Fall is the perfect time to fish

MISSOURI DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

The Missouri Department of Conservation (MDC) says fall is an excellent time to go fishing. As many game fish prepare for winter by vigorously feeding, they can be easier to catch.

"Many species in lakes and streams are more mobile and are using different habitats this time of year," said Christopher Kennedy, MDC's former fisheries division supervisor for the southeast region. "Because of this, anglers can have an easier time locating their species of choice."

Fall is also typically a comfortable season for people, too, with pleasant temperatures and colorful views. Kennedy said in southeast Missouri, anglers have only one problem - too many places to fish and not enough time to try them all.

"Trout, catfish, bass, crappie and bluegill all are fair game right now," he said.

November first brings trout fishing to municipal lakes in Jackson, Farmington and Perryville. Fishing for catfish, whether blue, channel or flathead, can be very productive in larger southeast Missouri waters such as Wappapello and Clearwater lakes or the Mississippi River. Those seeking smallmouth or largemouth bass can find plenty of action wading, canoeing or kayaking small streams throughout the region.

"Some of the best fishing that exists is, in many cases, right out our back door," Kennedy said. "Often overlooked, private ponds are typically under-fished and offer fast and exciting action."

Kennedy cautions anglers to ask permission from landowners before fishing at a private pond.

"I would also advise leaving the gracious pond owner's property exactly the way you found it, and perhaps even sharing your harvest with them," he said.

Kennedy said the autumn colors and cooler weather add a memorable backdrop while making memories fishing with family and friends.

"We have so many things to do in our busy lives these days, I hope our society hasn't forgotten how to make time to slowdown and enjoy time fishing with their child, friend or family member before the cold winter sets in," he said. "Past fishing trips with family and friends are the memories that I cherish the most."

Information on permits, how to fish and where to fish can be found online at mdc.mo.gov/fishing.

GOLF

PAUL LEAHY, PGA GOLF PRO

GIFTS FOR THE GOLFER

The holidays are sneaking up quickly and if you are struggling to find that perfect gift for the golf enthusiast in your life, let's take a look at some options that are sure to please.

New clubs are a viable option, but think out of the box so to speak. Instead of buying new clubs, purchase a gift certificate from your local PGA Professional for custom club fitting. You can always add a little money to the certificate to help with the clubs once fitted or slip in some cash along with it. The benefit of this is they will get custom-fitted clubs, will be able to order what they want and they will be tailored to their specific swing characteristics.

The majority of the Lake's golf courses have PGA certified club fitters on staff. Osage National Golf Resort and Eldon Golf Club have indoor simulators for off-season fittings so they can be ready for the spring season.

Speaking of indoor golf, simulator time is another perfect gift for the golf lover on your list. Time at the LOZ Golf Lounge in Osage Beach would make a perfect gift. Osage National Resort and the Eldon Golf Club also have simulators to play and challenge your friends to a round of golf at your favorite course. If you have friends or relatives in St. Louis, Kansas City or other metro areas, Top Golf gift cards make the perfect stocking stuffer for that hard-to-buy-for golf enthusiast.

LOZ Golf Lounge in Osage Beach.

Electronics are also popular. Bushnell has their Wingman speaker that also doubles as a GPS yardage device and its magnetic design affixes the unit securely to the cart as you play. There are 36,000 pre-loaded courses, a built-in USB port for charging other devices, removable remote and 10-hour battery life making this a great gift for any golfer.

Portable simulators and launch monitors are also all the rage. From the Garmin Approach R10, the Flight Scope Mevo or the Rapsodo mobile launch monitor, you can treat that golfer that loves to analyze his game for under $600. The units can be used indoors or out and some even have video capability. Golfers will be able to check their swing speed, launch angle, spin rates and more to take their game to the next level. Check out the features of these portable units and see which one suits your needs. The Oaks at Margaritaville is an authorized dealer for the Rapsodo monitor, so stop in and they can show you all the features.

Opti-Shot is another reasonably priced option for an indoor simulator. Priced at $750 it comes with 20 pre-loaded courses to play. For the golfer who has room in their house, this will make the perfect gift, and maybe they will invite you over for a game!

A GPS Watch also makes a great gift and the Garmin Approach S62 watch has been a popular choice. Starting at $499 this watch has so many features you'll want to wear it for everyday use so you are never without it when you hit the course.

Golf lessons with a PGA Professional make great gifts as well. Purchase one or a series of lessons for that special someone. If you want to learn as well, how about a couples lesson. You can show your spouse you want to join them on the course by giving the gift of a lesson for two. The best part is that your spouse doesn't have to teach you!

