Faculty Lecture focuses on film music, wormholes

ALAMOSA — The Adams State University Faculty Lecture “Film Music and Wormholes,” by Chelsea Oden, D.M.A., adjunct professor of music, begins at 6 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 26, in McDaniel Hall 101. The lecture is free and open to the public.

The lecture delves into music that underscores sci-fi media. Exploring harmony, melody, timbre and even silence, the lecture will take a close look at scenes from the “Star Trek” franchise, “Farscape,” and “Futurama,” among others. Through analysis, Oden will demonstrate how music of wormholes is multi-dimensional, linear, immersive, and eerily physical. “If you love music, film, and science fiction, add this event to your horizon.”

RIO GRANDE COUNTY — Rio Grande Hospital will be conducting its health assessment in October. This gives health officials in Rio Grande County the opportunity to gauge how to best serve the community and the best way to offer health and wellness to all in need.

The Community Health Needs Assessment (CHNA) is an ongoing process in which Rio Grande Hospital (RGH) evaluates the health needs of the community and develops strategies to address them. RGH must complete this every three years.

During the drainage improvement project, motorists will be guided on the US 160 Wolf Creek tunnel bypass lane located between South Fork and the pass summit beginning Sept. 23 and continuing through November.

Tunnel drainage improvements to US 160 on Wolf Creek Pass began Sept. 23

WOLF CREEK PASS — The Colorado Department of Transportation and contract partner Williams Construction began drainage improvements to the US Highway 160 Wolf Creek Pass tunnel on Monday, Sept. 23.

The tunnel, between South Fork and the pass summit (Mile Point 174), will be closed throughout the project. Motorists can anticipate minimal travel impacts as they will be guided by signage onto the nearby tunnel bypass lanes. Work is expected to be completed in November.

The tunnel work zone is on the east side of Wolf Creek Pass, about 10 miles west of South Fork and seven miles east of the Wolf Creek ski area. This safety project improves drainage near the tunnel's east entrance, reducing the potential for icy and hazardous conditions during the winter season.

"Over the past few winters, maintenance crews have noticed an increase in the amount of moisture on the road surface at this tunnel entrance. The new drainage system will divert water off of the travel lanes and reduce the frequency of icy or slick conditions," said Julie Constan, Regional Transportation Director.

The project will update the existing underdrain system that runs in the center of the eastbound travel lane with a larger, improved drainage system. Crews will install manholes at both ends of the tunnel to improve maintenance access. Additional work includes the replacement of several concrete panels and the installation of delineators near the drainage structures.

Traffic Impacts

- Beginning Sept. 23, work hours will range from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Traffic impacts will include:

- Through November, signage will guide traffic onto the tunnel bypass lanes 24 hours a day, 7 days a week
- Motorists can expect brief intermittent delays
- Speeds will be reduced to 25 mph through the work zone
- Traffic fines will be doubled in the work zone
- Motorists should slow down as they approach the work zone, drive with caution, allow extra space between vehicles and give themselves extra travel time

(along with other non-profit hospital organizations) to help identify community health needs. CHNA is an Internal Revenue Service (IRS) requirement.

The first meeting will review previous CHNA and review how the community has benefited from it. The survey will also be released to help RGH determine its challenges and opportunities. The survey (available on October 10) will help RGH analyze and develop the focus of the following community health improvement plan. A QR code will be released at the beginning of October bringing participants to the CHNA.

The second meeting will review the survey. RGH will have focus group sessions with facilitators, community members, and partners; key information based on our survey findings will help assess community needs. At the third and final meeting, the hospital will share the implementation strategy.

The dates are Oct. 10, Nov. 14, and Dec. 12. Every meeting is on a Thursday at the Rio Grande Wellness Center, 310D County Road 14, Del Norte. There is a complimentary meal at 5:30 p.m., and the session begins at 6 p.m.

"Feedback from our community members received through the survey is vital in helping us improve. We ask that you please commit to attending all three meetings," said RGH Development and Communications Officer Eva Timberlake.

Her heart embraced each of them sharing wisdom and love.

Doris was preceded in death by her parents Fred and Almina Anderson, stepmother Mary Anderson, sister Althea Pratt, her Aunt Elsie Keck, and many other aunts and uncles.

Doris became a fighter at a very young age, as she lost her mother to sickness when she was only 5 months old, while fighting through her own illness at the time. Her first five years were spent with her Aunt Elsie and Uncle Henry on a ranch near La Garita. When her dad

Kenneth Lee Kane, 84, departed this life on Sunday, Sept. 8, 2024. He was born Oct. 31, 1939, in Doniphan, Mo., to the late Earl and Lora (Hayes) Kane.

Ken, a Certified Public Accountant, served in the Air Force, as an Administrative Officer in the United States Forest Service, and in several civic-minded leadership roles. Enjoying a career of ever-advancing responsibilities, he and his family lived in ten different cities across four different states until spending his final 28 years in his beloved Missouri.

Ken's career in the US Forest Service included leadership on the Superior, Mark Twain, Chippewa, Tongass, and Rio Grande National Forests, as well as the Fort Collins Forest Service Computer Center, starting as an accountant in Duluth and working his way up to Administrative Officer of the Colorado Rio Grande Forest.

On Dec. 17, 1960, Ken married Carole Ann Wiley at the First Church of God in Doniphan. She preceded him in death on Dec. 29, 2009. Following Carole's passing, Ken wrote a book titled "The Love of My Life" chronicling her (and his) life journey - which included an incredible array of church and community-oriented volunteer and fundraising projects in every city they called home.

In 2006, the Doniphan Chamber of Commerce honored Ken and Carole Kane as the "Partner Citizens of the Year" for their community efforts including leading Timberfest, American Cancer Society, Church Kids programs and several other events. Ken tirelessly wrote and fulfilled grant proposals including a handicapped remarried, Doris was moved to Pueblo, where she joined her sister Althea and stepsisters Dolores, Claralyn and brother David.

Doris graduated from Centennial High School in 1956 and attended the Baptist Church becoming involved with the youth and making a commitment to accept Jesus Christ, which she carried all through her life.

Doris worked at an office supply store located in the business district. While attending church she met and made friends with Cora Belle Hathaway, who at some point thought it would be a great idea to introduce her brother Orville to Doris. They didn't waste time getting to know each other, and knew they had something special. Orville proposed to Doris in the winter of 1957 to which Doris excitedly said yes. Planning a June wedding, her mother said they might want to move that date up, as Orville would be very busy with the first cutting of hay. They were married March 1, 1958.

Doris moved back to Monte Vista, starting a family and helping with the many farm chores. They farmed just east of Monte Vista, then moved to the 3 North and County Line, where they raised their family, overcame challenges and enjoyed picnics, fishing, camping and vacations along the way.

Once all the kids were in school, Doris became a school bus driver for 16 years, befriending many young children and earning their respect. They didn't get by with too many shenanigans. Doris expanded her friends through these 16 years and made many long-lasting friendships.

Doris was well respected, loved by many and created many memories to cherish. We are saddened by her passing, but she would not want us to take too long to get up and continue enjoying life. Cherish the time you knew Doris and share a laugh and hug with her family. As God loved her, so she loved us.

Cremation was chosen and at a future date, a celebration of life will be announced.

