DAY TRIP

by Vicki Wood

A day in St. Charles

A community full of art, trolley rides, museums and shopping.

The Play Street Museum of St. Louis on Facebook

Photo provided

There is something for everyone in St. Charles, Missouri, making it the perfect destination for a summer day trip. Whether it is for families, singles, or retirees, St. Charles has activities, shopping, and history that will suit any age.

The Foundry Art Centre

A top-rated destination on TripAdvisor.com, The Foundry Art Centre is a non-profit business in St. Charles in the Riverfront Main Street district. Hosted at this venue are 14 studio artists. Public events are fun and connect people to the arts and culture. The Foundry hosts frequent block parties and First Fridays. The Foundry Art Centre is located at: 520 North Main Street, St. Charles

The St. Charles Trolley

The trolley is a free shuttle operated by the city that makes a 40-minute loop through the Main Street district, all the way to Bass Pro, making stops at Ameristar Casino and The Foundry Art Center. It is completely ADA accessible, with only service dogs allowed. The Trolley was rolling down I-70 this weekend loaded with passengers from the Missouri River "Main Street" district to the shopping center south at Bass Pro Outdoors. It travels quite a distance for a free trolley! The trolley hours are Fridays-Sundays, 11 a.m.-7 p.m. from May 5 to December 24.

The Play Street Museum

Interactive learning and play areas for all ages of children. It urges imaginative play and fosters independence in little, active family members. The Play Street Museum is a wonderful way to get out of the sweltering summer heat, being a completely indoor activity. Make your way through the interactive children's museum and indoor play area for children 8 and under for a world created just for them! The museum takes reservations for parties, so it is a perfect place to celebrate birthdays and other life events with their little friends.

Play Street has a store equipped with imaginative toys when one first enters. If you have forgotten or do not have time to purchase a birthday gift, never fear. The store offers many choices. Parties are held after hours and are private events. Recently attending a birthday party at Play Street, the first thing one notices is the intricate village designed for children. A pizzeria, a doctor's office, ice cream parlor, fire station, and cottage house are completely accessible for children to explore and design. The fire station is equipped with play slides. (The Play Street Museum is located at 1650 Beale St. Ste 138).

DAY TRIP

Also located in the same shopping district, The Streets of St. Charles offer a plethora of choices. A large AMC Movie Theater, Hot Box Cookies, a Brazilian grille, and an eating place on every corner, The Streets of St. Charles is the new destination for families in St. Charles. An onsite hotel, The Drury Inn, is built into this living and shopping community. An underground garage makes parking easy. The popular Mission Taco Joint is a big draw. Free valet parking is available on the street.

Mission Taco Joint is a must-visit. The local chain is springing up all over town. It was reviewed on a Day Trippin of the Historic Souland Market district, but the new location at The Streets of St. Charles begs a dinner, too. The first location was in the Delmar Loop of St. Louis. The street classic was twisted into a modern concoction of meats like crispy pork belly, and Mission Taco Joint was a hit. It has expanded to Kansas City as well. There are nine of them in both cities. The menu is the same at all locations. Last time, pork belly was the choice at Souland. This time, the meal started with their house made chips and two salsas, mild and hot. Anytime empanadas are on the menu, they are going to be ordered. Three beef empanadas with flaky crust started the entrees. Next, keeping with the beef feast, the dinner was rounded out by the beef birria torta, a spicy beef sandwich with garlic aioli, au jus, and cilantro.

Mission Taco Joint is located at The Streets of St. Charles at 1650 Beale Street, Suite 130, St.

Idiots Club Tournament

September 25 | Osage National Golf Course

The Lake of the Ozarks Idiots Club has recently opened registration for the charity's 5th annual First Watch Charity Golf Tournament. This year the tournament will be held on Monday, September 25, at Osage National Golf Resort in Lake Ozark.

The Idiots Club has openings for 110 golfers at $175 per golfer and is looking for sponsors for the tournament. Currently, the $5,000 Event sponsor (First Watch - The Daytime Café), the $2,000 lunch sponsor (Central Bank and Trust Company) and several contest and hole sponsors have been procured.

The charity has a number of other sponsorships available ranging from $2,800 hole-in-one sponsor with four golfers included to $150 hole sponsors. These sponsorships are described on the golf website.

Check-in and lunch will begin at 11 a.m. The shotgun start for the four-person scramble tournament will be at 1 p.m. Golfers and sponsors may go to www.LotoldiotsClub.info for more information and to register for golf and sponsorships.

This tournament has filled the previous three years by mid-July so don't wait to register yourself, a two-some or a four-some.

