FISHING

provided by the Missouri Department of Conservation

Get hooked on fishing

MDC invites the public to get hooked on fishing through its Free Fishing Days June 10 and 11.

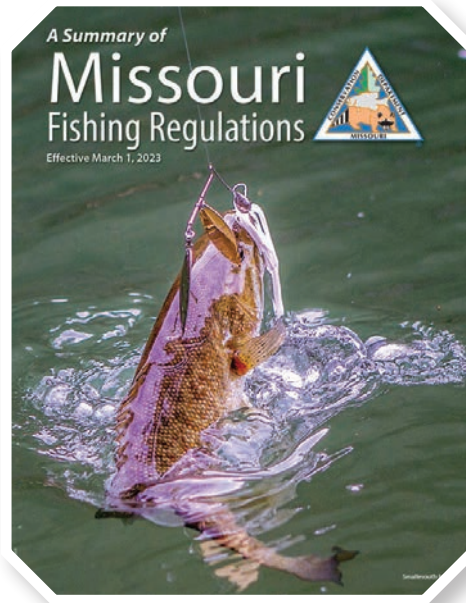

Want some free fun that gets family and friends outside in nature? Get hooked on fishing with the Missouri Department of Conservation's (MDC) Free Fishing Days June 10 and 11. During Free Fishing Days, anyone may fish in the Show-Me State without having to buy a fishing permit, trout permit, or trout park daily tag.

Free Fishing Days is an annual MDC event that takes place statewide during the Saturday and Sunday following the first Monday in June.

Aside from not needing permits, other fishing regulations remain in effect, such as limits on size and number of fish an angler may keep. Special permits may still be required at some county, city, or private fishing areas. Trespass laws remain in effect on private property.

Conservation makes Missouri a great place to fish, and Free Fishing Days encourages people to sample Missouri's abundant fishing opportunities. Missouri has more than a million acres of surface water, and most of it provides great fishing. More than 200 different fish species are found in Missouri, with more than 20 of them being game fish for the state's more than 1.1 million anglers.

For information on Missouri fishing regulations, fish identification, and more, get a copy of MDC's 2023

Get more information on fishing from MDC's 2023 Summary of Missouri Fishing Regulations, available where permits are sold, or online at mdc.mo.gov/about-us/about-regulations/summary-missouri-fishing-regulations.

Summary of Missouri Fishing Regulations, available where permits are sold, or online at mdc.mo.gov/about-us/about-regulations/summary-missouri-fishing-regulations.

Want to learn to fish? MDC's Discover Nature – Fishing Program provides a series of free lessons throughout the state. All fishing gear is provided. Learn more at mdc.mo.gov/fishing/discover-nature-fishing.

Need fishing gear? MDC works with numerous libraries and other locations around the state to loan fishing gear for free. Loaner gear includes fishing poles and simple tackle box with hooks, sinkers, and bobbers. Worms, minnows, or other bait are not provided. Find MDC Rod and Reel Loaner Program locations at mdc.mo.gov/fishing/get-started-fishing/rod-reel-loaner-locations.

MDC's free MO Fishing app can help anglers find the best places to fish in Missouri, access regulation information, identify fish by species, and more. Anglers can also buy, store, and show fishing permits right on their mobile devices. MO Fishing is available for download through Google Play for Android devices or the App Store for Apple devices. Learn more at mdc.mo.gov/contact-engagement/mobile-apps/mo-fishing.

by Paul Leahy, PGA Golf Pro and the Director of Golf at The Oaks at Margaritaville Lake Resort

Award-winning professionals at the Lake

Lake of the Ozarks is home to 13 golf courses and several of the PGA golf professionals who manage those facilities have been recognized by their peers with some high honors. Let's take a closer look at two of these dynamic PGA professionals who have done, and continue to do, great things in our community.

