BOATING

Story by DOUG BECK

Distraction and Boating Recipe for Disaster

While motorists are constantly warned against the dangers of distracted driving, it turns out that boaters are also in need of a reminder. According to statistics from the U.S. Coast Guard, operator inattention was the number one reason for boating accidents. Distracted boat drivers were the cause of over 500 incidents, making it an important topic for discussion.

The National Association of State Boating Law Administrators reported that 22-24 percent of boating accidents were due to improper lookout and operator inattention combined. Between 9 and 14 percent of fatalities related to boating were also caused by distraction.

Common causes of boating accidents include many different types of distractions. Electronic distraction can include a phone or spotlight but can also mean the driver was attempting to use a radio, radar or navigation device. Objects on the boat, such as electronics, can also cause a lighting glare that prevents drivers from being able to see well. Lighting on shorelines, docks and other boats can cause background lighting that distracts or lowers visibility. Drivers who are eating, smoking or drinking fall into the category of performing distracting activities. Other things, such as sightseeing or talking with other passengers onboard can also be included.

Recently in 2022, the Lake of the Ozarks has several boating incidents and fatalities that were caused by operator inattention, excessive speed and failure to post a proper lookout – two of which were fatal. Compared to 2021 we had three fatalities where the probable cause was due to inattention, excessive speed or having a proper lookout.

Statewide statistics for Missouri in 2023:

Boating inattention: three fatalities; 25 injuries; 15 property damages

Excessive speed: one fatality; 20 injuries; eight property damages

Failure to post a proper lookout: four fatalities; 31 injuries; 23 property damages

The biggest distraction is the cell phone. Smart watches were designed as a second screen for your phone to aid in productivity and staying connected. While this is all well and good, many people are obsessed and check their e-mails, texts and phone calls, rather than focusing on the proper operation of the boat. When coupled with alcohol and/or other impairments it is a recipe for disaster.

How to avoid becoming a statistic?

1. Let the phone ring, you have voicemail, you can return a call or text when you are docked.

2. Leave the phone or smart watch at home or in the car, again it can wait.

3. If you really need to answer, have a passenger answer it for you but wait to return a call/text when you are docked.

4. Have a proper look out. You have a lot going on navigating and driving the boat safely. That person can assist you when visibility may not be the best – heavy boat traffic, watching out for other vessels and objects in the water, etc.

5. Reduce the speed and drive appropriately for the water, weather and boating conditions. That beer will still be at your favorite water side bar. If necessary, slow down.

6. Wear a life jacket or at least have one accessible in the event of an emergency.

Don't text and boat, put down the phone, have a look-out and drive responsibly so you can drive another day.

PASSPORT RUN

The Lake of the Ozarks Bikefest Passport Run began with the first Bikefest Rally in 2006. The Bikefest Passport Run is a way for rally attendees to get to know and enjoy the Lake of the Ozarks area and visit local businesses spread across the Lake of the Ozarks. Riders must visit participating stops and get their Bikefest Passport stamped. Once the rider has received stamps from all participating businesses, they can turn in their Bikefest Passport for a chance to win a motorcycle.

The Bikefest Passport Run is a charitable event that raises money for CMA - the Christian Motorcycle Association. To participate in the Bikefest Passport Run, a rider can obtain the Bikefest Passport booklet for a $25 donation at any participating Bikefest Passport Run location. The Bikefest Passport must be completed and turned into the Passport Headquarters location at the CMA tent at Lake of the Ozarks Harley-Davidson by the final day of the Bikefest Rally. MOUNTAIN MAN RENDEZVOUS RETURNS TO LAURIE IN SEPTEMBER

For those who love re-enactments, mountain men, women and children will take over the Laurie Fairgrounds and City Park on Sept. 20-22 for the Mountain Man Rendezvous.

This will be three full days of primitive living and handicrafts of pioneers in their camps from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday and from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. on Sunday.

Step back in time and enjoy a simpler, uncomplicated era of tent living and campfire cooking. The living history opportunity is a great time to spend the day in the park with the family at this free event.

The living history re-enactors are especially good with children and patiently demonstrate old-world skills such as hunting and shooting displays. Always wearing their buckskins or prairie dresses, the re-enactors love to show off their encampments during public visiting hours. The event is free to visitors.

This is a seasoned group of period re-enactors who participate in other Mountain Man events at The Little Niangua Rendezvous in the spring, fall and winter at the Little Niangua Campground at Roach and previously at Pomme De Terre.

Missouri Mountainman and Pre-1840 Rendezvous is the sponsoring organization of the bi-annual festival at Laurie City Park. For campers and reenactors, there is a $20 camping fee and you must dress in pre-1840 clothing if participating in Traders Row or Rendezvous Camping. There is no fee for traders other than camping. Bathrooms, firewood and water are provided to campers.

For more info, contact Booshway-Jessie Martin at 417-844-7916.

