and beyond.

The ribbon cutting ceremony began with a brief statement from Rio Grande Hospital Board Vice Chair and Secretary Emily Brown and Board President Tyler Off.

"This is such a wonderful event. We want to welcome you here for this really exciting ceremony. The hospital and the board has been talking about this since 2017. This is the result of concepts that Arlene had hearing about but really there was such a big community that came together to make this a reality. Rio Grande Hospital is a community hospital and the whole this hospital exists is to give back to the community," said Brown.

The vision of the Wellness Center was to model health and wellness and offer another resource in the region that Please see WELLNESS on Page 5

New fitness court project begins in Del Norte Town Park

By LYNDISIE FERRELL

DEL NORTE—The Town of Del Norte in partnership with the Rio Grande Public Health Department will be installing a new Fitness Court in the Del Norte Town Park. This new opportunity for the community will provide a free space where anyone can go to exercise and enjoy being outdoors while doing it.

According to Mayor Shelly Burnett, the town has been wanting to do something like this for some time.

"We are really excited to begin this project," she said. "We have a lot of really great things happening around town. The new Voss Field, the Del Norte Library Adventure Walk and now this. It shows how much this community cares."

The fitness court will consist of seven stations designed to allow hundreds of movements meant to challenge those on a fitness journey. The design is for adults who want to focus on strengthening their core, agility and more.

"It will be a great addition to our park," said Burnett.

The Del Norte Town Park has come a long way over the past several years and now hosts several events and attracts guests both locally and from out of town. The Mercado Farmers Market takes place every Thursday evening throughout the summer and is followed by Town of Del Norte's Music in the Park that so far has featured local bands like The Rifiers and more.

New and exciting things are taking place, and it is hard not to notice.

"We have worked really hard to get a lot of these projects off the ground and our biggest one will start on July 8," said Burnett. The Downtown Revitalization project will begin on the north side of Cherry Street in just a few weeks.

The town was awarded a grant to begin work on the downtown area two years ago and is now finally in the final stages of planning.

The town hopes to have at least the north side of Grande Avenue complete this year and will begin on the south side of the street in 2025.

Church Project grand opening celebration is July 5

By MARIE MCCOLM

MONTE VISTA—The grand opening of the Church Project Community Art Center is scheduled for July 5 in Monte Vista. A ribbon cutting will be held at 10 a.m., followed by a Memory Mirror event, a printmaking workshop, an artist talk, and the evening will finish with a dance party from 6 to 8 p.m.

Artist and owner of the Church Project, Madeleine Ahlborn is excited about the upcoming grand opening at 256 S. Broadway St., Monte Vista.

"It's been a lot of hours of hard work, strong commitment, and dedication. I am excited to see the culmination of some of this with the grand opening. We aren't completely done with everything, the building will require more work, but I am enthusiastic about opening the doors to more and creating something to help enrich and immerse the community in the true beauty of all things art," she said.

Ahlborn moved to the San Luis Valley in 2014. She was offered the chance to purchase the beautiful historic building for the Church Project by her former landlord Ron Douglas. Prior to purchasing the building, Ahlborn was renting a space with four other artists, but a couple Please see PROJECT on Page 6 serves the community as a means of preventative health care.

Off was the next to speak. He focused on how the project came to be.

"I want to follow up with a little bit about Arlene's piece in this. She has been a driving force with this even when there was some resistance from the board. We could see the vision, but not as clearly as she could. She turned this into a passion and made this her goal. It is really inspiring what it has become and where we are at today," Off said.

Harms emulated cultures where long life has become something of a norm in places termed as Blue Zones. These locations span the globe and through the concept of preventative health, wellness and community, people who live in these areas tend to live past 100 years old.

Harms was the next to speak, stating that her vision for the Wellness Center began during a conference in 2016 when keynote speakers addressed the commonalities of Blue Zones.

"Blue Zones are rural, they have lots of community, they have a background and family is very important. I thought to myself, the Valley would be really an easy place to have something like that," said Harms.

Harms said that through her passion and perseverance, she did not work on this project alone. Funding came from the Rio Grande Hospital Board, private donations, donations from local organizations like the Outcalt Foundation, the LOR Foundations, local banks like the Del Norte Bank and RG Bank and several other organizations and businesses.