Mike Cummings

The future looks bright
Mike Cummings has been the PGA head golf professional and general manager at the Eldon Golf Club since 2003. Before going to Eldon, Cummings spent two years at a junior college before enlisting in the United States Air Force. He spent four years on active duty and four years in the reserves.

Cummings got his start in the golf business at Tan-Tar-A Resort (now Margaritaville Lake Resort) in 2000. During his tenure at Tan-Tar-A, Cummings used his GI Bill to start the educational process of becoming a PGA member. He spent three seasons as an assistant golf professional at Tan-Tar-A before moving on to become the head professional at Eldon in 2003. Cummings would go on to achieve Class A membership in the PGA of America at Eldon. During his time at the club they have elevated his responsibilities to general manager as well as head golf professional.

Eldon has prospered in large part by his involvement in the community, the local veterans associations and with junior golfers and their parents. The PGA of America started an initiative called PGA Junior League in 2011. For the past seven years Cummings and his team have had more than 60 kids participate each year, growing his program into one of the best in Missouri. For the past two years his juniors have reached the regional finals. Eight teams qualify each year out of hundreds from PGA sections, the Gateway, Midwest and South Central that make up our region.

Cummings' passion for junior golf started when his son Eli, now 13, showed interest in the sport his dad makes as a career. Cummings and his family travel nationwide with Eli as he competes and was a member of the past two Jr. League regional qualifying teams. Cummings credits the Eldon membership for making all of this possible.

"I wouldn't be able to do what I do with the juniors and Eli if the club didn't support the youth in our community and take a vested interest in the future health of the club by promoting a safe and secure place for our juniors to come each day to play and practice," Cummings said.

For over 20 years the club and Cummings have produced multiple high school state qualifiers, all state players, a state champion, and helped crown Matt Miller and the current Missouri Junior Stroke Play Champion, Teagan Hull.

Cummings has demonstrated a passion for his club and the junior golfers in his community and the future looks bright. With Matt Frey, Eldon's golf coach, and Cummings teaching the players they have a very solid foundation. Both boys and girls teams have three players under the age of 14 who are already accomplished players in their age divisions. Cummings has been recognized by his peers within the Gateway PGA Section by being awarded the 2018 and 2022 Youth Player Development Award, the 2016 Patriot Award for his work with wounded veterans through PGA Hope, and in 2018 he completed an advanced class to obtain his Certified Golf Professional status in Golf Operations.

Becoming a master professional

Larry Salsman, the director of golf at Osage National Resort accomplished master professional status in 2022. Obtaining PGA master professional status is the highest educational designation a PGA professional can currently obtain.

Since 1970 when the master professional designation was established just over 450 PGA golf professionals have achieved this honor. Currently there are over 29,000 PGA professionals worldwide.

Salsman has also been honored by his peers as the Gateway PGA Resort Merchandiser of the Year three times, most recently in 2022. To earn the designation master professional, Salsman first had to complete a series of educational accomplishments to become PGA certified. He became certified in both golf operations and general management in 2017 and 2018.

To begin the master professional program he had to be a member of the PGA in good standing for 10 years and be in the selected career path for master specialization for 10 years. He began the process of obtaining master professional status by completing a 264 page project containing a three year business plan of his facility. Topics that were included but not limited to were: tournament operations, golf cart fleet management, merchandising, inventory control and he had to highlight a specific area of his golf operation that he had implemented. Salsman chose his success and understanding of yield management and dynamic pricing as it relates to tee time management.

Hundreds of hours of time and effort culminated in the finished project being submitted to a panel of three of his peers at the PGA headquarters in Frisco, Texas. Once accepted he went to the home office and did an hour-long presentation and answered a minimum of 45 questions over his presentation to satisfy the committee of his expertise on the subject matter. The panel then deliberated and voted to honor him as a master professional. Salsman has the distinct honor of being the first PGA master professional to successfully complete and pass the certification process at the new home office of the PGA of America in Frisco.

