Fishing for charity

The International Union of Operating Engineers Local 148 is hosting its 36th annual Bass Tournament to benefit Ronald McDonald House Charities of St. Louis.

The tournament will be held September 9 at PB2 on Lake of the Ozarks.

A group of dedicated and energized Local 148 volunteers, both active and retired members, have donated a weekend of their time to raise money for charities dedicated to battling childhood diseases. Since its inception at Sterett Creek on Truman Lake in 1988, this one-of-a-kind tournament has raised about $1.9 million for Cystic Fibrosis research, the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society, Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital, and now the Ronald McDonald House of St. Louis.

The Ronald McDonald House of St. Louis provides a home away from home for families of seriously-ill children, and support to organizations that serve the needs of children. St. Louis' three Ronald McDonald Houses offer parents and family members a respite from hospital waiting rooms 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Their houses provide the essential comforts of home.

The tournament is designed to allow your everyday fisherman the opportunity to have a fun day of fishing along with helping a great cause. The grand prize is $2,500, all you have to do is register as a fisherman. You don't even have to catch a fish to qualify to win. There will also be cash prizes based upon 10 percent of the number of boats fishing. Entry fee is $200 includes a variety of attendance prizes, brats and complimentary beverages Friday evening, and a pork steak dinner with complimentary beverages Saturday afternoon.

Friday night local guides will attend to speak about fishing conditions and other topics at the Lake.

Lake area golf tournaments

The 5th annual First Watch Charity Golf Tournament will be held Sept. 25.

The Lake of the Ozarks Idiots Club has recently opened registration for the charity's 5th annual First Watch Charity Golf Tournament. This year the tournament will be held on Monday, September 25, at Osage National Golf Resort in Lake Ozark.

The Idiots Club has openings for 110 golfers at $175 per golfer and is looking for sponsors for the tournament. Currently, the $5,000 Event sponsor (First Watch - The Daytime Café), the $2,000 lunch sponsor (Central Bank and Trust Company) and several contest and hole sponsors have been procured.

The charity has a number of other sponsorships available ranging from $2,800 hole-in-one sponsor with four golfers included to $150 hole sponsors. These sponsorships are described on the golf website.

Check-in and lunch will begin at 11 a.m. The shotgun start for the four-person scramble tournament will be at 1 p.m. Golfers and sponsors may go to www.Lotoldiots-Club.info for more information and to register for golf and sponsorships.

This tournament has filled the previous three years by mid-July so don't wait to register yourself, a two-some or a four-some.

All proceeds from this tournament helps children living in poverty at Lake of the Ozarks. The Idiots Club, aka Jesters of Goodwill, is an all-volunteer, 501(c)3 charity. The club has provided nearly 50,000 child assists in 9 years and has spent over $987,000.00. During the fiscal year 2022-23, 93% of every dollar spent by the charity, directly assisted children in-need! Only seven percent was used for shirts and other things sold to raise funds and office expenses.

More info on the Idiots Club charity can be found at www.LakeOfTheOzarksIdiotsClub.org or on the Lake of the Ozarks Idiots Club Facebook page.

GOLF Q&A

by Paul Leahy

Q&A with the Pro

I tend to top or hit down on the golf ball even off a tee. I hit a lot of balls that just roll or they look like they get driven into the ground then jump up and roll out. What can I do to fix the problem?

Jesse. T., Versailles

I see this with a lot of people. From what you have described it sounds like what you are doing is starting your downswing with your hands and if you could see it on video it would appear that you are pounding nails with a hammer instead of swinging the club through the ball.

Pretend you are throwing a heavy medicine ball. The only way to move that heavy ball is to swing your arms and rotate your core.

On the way down your arms have to swing under and up to throw the ball forward. The same principals apply when hitting a golf shot, you must swing your arms down and under and then forward. When hitting any golf shot, in particular off the tee, think about a baseball player's form when he hits a ball. His head is behind the bat and ball and his spine is tilted with his right shoulder lower than his left for a right handed player. In golf we get to build that tilt into our setup position. The right hand is lower on the club so your right shoulder should be lower than your left. This puts your head behind the ball and your spine has a slight tilt. You need to maintain that position throughout your swing until impact. If you can do that you will sweep the ball off the tee and send the ball sailing upward and hopefully down the middle of the fairway.

To further improve your game visit your local PGA Professional for a lesson.

I am looking to upgrade, maybe my woods? I'm not quite sure what I need, so how should I proceed in improving my set?

Bill C., Camdenton

Not knowing what clubs you currently have or what type of game you have it is difficult to be very specific on your needs. I would say if your clubs are over 10 years old they might be time to replace. The technology has improved greatly and you will notice a big difference.

If I had to upgrade anything, if my clubs were older, I would start with the Driver. Drivers have improved significantly over the last decade and are much lighter and easier to hit than ever before. Most courses have demonstrator drivers to try and many have fitting components so you can be custom fit.