All proceeds from this tournament helps children living in poverty at Lake of the Ozarks. The Idiots Club, aka Jesters of Goodwill, is an all-volunteer, 501(c)3 charity. The club has provided nearly 50,000 child assists in 9 years and has spent over $987,000.00. During the fiscal year 2022-23, 93% of every dollar spent by the charity, directly assisted children in-need! Only seven percent was used for shirts and other things sold to raise funds and office expenses.

More info on the Idiots Club charity can be found at www.LakeOfTheOzarksIdiotsClub.org or on the Lake of the Ozarks Idiots Club Facebook page.

Rock Island Trail Park

Versailles and Eldon plan to develop the section of the trail that runs closest to their business districts.

City officials and State Representatives traveled to the tiny town of Windsor last Friday, June 30 to celebrate the Missouri State Parks addition of their 93rd state park. The Rock Island Trail State Park was officially named, and the new sign unveiled on the trailhead at the Katy Trail/Rock Island Trail Spur at Windsor. Windsor was the first town to launch a privately funded economic development related to the Rock Island Trail. Kim's Cabins, with owner Kim Henderson, has become the face of the vision for towns that are still developing along the trail. Henderson spoke as the Vice President of Friends of the Rock Island Trail. She has been instrumental in the grass roots effort that had emerged into the Missouri State Parks development since 2015. Her trail cabin business began as a few picnic tables and tent spots. It now features four cabins and equestrian needs, which is popular among trail riders of the area.

Statewide, representatives from two districts attended the unveiling, and one rode his bike in and out. District 62 Representative Bruce Sassman was one of those riders who enjoyed the new trail. Eldon's City Administrator Don Smith joined Friends of the Rock Island Trail, Missouri State Parks representatives, and Missouri Department of Natural Resources administrators on the inaugural ride of the newly developed segment at the end of the ceremony. District 162 Representative Jim Kalberloh spoke at the trail opening.

Plans for the development of the trail, as addressed by each Mayor or Administrator of towns that have State Parks master plans in place, were shared with the attendees. In the lake area, Versailles and Eldon have funds to implement those plans, with Versailles being funded by a TIF grant, and Eldon having private city funding. Both towns plan to develop the section of the trail that runs closest to their business districts. Eldon already has reconstructed their depot. Versailles does not have a depot yet.

Communities are working together to build the Rock Island Trail.

FISHING

Fishing for the kids: Tournament benefits Ronald McDonald House

The International Union of Operating Engineers Local 148 is hosting its 36th annual Bass Tournament to benefit Ronald McDonald House Charities of St. Louis. The tournament will be held September 9 at PB2 on Lake of the Ozarks.

A group of dedicated and energized Local 148 volunteers, both active and retired members, have donated a weekend of their time to raise money for charities dedicated to battling childhood diseases. Since its inception at Sterett Creek on Truman Lake in 1988, this one-of-a-kind tournament has raised about $1.9 million for Cystic Fibrosis research, the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society, Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital, and now the Ronald McDonald House of St. Louis.

The Ronald McDonald House of St. Louis provides a home away from home for families of seriously-ill children, and support to organizations that serve the needs of children. St. Louis' three Ronald McDonald Houses offer parents and family members a respite from hospital waiting rooms 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Their houses provide the essential comforts of home.

The tournament is designed to allow your everyday fisherman the opportunity to have a fun day of fishing along with helping a great cause. The grand prize is $2,500, all you have to do is register as a fisherman. You don't even have to catch a fish to qualify to win. There will also be cash prizes based upon 10 percent of the number of boats fishing. Entry fee is $200 includes a variety of attendance prizes, brats and complimentary beverages Friday evening, and a pork steak dinner with complimentary beverages Saturday afternoon.

Friday night local guides will attend to speak about fishing conditions and other topics at the Lake. Sign up at www.local148.com.

Tips to improve your status with mortgage lenders

Owni
g a home is
by millions of people. Investing in property that can be owned within 15 to 30 years of closing on the home makes more financial sense to many than continuing to rent and having little to show for it over time.

The first step to take when planning to enter the real estate market is to ensure that your finances are in order. Various factors will influence individuals' ability to secure a mortgage, and these are some ways to make yourself more attractive to prospective lenders.

- Check your credit report. Lenders will check your credit report before deciding if you are a risk or a safe bet for a mortgage. So it makes sense to check your credit report prior to speaking with a lender. The Federal Trade Commission says everyone can get one free credit report a year from each of the three credit reporting bureaus. If you split it up, you can get a credit report every four months so you are aware of anything that may adversely affect your ability to get a mortgage loan. A credit (FICO) score that's too low may disqualify you from a mortgage. Each lender sets its own thresholds when they price and approve loans, but the higher your credit score, the better.

