GOLF

BY PAUL LEAHY

6 ways to improve your putting skills

Golf requires mastery of a wide array of skills. Many novice players focus on improving skills related to their swings. Yet they shouldn't overlook the importance of improving their short games as well.

In golf, short game refers to the golf shots golfers must make when they're near or on the green. According to Golf Distillery, a golf play information and tips site, shots like bunker shots, chips and putts are part of the short game. Improving these skills can go a long way toward bettering one's game.

1. Learn "green-reading" techniques. According to a Golf Magazine-sponsored study through Pinehurst Golf Academy, 65 percent of golfers under-read the break on a typical putt. Incorrect reads can add to many lost strokes. Reading the green involves determining the correct slope and distance. Golfers who take depth-perception tests and continually practice their skills at reading both the distance and the slope can improve their putts.

2. Change perspective. Different putts require different perspectives in order to assess both distance and slope, according to Todd Sones Impact Golf Schools. If the putt is downhill, Sones suggests reading it from behind the hole. If the putt is uphill, read it from behind the ball.

3. Practice consistent putter travel distance. While the total length of a putt stroke depends on the length of the putt, many golf instructors recommend consistency with the distance the putter head travels. Keep the same distance on the back stroke as on the forward stroke. This will help create a nice, even roll. Most beginners tend to short their back strokes and increase their forward strokes, resulting in less ball control.

4. Focus on an imaginary channel. When putting, imagine a three- or four-inch channel from the ball to the hole. Rather than staring at the ball, golfers can track their eyes down that imaginary line, suggests the experts at Golf Digest. Keeping a simpler focus rather than overthinking things can improve putting.

5. Keep a steady head. Instead of following the ball with one's eyes, a golfer should hold the focus on the start of the putt to foster a more steady head.

6. Change ball placement. Try moving to position the ball just forward of the center of the stance. This helps the putter make contact at the right moment to achieve the slight lift needed for a successful putt.

Practicing at home or with a golf instructor is a good way to improve putting skills. A strong short game can be the key to improving your overall game.

AUTUMN BOATING

Autumn's arrival doesn't mean the boating and fishing season has to come to an end. Quite the contrary! Fall is a great time to go boating.

Most anglers will tell you that some of the year's best fishing occurs in the fall, and boaters agree that leaf-peeping while slowly cruising through calm, mirror-like waters takes on an almost ethereal quality.

However, the arrival of fall's shorter days and colder temperatures does require boaters to take some extra precautions in order to ensure a safe and enjoyable outing for all. With this in mind, Safety should always be a top priority when boating. Enjoy your time on the water! Here are some safety precautions to take when boating this fall.

Here are some safety precautions to consider for fall boating:

- 1 Update your charts: Local aids to navigation like channel markers and buoys placed by local authorities may be pulled as early as October in some areas. With autumn's shorter days, you may wind up cruising home after dark, making even familiar landmarks hard to spot. Make sure your charts - electronic and paper - are up to date so you can use them to navigate instead of visual aids.
- 2 Check nav lights and Emergency lights. Ensure that your boat's navigation lights are in working order and your emergency lights are in working order. Carry a couple of water proof flashlights on board to help you unload passengers and gear after dark.. be sure to stock spare batteries.

- 3 Make sure your Cell phone is charged: During the fall, the waterways are less crowded. While this is peaceful, it also means that if you run into a problem, you might not see another boater.
- 4 Make a float plan. This is a plan that lets other know, when you are going out, where you are going, who is with you and when you plan to return. A float plan will enable others to have knowledge where to start looking for you in the event you do not arrive when you planned to.
- 5 Gas up before you go: With fewer boats on the water, some fuel docks may close early during the fall season. Don't assume you can fill up at your destination for the return trip home.
- 6 Wear a life jacket: In the autumn, as water temperatures start to fall, boaters who accidentally fall overboard run an increased risk of hypothermia. While children in Missouri under 7 must wear a life jacket when the boat is underway by law, it's a good idea for adults to wear them too - especially at night.
- 7 Keep a "weather eye": Autumn storms can approach swiftly and often seem more menacing than summer rain showers.