Alvin and The Chipmunks

Ol' Dutch has spent a lot of time lately up in the forests in pursuit of the elusive elk. In doing so, I have been able to see a lot of animals in their everyday activities. I love watching them as they go about their daily lives not knowing that I am hiding a few feet away from them. For about eight years, I've been hunting in the same makeshift blind. Early on, I would have certain chipmunks come into the fallen timber blind with me. Being an old softy, I would share my meager lunch with them. They would take a small portion and run off to store it for winter in their dens then quickly return begging for more.

This has gone on for some years now and while I know it cannot be the same chipmunks due to their short lifespan, they have evidently taught their children to come stand in line and beg as I have regular customers now. There's probably a social lesson there but that's for another day. They remind me of Alvin and the Chipmunks. That singing trio was dreamed up way back in 1958 and had a huge run of success with Grammy awards plus a best-selling album with over 5 million copies sold of one song alone. Who can dispute that we as Americans will fall for anything that comes down the pike?

They are cute little rascals and this year I started out with some granola bars which they really seemed to like. Of course, they are sweet with honey on them, and I got concerned I was leading them to an early grave with diabetes. Therefore, I switched to almonds. And boy oh boy, do they ever like those. Fat little cheeks soon swell with sweet nuts, and they scamper to and fro taking them back for a winter larder. One morning Ol' Dutch forgot the nuts, but I had three pieces of bread in my pocket and put that out for their arrival. And to my surprise, they turned up their noses at the brown "healthy" wheat slices. They just refused to eat them.

The look of complete and total disdain on their part toward me was funny to behold and "Alvin," the chipmunk with the short tail, stood up on the wood wall of the blind and scolded me for a good while. Needless to say, I made sure to have a package of almonds each day since and they have resumed their many trips with cheeks stuffed full of nutty goodness. Having spent a lot of time sitting up there, I began to contemplate just how picky they have become in what they eat. It mirrors what we as humans consume, too.

They far prefer sugary treats to the healthy nuts as evidenced when I put them both out at the same time. And I think this further proves that the snack companies know that sugary treats are the key to getting our dollars. Our growing waistlines and horrific amount of snacks now stocked in every store is evidence that the snack companies are winning. It's actually quite frightening when you really look at how prevalent sugar and snacks are.

Watching Alvin and his friends scamper about the forest floor, I am reminded just how close winter is as of late. The little rascals get lost in the fallen golden aspen leaves that now cover the forest floor. Soon the snow of winter will descend with a vengeance. Unlike bears, chipmunks don't store fat to get them through the winter. Instead, they periodically wake up to eat their stored food. These three little chipmunks will be safe and sound in their dens through the cold months, snacking on almonds and granola bars to their hearts' content when they wake up.

I hope that I have not led them astray to needing Ozempic by spring.

Volunteers power the Colorado Trail

The Colorado Trail, an iconic 567-mile high-elevation trail that crosses the Rockies, owes its existence largely to Gudy Gaskill, a charismatic, six-foot-tall woman who could make tough things seem easy.

Gaskill not only carried out the vision of a state trail, beginning slowly in the late 1970s, but also gave birth to it. In 1972, she lobbied Congress, along with forester Bill Lucas, credited with the Colorado Trail idea, to change federal law so that volunteers could be allowed to build trails on public land.

Volunteerism was so potent an idea, that when, in 1984, writer Ed Quillen broke the story about Gaskill's efforts to revive trail building that had foundered under the Colorado Mountain Trails Foundation, people were energized to join her. Soon, thanks to fundraising, she had 350 volunteers coming each summer to join trail crews she often led herself.

She made creating the Colorado Trail seem like a privilege: You camped out in beautiful backcountry, ate great food, and found stamina you never knew you possessed.

In 1985, caught up in the story, my father, Ed Marston, then publisher of High Country News, volunteered my sister, Wendy, 15, and me, 13, for a week of trail building. That's how we learned how to swing those axe-like tools called Pulaskis on the Molas Pass to Durango section.

Gaskill herself led our crew, setting out early with orange ribbon to mark the trail. She was efficient and tireless, and in just a few hours, older, urban and young volunteers became trail builders with blisters to prove it.

It was exciting to work on a trail that unfurled along the rooftop of Colorado. Typical trails in those days led up mountains or over steep passes. The Colorado trail rejected peak-bagging and offered a moderate route of week-long, 70-mile sections, neither losing nor gaining elevation rapidly, though often charting a route above tree line.

I joined a trail crew to revisit my childhood adventure this summer, and from Aug. 7 to 11, Denver friend Jeff Miller and I worked to repair trail in Chaffee County's Collegiate Peaks Wilderness.

In wilderness, if there's a tree to fell, you use a handsaw. We needed to move big rocks, so two of us yoked ourselves together in nylon harnesses to do that. We divided labor this way: Men hauled big rocks, and women wielding rock hammers smashed the rocks into gravel.

Trail work has changed a lot in 39 years. Back then we built water bars to stop erosion from runoff. Logs anchored into slopes sluiced water off trails but required annual maintenance. Now, water moves off trail through "grade reversals." The trail swoops below grade, efficiently shunting water off the path, then swoops back up to level grade. Drains are large versions of grade reversals.

My fellow volunteers were largely thru-hikers, skilled backcountry voyageurs who spend their holidays hiking the trail from Denver to Durango in one go. Mark Stephenson, 26, from Pittsburgh, Pa., was one of the trail's most ardent fans.

He arrived on the trail via Greyhound bus with $40 in his pocket, saying, "This is a place where money doesn't matter."

Thinking a reported two-and-a-half-mile hike to camp would be easy, my friend and I arrived at the trailhead loaded up with both front and back packs. I confess to having done the shopping. My friend was optimistic: "I can carry anything two and a half miles."

But our camp had moved six miles away and 2,700 feet uphill. We made it, slowly, and once at camp, we quickly became free-store proprietors. But there was another problem: I'd left my tent poles at home. Crew leader Matt Smith, an engineer from Golden, easily came up with a fix: He used parachute cord to rig up the tent fly, then added a tarp to ward off the rain that soaked us every afternoon and night.

I don't recall meeting thru-hikers in the mid-1980s, but today they seem to dominate hiking culture. I could only listen as the rest of the group talked about trails known by acronyms, including the famous AT—Appalachian Trail.

"You're doing great work!" hikers told us as they passed by. Crew leader Smith offers this perspective today: "19,000 volunteer person-hours go into trail improvement every year."

We owe thanks to those original trail stalwarts—forester Bill Lucas, journalist Merrill Hastings and of course, Gudy Gaskill. Their vision created one of the state's wonders.

Dave Marston is the publisher of Writers on the Range, writersontherange.org, an independent nonprofit dedicated to spurring lively conversation about the West. He lives in Durango.

NWTF, Forest Service expand Wildfire Crisis Strategy in Colorado

Impact will be seen in Rio Grande National Forest

CONTRIBUTED

EDGEFIELD, S.C. — The National Wild Turkey Federation and the USDA Forest Service Region 2, encompassing national forests across Colorado and Wyoming, recently signed an agreement to build upon ongoing work in the region under the National Master Stewardship Agreement.

Accelerating the pace and scale of forest stewardship across the West, this additional agreement, part of the broader Wildfire Crisis Strategy, will remove timber, providing business to local mills for the retention of current forest business infrastructure necessary to carry out forest restoration work.