- Improve credit standing. One way to improve your status in the eyes of lenders is to pay down credit card balances to reduce your credit utilization ratio. A high utilization occurs when there is a high balance in relation to the credit limit, says Business Insider. Also, it may be wise to avoid any credit inquiries through new credit card applications for several months before applying for a loan, as these inquiries can affect your score.

- Be realistic about what you can afford. Do your homework and determine your target interest rate and monthly payment as well as what down payment you can afford. It will help you research potential lenders and provide an idea of what may be offered to you.

- Pay bills on time. Paying bills promptly not only helps you avoid late fees, but also positively affects your credit. The financial resource The Mortgage Reports urges diligence when paying rent, as late rent payments can bar you from getting a mortgage. Lenders look at rent history as the biggest indicator of whether you'll make mortgage payments on time.

These are some of the ways to make a prospective home buyer look better in the eyes of mortgage lenders. Individuals can speak with financial professionals about what else they can do to improve the possibility of securing mortgages at the best rates possible.

How well do you know your home's HVAC system?

(BPT) - How well do you know your heating, ventilation, and air conditioning, or HVAC, system? Like any product, you want to keep it in working order, and being HVAC savvy will help you keep this vital equipment working more efficiently regardless of the temperatures outside.

Here are some important aspects of your HVAC system you should know:

The Average Lifespan of HVAC

Generally, with proper maintenance most residential HVAC systems have a typical lifespan between 10 to 20 years. For instance, an increase in dust on surfaces in your home could be a signal to replace the furnace filter, which should be done monthly for optimal performance. Loud noises from the HVAC or inconsistent room temperature can also indicate the need for maintenance or an upgrade.

Although an HVAC may continue to provide comfort during this timeframe, the average homeowner may still seek to replace an HVAC system during this period for a variety of reasons, such as rising energy bills which could also be a signal that the HVAC is not operating as efficiently as newer models.

State-of-the-art HVAC Technology

While most people are familiar with central HVAC systems, some homeowners might not know about "mini-split" systems. A "mini-split" system, typically ductless, both heats and cools. There is an indoor and outdoor unit; the outdoor unit does most of the work while the indoor unit distributes the heating or cooling.

Mini-Split HVAC units with inverter technology, like those from LG Electronics, provide zoned heating or cooling where you need it, all while providing you with an opportunity to reduce your reliance on fossil fuel. This ductless system allows you to select comfort settings for each zone or room in your home and then control the temperature, volume, and direction of airflow, all according to your preference. ENERGY STAR® certified models are available and, in addition to being more eco-friendly than a traditional HVAC system, can help cut your cooling costs by up to 30 percent.

Know the SEER Rating

The Seasonal Energy Efficiency Ratio (SEER) rating of your air conditioner is a measurement of the product's cooling output in comparison to the total electric energy input. The SEER rating, which can range from 13 to over 30, represents the heat pump cooling and air conditioning efficiency.

You'll want to know the rating to help you understand the efficiency of your unit when it works at its maximum potential. In general, the higher the rating, the better. For example, your air conditioner should have a SEER rating of at least 14.5 to qualify as an ENERGY STAR product.

Benefits of ENERGY STAR

The gold standard for energy efficiency is ENERGY STAR, a U.S. government-backed program that helps consumers and businesses easily identify products designed and built to meet above-average efficiency standards. Home products, including HVAC systems, which achieve a certain degree of energy efficiency while also meeting usability and convenience requirements, earn the rating. In fact, heating and cooling costs could be cut by up to 20 percent versus traditional HVAC products by using ENERGY STAR certified models.

Keeping your heating, ventilation, and HVAC equipment well-maintained can have a significant effect on your utility bills and will help you catch small issues before they snowball into financial burdens. Replace the air filter regularly, have a maintenance expert evaluate your system twice a year in the spring and fall, and report any concerns to your HVAC provider between planned visits. Ready to make the switch? Consider an LG HVAC unit by contacting a contractor to learn more about upgrading your system or installing a new unit.

Best ways to spend summer

It's a hot one out there this summer so if you are looking for ways to keep cool we've some great ideas. From waterfront cocktails to taking a family float trip, here are our favorite ways to spend summer and beat the heat.

Take a Float Trip

Floating the many rivers in Missouri can be a relaxing outdoor adventure and a great way to cool off since many are fed by springs. Closer to the Lake area, Bennett Springs has many outfitters that have canoe, tube, raft, kayak and paddleboard rentals. Near Macks Creek, there are several more outfitters located down J Road and one in Tunas. These will be the closest options to the Lake area for float trips.

A quick google search can point you in the right direction. Floats can be found from 4 miles to 14 but we recommend new floaters stick to shorter trips.