Harms thanked all the people who worked on the project, including Owners' Representative Joe Aldrich, Phipps Construction and Keyes and Lauer Architects, and many others who pulled together to make this a reality. The ribbon cutting ceremony was followed by refreshments and tours of the property.

Bottom: Rio Grande Hospital welcomed over 200 people Saturday, June 22, to its grand opening and ribbon cutting event for its new Wellness Center in Del Norte.

La Jara Glory Days offering prize money for parade floats

LA JARA – The 2024 La Jara Glory Days celebration will take place on Saturday, July 27.

Most years, the town strives to add a few more attractions to bring the community together to celebrate life in the little town.

This year, the town received a substantial donation from a generous benefactor, who has requested that they use the funds specifically to enhance and improve the parade.

To that end, the town would like to invite all business friends, community organizations, clubs, and anyone one else who may be interested, to ignite their float building creativity. They will have three categories: 1. Floats; 2. Marching Bands/Drill/Dance Teams; and 3. Clubs, organizations, saddle clubs, 4-H, Scout troops

The top three winners in each category will receive cash prizes (first place will receive $1,000, second place will receive $500, and third place will receive $250). of judges. Winners will be selected by a panel

Town Manager Larry Zaragoza at 719-274-0553 or 719-992-4073. For more information, contact of the other artists needed to back out on the space. She was unsure of what to do, but knew she wanted to do something else, and knew she wanted it to involve art.

“I think there’s some interesting ideas on how people perceive artists, like you have to be showing in galleries, or you have to always be in your studio working in order to claim the title artist. I am trying to dismantle that idea and show that you can be a great artist anywhere,” she said.

After speaking to Douglas, Ahlborn was given a tour, and then purchased the former church building that is now called the “Church Project.” Ahlborn said she was scared at first and spoke to one of her close friends about it, who assured her that it was “all going to work out.”

“I don’t know how she knew it was all going to work out, but trusting my own instinct, and trusting in them. I think that’s such a beautiful thing. As a human, trusting in other people is very in the moment. And just really thinking about everything, I believe my purpose in the world is to connect people, whether it’s through space, or connecting them to themselves. After thinking about it, I believed it was all going to work out too,” she said.

Ahlborn was concerned about obtaining the financing for the building but with the help of Douglas obtained a loan through the First Southwest Community fund, that helps rural businesses led by women.

“I was very fortunate to be able to obtain this help. In thinking about it though, I really want this building to not only belong to me, but to belong to the community. I want people to feel that and to believe that they collectively own the building too. I have always wanted to figure out a way that I can give back. I think this is something that really aligns with my own personal values, that I can share with the community, I want to be the lead artist, with everyone in the community, having joint ownership,” she said.

Ahlborn said with all the hours she has put into working on the historic building her deep thinking and vision has become clear as to what she wants to accomplish and do with the space.

“My big goal with this community art center is to provide the space and the freedom for people to unlock their creative potential. This has become the vision for Church Project Community Art Center, also,” she said.

Ahlborn has held different art events at the Church Project. She will be hosting workshops for artists and other artists will be hosting workshops. Her idea is to bring many different artist-led events and projects to the building.

Ahlborn will also host a Memory Mirror event the day of her grand opening. The event is to allow anyone who enters the Church Project building to speak and be recorded, regarding any memories they may have of the building when it was a church or of any other memories they may have of the building. The memories will later be played in an artist display that will take place at Adams State University, with pictures of her working on the building that will be on display, along with the audio playing in the background.

Ahlborn is also looking forward to her idea of having upstairs pews at the Church Project, dedicated in memory of family members for the community. The idea would be for family members to purchase a pew that will stay upstairs, but in front of the pew a plaque of a family member will be placed in memory of that family member.

Ahlborn has many ideas for the Church Project and is looking forward to bringing all of them to life, and giving back to the community that she has come to love so much.