We are blessed to have such dedicated golf professionals in the Lake area, supporting junior golf, our veterans, communities and their facilities and memberships. Kudos to these gentlemen, and to all the men and women of the PGA of America who are dedicated to enriching the game of golf for all of us to enjoy.

Wake for Warriors hosts veterans

Wake for Warriors is a team project for MarineMax. Through volunteering and raising money MarineMax has been able to make a difference in the lives of combat veterans. Using their brand of Nautique boats they host the event in July to give veterans the chance to learn water sports and enjoy a couple of days at Lake of the Ozarks.

They say people like Kenny Abbett are “one in a million.” Putting his desire to serve others and his talent for restoring vehicles to use, Abbett has been volunteering for a program that aims to make a difference in the lives of combat veterans.

He knows first-hand what it’s like to have a family member called into action. His brother served in Iraq and was fortunate to return home without any injuries. This awareness has given Abbett the drive to give back to veterans who have been willing to sacrifice their lives. After helping MarineMax support Wake for Warriors for two years, Abbett felt called to do more, and offered his time to refurbish a 1977 Chevrolet K5 Blazer. It will be raffled off with all of the proceeds going to Wake for Warriors.

In its third year at Lake of the Ozarks, Wake for Warriors will be held July 12-16. The goal is to connect with injured military veterans by sharing their passion for wake and water sports. By doing this, they hope to help heal the emotional and psychological wounds of military veterans and their families.

“We are excited to once again be hosting Wake for Warriors this summer. This is an incredible organization to work with and we are very hopeful that with help from our amazing community and generous donors that we will be able to raise $50,000 to give back, appreciate, and support U.S. veterans,” Dale Law, MarineMax Lake Ozark general manager, said.

Each year over 30 events are held nationwide and provided at no cost to the veterans. With support from the community, MarineMax Lake Ozark hopes to provide “the best weekend ever” for a group of veterans. As a Wake for Warriors host, they will provide all lodging, food, and entertainment for four days. In addition to covering all expenses for the weekend, their goal is to donate $50,000 to the organization from Lake of Ozarks. Locally this year, MarineMax will host 16 American veterans from across the United States. In the past two years they have had guests from Florida, Arkansas, Georgia, Texas, Washington, Colorado, Montana, Arizona, and Missouri.

Wake for Warriors participants will arrive on Wednesday, learn to wakesurf on Thursday and Friday, participate in the Midwest Coast Wakesurf Open on Saturday and leave on Sunday. They spend long days on the water learning a new challenge, and then relaxing together in the evenings and visiting Lake area restaurants and attractions. All expenses are covered for the weekend.

BOATING

BY THE NUMBERS

- 30% of veterans have disabilities as a result of their service
- 22% of veterans are diagnosed with a depressive order
- Since 2002 more than 200,000 service members have suffered a traumatic brain injury
- In the U.S., 22 veterans a day commit suicide
- 40.7% feel like a guest in their own homes
- 84% of veterans say that the American public has “little awareness” of the challenges facing them and their families

Statistics provided by Wake for Warriors

Those involved in Wake for Warriors say it’s a humbling and rewarding experience. Seeing veterans overcome their challenges and watching the healing power of water transform their lives in a couple of days is heartwarming, organizers say.

“When you know that many of these veterans have had big struggles in life, it’s important to lend a hand and do what you can for them,” Abbett said.

How to Help

Make a donation or participate in one of the Wake for Warrior fundraisers. This year MarineMax is selling $25 raffle tickets for the chance to win “Hank,” a refurbished 1977 Chevrolet K5 Blazer. A 50/50 drawing, and Wake for Warrior T-shirts, hats, and hoodies will be available for sale. Donated meals, complimentary tickets for local attractions, and silent auction items are needed.

To make a donation, or a purchase, stop by MarineMax Lake Ozark or MarineMax Osage Beach, or go to my.marinemax.com.

On Stage

National and local bands take the stage at Lake area venues this summer. Here's your guide of where to go for great entertainment this season.