As an integral part of the broader landscape-scale Lagarita Hills

Restoration Project in Colorado, the Saguache Spruce Stewardship Project will play a pivotal role in tackling the long-lasting effects of the spruce beetle epidemic that has devastated the region for more than a decade.

The Saguache Spruce Stewardship Project will enhance forest health and reduce fuel loading across approximately 3,411 acres on the Rio Grande National Forest, the majority of which have been severely impacted by the spruce beetle outbreak. The project will involve the harvesting of dead Engelmann spruce within the designated project area, promoting forest stand resiliency and age-class diversity.

“By removing standing and downed dead trees, we’re not only reducing the risk of devastating wildfires but also improving wildlife habitat and protecting downstream watersheds,” said Brian Russell, NWTF wildfire crisis coordinator for Region 2.

The forest products generated from this project will be directed to local sawmills and wood processing facilities, ensuring that the critical infrastructure for forest product utilization remains intact. This is essential for the long-term success of future forest restoration efforts in the region.

In addition to the Saguache Spruce Stewardship Project, NWTF Wildfire Crisis Strategy staff will collaborate with Forest Service Region 2 staff this fall to develop a regional strategy. This strategy will focus on addressing wildfire risks, retaining wood products processing infrastructure and expanding workforce capacity to carry out forest restoration work.

A portion of the Wildfire Crisis Strategy involves removing fuel loads in parts of national forests across Colorado and Wyoming.

The organization is a huge part of community service in Creede and offers unique opportunities to youth throughout the area.

In addition to 4-H and the main car show, the Creede Art Council hosted its 5th annual Steamroller Printmaking event. This is a wonderful opportunity to highlight local artists in a unique and entertaining way, and as the event unfolded over the years, it has grown in popularity, bringing a crowd to Creede every year.

As the afternoon wore on, car show participants gathered near Basham Park for the award announcements before heading off into the coming rain for a drive along the Silver Thread Scenic Byway and a late lunch at Freemon's General Store.

The car show winners are as follows, Best of Show was sponsored and made by Clark Auto and went to a 1969 Chevy Camaro, owned by Jeff Lawyer, of Littleton; the Don Pacheco Award went to the 1968 Plymouth Satellite Sport, owned by Ben Martinez, of Capulin; and the People's Choice award, sponsored Speakers from several organizations, including SLV Early Childhood Council member Kathryn Trujillo and Kristin Love, who started the afternoon off with a welcome speech.

“First we would like to thank Rio Grande County Public Health, UCHealth, National Fitness Campaign, the Town of Del Norte, and Rio Grande Hospital for their support in bringing this important program to our community and for recognizing the need to support healthy lifestyles for all Coloradans.”

Next to speak was Rio Grande County Administrator Skip Schoen.

“As the administrator of Rio Grande County, it is my great pleasure to help celebrate the grand opening of this state-of-the-art outdoor Fitness Court

The Fitness Court Studio is the result of a partnership between Rio Grande County Public Health (with Town of Del Norte and Rio Grande Hospital as partners), UCHealth and NFC to expand free access to high-quality workouts, creating equitable access to exercise for communities around the state.

Studio, a remarkable new addition that we are proud to have right here in Rio Grande County,” he said.

Schoen spoke about the importance of making health a wellness a priority in communities big and small and to allow those who are seeking a healthier lifestyle access to healthy living without having to afford expensive equipment or gym memberships.

Rio Grande Hospital CEO Arlene Harms said that the installation of the fitness court studio came just in time to support the vision of wellness throughout the community.

“I was so excited when Rio Grande County Public Health Department Director Dr. Bankole asked if we wanted to offer support for this project. We at the hospital feel like this is an extension of our mission at the hospital as well. We want our community to understand how important it is to move from treating someone who is sick to helping them prevent illness. It’s time to move to wellness,” she said.

Health and Wellness Coordinator Esteban Salazar, with SLVGO added, “This is a milestone moment for your community, and I couldn’t be more excited about the opportunities this fitness court will bring to all of you. At San Luis Valley Great Outdoors, it is our mission to connect people to the great outdoors, promote healthy lifestyles and protect our natural environments. This Fitness Court Studio fits perfectly with our vision. It’s more than just a place for exercise, it’s a place where people can experience the benefits of outdoor recreation.”

The final speaker was Colorado State Representative for District 62, Matthew Martinez. “As the State Representative for House District 62, I am proud to see projects like this come to life right here in Rio Grande County. This serves as a model of what is possible when communities, local leaders and organizations come together to promote health and wellbeing. This Fitness Court Studio isn’t just a facility. It’s a testament to our shared belief that the power of public health and the importance of providing access to the tools people need can lead to healthier lives,” Martinez said.

The remainder of the afternoon was dedicated to demonstrations on the fitness court by members of law enforcement, first responders, staff members with Rio Grande Public Health Department, and students from the Upper Rio Grande School District.

A shoutout went to Ryan Scavo, owner of Big River Collective, who provided the photography installed on the west side of the Fitness Court Studio depicting a scene of the Rio Grande at sunset.

The Fitness Court Studio is the result of a partnership between Rio Grande County Public Health (with Town of Del Norte and Rio Grande Hospital as partners), UCHealth and NFC to expand free access to high-quality workouts, creating equitable access to exercise for communities around the state. The Fitness Court Studio delivers the powerful seven minutes full body workout on one side and a versatile outdoor class area for enjoying yoga, Zumba, pilates, and other group wellness activities on the opposite side.

Created with people aged 14 and over and with all abilities in mind, the workouts are adaptable for all fitness levels, allowing participants to move at their own pace. Users also may download the free Fitness Court App which acts as a coach-in-your-pocket and enhances the outdoor gym into a digitally supported wellness experience.

and to talk about the next phases of the project.

“We actually made a lot of progress and though I know it’s been hard on downtown businesses, they have been wonderful to work with. We are moving right along and should be on to the next phase of the project before the first real freeze,” Malouff said.

Malouff was joined by Town of Del Norte Public Works Director Kevin Larimore, who has been working with RMS Utilities and helping to make sure the project stays on track.

“We are right on schedule and are looking forward to finishing the first part of this project. Our next step will be to move back to Cherry Street and begin work on the south side of the highway by spring,” Larimore said.

According to Malouff and Larimore, the streetlights should be arriving by late October to the beginning of November which will be a pivotal time for the project.

“It will give us a chance to really see how this is going to look. We have the benches and trash receptacles ordered and those will be the next things to be installed,” said Larimore.

Malouff said they received questions about the cutouts lining the sidewalks that contain black rock and was happy to explain, “They are flower beds. We wanted to be sure to include a natural element to the project and will be working with a local gardener to get some vegetation installed.”

RMS Utilities and the Town of Del Norte would also like to remind the public that the businesses along Grande Avenue are open and there is access to all of the businesses through the alleyways.

“There is plenty of parking and side streets that take guests to businesses while construction is underway. We are also here to answer any questions or to help however we can. We have a small window to complete projects like this and unfortunately it takes a toll on the businesses,” said Malouff.

Malouff also wanted to ask that people crossing the highway cross at 5th Street and use the light.

Work on downtown Del Norte started in August. RMS Utilities says the project is moving along nicely.

“That is the safest location for anyone crossing the highway right now. We want everyone to be safe,” Malouff said.