Another unique gift I found is a personalized "A History of Golf" book featuring authentic articles from the New York Times. Personalize the cover with the name of the recipient and it will be the centerpiece of any golfer's coffee table or man cave. They will have endless hours reliving Bobby Jones Grand Slam, Jack Nicklaus' 18 majors and the rise of Tiger Woods and much more.

If you must be boring and give golf balls this year, customize them. Most companies offer free customization over the holiday season. Imprint them with their name, nickname or a funny saying. Three lines of script is the max so have fun with it. A dozen is typically all you have to buy and they will love showing them off to their friend next spring on the course. Be creative, I've seen golf balls imprinted with such things as "If found call John Smith and their phone number." I wonder if any of these balls ever got returned. Check with your local golf course. I am sure they would be happy to order them for you.

Indoor putting mats have also made a comeback in the last several years. The Perfect Practice Putting Mat is one of those great gift items. Endorsed by PGA Professional Dustin Johnson this product will be a hit in any golfer's household.

Have some fun this holiday season by giving some unique gifts to your golfing friends and family.

BOATING TRIVIA

A hoy, mateys! This be a fair and true listing of a few words and a little trivia as to the origin having to do with ships and sailing. These terms come mainly from the great age of sailing ships, the 16th to 18th centuries and almost all hail from great seafaring peoples of the day, those being English, Norse, Dutch and German.

Here is a fun quiz to test your boating knowledge

1. The front of the boat is called:

- a. Forward
- b. Bow
- c. Up front

2. The back of the boat is called:

- a. Aft
- b. Rear
- c. Stern

3. The Left side of a boat is called:

- a. The other side
- b. Port
- c. Left

4. The Right side of the boat is called:

- a. Starboard
- b. The other side
- c. Driver side

5. Where does the captain drive the boat from:

- a. Wheel house
- b. Captains Chair
- c. Helm

6. Where is the Wheel house located:

- a. Where the captains steers the boat
- b. It is part of the bridge or pilothouse
- c. It is where the captain sleeps

7. What does the rudder do:

- a. Rows the boat
- b. Works with the tiller
- c. Turn or steer the boat

8. Do boats have Gunwales?

- a. Yes
- b. No

9. What is free board?

- a. Passengers get to ride for free
- b. Measures the distance between waterline and main deck
- c. A Lynyrd Skynyrd song

10. A Galley is:

- a. Where art is shown
- b. A narrow passage
- c. Cooking room

11. What is a Poop Deck:

- a. Somewhere to relieve yourself when at sea
- b. A hole used for a toilet
- c. Some place to feed the fish

12. What is a Scuttlebut:

- a. Roomer talk
- b. What your better half called you
- c. A gathering around the water cooler

13. What is the difference between a boat and a ship

- a. A boat is a small vessel, a ship is a large vessel with three or more masts
- b. Ship makes big wakes
- c. Boats get tossed by big ships

Check the answers below how did you do?

These are just a few terms and trivia to impress your friends. You're the captain now!

1. The front of the boat is called: Bow
2. The back of the boat is called: Stern
3. The Left side of a boat is called: Port
4. The Right side of the boat is called: Starboard
5. Where does the captain drive the boat from: Helm
6. Where is the Wheel house located: Rudder – The part of the helm which consists of a broad piece of timber, that enters the water, and is governed by means of the wheel or tiller. The term wheelhouse was first used in the mid-1800s to describe the area of a steamboat that enclosed its steering wheel.
7. What does the rudder do: Works with the tiller
8. Do boats have Gunwales: Yes – gunwales are the “uppermost edge of a ship’s side”
9. What is free board: Distance between waterline and main deck of a ship.
10. A Galley is: A cooking room
11. What is a Poop Deck: Somewhere to relieve yourself when at sea – A plank was placed near the bow or prow of the ship. The plank hung over the ship edge over the water. This is where ship crews relieve themselves. The officers were able to use an enclosed area on the poop deck.
12. What is a Scuttlebutt: A gathering around the water cooler
13. What is the difference between a boat and a ship: A boat is a small vessel, a ship is a large vessel with three or more masts – A boat is a “small open vessel (smaller than a ship) used to cross waters, propelled by oars, a sail or (later) an engine. A ship is a vessel of considerable size. Distinct from a boat, a ship has a bowsprit and three masts, each with a lower, top and topgallant mast.

PARTY WITH A PURPOSE: CARNIVAL EDITION

Step right up to support campers with disabilities and enjoy a magical evening of games, music, food and fun at Wonderland Camp's annual Party with a Purpose Saturday, Nov. 9, at 6 p.m. at Margaritaville - Lake Resort. Enjoy the Wonderland Camp camper Talent Show and the best live & silent auction around. Tickets include dinner, open bar and entertainment by Phat Mike & The Bartenders.