When Bethany and Will Gregory stumbled across the old LOTO Lounge for sale, they couldn't pass it up. Having just retired from active duty last year, and with Will in the Navy reserves, the couple was looking to open a business to support their growing family.

"We love music and socialization so a live music venue/bar was a good fit for us," Bethany said.

Located on Osage Beach Parkway, off of the KK exit, Charlie Foxtrots is a patriotic-themed bar that is passionate about those who serve or who have served their country and community. Check out the wall of "hometown heroes" paying tribute to local military, police and first responders.

If you are looking for live music and entertainment, Charlie Foxtrots is the place to go. Live music is offered every Saturday and occasionally on Fridays. Events held every day of the week include trivia, karaoke, a dart tournament, an open jam, and live DJ.

At the bar, a large variety of drinks are available including domestic, import and craft beers, as well as a selection of cocktails. The signature drink menu is made up of military-themed names such as the Blue Falcon Margarita made of tequila, Blue Curacao, simple syrup and lime juice, or the VJ Kiss, a mix of pineapple rum, Malibu rum, grenadine, Blue Curacao and Tropical Red Bull. Delicious Mocktails are available for $5 for those who wish to indulge in a non-alcoholic beverage.

If you want a bite to eat, Charlie Foxtrots offers food on Tuesdays provided by local chefs raising money to buy a food truck. The bar is working to be able to consistently host local food trucks and vendors but are working through the city's permitting process. The plan is to be running by mid-summer.

Keep an eye out on special fundraising events, like the Mother's Day Paint and Sip benefit that was held to raise money for Citizens Against Domestic Violence. Also in the future, Bethany says they are working with other veteran-owned bar owners to host a Veteran Pub Crawl. The goal is to raise money for a non-profit veteran organization.

If you need an event venue for special occasions or meetings, space is available.

Boone Family Farms at Marthasville

Hidden gems and historic bars are a day's drive from the Lake

If it weren't for Daniel Boone and family, we all likely would not be here. The Spanish Land grant of the late 1800s put Daniel Boone and his family in a unique position to open Missouri to Westward Expansion. So, Daniel and his brother, Nathan Boone are kind of the fathers of Missouri. They led the way for many more settlers. Daniel and Nathan blazed the trails for the German immigrants.

Missouri still claims the remains of Daniel and Rebecca Boone on the Marthasville home site at the Old Bryan Farm Cemetery. However, some, including the Friends of Daniel Boone's Burial Site in Missouri, are skeptical about whether the remains in the Frankfort Cemetery are the Boones.' In the 1980s, anthropologists studied the remains in Kentucky and felt that the skull could not match a Caucasian male, rather, the structure indicates facial and forehead features of an African American. Researchers felt that the old farm cemetery in Missouri was so poorly marked and crowded with slave remains, that the remains shipped to Kentucky as Daniel Boone might possibly be someone else. Whether intentional or not, the controversy exists.

Enslaved people had also been buried nearby, so it is possible the wrong remains were mistakenly removed from the crowded Missouri cemetery (Veno 2020). Rebecca and Daniel Boone's bodies were exhumed and moved to Kentucky in 1845. Two studies have been done on the remains to establish legitimacy. According to Roadside America, the legend remains to this day, "Frankfort, the state capital of Kentucky, exhumed Daniel, and Rebecca 25 years later and reburied them in Frankfort Cemetery. But for years Marthasville claimed that Frankfort had dug up the wrong body. They said that the grave next to Rebecca's was already occupied when Daniel died, so he was buried at her feet. And since Daniel's relatives were angry at Frankfort for digging up Daniel, they didn't tell them about his true burial plot. They let Frankfort cart away the body next to Rebecca's, the body of a stranger" (roadsideamerica.com).

