Falling into Fall

Fall is in the air and with cooler temperatures come fun fall festivals and events being held across the Lake area. FOOD TRUCK FESTIVAL

It gets bigger and better with each event. The 5th Lake of the Ozarks Food Truck Festival will be held Sept. 23 & 24 from 10 a.m.-7 p.m. at the Osage Beach City Park on Hatchery Road.

There will be 22 food trucks and dozens of vendors set up on the soccer fields. In addition to the food and vendors, Lakeside Inflatables will have several bounces houses for kids, and Zax Axes will have an axe throwing trailer set up. The Camdenton High School FBLA will be offering face painting to raise money for their team.

The Food Truck Festival is held twice a year. It started in Laurie but soon outgrew the space and moved to Osage Beach.

"We are very excited about the upcoming festival! We have more participation in this one than in any years past," festival organizer Ashley Hays said. Hays also owns the food truck BaristaGo offering coffee and espresso beverages brewed with locally-roasted beans from Firefly Valley Farms. They feature more than 30 flavors and combinations of hot, iced or frozen beverages.

"Our team is elated about how beautiful the setting is at the Osage Beach City Park, as back in April we all saw families bringing blankets and walking their dogs on leashes and genuinely enjoying our beautiful park," she said. "While we don't get to go out and look around much during the actual event, it warms our hearts to look out our windows and see everybody smiling and eating great food, and enjoying spending time outside doing something exciting together. It doesn't get much better than that!"

FALL FESTIVALS

Mountain Man Festival

The Lake of the Ozarks Mountain Man Festival is returning. Held September 23 & 24 at the Laurie Hillbilly Fairgrounds, demonstrations, a traders row, primitive skills and live history will be showcased.

Organizers say the event is a mountain man encampment reminiscent of the Mountain Man Festival held Below Bagnell Dam several years ago.

According to re-enactor and festival organizer Jesse Martin, the event celebrates the culture, skills and way of life of the mountain men and trappers who explored the country, surviving in the wilderness.

Step back in time to experience the rugged and adventurous early American frontier. A bow shoot, knife throwing, vendors selling primitive items, blacksmithing and demonstrations will be held throughout the weekend. Hours are 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Sunday.

Martin says he expects between 20 to 30 campers set up representing both the eastern and western styles. He explains that the eastern long-hunters are the ones that opened the country, expanding to the Mississippi River while the western mountain men lead the way from the Mississippi west.

“They don’t get a lot of credit in the history books but these were the men that lead the way on our westward expansion,” Martin said.

Junkin the autumn season

Local vendors offering great gifts, home decor and fresh pastries at TC's Junk Fest.

Upcoming events:
Oct. 6 & 7 JCMO
Nov. 3 & 4 Lebanon

Junkfest is a phenomenon that isn't slowing down in popularity. Usually rustic and held in a barn, "Junk Fest" abounds and especially in the Spring and Fall. What is a Junk Fest? It's a sale with vendors who produce, craft, or repurpose several styles of home and garden décor. Vintage, Victorian, Country, and Shabby Chic are a collection of terms used to describe the items one will find for purchase at a Junk Fest.

TC's Junk Fest-A Vintage Barn Sale (Fall Edition) was held a few weeks ago at Honeysuckle Barn Venue in Iberia, Missouri. It is a country wedding and event venue setting on the outskirts of town. TC's Junk is a company that has gained a lot of ground in the past few years. They sell out of vendor space for many of their shows. They recently expanded to holding shows at the Jaycee's Cole County Fairgrounds in Jefferson City. TC's has loyal vendors that shoppers can depend on finding at their shows.

What sets TC's apart as an event promotion company is that they make the experience more than just shopping. Fun is found at every show with the price of admission. Shoppers line up early to receive goody bags for only the first 30 waiting to get in. Vendors are set up inside and outside. Food booths and trucks are always included in Junk Fest. They also have a "Cotton Cannon," a fun play on words of the popular free t-shirt shooter. This season, TC's Junk added a beer and margarita garden-Genius! Drunk people are proven to shop and spend more! All jokes aside, the addition makes for a nice break in all the pursuing of marvelous artistic imagination displayed by the vendors. A barrel train for kids entertained while parents get a break from shopping with children.

The October Edition of TC's Junk Fest is already sold out on vendors that will be held at the Cole County Fairgrounds. November's Show will be held in Lebanon at the

EVENT

Cowan Civic Center. TC's Junk shows include vendors from Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Illinois, and Kansas, bringing shoppers unique items from other areas.

The other famous junkers are Forked Road Events. Based in Lebanon, Missouri, Forked Road Events also regularly sells out their booth spaces. They are not just junk sales however; they also present garage sales and a holiday marketplace. Forked Road Events Junkin for Treasures is currently only held annually one day in May. Goodie Bags are a part of Forked Road Junkin Days too, with about 100 given out to those lucky early bird shoppers. It is only held at the Cowan Civic Center in Lebanon. The convention center set up is hard to emit a barn, country theme. Something is lost indoors in a big venue, but climate-controlled air conditioning is a wonderful trade off. The 2024 event is already booking up for vendors with choice spaces already limited.