Beyond those few recommendations, the project is right on track and the first phase is expected to be completed before the snow flies. For more information, contact RMS Utilities at www.rmsutilities.com or the Town of Del Norte at 719-657-2708.

DA, ADA, top cops in SLV discuss trends in crime

Violent crimes are not increasing; drug felonies are up 20%

By PRISCILLA WAGGONER

ALAMOSA — When Anne Kelly was first appointed and then elected as the district attorney for the 12th Judicial District, she made a promise to the public to be transparent. Kelly made good on that promise Thursday night, Sept. 19, with a forum on violence in Alamosa, organized in response to a spate of violent crimes this summer.

For close to two hours, Kelly, Assistant District Attorney Wes Stafford, Alamosa Police Department Chief George Dingfelder and Alamosa County Sheriff Robert Jackson weighed in on the job of fighting crime and enforcing the law in the San Luis Valley and then took questions from the public.

“Even though cites show an increase in violence in Alamosa,” Kelly said, “I’m going to share with you some trends across the years that come from our office to give you a bigger and better picture of what’s happening.”

Kelly shared data about cases filed by her office since 2020, clarifying the data reflects cases that are filed and are not reflective of cases the sheriff’s office or police department have responded to.

In what may have come as a surprise to those who attended, Kelly painted a picture of crime rates that, with some exceptions, are not increasing.

She started off discussing homicides and murders, which includes first- and second-degree murder, first- and second-degree attempted murder, vehicular homicide, criminal negligence, and manslaughter.

Within that category, there were 14 homicides and murders in 2020, seven in 2021, 19 in 2022, 10 in 2023, and 15 in 2024.

“In 2024, five people were charged in the murder of one victim, so there have actually been 10 cases filed,” she said. She then added that, in 2024, they are projecting a total of 18 homicide and murder cases to be filed.

The question was asked about the numbers being presented in a “per 100,000” figure, and Kelly had the data to answer.

In Denver, the rate was 1: 5,200; in Arapahoe County, which includes Aurora, the rate was 1:7,200. In Alamosa, that ratio was 1:3,700, which Kelly described as high. But she also added that comparing those numbers was like apples to oranges as a ratio of 1:3,700 is felt much more deeply than in Denver or Arapahoe County because the community is smaller.

Steady crime rates cannot be said for felony drug cases, which are up by about 20% since last year, a fact she attributes to the prevalence of fentanyl.

“It’s very cheap to make. It’s highly addictive and very easy to traffic and more fentanyl is being trafficked in the Valley. It just is,” she said.

In response, the DA’s office has spent “many more resources” to better investigate, build stronger cases and to get more cases filed against major traffickers. She also discussed the Drug Task Force, which includes seven agents from multiple law enforcement agencies who work collaboratively in identifying the major drug traffickers and devote more resources in going after them.

“Unlike my predecessor,” Kelly says, she prioritizes her cases with consideration toward prosecuting major drug traffickers.

In what may feel counter to public perception, property crimes have decreased by 13% in comparison to 2020. She attributes that to more proactive policing.

Kelly also discussed a change she has made in policy. After two years in the Valley, she is more familiar with those individuals who are “the most dangerous offenders.” With that in mind, the DA’s office is going to start charging more of those defendants with habitual criminal counts, which increases the maximum sentence by three or four times for each count a defendant is convicted of committing.

APD Chief George Dingfelder, ACSO Sheriff Robert Jackson and Assistant District Attorney Wes Stafford listen as DA Anne Kelly addresses the audience.

She emphasizes that the office is still committed to diversion and not prosecuting crimes that are committed because of addiction, with an emphasis on getting the person help.

In contrast, she cites an example of someone who is charged with assault with a deadly weapon and, in looking through his criminal history, sees numerous previous convictions for similar crimes.

“This guy is not getting the message. We have this tool to go after this guy and make sure he’s not a danger to the community anymore. Each case will be handled with discretion and all attorneys in the DA’s office will be involved,” she said.

When she asked for feedback from the audience, the response was largely positive. People looked at the approach as “pro-active,” “necessary,” and it sends a good message of what the community will tolerate.

ADA Wes Stafford gave a broad overview of how the bond system works, as the DA’s office is taking different action in that area, as well. One of the goals is to stop the revolving door that often happens when, while on bond, a person commits more crimes. Example, if a person commits a felony and, while out on bond, commits another felony, they’re asking the judge to take that into consideration in revoking bond or adding another condition to bond.

Chief Dingfelder and Sheriff Jackson addressed questions about morale among officers – both said the job is tough, but morale is pretty good. There were additional questions about what the community can do to help, and the response was unanimous.

“If you see something, say something.” They also spoke about the enormous value of having responders and victim advocates.

By the end of the evening, it was agreed that forums like what happened Thursday night hold value for keeping the public informed and will be held again in the future.

Conejos County deputy injured in accident

By PRISCILLA WAGGONER

CONEJOS COUNTY — A collision between two cars on Wednesday afternoon led to a Conejos County deputy sustaining serious injuries and being transported to a local hospital. In the other vehicle, two young women from Alabama were injured, less seriously, and transported, as well.

According to Capt. Nathan Lyons with the Colorado State Patrol, Wednesday afternoon, a Conejos County deputy was headed northbound on Highway 285 when a vehicle heading east on 142 turned southbound onto Highway 285, directly in front of the deputy.

The deputy sustained serious but not life-threatening injuries. The women in the eastbound vehicle sustained less serious injuries.

“The driver was a little banged up and the passenger was a little banged up more than the driver but nothing of a serious nature,” Lyons said.

All three individuals were transported to a local hospital.

“The damage to the two vehicles was very extensive. But because all three individuals were wearing seatbelts, it wasn’t nearly as serious for the occupants as it would have been otherwise,” Lyons said.

Lyons added that traffic was diverted for roughly an hour before resuming. No further information is expected at this time.

Why you need dental insurance in retirement.

Many Americans are fortunate to have dental coverage for their entire working life, through employer-provided benefits. When those benefits end with retirement, paying dental bills out-of-pocket can come as a shock, leading people to put off or even go without care.

Simply put – without dental insurance, there may be an important gap in your healthcare coverage.

When you're comparing plans ...

- ▶ Look for coverage that helps pay for major services. Some plans may limit the number of procedures – or pay for preventive care only.
- ▶ Look for coverage with no deductibles. Some plans may require you to pay hundreds out of pocket before benefits are paid.
- ▶ Shop for coverage with no annual maximum on cash benefits. Some plans have annual maximums of $1,000.

Medicare doesn't pay for dental care.'

That's right. As good as Medicare is, it was never meant to cover everything. That means if you want protection, you need to purchase individual insurance.

Early detection can prevent small problems from becoming expensive ones.

The best way to prevent large dental bills is preventive care. The American Dental Association recommends checkups twice a year.

Previous dental work can wear out.

Even if you've had quality dental work in the past, you shouldn't take your dental health for granted. In fact, your odds of having a dental problem only go up as you age.²

Treatment is expensive — especially the services people over 50 often need.

Consider these national average costs of treatment ... $222 for a checkup ... $190 for a filling ... $1,213 for a crown.³ Unexpected bills like this can be a real burden, especially if you're on a fixed income.

Adams State recognizes Ortega's commitment to service

By ADAMS STATE UNIVERSITY

ALAMOSA — “I live with the philosophy of gratitude. I learned that from my mom and dad. This amazing award is really an honor for them,” said Sandy Ortega '74, the 2024 recipient of the Billy Adams Award.