Sharing Daniel Boone's legacy with Kentucky connects the trails he blazed at Washington, Missouri to the land he came from, The Wilderness Trail from Kentucky. But Missouri has never recognized the tourism of the Boone Heritage Sites such as Kentucky has. The Missouri DAR has upgraded Daniel and Rebecca Boone's grave, but the cemetery itself needs a construction worthy of Missouri's Father of Westward Expansion. It is worthy of a Missouri State Parks site.

Nearby Boone Family Farm and Boone Monument Village, at 15226 Boone Monument Road on 54 acres, has realized revitalization through use as an event and wedding venue.

The 19th-century village contains 1800s historic buildings, of which are a one-room schoolhouse, and the historic Dickhouse Manor, and intersects the Missouri Katy Trail. Lodging is available on site for Katy Trail riders, with heated and air-conditioned teepees, log cabins, and covered wagons.

A good bite to eat for lunch or dinner while visiting the Boone Farm is four miles away at the Old Dutch Hotel and Tavern. Located at 227 Elm Street in nearby Washington, it is considered to be a hidden gem and the best bar in town. Reservations are recommended as many large groups book here regularly. First opened 80 years ago, the quaint neon windmill sign still welcomes travelers and locals alike. Originally a two-story structure butcher shop in the 1920s, in 1935 a German immigrant family purchased the building, added a third floor, and created the hotel with 20 rooms and baths. Dining was on the first floor. It had life later as a bed and breakfast in the 1990s. Modern day, Old Dutch Hotel and Tavern's menu is updated with Friday Street Tacos gaining in popularity. Daily specials include a heavy nod to southern cuisine. They have an extensive locally crafted beer and wine list.

Putting for Patriots at Pirates Cove

Pirates Cove Adventure Golf Lake of the Ozarks on Facebook

Pirate's Cove Adventure Golf in Osage Beach, MO will host the 16th annual "Putting for Patriots" fundraiser from May 8 through May 29. This national event supports two non-profits, which serve our wounded Veterans, their families, and survivors of the fallen: Homes for Our Troops and TAPS (Tragedy Assistance Program for Survivors).

The charity event will occur simultaneously at 29 Pirate's Cove and Pirate's Island miniature golf courses throughout the United States, including the Osage Beach location. Each business will contribute a percentage of their total sales over Memorial Day Weekend, plus accept donations on behalf of the benefitting charities.

"Memorial Day was founded to remember those who died serving our nation," said Brad Graft, a former Marine and Pirate's Cove owner. "The Pirate's Cove/Pirate's Island family is excited to host this annual event for the sixteenth year—a humble effort to serve living Veterans, men and women who have sacrificed so much for our freedom."

Since its inception, Putting for Patriots has raised over $733,000. For more information on the event, participating locations near you, and charities supported, go to www.puttingforpatriots.com.

The art of tie dye

Makayla Smart is always on the hunt for the perfect color combination. "I have loved tie dye for as long as I can remember," she said. In 2013 a group of friends got together to make some tie dyed items for a trip and people started asking Smart to complete designs. She started a Facebook page and began to get more serious about creating pieces.

"I learned how to do more designs, and learned what materials were best for the best outcome," she said.

She set up her first Tie Dye by Makayla event in 2018 and has been growing ever since.

"I decided to take my passion and run with it, and even though it has had its ups and downs, I will never regret the decision I made," Smart said.

Like most fashion, trends come and go. Tie dye, which was made famous in the 60s, resurging in popularity in the 90s, and taking off again during the pandemic. An explosion of multi-colored patterns on everything from shoes to purses and jackets was seen on the runway.

"What I love about tie dye is being able to create fun designs with the best color combinations," Smart said. "I love being able to make creations that people love to wear, put on their walls, and maybe even put on their beds. The variety of colors and designs that can be created is endless and every piece is a work of art on its own. I love being able to bring that to the public."

She makes shirts and tops the most, using brand new material or items upcycled and recreated from second-hand stores. Pillowcases, bed sheets, pants, shorts, skirts, dresses, hats, towels and even backpacks are just some of the custom orders completed. A few Lake restaurants including Papa Chubby's and Paradise have had Smart make tie dyes for their gift shops.