Remember, safety should always be a top priority when boating. Enjoy your time on the water!

APPLE BUTTER DAYS TAKES WEEKS OF PREPARATION

By Charis Patires

The biggest job for volunteers getting ready for the annual Apple Butter Days Festival in October is the effort that it takes to make the apple butter and apple pies. Despite making hundreds of jars of apple butter and about 100 pies, they sell out every year.

Hosted by the Camden County Museum in Linn Creek, Apple Butter Days is a two-day event focused on giving people a look into how things were done “back then” and to celebrate the area’s history.

It all begins mid-September when at least 15 bushels of apples come in, ready to be washed, peeled and baked. That’s a lot of apples.

It takes two days to make a batch of apple butter – one day to cook and one day to can. They’ll make over 300 jars. The pies are made about a week prior to the festival and come with either a homemade crumb crust or double crust.

The process for cooking the apple butter may have changed over the years, but the recipe hasn’t. The apple butter used to be made in a large copper pot over a campfire but is now done in the museum kitchen. During the festival, a video shows how it used to be done as part of many demonstrations held over the weekend.

Vendors selling crafts, fall items and handmade merchandise will be set up. Homemade chili and soup are also sold for a small fee. A quilt raffle will be held, a popular fundraiser for the museum.

Not a lengthy trip from Osage Beach, the sleepy town of Eldon comes alive Friday through Sunday with traffic from “city people.” But Saturday, Sept. 28, the town explodes with a population of tourists and shoppers alike for its annual Turkey Festival. Over three decades ago, the area rich with turkey farms started celebrating the local industry with its first Eldon Turkey Festival. The smoked jumbo turkey leg is the star of the event, with some customers buying up extra to take home.

Debuting in 1986, some of the first years of the Eldon Turkey Festival were sponsored by the Wild Turkey Distilling Company. Miller County was consistently ranked as a top domestic turkey producer nationally, and this was the beginning of celebrating that distinction with well over 2 million feast-worthy birds raised annually. Wild turkeys are also abundant in Miller County and make for a great addition to festival booths relating to hunting and hunter education.

Here is a little guide for those of you that are new to the festival from one who has been attending since 1986:

- Get the turkey leg first. Take it to your car, or home, and come back. You don't want to regret not getting one. The fried turkey strips are also amazing and have been known to run out by afternoon.

- Participate in turkey bowling at least once. Just to say you've done it. It's picking up a frozen 10-pound packaged Butterball, or Honeysuckle Farms bird and throwing it down a strip at bowling pins. It's a lot of fun!

- If the crowds are something you want to avoid at their greatest – shop before the parade when vendors open downtown at 9 a.m. After the parade, shoppers and strollers are packed street-to-street until about 1 p.m. The biggest concentration of food vendors is at the intersection of Maple Street and East First Street where you will also find the turkey legs from the Eldon Chamber of Commerce and Lion's Club grilling up all day in their secret marinade.

Several community organizations have made the decades-long festival possible, with the sponsorship of the Eldon Chamber of Commerce and the Eldon Lion's Club. Both groups put in long people hours and lots of volunteers work hard in anticipation of the event.

It kicks off downtown at 9 a.m. with the parade beginning at 10 a.m. which lines up at Eldon High School and goes past the north end of the festival downtown.

Sassy and Strutter will once again appear all day greeting enthusiastic fans. Generations of children and adults have had their pictures taken with the two famous turkey mascots.

Lots of people begin their holiday shopping at this very festival and always have. Long-time vendors cater to that and you will find many offerings of lots of seasonal hand-crafted goodies to purchase. If there is a local organization or business offering services, chances are you can find them at an informational booth there. Children's bounce houses, dance teams and live music on two stages entertain, as well as the antique tractor and engine display.

The festival ends at 4 p.m. But don't let your day trip end there. There are several restaurants located in Eldon worthy of a good dinner after the festival. Over at the Miller County Fairgrounds, the fun keeps pumping until the late hours with the Annual Turkey Bash Demolition Derby.