The backroads of Route 66

Explore the historic highway.

Photo provided

Not all portions of the famous Mother Road Route 66 are found in the small cities and towns of Missouri. Some are off the grid as is the segment that runs from Miami, Oklahoma, into Kansas and the southside of the state out of Carthage into Springfield. Sometimes the deserted historic highway is found on accident when one gets lost, as in this case. But occasionally getting lost is a good thing. Often that is where the absolute best gems are found.

Traveling the designated road to head north from Miami, Oklahoma is easy, there are plenty of way markers and blacktops emblazoned with the bright red, white, and blue logo painted right on the road.

A charming stop in the north end of town has an entire park dedicated to Route 66 complete with a sunflower motif. Another dedicated Route 66 roadside park is located at Quapaw.

Heading north from downtown Miami, with a historic section of the Mother Road designated on the National Historic Register of Ottawa County, Oklahoma, and takes a north-east turn from Miami to the south end of Quapaw, Oklahoma on the way back into Missouri and Kansas on alternate U.S. 69. It is home to the Quapaw Tribal Headquarters.

An eerie portion of Route 66 is located at Picher, Oklahoma, on your way through Quapaw back to Springfield, Missouri. A feeling ensues when traveling this 30-mile segment of the mother road that ghosts of the past still haunt the area. Tiny rock houses lining the highway are an oddity that stands out at Phelps, Missouri alongside the lovingly restored one room Phelps School.

Keep going back into Missouri and you'll find the town of Miller, home of the Hangar Café. It is a bit of a drive off the lonely highway from Miller to Springfield, but very much worth it. The town is home to 699 residents, located in Lawrence County. Venture out to the Ozarks Skydive Center at Kingsley Field. Offering beginner's adventure jumps, Ozarks Skydive Center is adept at shuttling folks over the edge and out the door in a tandem leap. Prices range from $259 with add on video packages.

Ozarks Skydive Center: www.ozskydive.com

Where to eat

While visiting the skydiving center, eat at the Hangar Kafe, because it is literally the only eating establishment out there in that lonely segment of the golden southern prairies. Open for breakfast and lunch, the restaurant features an aviation theme housed in a real airplane hangar. The food is excellent and extra big portions are common there. Skydivers from Ozarks Skydive actually land right in front of the wall of windows to the delight of diners. The unobstructed view also allows diners to view planes arriving and departing.

The aviation theme extends to the menu, with charming names relating to flying such as an appetizer menu dubbed "Preflight," and a kids menu called "Little Jenny's." The menu is simple American diner fare, but the portions are big enough for a take home box. The chicken fried steak and fried pork tenderloin dinner are the most popular choices.

Order seeds for native plants

Go native with MDC seedlings. Place orders online at mdc.mo.gov/trees-plants/tree-seedlings.

Need trees and shrubs for your landscape? Go native with tree and shrub seedlings from the Missouri Department of Conservation (MDC). Native trees and shrubs can help improve wildlife habitat and soil and water conservation while also improving the appearance and value of private property.

MDC's George O. White State Forest Nursery offers a variety of low-cost native tree and shrub seedlings for sale for reforestation, windbreaks, erosion control, wildlife food and cover, and other purposes.

The nursery provides mainly one-year-old, bare-root seedlings with sizes varying by species. Seedlings varieties include: pine, bald cypress, cottonwood, black walnut, hickory, oak, pecan, persimmon, river birch, maple, willow, sycamore, blackberry, buttonbush, hazelnut, redbud, ninebark, elderberry, sumac, wild plum, witch hazel, and others. MDC recommends ordering early for the best selection.

"The nursery grows millions of seedlings each year, but some species are very popular and sell out quickly," said Forest Nursery Supervisor Mike Fiaoni. "And some seedlings occasionally succumb to harsh weather or hungry wildlife, despite the nursery staff's best efforts."

Fiaoni added that even if a species is listed as "sold out," customers can still place an order for those seedlings because other orders may get cancelled, freeing up inventory. Customers won't be charged for seedlings unless they are available to ship.

Seedlings are available in bundles of 10 or increments of 25 per species. Prices range from 34 cents to $1 per seedling. Sales tax will be added to orders unless tax exempt. There is a shipping fee and a $9 handling charge for each order. Receive a 15% discount up to $20 off seedling orders with a Heritage Card, Permit Card, or Conservation ID Number. Orders will be shipped or can be picked up at the nursery, located near Licking, from February through May.

Orders can be placed beginning Sept. 1 through April 15, 2024. Place orders online at mdc.mo.gov/trees-plants/tree-seedlings.