"My inspiration comes from those customers, seeing tie dyes out on the street, getting ideas from other tie dye artists, and even from a cool color combination I may have seen. I'm always looking for ways to bring my creations to life," she said.

Smart can often be found at local events including food truck festivals, TC Junk events in Iberia, the Hill-billy Fair in Laurie and the Apple Festival in Versailles.

Photos provided

She sets up do-it-yourself tie dye stations at several of the events so people can make and take their own wearable art home. She also books birthday parties and other special occasions where she offers classes.

"Tie dye is something that I love to do and I hope to keep it going for future generations," Smart said. "My motto has always been 'Making the world a brighter place one tie dye at a time!' I really feel like I bring joy to others with my creations."

Simple landscaping strategies that can transform a home's exterior

The interior of a home may be where homeowners and their families spend the majority of their time, and there's no denying that a well-planned interior goes a long way toward making a house a home. However, the exterior of a home, including its landscaping, can serve as a source of pride and catch the eye of prospective buyers when the home hits the market.

It's easy to walk past a home with an eye-catching exterior and assume the homeowner has a green thumb or has spent lots of time and money working on the landscaping. Though that may be true, oftentimes it's the simplest strategies that make all the difference. Homeowners can keep these strategies in mind as they look to transform the exterior of their homes.

- Dress up the walkway. A longer walkway can give guests a strong first impression of a home and won't break the bank. Create new planting beds and plant bright plants and flowers along each side of the walkway. If it's necessary and within budget, lengthen the walkway to create the feel of a more grandiose entryway.

- Make things more symmetrical. A messy landscape can give a poor first impression, even if the area features some beautiful plants. In such instances, a little effort to make things more symmetrical, with equal parts grass and vegetation, can create a cleaner, more inviting look.

- Mulch your flower and tree beds. Mulch is a relatively inexpensive but effective way to add aesthetic appeal to a landscape. Freshly mulched beds beneath trees and flowers creates a clean and organized look, and the mulch also serves a practical purpose, as it reduces weed growth and helps the soil retain moisture so plants stay healthy and look better throughout the warmer months when rainfall may not be steady or significant.

- Plant shade trees. Shade trees can be especially useful when selling a home. The shade provided by trees can shield grass from blistering summer sun, potentially helping it stay green. A lush green lawn appeals to buyers and gives the impression the home has been well maintained. In addition, shade trees can be used to create the look of a backyard oasis. A well-placed bench beneath a large shade tree can entice buyers who want a relaxing spot to enjoy warm summer days outdoors without getting a sunburn.

- Consider maintenance. The more exotic an exterior landscape is, the more maintenance it's likely to require. Lawn and garden enthusiasts may not be turned off by landscape features that require steady maintenance, but homeowners who don't have much time for such work should keep things simple. A poorly maintained landscape, even if it includes exotic plants and elaborate designs, will adversely affect curb appeal. Another feather in the cap of low-maintenance landscape features is they could prove more appealing to prospective buyers, who may view elaborate, exotic landscaping as a lot of extra work they won't want to do.

Some simple landscaping strategies can help homeowners transform their home exteriors without requiring a significant investment of time or money.

Spring cleaning pointers

Spring is a season of renewal. When the flowers are blooming and the trees are budding and the weather is pleasantly warm, people often feel inspired to make changes around their homes. Work may begin with culling belongings and organizing essentials.

There is debate regarding where the practice of "spring cleaning" originated. Some researchers link it to certain religious groups. It has long been an ancient Jewish custom to thoroughly clean a house in preparation for the springtime feast of Passover. The house is scoured to remove any yeast bread, or chametz, from the home. Similarly, members of the Greek Orthodox church celebrate "Clean Week," which is a week of cleaning before Lent. In Iranian culture, families spend days cleaning prior to the Persian New Year, which begins on the spring equinox.