The other area I would look at is your wedges. Most players use their wedges more than any other club in their bag and they also tend to practice with them more often. The grooves will get worn and will affect the spin and control you have when hitting shots. Most players that play 20 to 30 times a year should upgrade their wedges every other year. I would also look at how many wedges you have. You only want about a four degree gap between each of your wedges. You may have to add a wedged between your pitching wedge and your most lofted wedge, because there is too much of a gap between them.

Bring your clubs into your local PGA Professional and they can give you some guidance on how best to upgrade your clubs and enjoy the game more.

Noteworthy July Fourth celebrations

July Fourth is a day of celebration across the United States. The Fourth of July commemorates American independence and millions of people throughout the country celebrate the day with family and friends.

Communities host their own celebrations on July Fourth. Some celebrations are relatively simple, while others are must-see events for any patriot. The following are some of the more noteworthy Fourth of July celebrations that will entertain millions in person or on television this year.

- Washington, D.C.: It should come as no surprise that the capital of the United States hosts an especially awe-inspiring Fourth of July celebration. In addition to a concert featuring well-known musical acts on the National Mall, the festivities in the nation's capital are marked by a fireworks extravaganza that will impress anyone seeking a unique way to celebrate the holiday.

- Boston: Estimates suggest roughly half a million individuals take in the Fourth of July festivities in Boston. A hotbed of patriotism during the American Revolutionary War, Boston embraces that spirit each July with a celebration on the city's Charles River. The Boston celebration spans two days and includes a popular performance by the Boston Pops.

- Philadelphia: Another city with deep ties to the American Revolutionary War, Philadelphia celebrates the nation's independence against the backdrop of the Philadelphia Museum of Art, which is one of the city's more notable and recognizable buildings. Individuals along both sides of the Delaware River can view the impressive fireworks display.

- San Diego: Notable celebrations of American independence are not exclusive to the eastern portion of the country. The Big Bay Boom fireworks over San Diego Bay can inspire any patriot, while across the bay on the island of Coronado celebrants can enjoy a parade and family-friendly concert before settling in for a fireworks show in the evening.

- New York, NY: Perhaps no Fourth of July fireworks celebration is as well-known as the one hosted by the Big Apple. Typically taking place on the East River, the New York City fireworks display can be viewed from various points throughout the city. Individuals looking for a unique way to take in the show can book a spot on a boat sailing in New York harbor.

There's no shortage of Fourth of July celebrations. In addition to these noteworthy spots to celebrate American independence, the cities of Portland, Ore.; Chicago; San Antonio, Tex.; and Atlantic City, N.J. host their own unique celebrations.

DAY TRIP

by Vicki Wood

A city with history

Waynesville isn't very big, but it is a great place to explore for the day – it's only a one-hour drive from Lake of the Ozarks. The Old Stagecoach Stop is the first place to visit for history buffs. It was previously operated under the names The Tourist Hotel, Black Hotel, Johnson House, and Waynesville House. On the east side of the Waynesville Town Square, The Old Stagecoach Stop is now a museum. Built by William Walton McDonald in the 1850s, the structure is still in excellent condition and shines a Victorian vibe in downtown Waynesville.

It served as a stagecoach stop and post office before the Civil War. In 1862, the 13th Missouri State Militia moved into Waynesville with Union soldiers commandeering the stagecoach stop to use as a battle hospital. In 1870, it was transformed into a tavern/10-room hotel named Waynesville House. Each of the ten rooms have been restored as period displays. The museum is open April through September on Saturdays from 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

The Old Stagecoach Stop is located at 106 North Linn Street, Waynesville.

Waynesville is home to a second museum, The Pulaski County Courthouse Museum is housed in a Romanesque Revival brick building, a unique design for Missouri, built in 1903. It was designed by Henry H. Hohenschild (June 2, 1862 – February 3, 1928), a noted state senator and architect who designed many of Missouri's most interesting buildings that are now on the National Register of Historic Places. (www.route66courthouse.com) It is only one of two such historical courthouses still standing on Route 66 mother road. The exploration is free, thanks to the Pulaski County Historical Society. There is a gift shop with Route 66 souvenirs. The museum is the place to learn about Pulaski

County and Waynesville's history with the nearby Trail of Tears. The museum and gift shop are open April-September Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. It is located at 301 Historic 66 East, Waynesville.

Ursula's Schnitzelhaus is the hidden place to grab lunch while exploring Waynesville. The unique German deli with reasonable pricing.

It is tucked away on the back side of the downtown square, so it is just a short walk around the corner from The Old Stagecoach Stop. The décor reminds you of a Bavarian village. The tender, juicy fried pork cutlet (schnitzel) can be had on German Rye bread. But do not miss getting a side of spaetzle with some hunter's gravy, it is an authentic dish of tender small dumplings.