Since 1972, the award has been presented to those in the community who carry on the commitment to Adams State epitomized by the university's founder, Billy Adams.

She will receive the Adams State 2024 Billy Adams Award at the Homecoming Banquet on Sept. 27. For tickets or more information, contact the Alumni Relations Office at 719-587-8110 or visit adams.edu/alumni and click on the Homecoming 2024 link.

“We need more Sandys,” said President David Tandberg, Ph.D. “She has impressed me as someone who always shows up willing to roll up her sleeves and help out. Her passionate commitment to Adams State is seen in efforts she puts forth to move the institution forward, such as serving on our Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI) Advisory Committee, and as president of our alumni board.”

Ortega has served on the Alumni Association Board of Directors since 1990. “I'm still emotional. This is the first time in my 72 years that I was speechless,” she added. “When Dr. Tandberg told me he selected me for the Billy Adams Award, I lost it. Holy guacamole, my tears. It's an overwhelming, exciting feeling.”

A 10th-generation native of San Luis, Ortega was recently honored with inclusion in History Colorado's 2022 Return of the Corn Mothers. The award-winning traveling photographic exhibition and accompanying coffee-table book is based on the Pueblo myth of the Corn Mothers, said to have sung in the essence of creation. This collection of portraits and stories is about today's Corn Mothers, women who live, study, and work in the Southwest – Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, and northern Texas.

Ortega noted she donated a copy of the book to La Capilla de Todos los Santos (All Saints' Chapel) at San Luis' Stations of the Cross shrine. She and her husband, Antonio Garcia, consider the chapel to be the “crown jewel” of projects completed by their company, Passive Adobe Solar Construction, from which they retired in 2010.

Prior to working with her husband, Ortega spent 20 years in social work in the San Luis Valley, Trinidad, and Colorado Springs. She also taught remedial reading at Centennial High School in San Luis. A first-generation college student, Ortega recognizes the importance of Adams State serving the region. She appreciates the academic scholarship that allowed her to graduate debt-free with a double major in sociology/social work and Mexican/American studies with a minor in special education. Three of her seven siblings are also Adams State alumni:

Pictured, Sandra Ortega and the Stations of the Cross shrine; Ortega is the 2024 Adams State University Billy Adams Award recipient.

Daisy Ortega '75, John W. Ortega '78, and Anthony C. Ortega '77.

Her fondest college memory is the time she and three other students drove to Puebla, Mexico, to study Mexican history for a semester through an exchange program with Universidad de las Americas.

These experiences, among others, influenced her commitment to higher education and her work with Adams State's HSI Advisory Committee. “The Hispanic Serving Institution committee works to improve the educational experience for all Adams State students. I advocate for anybody who wants to earn a degree in higher education,” she said.

Ortega explained the Alumni Association is now working with the Adams State Foundation to align alumni fundraising and friend-raising activities with the university's strategic plan. The group is exploring the possibility of creating a mentoring program matching students with alumni.

“We need to start having conversations with students and new alumni to cultivate a philosophy of giving, not necessarily financial giving, but also through giving their time and talent,” she said.

Ortega has volunteered for many local organizations including the Alamosa Republican Party, Sacred Heart Catholic Church, the Colorado Commission on Aging, the San Luis Valley Development Resources Group, SLV Health, and the Alamosa City Planning Committee. She also serves as an Alamosa County Sheriff's Office Victim Advocate.

Preliminary hearing scheduled in Larry Chavez case

By PRISCILLA WAGGONER

ALAMOSA — Alamosa resident Larry Chavez, 33, was in court on Tuesday morning, where a preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 30. In the preliminary, the presiding judge will determine if there is enough evidence to order Chavez to stand trial for allegedly killing Enrique Parra.

According to documents obtained from the Alamosa County Combined Court, Chavez has been charged with eighteen different counts in the case, including one count of murder in the second degree (F2), second degree assault with a deadly weapon (F4), kidnapping (F2), two counts of motor vehicle theft (F4), four counts of felony menacing (F5), theft $5,000 to $10,000 (F6), third degree assault (M1), criminal mischief (misdemeanor) plus six counts of habitual criminal.

Due to his previous criminal history, if the court judges Chavez to be a habitual criminal in connection with any of the felonies he's been charged with committing, sentencing will be four times the maximum range of sentencing for each felony.

Even if Chavez is convicted of only some of the felonies and is deemed to be a habitual criminal, it's possible he could be sentenced to life in prison.

As was reported in the Valley Courier, shortly after 6 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 1, the Alamosa Police Department (APD) was dispatched to the 1700 block of State Avenue on the report of a shooting. Upon arriving at the scene, officers found a male victim, later identified as Enrique Parra, who had been shot. Life saving measures were immediately instigated and Parra was transferred to San Luis Valley Regional Medical Center where he was pronounced deceased.

Chavez, identified as a suspect in the shooting, fled the scene, initiating a manhunt with numerous law enforcement agencies in the San Luis Valley assisting along with a drone from Colorado Parks and Wildlife.

On the morning of Aug. 2, APD requested assistance from the US Marshals in locating Chavez. Within hours, the US Marshals, with assistance from local law enforcement, took Chavez into custody in Santa Fe, N.M.

Since his arrest, Chavez has been held in the Alamosa County Detention Center on a $10 million bond.

The Secret to Your Best Life

One of the greatest lessons I've learned is that you can't be both selfish and happy. I know this is true through my own personal experience, but more importantly, the Bible has some things to say about the attitude we should have about “self.”

For example, love is not selfish. In the Amplified Bible, 1 Corinthians 13:5 says love “is not self-seeking.” In 1 Corinthians 13:31, the apostle Paul said, “...I die daily [I face death and die to self]” (AMP), which basically means he was not self-seeking but instead focused on doing what God called him to do with his life.

There are also scriptures that teach us the importance of having self-control. Galatians 5:23 lists self-control as a fruit of the Spirit, and 2 Timothy 1:7 says that in Christ, we have a spirit “of power and of love and...personal discipline [abilities that result in a calm, well-balanced mind and self-control].”

If you've lived very long, you realize that not being selfish requires self-control, because we're all born with a human nature that is selfish. Think about how babies act: They are only concerned with what they need and usually cry when they don't get their way.

Thankfully, when we experience new life in Christ, we die to sin (Romans 6:11). But even though we die to sin, sin does not die. That's why we have to continually make the decision over and over again to choose to do the right thing on purpose. And we have what it takes, in Christ, to do what's right—whether we feel like it or not.

As Christians, we're destined to be molded into the image of Jesus Christ (Romans 8:29). Jesus is the greatest example of what it means to love others and not live a selfish life. First

John 3:16 (NIV) says, “This is how we know what love is: Jesus Christ laid down his life for us. And we ought to lay down our lives for our brothers and sisters.”

This scripture shows us that Jesus gave everything when He demonstrated His love for us. And we are to follow His example.

The truth is, loving others is not always easy, and it always costs us something: time, money, convenience, etc. But through our relationship with Christ, we can find the strength and ability to love others, even when it seems to cost more than we think we can give.

God is faithful to give us His love, grace, and wisdom to reach out and be a blessing to others. And when we do, we end up receiving more joy and peace than we had before.