Learn more from MDC's 2023-2024 Seedling Order Form. Find it in the September issue of the Missouri Conservationist, at MDC regional offices and nature centers, or by contacting the State Forest Nursery at 573-674-3229 or StateForestNursery@mdc.mo.gov.

Changes to hunting season

The Missouri Department of Conservation (MDC) reminds deer hunters of regulation changes for the upcoming 2023-2024 deer-hunting season. The changes include a new firearms early antlerless portion, a new firearms CWD portion, changes to firearms antlerless permit numbers, and the addition of 14 new counties to the MDC CWD Management Zone.

"The changes to deer hunting regulations for the 2023-2024 deer season were motivated by increasing deer numbers throughout much of Missouri and in response to changes in the distribution of chronic wasting disease (CWD) in the state," said MDC Cervid Program Supervisor Jason Isabelle. "With a growing deer population in most Missouri counties, we're increasing opportunities for hunters to harvest deer both within and outside of the CWD Management Zone this year."

2023-2024 Deer Hunting Portions and Dates

Archery Deer and Turkey Hunting

- 15 through Nov. 10 and Nov. 22 through Jan. 15, 2024

Firearms Deer Hunting

- New! Firearms Early Antlerless Portion: Oct. 6-8 (in open counties)
- Firearms Early Youth Portion: Oct. 28-29
- Firearms November Portion: Nov. 11-21
- New! Firearms CWD Portion: Nov. 22-26 (in open counties)
- Firearms Late Youth Portion: Nov. 24-26
- Firearms Late Antlerless Portion: Dec. 2-10 (in open counties)
- Firearms Alternative Methods Portion: Dec. 23 - Jan. 2, 2024

New Firearms Early Antlerless Portion Oct. 6-8

MDC will offer a new firearms early antlerless portion Oct. 6-8 in the 100 counties open for the firearms late antlerless portion Dec. 2-10. Reynolds County will now be open during the antlerless portions.

"With deer numbers being at desired levels in most counties but continuing to increase, additional antlerless harvest is needed to stabilize the deer population," said Isabelle. "This new season portion will help increase antlerless deer harvest prior to the November portion, when many hunters focus on harvesting bucks."

Isabelle noted that timing of the early antlerless portion was chosen to provide hunting opportunity when weather conditions are usually favorable and to minimize conflicts with archery hunters, who usually hunt most in late October and early November.

New Firearms CWD Portion Nov. 22-26

MDC will offer a CWD portion of firearms deer season Nov. 22-26 in CWD Management Zone counties during the 2023-2024 deer season.

According to MDC, hunters will be able to use any unfilled firearms deer hunting permits during the CWD portion and must abide by the statewide limit of one antlered deer during the firearms deer season, all portions combined. Hunters must also abide by county-specific firearms antlerless permit numbers.

"Because higher deer densities can increase the rate of CWD spread, additional deer harvest in the CWD Management Zone is needed to prevent further increases in deer numbers and help minimize the spread of the disease," said Isabelle.

Isabelle noted that the CWD portion is timed to occur during the tail end of the primary rut, when deer movement is typically good and hunter interest remains high. CWD testing is not required during the CWD portion.

Changes to Firearms Antlerless Permit Numbers

MDC has also increased the number of firearms antlerless permits hunters can fill in most counties, including allowing hunters to fill a firearms antlerless permit in Butler, Carter, Scott, and Wayne counties. Hunters in Bollinger County will be able to fill two firearms antlerless permits beginning this year. Qualifying landowners in Reynolds County may now receive two Resident Landowner Firearms Antlerless Deer Hunting Permits. MDC has also increased the number of firearms antlerless permits from two to four in 85 counties.

"The liberalization of antlerless harvest opportunities will help slow population growth and keep the deer population at desired levels," said Isabelle.

He also noted that the additional firearms antlerless permits will help hunters and landowners to meet their deer management goals in areas where more antlerless harvest is needed.

Expansion of the CWD Management Zone

MDC has included 14 new counties as part of the CWD Management Zone this year: Bollinger, Caldwell, Carroll, Clay, Clinton, Dallas, Grundy, Jasper, Livingston, Madison, Montgomery, Pemiscot, Ray, and Schuyler.

As with all counties in the CWD Management Zone, grain, salt products, minerals, and other consumable products used to attract deer are prohibited year-round. Hunters must also follow carcass transportation regulations. The antler-point restriction has also been removed from Caldwell, Carroll, Clinton, Grundy, Livingston, Montgomery, Ray, and Schuyler counties.

Hunters who harvest deer in select CWD Management Zone counties during Nov. 11-12 must take the deer (or its head) on the day of harvest to a mandatory CWD sampling station.

Going out with a bang

Lake area restaurants host final event before closing for the season.