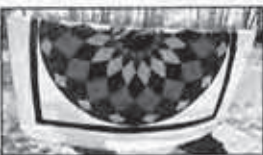

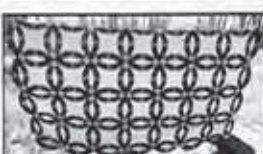

“It’s not going to solve everyone’s problems, but the aspect of creation, and giving people a space where they can come together. I am really trying to encompass a oneness with the world around us, to highlight our similarities versus focusing on our differences, and the only way to do that is to spend time together and build a sense of community. There are a lot of folks that are hungry to connect, and I am hoping this can be a space for that,” she said.

RiGHT - conserving land, water, and way of life for 25 years

By KYLER BROWN

SAN LUIS VALLEY — Twenty-five years ago, a group of concerned folks decided to protect all the things we hold dear about the San Luis Valley.

Under the threat of the latest water exportation schemes, land grabs, and a shifting environment, some of the founders, such as Cathy McNeil, Chris Canaly, Karen Hendererson, Susan Pierce, Pete Magee, and Mike Wisdom decided to create the Rio Grande Headwaters Land Trust, or RiGHT. It was this wisdom that led to protecting local lands with a local land trust.

Through the years of hard work and determination, 57 easements, 32,000 acres, and miles of river have been conserved. Pete and Leah Clark were the first easement RiGHT successfully conserved. Pete became a longtime, passionate board member to help other landowners steward their easements through the steep learning curve he and the land trust experienced.

Protecting values important to keeping the “richness of the Valley” was what RiGHT was created to do, remembers Angie Krall, past president, and board member. There are a multitude of values that are worth protecting. From wildlife migration corridors to surface irrigation rights, the ways conservation benefits private landowners, and the public are numerous. Davie Colville, an easement holder with RiGHT, notes that “conservation easements are a way to protect the open space, the landscape, a way of life and a place for future generations to enjoy!”

Many staff, executive directors, board members, donors, and volunteers have spent countless hours of effort to capture this beauty for future generations. Guy Keene, current RiGHT board president, said “RiGHT has, from day one, conserved agricultural lands with the goal to keep them as viable working lands through the use of conservation easements. RiGHT added the twist of forever tying the water rights associated with those lands to the easements so they can never be separated.”

Rio Grande Headwaters Land Trust has provided a long-term foundation for the conservation of open spaces, working lands, wildlife habitat, and places for the future generations to enjoy. Long time board member Doug Clark says it best, “Conservation easements provide for farming/ranching and wildlife for many, many generations into the future. To be a part of such a large space-time effort makes this all worth living for and exciting!”

We are proud of all the success RiGHT has had over these last 25 years, but this is only the beginning. The next time you see an elk munching along a ditch bank or hear of a multi-generation ranch passed on to the kids along the Conejos or smell sweet clover along the Rio Grande... think of all the things that conservation has done to keep the valley a magical place. RiGHT feels so privileged to be a part of it!

This legislation marked a significant milestone in Colorado's aviation history, particularly with the creation of the Colorado Aviation Fund and the Colorado Discretionary Aviation Grant Program (CDAG). Funded by aviation fuel sales taxes, the CDAG Program has contributed over $1 billion to the Colorado Aviation System.

Since its inception, the Division has been essential in developing, maintaining, and enhancing Colorado's aviation system. It oversees various critical initiatives, including funding airport improvements, promoting aviation education, and enhancing the safety and economic viability of the Colorado Aviation System.

"Governor Romer and Senator Entz came from different political parties, but they worked together to promote and protect aviation and airports for the good of all Coloradans," said CAB Chair Kent Holsinger.

Romer, a licensed pilot for 70 years, served as Colorado's Governor from 1987 to 1999. He frequently used his personal aircraft for business, demonstrating his advocacy for aviation and his vision to improve Colorado's infrastructure, with aviation as a key element.

Sen. Entz, the bill's sponsor, was also a licensed pilot. He represented Colorado's rural communities and had a personal connection to small rural airports. His legislative vision supported both large busy airports and small rural airports, which are vital to their communities. He is also a member of the Colorado

Aviation Hall of Fame.

Today, the Colorado Airport System includes 76 public-use airports, with 14 offerings scheduled air service. According to the 2020 Colorado Aviation Economic Impact Study, Colorado airports support 345,661 jobs, generating $16.2 billion in annual payroll and $48.6 billion in total annual business revenue.