Spring cleaning also has some secular roots. For instance, in the 1800s, Londoners routinely cleared their homes of grime and soot that accumulated over the winter.

Spring cleaning is still a ritual for many today. As people embark on their plans to tidy up, these tips can help them along.

Tackle one big task a day

Who hasn't started one project only to be distracted into moving along to another room? This often occurs when people discover something out of place in one space and then move that item where it belongs, only to find a new cleaning task at hand in that space. Inefficiency can make you give up on spring cleaning prematurely. Agree to address one room/task a day. Keep a basket or box handy to store errant items until you move on to the next room.

Stock up on supplies

Prepare all of the cleaning supplies in advance. Put together a tool kit of sorts with the equipment you need, including mops, brooms, rags, cleansers, and the like. Organization can keep you on course.

Harness your strengths and weaknesses

Some people clean because they are stressed or angry, others do so to avoid other tasks. Keep personality in mind when establishing a cleaning schedule. For example, clean at night if you're a night owl, or wait until you are feeling antsy before embarking on a "calm down cleaning."

Tackle seasonal chores first

Some tasks need to get done to prepare for the spring and summer season. These may include cleaning the grill and sorting through outdoor furniture and decor. Spring cleaning may involve readying the pool for another year of use, or cleaning out rain gutters to prepare for spring storms. Tackle time-dependent tasks first and then move on to others that are less time-sensitive.

Spread out the work

Some people like to devote full weekends to spring cleaning, but that can be overwhelming for others. Breaking down cleaning tasks into 15- to 30-minute intervals each day can make the job more tolerable.

Spring cleaning season has arrived, and certain tips can make the job more efficient and manageable.

DRINK & DINE

Food, entertainment and fun in the sun

Backwater Jack's is a waterfront hotspot for summer

A Lake hotspot known for its coastal cuisine, poolside parties and live music, Backwater Jack's in Osage Beach is open and ready for another busy summer season. Owned by local developer and restaurateur Gary Prewitt, Backwater Jack's is one of the most vibrant hangouts where customers can swim-up to the pool bar to order a drink, dine outside on the patio and listen to live music, or head inside when the weather is too warm for a bite to eat.

With a large menu made up of appetizers, salads, pasta and rice dishes, steak, seafood, sandwiches, and burgers, everyone in your party will have plenty to choose from no matter their taste or dietary restrictions. Popular choices are the Colossal Crab Rangoon and Jalapeño Poppers, but diners will find dishes such as nachos, Snow Crab Clusters, oysters and shrimp appetizers, jambalaya, a cuban sandwich, 14 oz. ribeye, Blackened Ahi Tuna and many other mouth-watering options. There are also lots of items for kids and dessert to finish of any meal. Sushi fans will enjoy the fresh selection and wide variety of Japanese and Asian-inspired cuisine available. Sushi is offered until September.

DRINK & DINE

At the bars, favorite cocktails are the rumrunners and frozen pains but there are many other drinks to choose from including fruity and refreshing drinks perfect for lounging by the pool.

Weekly specials are the Crabby Mondays: crab buckets, pains and rumrunners; Tequila Tuesday: select shots and margaritas; Deep Eddy Wednesday: Specials on Deep Eddy vodka; and Raw Deal Thursdays: shrimp, wings, oysters and canned beer.

You will hear some of the best national, regional and local bands six days a week from Memorial weekend to Labor Day. Check out the full schedule online.

Don't miss the "Zero Ducks Given" pool party which takes place the Saturday of Memorial weekend. If you are looking for a vacation rental any time of year, they are conveniently located across the cove and behind the restaurant.

Food truck frenzy

Food truck vendors are popping up all over the Lake area. Many communities are welcoming more of these mobile restaurants, so you won't just find them at events and festivals. Check out some of the local vendors parked at a Lake location near you.