It's important to understand that God doesn't expect you to take this to such an extreme that you don't take care of yourself. We need to use wisdom so we can be healthy emotionally, mentally, and physically while we're helping others. In following Jesus' example, remember to make your relationship with God your number one priority and do what He puts in your heart to do.

The world is full of lonely, hurting people who are hungry for the love of God and the hope that is only found in Jesus. I want to encourage you to get rid of a “What about me?” mindset and instead pray, “God, show me someone who needs a blessing. Show me someone I can help.”

We all have room to grow in our relationship with God, and learning how to reach out to others is a big part of that process. I used to be self-centered and focused on getting my way all the time. And I was miserable! But now I am happier than I've ever

Moving Up Higher
with

been because I don't spend all my time thinking about what I want, what I think, and how I feel. The truth is, you can't be happy if the center of your life is you!

Imagine how different the world would be if everyone would just do one nice thing to help someone else every day. It can be so simple to put a smile on someone's face. Give a compliment, give something away, take the time to listen, open a door for someone, let someone go before you in line at the store...the list could go on and on.

Make it your business to regularly reach out to people around you, encouraging them and meeting their needs as you are able to do it. Be determined each day to do at least one thing for someone else that makes their life better. Trust me: You'll discover that serving God by loving others is the most wonderful, exciting thing you can do!

EPA Region 8 Announces the Sixth Five-Year Review for the Summitville Mine Superfund Site

The EPA, in cooperation with the state of Colorado, is conducting the sixth five-year review of the Summitville Mine Superfund site in Rio Grande County, Colorado. The purpose of the five-year review is to make sure that the selected cleanup actions are effectively protecting human health and the environment.

The 1,400-acre Summitville Mine site is a former gold mine. Mining processes, waste disposal practices, and the discharge of large amounts of copper and other metals to Wightman Fork and the Alamosa River contaminated soil, surface water and groundwater with heavy metals.

Site Work Completed:

- Cyanide formerly contained within the heap leach pad has been treated and detoxified.
- Mine waste piles have been contoured, capped and revegetated.
- Mine adits and entrances to underground have been plugged and sealed.
- Mining impacted water is captured in the Summitville Dam Impoundment and cleaned in the water treatment plant prior to leaving the site.

Construction activities are complete, and the site is now in the operation and maintenance phase.

We want to hear from you! Community members are encouraged to share information that may be helpful in the five-year review process. Community members who have questions or who would like to be interviewed are asked to contact EPA by December 31, 2024.

Dig into tasty, nutritious potatoes

Potatoes are a staple of many people's diets. Versatile, affordable and tasty, potatoes are, not surprisingly, included in myriad recipes.

Potatoes are underground tubers that grow on the roots of the potato plant. Potatoes are from the nightshade family, which means they're related to tobacco and tomatoes. Potatoes are native to South America, and were likely brought to Europe, and later North America, by immigrants and tradespeople.

In addition to their versatility and flavor, potatoes happen to be nutritional powerhouses. Potatoes are one of the "good" carbohydrates because they are whole and complex. Whole carbs like potatoes are minimally processed and contain fiber found naturally, according to the health and wellness site Healthline. Carbohydrates are important for mental and physical performance because they provide the body with energy.

Here's a deep look at what a serving of one potato provides in terms of nutritional benefits, courtesy of Potatoes USA.

- Moderate caloric content: The average potato contains just 110 calories. That makes potatoes part of a healthy, low-calorie eating plan.

- Vitamin C: Potatoes are very good sources of vitamin C, although people might not think of potatoes as a major source of this essential nutrient. One potato provides around 30 percent of the recommended daily value of vitamin C.

- Potassium: Each potato contains about 620 mg of potassium, which is more of this valuable nutrient than one gets from a banana.

- No cholesterol: Potatoes are

- cholesterol- and fat-free when boiled or baked. There are many ways to prepare and serve potatoes so they remain low in fat and cholesterol-free.

- Vitamin B and Iron: One potato provides 10 percent DV of vitamin B and 6 percent DV of iron.

- Fiber: The highest level of fiber in potatoes is found in the skin. Dried skins are about 52 percent fiber. If you don't eat the skin, one potato will offer around 7 percent DV of fiber.

- Sodium-free: Potatoes are a smart choice for those watching their sodium intake.

- Gluten-free: People with Celiac disease or those who have gluten intolerances can turn to potatoes to include starchy carbohydrates in their diets. They're perfect as side dishes or dressed up with other ingredients to make a main course.

Potatoes come in many different forms and sizes, so they can be integrated into any meal. Because they can be cooked in various ways, potatoes also can be matched to particular diets and eating plans. Potatoes are a delicious, versatile and healthy option any time of the day.

Advancements in livestock technology

Consumer demand drives changes in industry, and the agricultural sector is no exception. Consumer demands for improved animal welfare have led to changes in the livestock sector, and various technologies have been developed and are in development to help this particular segment of the agricultural industry thrive.

According to the Animal AgTech Innovation Summit, various startups have developed technologies that can make the livestock industry more sustainable and efficient.

Treatment

The Israeli firm Armenta has developed a non-antibiotic treatment for bovine mastitis that utilizes acoustic pulse technology. The treatment has a 70 percent cure rate.

Another firm working to treat livestock is the United States-based General Probiotics. Animal AgTech reports that General Probiotics develops cellbots and antimicrobial probiotics that eliminate harmful pathogens in livestock. That can reduce dependency on antibiotics and make food production safer.

Welfare

Faromatics, a firm based in Spain, has combined robotics, artificial intelligence and big data to improve animal welfare and farm productivity. One Faromatics product utilizes a robot suspended from a ceiling to monitor certain variables, including equipment function and health and welfare, that affect broiler chickens.

The American firm Swinetech utilizes voice recognition and computer vision technology in its SmartGuard product to prevent piglet deaths from crushing and starvation. The product also makes it possible to track and facilitate obstetrical assistance.

Operations

Based in Uganda, Jaguza Tech has developed a livestock management system that utilizes sensors, data science and machine learning to improve the efficiency, productivity and sustainability of modern farm operations. Farmers can utilize Jaguza to perform a host of functions, including monitoring their animals' health and identifying their livestock.

The Netherlands-based H2Oalert is a water control management system that checks the quality and quantity of cattle drinking water in real time. The management system also checks for pollution and malfunctions in the water supply.

Livestock technology continues to advance, and firms across the globe are developing new products and platforms to help livestock farmers make their operations more efficient, sustainable and productive.

Farm Fresh Direct makes $5,000 donation to 4-H Juntos

Group attends two-day trip to Pueblo

By MARIE MCCOLM

MONTE VISTA — The Colorado State University San Luis Valley Extension Office's 4-H Juntos group recently made an overnight trip to Pueblo, for an exciting Discovery Day adventure Aug. 23 to 24. It would not have been possible without a generous $5,000 donation from Farm Fresh Direct.

Local 4-H Juntos Director Carol

Gurule was excited about the trip and grateful to Farm Fresh Direct and Mayra McKibbon, the Director of Workforce and Community Programs, for the donation.

"With heartfelt gratitude, I want to say thank you and share the success of this trip with everyone. This trip would not have been possible without Farm Fresh Direct led by Mayra McKibbon. This trip was a truly transformative experience for our 25 participants, including both youth and parents. I just want to say thank you for helping the 4-H Juntos program, take these children, and show them how valuable they are, and how valuable they can be in their future lives, too. Educating children is Please see DONATION on Page 9

Shooting Stars Cultural and Leadership Center in Alamosa is one of fifteen recipients of grant funds in the San Luis Valley from the El Pomar Foundation of Colorado Springs.