Further away from the Lake area, the Jacks Fork River in Eminence is a local favorite. You might even see a few wild horses.

If you don't want to commit to a full day of paddling, Ha Ha Tonka State Park has single or tandem kayaks for rent at the park's visitor's center. Two-hour, four-hour or full-day rates range from $20-50. For more information, contact the park at 573-346-2986.

Blues Traveler performs at Ozarks Amphitheater

Four high school buddies gathered in their drummer's parent's basement in Princeton, New Jersey to jam 36 years ago. From those high school sessions emerged a group that has been continuously performing music that has resonated with fans and stood the test of time. Blues Traveler kicked off their "Blue Monsters Tour 2023" in July and will take the Ozarks Amphitheater stage on August 19.

"We were one of the few bands that never split up and never took a break," said Blues Traveler guitarist Chandler (Chan) Kinchla. "Some people thought we were a southern band, probably because of the harmonica. We consider ourselves a rock and blues band. We grew up with the 70's and 80's classic rock." In fact, if you ask Kinchla who influenced them he will tell you among the members the answers are The Grateful Dead, Jimmy Hendrix and Led Zeppelin.

The four original members of Blues Traveler were John Popper (vocals, harmonica and guitar), Chan Kinchla (guitar), Brendan Hill (drums) and the late Bobby Sheehan (bass). Their start was performing along the New York area club circuit, often every night.

"I love sports and I still do," Kinchla said. "I had the opportunity to either continue to play football or go to New York with this awesome band. I chose the band."

Upon graduation from high school the members moved to New York City. Popper, Hill and Sheehan were students in the music program at The New School and Kinchla attended New York University. Eventually they all quit college to pursue music.

In 1990 they released their first album with the song "But Anyway" getting airplay on college radio stations. Their second album, "Travelers and Thieves" followed a year later. Around the same time they got national exposure with an appearance on The David Letterman Show. Kinchla refers to Letterman as the guy who gave them their first national television break. They have performed on "The Late Show with David Letterman" more than any other artist.

In August of 1999, band member Bobby Sheehan passed away. Agreeing that Sheehan would have wanted them to continue as a band, Kinchla's younger brother Tad joined as the new bassist. "My brother always hung around the band, so it was like he was a member already," Kinchla explained.

They're best known for their improvisational live shows where concertgoers recognize hits such as "Run Around", "Hook" and "But Anyway." The song "Run Around" became the group's first chart hit followed by "Hook." In 1992, they founded the H.O.R.D.E. (Horizons of Rock Developing Everywhere) festival which featured traveling headliners in addition to local bands, charities, and organizations.

They went on to appear at Woodstock '94 and became an opening act for The Rolling Stones. A last-minute replacement for the artist Prince, they played on the 1995 season premiere of Saturday Night Live. They went on to record a number of songs for television shows and movies.

The band writes all their own music. Collaboratively, Blues Traveler went on to release several albums, four of which have gone gold, three platinum and one six times platinum. They've sold more than 10 million combined units worldwide. They've played over 3,500 performances and their single "Run Around" had the longest charting radio single in Billboard history. This earned them a Grammy for "Best Rock Performance by a Duo or Group with Vocals." Their first official blues album was nominated for "Best Traditional Blues Album" in 2022.

"We've always loved playing live and that's kept us engaged and into it," Kinchla said. "We had a slow build. We felt we really made it when we got our first tour bus. We had been touring in vans for years. I still love the tour bus to this day."

Kinchla added playing to large crowds and earning their first top 10 hit were also milestones for the band. "It's several steps along the way," he explained. "You work hard but you also need a lot of luck."

Other highlights over the years include opening for The Allman Brothers Band for a complete summer when the Blues Traveler members were just in their 20s. The next summer, opening for Carlos Santana was exciting.

"We were just coming out of playing New York bars," Kinchla said. "And then we are opening for these big acts."

The secret to staying together for so long, Kinchla said, is that they are a family.

"I don't know why bands break up, they usually end up getting back together. We love playing together live, and we always fall back on that. There's always room for someone to go off and do a solo project. We're never afraid to learn or do something new."

Having started together at a young age appears to be an asset for the group. "We grew up together," Kinchla added. "We are a family. Like families, there's room to have some tantrums and that's ok."

The band continually tours and has a new rhythm and blues album coming out later this year. This summer's tour consists of 27 shows with stops in 17 different states. Since 1994, with the exception of 1999 and 2020, the band has headlined a fourth of July show at Colorado's Red Rocks Amphitheater. This tradition attracts fans from all over the country.

"The goal of all our shows is to capture the environment and the vibe," Kinchla said. "We improvise all the time so it's a different show every night."