Pets are welcome but must be on a leash at all times. The Laurie City Parks has a strict leash law for all grounds including sporting fields.

The Lake of the Ozarks Mountainman Rendezvous is located at 269 Fairgrounds Drive, Laurie.

ACTS AND ENTERTAINMENT INFORMATION

KC Flight Formation Team

KC Flight, an RV Formation Team, is Kansas City's largest homegrown civilian formation team. Founded in 2009 with 4 members, we continue to grow and currently have 14 members of which 10 are FFI (Formation Flying Inc.) carded pilots. The group's home base is Lee's Summit Airport (KLXT).

Brian Correll Pitts S2S

Unlike most airshow pilots, Brian Correll didn't grow up around airplanes as a child. However, he's more than made up for lost time in the air, accumulating over 5500 hours in over 100 different models of aircraft from Piper Cubs to the Boeing KC-135 throughout his career. Brian's first exposure to aviation was an invitation from friends to join them on their first skydives. He was hooked and Brian had over 60 takeoffs in an airplane before experiencing his first landing, and the rest is, well as they say history. The airshow airplane Brian flies is a modified Pitts S2S, much different than the original aircraft that left the factory in 1979. The red and blue Pitts Bi-Plane has been strengthened and modified making it capable of the extreme aerobatic routine that Brian puts his aircraft through. Some of these changes are visible like the squared-off wingtips and enlarged control surfaces, while others are "under the hood" giving the aircraft more power with less weight. Add it all up and the Pitts combines awesome performance with the nostalgic Bi-Plane style making it the perfect airshow platform.

Lee Crouch T6

The North American Aviation T-6 Texan is an American single-engine advanced trainer aircraft used to train pilots of the United States Army Air Forces, United States Navy, Royal Air Force, Royal Canadian Air Force and other air forces of the British Commonwealth during World War II and into the 1970s.

Commemorative Air Force

"Show Me" B-25J Mitchell World War II Bomber
Wartime Mission: The B-25J Mitchell was named after General Billy Mitchell, a famous Army Air Corps general of the 1920s and 1930s. It proved to be one of the best weapons and was possibly the most versatile aircraft of WWII. Heavily armed, it was utilized for high- and low-level bombing, strafing, photo-reconnaissance, submarine patrol, and a fighter. Its most distinguishing role was in the historic raid over Tokyo in 1942 by the Doolittle Raiders. The B-25J saw duty in every combat area flown by the Dutch, British, Chinese, Russian, Australian, and US forces. By 1947 there were only a few hundred B-25s remaining that performed a variety of training, reconnaissance, and support roles. Civilian use also included utility, transport, and agriculture duties.

Bob Richards Pitts S1C Bi-Plane

Returning to the Lake of the Ozarks Air Show, Bob Richards flies his Pitts S1C Bi-Plane in a low-level routine of aerobatic maneuvers.

Randy W. Ball Mig-17 – Jet AEROBATICS

Randy Ball is marking his 34th year as a featured airshow performer, having flown 44 different types of aircrafts in his career with over 20,000 hours in the air. Randy is North America’s premier jet demonstration pilot with over 1500 performances and over 1900 hours in Russian fighters to date. He is the only jet fighter demo pilot to be granted an unlimited (day and night) aerobatic rating in jet fighters for the FAA.

MARCUS WORDS – SMALL TOWN BOY TO LAKE AREA CELEBRITY

STORY BY VICKI WOOD

Just a small town boy from St. Joseph, Marcus Words burst on the Lake music scene 10 years ago and hasn't looked back. He has more than 100 shows booked this year as a solo act. Marcus Words Music, as a solo artist, performs at a variety of locations around the Lake, giving crowds the chance to kick back in a relaxed atmosphere and experience his eclectic style. He usually plays acoustic guitar and sings a mix of 90s, alternative, folk, funk, blues, outlaw country and the greatest rendition of Folsom Prison Blues by Johnny Cash around.

Making his Lake debut back in 2011 with a band called Borderline Country, which evolved into the band Money for Nothin' (circa 2012-2019), Marcus was playing all summer seasons at the Lake until the band parted ways.

When Marcus performs as a solo artist, he plays and sings cover songs, but not what one would expect; he makes them his own. He has a certain staccato to his singing, and his voice range lights up a version of "Unanswered Prayers" by Garth Brooks with that high-low lilt making it sound as if he wrote it, instead of Brooks. Marcus describes how he feels about cover songs on his YouTube Music channel, "I don't think the original artists would want to hear me play their songs exactly how they played it. I assume they would want to experience their artwork through a different medium."

Marcus began performing in public at 10 years old with the school band. In the fifth grade he began playing bassoon and played around on his grandmother's piano. With early musical influences of Dave Matthews Band, Counting Crows, Garth Brooks, Incubus, Ani Di-Franco, Prince, Tim McGraw and Metallica, the variety of style shows when he takes the stage.