El Pomar awards $114,000 to 15 organizations in the SLV

STAFF REPORT

COLORADO SPRINGS — Fifteen non-profits and government agencies in the San Luis Valley have been awarded grants from the El Pomar Foundation, totaling $114,000.

Thirteen of the grants were awarded based on recommendations from El Pomar's San Luis Valley Regional Council, which recommends grants in Alamosa, Conejos, Costilla, Mineral, Rio Grande, and Saguache counties. Council members are regional leaders in the business, nonprofit, and public sectors and provide first-hand information about current needs in their own communities.

The remaining two grants were awarded due to a competitive process.

The 13 grant recipients recommended by the SLV Regional Council include Alpine Achievers Initiative in Alamosa, which received $10,000 for Supporting Health Initiatives for Next-Generation Educators program and $1,000 for general operating support.

The Boys and Girls Clubs of the San Luis Valley in Alamosa was awarded $1,000 for general operating

Adelante distributes school supplies to over 1,300 students

Seven different sites were located across the valley

By LA PUENTE COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT OFFICE

ALAMOSA — In preparation for the school year, Adelante Family Resource Center, a program of La Puente, organized a School Supply Distribution where they distributed over 15,000 school items (not including pens and pencils) to 1,356 preK-12th grade students across seven school districts in the Valley.

To pull off this huge endeavor, Adelante partnered with American Legion 142, Bill Metz Elementary Monte Vista, City of Monte Vista, South Conejos School District, Moffat School District, Blanca Ft. Garland Rec Center, Sangre de Cristo School District, and Crestone Charter School.

"My goal for this event was not only to distribute school supplies but to provide students with the tools they need to succeed," said Tara Bay, Director of Adelante Family Resource Center.

drives in previous years, it became apparent that the number of items students truly needed to thrive in the classroom exceeded what was provided. There were also issues with accessibility given the geographic size of the Valley is so large.

In revamping the event, Adelante — with the help of SLV Community Solutions — contacted local schools, identified which districts had families

ASU undergraduate enrollment growth trend continues

By ADAMS STATE UNIVERSITY

ALAMOSA — Adams State University announced the institution continued to see an upward swing in undergraduate enrollment this fall, building on last year's success. The University undergraduate enrollment is up nearly 5 percent from 2023.

"This was, quite frankly, rather remarkable given the challenges we faced this year," President David Tandberg, Ph.D., said. "But we did it and we should all be proud. This is very much a cause for celebration."

Much of the increase came from part-time and non-degree students. The post-graduate enrollment in teacher education, MBA, and music education increased as well. Overall, graduate enrollment was down slightly, however students did enroll in more classes than last year.

Adams State is projecting an increase in both undergraduate and graduate students for the upcoming spring semester as well. Applications are currently being accepted and registration for the spring semester

Please see GROWTH on Page 2

Monte Vista Clean Up Days are Sept. 27 and 28

CONTRIBUTED

MONTE VISTA — The City of Monte Vista is holding its annual City Clean Up Days on Sept. 27 and 28. The city invites all residents to bring their trash and debris to the Public Works Yard at 384 Ski Hi Trail for free dump services.

Dumpsters will be set up to collect the waste. The hours for this event are Friday, Sept. 27, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Saturday, Sept 28, from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.

“We will take all trash and debris to include household trash, wood, construction products, limbs, metal, non-refrigerant appliances (stoves, washers, dryers). We, however, cannot receive any electronics, paint, refrigerators, fuel, tires, or other items prohibited at the Landfill. This year we will take automotive batteries,” city officials stated.

City employees will not help unload debris not in a container or bagged. Employees will not climb onto any trailers or trucks.

This opportunity is only available at the Public Works Yard at 384 Ski Hi Trail in Monte Vista. This opportunity is for Monte Vista residents only.

The SLV Regional Landfill is not sponsoring this, and it is not a free dump day at the landfill. If you go to the landfill, you will be expected to pay the current rates for the debris you bring.

Prohibited wastes are:

- Hazardous waste--includes any item that would be classified as hazardous including fuel.
- Radioactive waste
- Toxic, corrosive, reactive and Ignitable waste — includes batteries and all electronics. Automobile batteries will be accepted.
- Polychlorinated Biphenyl (PCB) waste- Polychlorinated biphenyls were widely used as dielectric and coolant fluids in electrical apparatus, cutting fluids for machining operations, carbonless copy paper and in heat transfer fluids.

• Cathode ray tubes (CRTs), central processing units, computer keyboards, VCRs from non-residential sources cannot be accepted at the land fill. Includes TVs, computers, cell phones. Effective July 1, no electronic item of any kind will be accepted at the landfill as determined by Senate bill 12-133 and defined by Regulation

Adams State is the most affordable residential university in Colorado when factoring in the total cost of attendance, which includes tuition and fees and room and board.

Newly appointed Assistant Vice President of Enrollment Management Mark Buck said, “Understanding the entire financial process and how to approach funding one’s education can be confusing for students and parents. Simplifying and assisting students in navigating through the financial aid process will continue to be a priority for us here at Adams State.”

Senator Bennet Visits SLV Health, tours facilities

By DONNA WEHE

Director of Communication SLV Health
ALAMOSA — SLVH hosted Senator Michael Bennet on a tour of the workforce housing project along with a brief tour of the Regional Medical Center in Alamosa on Sept. 3. SLVH received funding to remodel the “Pike Apartments” on the RMC campus from Congressional Directed Spending appropriation.

“Workforce housing has become part of delivering quality healthcare in our region,” commented CEO Konnie Martin. “With this generous funding, we can create safe, comfortable, affordable housing for our workforce who need to travel here.”

When SLVH leadership decided to purchase the 11 apartments on Pike Avenue, they also knew they would be freeing up access to other rental properties in the area. “We know there is a housing shortage in the region, and we wanted to be part of the solution,” added COO Christine Hettinger-Hunt.

Traveling providers and nurses have used this space along with new hires who are still looking for a property to rent or purchase. “The units are in high demand. This funding will help us with needed infrastructure needs. We plan to modernize the space and update the HVAC systems along with upgrading the furnishings.”

During his visit, Senator Bennet listened to Monica Hinds, SLVH Director of Emergency Department and OB/Labor and Delivery. They discussed the challenges facing rural emergency departments, the safety of staff, challenges with drugs and treating victims involved in violent events. “We see about 50 patients in our ED every day. We are never closed and do not refuse treatment to anyone. Patients with Behavioral Health issues, whether from addiction, dementia, or other psychological diagnoses, continue to challenge our resources. Our staff is resilient, and we have awesome community partners.”

The team at SLV Health appreciated his visit and his interest in the team and in the community.

so important to me. Thank you so much. I truly appreciate what you have done.”

Gurule described how the trip was an extraordinary adventure for everyone who attended.

“It all began with a journey to Pueblo. Our group stayed at a Holiday Inn. We took the kids on an inspiring tour of Colorado State University, Pueblo. The tour offered a glimpse into college life for the kids, and really ignited excitement in them about future educational possibilities,” she said.

Gurule said the staff that gave the tour was enthusiastic with the kids, and the tour was memorable from start to finish.