If you need a shot of coffee before you drive back “down to the lake” as the Eldon locals say, Serendipity Coffee Roasters on the corner downtown serves the best craft coffee house style lattes, cappuccino and teas with scrumptious baked goodies from their in-house bakery next door. Serendipity is open until 4 p.m. and serves as a nice gathering spot to kick back after a long day of shopping. If coffee isn't your craving, the ever-popular Ice Cream Factory is located around the corner and stays open until 10:30 p.m.

About the event

When: Sept. 28, 9 a.m. - 4 p.m.

Where: Downtown Eldon

Cost: Free admission

7TH ANNUAL LAKE OF THE OZARKS Food Truck Festival

It started in Laurie, then moved to the Osage Beach City Park. Now, the Lake of The Ozarks Food Truck Festival may have found its permanent home.

The seventh annual festival will partner with the Ozarks Amphitheater, something that organizer Ashley Hays is familiar with. Hays has been a coffee trailer vendor at Ozarks Amphitheater for several years.

The festival will be on Saturday, Sept. 28, from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m., and Sunday, Sept. 29, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The festival has 44 businesses in its tent vendor lineup and 26 in its food truck lineup.

Crowds in the past have numbered in the thousands. The festival's Facebook page currently shows that 3,800 are interested in the event.

Some of the activities that festival goers have come to expect are foods trucks, local vendors, axe throwing, bounce houses, local artists, local musicians, henna art and so much more!

HORSEBACK RIDING STABLES OFFER QUIET, UNIQUE EXPERIENCE

Horseback riding is a great way to explore nature and the quieter side of the Lake. When you are ready to get away from the hustle and bustle of the water, head inland and saddle up. A great family activity, horseback riding will bring joy and relaxation to your spirit.

THOUVENEL STABLES, Osage Beach

Karna Thouvenel has owned the stables located at the main entrance of Margaritaville Lake Resort since 2014, and changed the name to Thouvenel Stables. Reservations can be made on the same day of your ride in person at Guest Services which is located at the Main Lobby just up from the barn where the big blue flip flop is.

"I have been riding horses for as long as I can remember," Karna said. "I don't remember ever 'learning' how to ride a horse. It's something I have always known how to do. I guess kind of like how you know how to walk. You don't remember how it got started, but all you know is you know how."

Thouvenel offers trail riding for ages 7 and up. They have a ramp to get on the horses in case anyone feels they are unable to put their foot in the stirrup and get on by themselves. She noted they have many first-time riders, as well as guests that have horseback riding on their bucket list.

"We meet so many great people and love making memories with them," Karna said. The trail ride is 45-50 minutes long and most of it is through the shade in the timber, so it makes for a great ride even during hot summer months.

"We offer pony rides for ages 3 to 6 and those take place in our barn lot in the enclosed area. We lead the li'l cowgirls and cowboys around in the barn lot. It is such a neat transition to see our littles ride at ages 3 to 6 and on that last year of the pony ride be so excited that their next vacation they will be 7 years old and be able to go out on the 'big trail.'

Thouvenel Stables has a great team this season, and they strive to make your ride an amazing experience. Their theme is "life is better on a horse." Karna truly believes it is therapeutic. A teacher at Morgan County R-2 school and her career owning the stables works perfectly with her teaching profession. The stables are open Saturdays and Sundays through October.

A true trail riding experience, Thouvenel Stables is located at the entrance of Margaritaville Lake Resort where you can take a 45-50 minute ride on horseback.

OLD FAMILY FARM TRAIL RIDES, Macks Creek

Chris Jamison and her husband, Phil, are passionate about mustangs. They moved to the Jamison Family Farm in Macks Creek in April of 2013 which has been in his family for close to 160 years. After the move, they began looking for jobs and wondering how to feed their horses.