"My early influences will always be my cornerstones of creation but it's only natural for your influences to change over time," Marcus said. "I was probably about 23 years old by the time I was playing and singing. There was a time where I didn't think I could actually sing at all."

Where did all of Marcus' talent come from?

Early on he was devoted to the band program in high school and even into his college years on a full-ride scholarship at Missouri Western University in St. Joseph. He played multiple instruments including bassoon, trombone, marching quad drums, baritone, euphonium, tuba, sousaphone, vibraphone, trumpet, marching snare, bass clarinet and then bass and acoustic guitar. He played a different instrument every year throughout middle and high school but Marcus did not become a band director or music teacher. He did some student classroom elementary education teaching in college. Instead, Marcus went into the finance world as a training director before one day packing a duffel bag and heading to Florida with a one-way plane ticket realizing his dream of becoming a performance musician.

He is still drawn to Florida when Marcus needs some time off from the Lake area.

MORE INFO

His musical offerings can be found online at www.marcuswordsmusic.com, on Facebook at Marcus Words Music. He also has a YouTube channel bearing his name, Marcus Words.

Reverbnation features a lot of Words original songs, and videos. Online at www.reverbnation.com/marcuswords.

THE TAVERN AT TRAILS END REOPENS AT HISTORIC CABIN

Comfort Zone

STORY BY CONNYE GRIFFIN
PHOTOGRAPHY BY AL GRIFFIN

Chef and owner John Buchanan.

In his grandmother's humble home, John Buchanan learned the hearty flavors of food made from scratch using fresh, homegrown ingredients. One of his favorite desserts from those days is on the menu at The Tavern at Trails End. It is Grandma Wilma's Fried Pie, fruit-filled and served à la mode.

Another dessert, Goopy Butter Cake, hails from St. Louis where both John and Sherri Buchanan learned and worked every job in the restaurant industry before becoming owners here at the Lake. John began at age 14 with a catering company. At 19, he labored in a kitchen under a "European certified executive chef." Through these years and beyond, John acquired knowledge and experience to become part of the American Culinary Federation St. Louis de Cuisine in kitchens small and large.

One of those restaurants brought John and Sherri together. She had worked as a bartender, cashier, bookkeeper and manager. Together, the Buchanans decided to take full "creative control" here on the west-side at Lake of the Ozarks. They searched for the right property and became owners of an old log cabin – one that may be inhabited by ghosts from years past. A previous owner closed and locked up, but after closing the door, she heard music. When she re-entered, she saw couples dancing on floors that were empty just moments before. The Buchanans have not been startled by the sudden appearance of dancers, but motion-activated hand towel dispensers have spit out paper when no one was near and staff has reported doors opening and closing without human hand.

These phenomena do not trouble John Buchanan. He feels a kinship with the old building. It is a good location for classy comfort foods. One of those is the Tavern Loaf, created by Chef John and executed by the Lake's Bread Bowl. Guaranteed to satisfy all tastes, the loaf consists of four separate doughs – wheat, white, sourdough and rye – side by side. It represents Chef John’s goal: comfort foods made special, more memorable and tastier with his own twist.

Anyone who has worked in and around restaurants knows the hours and weeks are long, but the work doesn’t trouble John either. He says food is his “passion and God-given talent....The hours are not long when you enjoy what you are doing.”

Sherri agrees. The two also enjoy the westside’s welcoming restaurant-resort community.

As the Tavern is a thriving business, the Buchanans recommend reservations to insure a table, especially if more than two will be dining together. However, the oldest section of the building, now dubbed the Tavern Parlor, is fine for pre- and even post-dining camaraderie. There, guests can order a Bourbon Berry Smash at the front bar, admire the original Ozark stone fireplace and sit at high-tops for Tavern Fare such as cheeseburger sliders with bourbon bacon jam, Street Tacos or desserts.

In the dining room, the menu is more extensive and the entrées more elaborate. The Cowboy Ribeye is one of the most popular menu items. It is 16 ounces of bone-in steak, grilled and dressed with a homemade barbecue sauce under hand-cut, homemade fried onions. Another fine dining entrée is the Grilled Salmon glazed with bourbon honey and served with wild rice pilaf plus a seasonal vegetable.

Two hand-held choices are a Brisket Grilled Cheese on sourdough filled with house-made white cheddar pimento cheese. The second sandwich with the Tavern’s unique twist is Not Your Everyday Grilled Cheese, made with the same house-made white cheddar pimento cheese plus American cheese, gruyère, roasted tomatoes and bourbon bacon jam. Both hand-helds come with pub fries.

All menu items represent the special twists and extra care the Buchanans put into every aspect of the restaurant. Their love for food and for building community is paying off. People have found the Tavern at Trails End, they’re telling their friends and they’re returning for special occasions as well as workday lunches and dinners.

John’s goal is to prepare such delicious foods that diners will want to try every item on the menu—from soup to salad, hand-helds, entrées and desserts. His grandmother would surely be proud.