“Following the tour, we enjoyed lunch at Pack Café, located on the university grounds,” she said.

Gurule said lunch was a wonderful way for families and children to get together and reflect on their tour and on the beginning of the day’s events.

Gurule then described a boat tour that was taken of the historic Arkansas River Walk in Pueblo.

“It was a relaxing way to take in all the scenic beauty and rich history of the area,” she said.

Gurule said that dinner was then held for the kids with their choice of either Angelo’s Pizza Pie or Old Chicago Pizza.

“Dinner offered the families a chance to unwind and discuss their experiences for the day, too,” she said.

Gurule said that the next day the kids were all taken to the Colorado State Fair, where they looked at 4-H projects that were showcased from all around Colorado, including the San Luis Valley counties. Gurule said that the kids had fun exploring all the project areas, including the Creative Cooks Contest, Public Presentations Contests, and several pavilions, including the Agricultural Pavilion, East Horse Area, and Small Animal Pavilion.

“Each exhibit offered a window into the skills and hard work of 4-H members, reinforcing the value of their dedication,” said Gurule.

Gurule said that the trip was a success for the 4-H Juntos group.

“The success of this trip would not have been possible without the astounding support from Farm Fresh Direct and the leadership of Mayra McKibbon. The positive feedback from families underscores the impact of this opportunity, highlighting the invaluable experiences gained by our Juntos 4-H youth. Throughout the trip, we ensured that all logistical needs were meticulously handled, including transportation, meals, and accommodations, allowing our participants to fully engage in these enriching experiences, all due to this wonderful donation,” she said.

Gurule said she was grateful to McKibbon and Farm Fresh Direct for their commitment and support for local initiatives.

“Thank you for making this trip a memorable and educational experience for all involved,” she said.

For more information about Juntos 4-H, contact Gurule at the CSU Extension Office at 719-852-7381.

with the most need, consulted schools' supplies lists, and ordered supplies that specifically met grade requirements.

Going one step further, providing several distribution sites across the Valley enabled more families to take advantage of this opportunity. People traveled to Antonito, San Luis, Mosca, Fort Garland, Monte Vista, Crestone, and Moffat to participate. Students chose their own grade-specific supplies, resulting in some students who left with a backpack full of everything pink, from pencil sharpeners to scissors to notebooks.

A family with 6 school-aged children praised the event saying, "This is a great program that's supporting the community. We really appreciate it!"

According to a May CBS poll of 1,200 U.S. based parents of school-aged children, parents planned to spend an average of $586 per child on school items in 2024. According to data from the University of Colorado-Denver School of Public Affairs, the San Luis Valley is one of the poorest rural areas in the state, with a poverty rate estimated at around 21.4%. Adelante saw the need of the community and felt they had the resources to meet that need. Based on the reviews from attendees, Adelante got an A plus.

Adelante Family Resource Center is a program of La Puente that promotes the empowerment and stabilization of families. Adelante-supported families are offered individualized assistance to navigate resources and reach their goals. Services include assistance with housing, case management, referrals, improved access to counseling, and family advocacy.

Through supporting families as they seek to improve their quality of life and achieve healthy interdependence, Adelante seeks to be a resource center for all families who wish to flourish, especially those who need a bit of extra support to make their dreams a reality.

Colorado Snowmobile Grant Program to provide over $1M for winter trail grooming, equipment and maintenance

CONTRIBUTED

COLORADO — The Colorado Parks and Wildlife Snowmobile Grant Program will provide over $1 million dollars to support winter trails in Colorado this year. Over $350,000 was approved by the Parks and Wildlife Commission for Snowmobile Grant Program projects and an additional $735,000 was provided for the Trail Grooming program to maintain winter trail opportunities.

Despite its name, the Snowmobile Grant Program supports trail grooming for winter trails that are open to both motorized and non-motorized use such as cross-country skiing, snowshoeing, and fat biking.

CPW offers two types of winter trail grants each year.

Snowmobile Program grants are distributed through a competitive application process for large projects to maintain and purchase new equipment and maintain and build new winter trails and trail facilities. This year, snowmobile grants will fund five volunteer snowmobile clubs to purchase grooming equipment and repair existing groomers.

Trail Grooming grant funds are primarily directed toward winter trail grooming, maintenance and signage. The Trail Grooming program currently supports 27 volunteer snowmobile clubs that maintain and provide signage on over 2700 miles of winter trails.

The majority of funding for the Snowmobile Program comes from snowmobile registration and permitting fees with close to 25% of funding coming from the Recreational Trails Program (RTP). The RTP is a federally funded grant program that receives money from a portion of the federal gas taxes paid on non-highway recreational fuel.

“When you register your snowmobile or buy a permit, you are helping to fund the winter trails that you enjoy,” said CPW Assistant Director for Outdoor Recreation and Lands Fletcher Jacobs. “While it does support other winter trail activities, the Snowmobile Program’s primary goal is to improve and enhance snowmobile recreation opportunities across the state while promoting the safe and responsible use of snowmobiles.”

SLV Veterans plan annual parade in Alamosa

ALAMOSA — American Legion, Post 113, and Veterans’ organizations of the San Luis Valley are planning the annual Veteran’s Day Parade to be held on Monday, Nov. 11, beginning at 10:45 a.m.

The parade will stop in front of the reviewing stand at State and Main streets, at 11 a.m. to hold a solemn tribute to “our fallen comrades.”

Everyone is welcome to participate—groups, schools and or organizations. Parade lineup will begin at 9:30 a.m. on Main and La Due Avenue and the vacant lot on 6th and La Due. Those wanting to participate in the patriotic parade or for more information, should contact the parade chairman, Charlie Griego at 719-588-0324, Karilyn Espinosa, Adjutant of the American Legion at 719-379-3540 or Jack Rudder at 719-588-9838.

In addition to trail grooming and signage for the snowmobiling public, registration/permit funding also supports registration operations, snowmobile law enforcement, the snowmobile safety certification program and Colorado’s Avalanche Warning Program.

City, county, local and federal government entities and grooming clubs registered under the Colorado Snowmobile Associate (CSA) are eligible to apply for either a program grant or grooming services grant. The 2025-2026 snowmobile grant cycle will begin in March 2025.

The UPWalker is a revolutionary new mobility device that can change your life by changing the way you walk. It enables you to stand upright when you walk— with your spine straight and your eyes looking straight ahead. Your weight is supported by your upper arms and shoulders, some of the strongest parts of your body. Traditional walkers and rollators force you to put the pressure of your body weight on your hands and wrists. You push them in front of you, looking at the ground instead of where you going. The UPWalker moves with you, with your body perfectly aligned and your feet free to walk in a normal fashion. Its easy-adjust height system allows it to be the perfect fit/height for anyone from 4’10” to 6’1” and supports up to 300 pounds. The new stand-assist handles enable you to distribute your weight across your arms and shoulders, not your hands and wrists to help reduce back, neck, wrist pain and discomfort. It features comfortable arm pads, hand brakes, a fold-down seat, a backrest and two storage bags. It’s built with aircraft-grade aluminum to be sturdy yet lightweight, and its sleek design and oversized wheels make it perfect for tight spots in the house or walking in the yard.

Why spend another day bent over and shuffling around— or worse yet, plopped in front of the TV all day. Pick up the phone and take back your life. Call now.