"We had 120 acres of rocks and trees, not much pasture and it came with nine horses, so feeding them was going to cost a lot. Someone living on the property when we moved in had been working at the Lake of the Ozarks State Park as a trail guide for Homestead Stables. He suggested that we could run a guided trail ride business here on our property and it would do very well," Chris explained. "He knew the guided trail ride business, I had the horses, so we could both benefit from starting this business. We knew we would need to have more horses which was no problem as I have worked with the Bureau of Land Management's (BLM) Wild Horse and Burro program as a volunteer for close to 30 years. I could adopt horses, train them and use them in the business. So, we adopted six more horses, spent the next two years cutting trails and training horses, and opened in March of 2015."

At Old Family Farm in Macks Creek, they offer customers the opportunity to see some of the unique aspects of the Ozark hills from the back of a horse, some of which are America's living legend, the "Wild Horse," also known as mustangs. They currently have 10 mustangs that were born in the wild, several of them are still in training. Each ride includes set up and instruction, and a ride along the trails which includes up and down hills, weaving around trees, with a small spring fed creek to cross several times. They tell stories about the area and the farm itself plus point out features that are often seen in the Ozark hills.

These horses are well cared for by the BLM once in captivity, so they are not "saving" them from a bad situation. However, they are making it so these horses and the ones she trains through the Trainer Incentive Program get adopted out to good homes, are out of BLM care so that other horses can be brought in from the wild.

PANTHER CREEK CAMPGROUND AND HORSE TRAILS, Tuscumbia

Growing up riding horses almost every day in the summer with friends, Melinda Burgoon always had a passion for horses.

"I never owned a horse of my own until after I was an adult and most of my children were in high school. So, I had a late start to actual horse ownership, but always had a love for horses," she said. "I was very fortunate that I met the right circle of horse friends early into this chapter of my life, and God blessed me with great horses as well as great friends that I have met along the way."

When Melinda and David brought their children to the Panther Creek Campground and Horse Trails in Tuscumbia in 2003 they became regulars. So when they got the opportunity to purchase the business in July of 2018 it was an easy decision.

Pony rides and several lengths of trail rides are available at Old Family Trail Rides, located just outside of Camdenton. A unique experience, visitors can ride one of the tamed Mustang horses acquired through the Bureau of Land Management's Wild Horse and Burro program.

More than 100 miles of trails are located at Panther Creek Campground and Horse Trails, a working cattle ranch and campground. Visitors bring their own horses and enjoy the property, often spending their afternoons doing various activities at Lake of the Ozarks.

There are 4,000 acres of privately owned trails on a working cattle ranch, with over 100 miles of trail, more than 30 accessible by wagon. There are 100 sites with water and electric, and 200 stalls for all equine companions. Visitors can stay in one of the three cabins, enjoy the arena, two round pens, bathroom/shower house and dump station, in addition to a 4,500-square-foot clubhouse with free Wi-Fi which is ideal for anniversaries, birthday parties and celebrations. There are no horses for rent to the general public, but for those already equipped the property offers a unique experience. Often guests spend the morning riding trails and then the afternoon doing activities at Lake of the Ozarks.

"Our guests enjoy trail riding and camping on their own. We do have four scheduled rides each year where we include breakfast and dinner, for those that just want to get out with their friends, family, and equine, and not have to worry about packing and preparing meals," she said. Other events throughout the year include a Spring and Fall Cattle Round-Up where guests from across Missouri and other parts of the country come to participate. A week-long Midwest Mulefest is held the third week/ weekend of September and an all-women's retreat is in October called Rouge & Rogue. All clinicians and vendors are women and/or geared towards women.

"We are family owned and operated and pride ourselves on customer service," Melinda said. "We do our best to accommodate our guests with whatever they need to have the best experience possible. We have guests that have been coming here since Panther Creek first opened in 1999. We love them all. We appreciate them all."

Their main season is April through November, depending on weather. They have many local guests who come to day ride.

"A day rider at the ranch has usage of the trails, the clubhouse for Wi-Fi, the bathrooms, as well as water hydrants, in addition to the arena and round pens," she said.

Reservations are recommended as many guests roll over their campsites from year to year. During the week, the ranch is not as busy so lots of campsites are available.