Drink Jolly Dry and help raise money for Wonderland Camp.

The majority of waterfront food and drink establishments close for the winter months, but not without going out with a bang. Several offer food and drink specials the last day open for the season, and even the last week or month before going into hibernation. Most say the exact date depends on weather but most close in October and November.

Below is a list of some of what a few local hot spots do to celebrate the end of a long season. Check your favorite establishment's social media for additional information or information not listed.

Prohibition Playground

New speakeasy experience opens in Eldon.

There's a new restaurant at the Lake but getting through the doors might be a little tricky. Capone's is an authentic, prohibition-style speakeasy serving locally-sourced gourmet food, wine, spirits and beer. To get in, you'll need the secret password so the doorman can let you through.

Owner Zack Ewing opened the restaurant near downtown Eldon a few months ago. Through his company called Eldon Hospitality, Ewing wants to offer diners a unique experience.

"Eldon is where I live and I wanted to help bring life back into our great town," he said.

His background includes owning other restaurants, and he was a consultant for food safety and restaurant inventory management.

Capone's serves classic handmade cocktails and gourmet scratch-made dinners. Their mission is to serve guests with quality, local food and beverages while creating a memorable and one-of-a-kind experience.

Three-course dinners include the Depression Po Boy made with slow-roasted chicken, remoulade sauce, pickle, tomato, onion on a fresh hoagie bun. The most popular dish is the Chicago Beef Dip – slow-roasted brisket, provolone and au jus on a fresh hoagie. The dinners include the soup of the night and side. Vegan options are available.

The most popular Cocktails in Capone's are the signature Old Fashioned and Mary Pickford. Don't miss the first annual Craft Wine and Whiskey Festival is planned for October 21. They are also in the process of opening a members only VIP room which has dining, a cigar lounge, and spa.

To figure out the password for entry, check their Facebook page for a hint the night you plan to visit. Open at 5 p.m. for cocktails with dinner service from 6-9 p.m. Steak dinners require reservations 24 hour in advance.

Capone's is only half of the business. In the same building Ewing runs The Green Chili where you can enjoy authentic Colorado green chili and Southwestern cuisine. The Smothered Burrito is the most popular at this restaurant. Beans, pork, chicken or beef brisket burritos are available. Taco Salad, Cowboy Nachos, the Navajo Taco, Southwest Fajita dinner, Chili Burger and Tamale dinner are just a few of the items that stand out on the menu. There is also a kid's menu and bulk items available for take-out. The Green Chili is open Tuesday-Saturday.

At right: A selection of food and drinks from Capone's.

Band brings mix of songs for a unique show

If you regularly seek out live music at the Lake of the Ozarks you may have been fortunate to catch a show with Blake Gardner & The Farmers. This multi-talented band can't be defined by a single music genre. They mix blues, reggae, hip-hop, funk, and everything else into an improvised performance that makes each show unique.

"We are a groovy, funky, bluesy, jammy, twangy, jazzy, hippy party band from the Midwest," explained lead vox/acoustic member Blake Gardner. "We just try to make the songs groovy and fun to listen to."

Although the band has members that rotate from time to time, the main group consists of Blake Gardner, Brandon Phillips (drums/percussion/backup vox), Jordan Tucker (bass), Forrest Wilson (lead guitar), Leighton Dennis (percussion/drums), Jeremy Jones (percussion/drums), and Trevor Phillippe (sax). All members live within the state of Missouri with Gardner living in Missouri and Illinois.

The group formed while in college and has been actively performing together since 2010.

"It was a way to ignore college," Gardner said. "I thought Blake Gardner & The Farmers was a clever name, but there was one point where all the other members were farmers or had farms in their family. I do enjoy gardening."

The band puts their own twists on covers they perform but have originals also. They perform as everything from a solo act to a nine-piece band.

"It just kind of depends on what we're booked as or what the venue or... We mostly travel as a four or five-piece band. St. Louis, Kansas City, SEMO, and western of Kentucky, Kansas, Arkansas, Iowa and Texas.

occasion can handle," Gardner explained. band." They typically play at the Lake, Hermann, and central Illinois. The band has dipped into the states

"We play at everything from pizza parlors to dive bars to wineries to concert halls to national music festivals," Gardner explained. "We'll go wherever we can set up."

What the band loves most about playing at the Lake, Gardner said, is the beauty, the people, the food, and the other music performers. Moving to the Lake area is something Gardner hopes to do someday soon.

The band is a full-time job for Gardner, and they're working on making it full-time for the other bandmates as well. Currently, other members work in everything from the service industry to being handymen to being a student.

They performed 114 shows last year between solo and band appearances. Their music can be found on all the music platforms, including Spotify, YouTube, Facebook, Instagram and more. An album has been in the works for the past six years and is close to completion.

Plans for the future, Gardner said, is to just keep hustling