Breakfast may be the way to start, as Ursula's also has a traditional continental breakfast of boiled eggs, brotchen bread, cold cuts, cheese, butter, and jelly. Brats, currywurst, knackwurst, served with potato salad or sauerkraut. Half Liters of German beer, Apple Strudel, and Jaeger Schnitzel make a trip to Germany unnecessary. Just visit Ursula's for breakfast, lunch, or dinner. The Paradise Deli is also housed in Ursula's with an international foods market. Located at 311 North Street, Waynesville.

Laughlin Park is located just a short turn from the Roubidoux Bridge in midtown Waynesville. The sad trek of 5,000 miles traversed through the area, with Cherokee natives camping along the Roubidoux Creek. They joined four other native nations as they were forced to walk the trail to Oklahoma after being forced from their homelands in Pulaski, Miller, and Morgan Counties. A lush walking track contains placard memorials to the tragic period of history. More information of the event and location can be found at the Pulaski County Courthouse Museum where the Heritage Cultural Arts Center is located. There are beautiful Native American murals to view, along with hand painted scenic skin wall hangings. Many of the pieces of art depict illnesses and difficulties experienced by the travelers of the trail.

An on-the-go pick-me-up

Matthew and Christy Gray are no strangers to owning a small business. In 2021 they sold Jetz Trampoline Park and Central Fitness in Osage Beach to new local ownership, getting one step closer to their vision of establishing small local businesses around Lake of the Ozarks.

With a background in the fitness and wellness industry, for their next business venture they wanted to offer a fun, hip, lake-inspired restaurant that offers healthy, on-the-go options. Earlier this year they opened Cafe Enjoy in Camdenton, focusing on offering a healthy selection for customers who are on the run as well as a few cheat-day items. The menu is full of coffee, smoothies, protein drinks, energy drinks, Acai bowls and sweet treats. They use high-quality products, such as 1st Phorm, a leader in the supplement industry.

The drink menu is made up of hot, iced and blended coffees with oat and almond milk alternatives. There is also Matcha, Chai, and iced teas. A variety of protein drinks with peanut butter flavors, fruity combinations, and chocolate are available. Smoothies include the Triple Berry, Peach Mango, Orange Push Pop and other varieties.

Acai bowls are a quick and delicious breakfast or snack. The bowls

Tips to grill a juicier burger

Summer weekends wouldn't be the same without backyard barbecues. And no backyard barbecue is complete without hamburgers.

The exact origins of the hamburger are unknown, but historians believe this beloved staple of American barbecues can be traced to mid-nineteenth century Germany. According to History.com, political revolutions in Germany in the 1840s spurred many Germans to emigrate to the United States. Germans brought many of their cultural traditions with them, including their cuisine. One such dish was the chopped steak, which can be traced to Hamburg, a city renowned for its high-quality beef. Though few might now see ground beef as a remedy for digestive issues, that was a common belief in the 1860s, when a New York-based doctor named James Salisbury suggested that cooked beef patties could benefit the digestive system as much as chopped, chipped or ground beef. Buns were not yet in the picture at that time, but they were by 1904, when beef patties on buns were available at the St. Louis World's Fair. In 1921, the first White Castle restaurant opened in Kansas, and hamburgers have been a staple of American cuisine ever since.

Though it's been a century since White Castle opened its first restaurant, people are still perfecting the art of making the perfect hamburger. Exactly what defines the perfect hamburger may be open to debate, but there's no denying the desirability of juicy burgers. As grillmasters prepare for another season of backyard barbecues, the following are some ways they can make their burgers more juicy.

- Avoid extra-lean meat. Extra-lean meat might be healthier than the alternatives, but 93 percent lean ground beef is unlikely to produce juicy burgers. When making burgers from scratch, opt for 80 percent lean. WebMD notes that fat helps to hold burgers together while searing and cooking the meat. The result is a more juicy interior than cooks are likely to get when using lean meats.

- Swap beef for lamb. Cookbook author John Holl notes in his book, "The American Craft Beer Cookbook" (Storey), that substituting ground beef with ground lamb makes for a juicier burger. Lamb is moist, so unlike lean beef, it can be grilled as well-done without drying out. Lamb also offers a different taste than beef, adding a little variety to a backyard barbecue.

- Saddle your spatula. Flipping the burgers too much or pressing them against the grill as they cook can dry them out.

- Be conscious of carryover cooking time. Carryover cooking time refers to the length of time temperature in a food continues to rise even after it's been removed from a cooking area. Beef is among the many foods that continue to cook after being removed from a heat source, so beef burgers can be removed from the grill before they reach the desired cooking temperature. This prevents drying out and ensures that once they're served, the burgers will be juicy and safe to eat.

Grilling a juicy burger is easily accomplished with a few simple and time-tested strategies.