DINING

Convenient, unique and surprisingly delicious. Those are just a few of the reasons the food truck industry has become so popular, and why you may be seeing more and more food trucks popping upon on a street corner near you.

Ashley Hays has been in the food and beverage industry for more than 20 years. In the summer of 2021 she decided to open up her food truck BaristaGo offering coffee and espresso beverages brewed with locally-roasted beans from Firefly Valley Farms. They feature more than 30 flavors and combinations of hot, iced or frozen beverages.

"I love hospitality on so many levels, and it made sense to stay with what I enjoyed doing," Hays said. "My favorite part of opening the truck is how excited guests get when they discover a coffee shop in the middle of whatever event they find themselves at."

Hays is part of the Lake of the Ozarks Food Truck Coalition, made up of a group of licensed, inspected, insured and reputable food truck vendors. While some Lake area communities including Lake Ozark and Eldon have a ban on food trucks being able to park and operate within city limits (with the exception of special events) the coalition is working to educate and join forces with communities to remove the negative stigma surrounding food trucks.

"Long gone are the days of fly-by-night grease trucks," Hays said. "We can assure you that all trucks in the coalition pay taxes in the Lake area. We are your friends and neighbors that see you in the grocery stores, in the stands at high school graduations, and when you go out and about around our beautiful Lake of the Ozarks."

Due to the demand and interest in the local food truck industry, the coalition began organizing twice-yearly festivals that bring dozens of vendors to one location. This meant working with the city and county to develop the ability to issue temporary licenses where there previously were none allowed.

Organizers had a record-breaking crowd of attendees and vendors at this year's Spring Festival held in April at the Osage Beach City Park. Besides food trucks, participants browsed local vendors and live music from local musicals played on stage. Bounce houses and a playground was available for kids.

You might find trucks offering rolled ice cream to order, tamales made from scratch, and different cuisines from Jamaica or Thailand. Most food trucks are owner-operated. That means they have bought the truck, designed the menu, and is often the one preparing the food and serving it to the customer.

"Everybody working that truck is excited to be there and proud to sell and show off their product," Hays said.

Emily Golden and Andrew House, the owners of Swallowtail Scratch Kitchen, are members of the coalition and will be set up at the Food Truck Festival this year. This farm-to-table concept means they offer a seasonal and ingredient-driven menu that changes often.

The couple has been working in the food industry for more than 10 years. Golden studied at the Culinary Institute of America in New York while House is originally from Camden and went to culinary school at Escoffier in Austin, Texas.

"We chose to operate a food truck because we both love traveling and thought it would be a great way to start our business and be able to share our food with the masses," Golden said. "The Lake area has so many wonderful opportunities and we couldn't be happier that we chose Missouri to settle in."

In February they were offering a lamb burger with house smoked bacon, curry mustard, blue beer cheese, baby red romaine on a freshly-baked pretzel bun. Other offerings lately have been the mushroom and goose ham toast, and their signature beer-battered onion rings. One of the few trucks operating year-round you can find them at Shortleaf Brewing in Camden every Friday-Sunday. Hours will change once the weather warms up.

"We source as much stuff locally as possible and maintain partnerships with our farmers to get the best quality ingredients possible," Golden says.

Sheree Thibodeau opened her food truck in May of 2018.

"I always thought having a food truck would be a fun, creative outlet, and finally decided to make it happen," she said. Sheree's nickname has been Shooby for most of her life so she decided to name her truck Shooby Snacks, offering items like pulled pork nachos, chili Frito pie, a chicken salad sandwich or wrap, teriyaki tacos, naan bread pizzas, avocado toast sandwiches, sloppy joe sliders and many other comfort foods. The signature dessert is the Shooby Snack, a triple chip cookie and s'more mashup. Sometimes they will offer homemade cupcakes. The white board menu changes often.

You can find Shooby Snacks at local festivals and events, and at various locations which are updated on their Facebook page.

"We are excited about this season as last season was our best yet," she said.