Wonderland Camp History

Charles J. Miller had a dream. It all started in the summer of 1969 during a conversation with the Executive Director of the Woodhaven Learning Center, a school for children with disabilities in Columbia.

His dream was of a residential summer camp on property he and his brother-in-law, Harry Brown, owned, located on the Lake of the Ozarks, a camp for everyone whatever their ability level. Their goal was to create a place for people and campers with disabilities to experience the exhilaration of outdoor play. A camp designed to match their special medical needs and provide them with the maximum safety with freedom to enjoy nature.

Meetings and discussions with concerned groups including the Missouri State Division of Mental Health, United Cerebral Palsy of Missouri and Woodhaven Learning Center, led to a meeting with the Missouri Jaycees Executive Committee.

Mr. Miller told the Jaycees of his dream, and on May 17, 1970, the Missouri Jaycees voted to adopt the camp project. Mr. Miller and Mr. Brown donated their land; 35 undeveloped acres adjoining the Lake of the Ozarks with an additional 200 acres for nature trails and out camping.

They named it Wonderland Camp and it was incorporated as a not-for-profit foundation by the State of Missouri.

Jaycee chapters throughout the state came forward to contribute. The Kansas City Jaycees provided the professional architectural and planning services. The Southern Platte Chapter took on half the cost and labor involved in the installation of a well and pump. And Missouri Jaycee Chapters throughout the state gave liberally of their labor to build the facilities.

Although only a few buildings were completed, the camp was functionally sound and usable enough to welcome its first campers in the spring of 1972. By the August closing date, 157 children and 83 counselors and staff had used and thoroughly enjoyed the new Wonderland Camp.

Since the first small start, construction has gone forward. Facilities have been expanded to provide an outdoor camping experience for over 1,000 campers each summer. The camp is still growing.

About Missouri Forget Me Not

Since becoming a 501 (c) 3 Non-Profit in 2011, Missouri Forget-Me-Not Horse Rescue and Sanctuary has sheltered over 3000 horses and found adoptive homes for more than 450 horses. MFMN started with 21 horses and has grown to 217 horses in thirteen years. They take in horses that are adoptable, as well as horses that are too old, or physically compromised and cannot be ridden. Many of these horses become permanent residents.

They rehabilitate and retrain their horses to their functional purpose. They provide community events as well as equine-assisted therapeutic services and showcase the horses' abilities. They work with youth groups including the Scouts and 4-H. They do not discriminate based on age, breed, health or gender. They are a "no-kill" shelter and follow the Equine Rescue and Sanctuary guidelines of the Global Federation of Animal Sanctuaries.

Fireridge Farmstand

BY MARIE KROLOKOWSKI

A love for animals combined with a concern for health and well-being is the foundation of Fireridge Farmstand located at 1396 S. Route 7 in Camdenton. Owned and operated by Dana and Collin Becker, this 55-acre venue provides visitors not only the opportunity to buy quality products but also an opportunity to enjoy the grounds.

Becker and her husband started the farm five years ago.

"We did it because we both love animals," she explained. "It was never meant to be anything more than a hobby. The last few years I had it on my heart that I needed to offer healthy food options for people."

Becker works full-time as a nurse and Collin is a firefighter in Osage Beach. They are both aware of some of the unhealthy ways foods today are processed, packaged and sold. Because of that, they wanted to offer an alternative.

"I wanted to provide and educate people on their health from a very basic nutritional standpoint," she said.

What sets them apart in their effort to offer a healthier quality of meat is they don't feed lot their animals. Instead of being kept in a small area and fed an unnatural diet, their animals spend their time in the pasture. Because of this, Becker explained, they have access to their natural diets. If they are confined, she added, it's because they chose to go into the barn. In addition, animals have unlimited access to water through an automated water system that continually replaces any water used with clean water.

Along with their full-time employment, they both work the farm alone without any hired help. They raise sheep, goats, pigs and chickens and have partnered with friends from a neighboring farm to purchase beef.

"We like the way they finish out their beef," Becker said. "We buy the beef outright from them, then process and sell it."

Customers can purchase meat every Saturday from 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. in the shop portion of their home. Their most popular items, Becker said, are ribeye steaks, chuck roast and lamb.

"We want to create a place that promotes healthy living," Becker said. "A huge part of healthy living is community. We want to bring people together, support local makers, and create a space that is fun for all ages."

To promote this even further, the couple will be celebrating the opening of their new storefront.

A grand opening was held April 1 for the 1,500-square-foot building that sits on the front portion of their property near the highway.

The storefront is open every Thursday through Sunday from 9 a.m.-6 p.m.

The new storefront building sells goods from other vendors, artisans and their own products as well. These include eggs, plants, houseware items and more.

"We want to support the community, and supporting our local artists provides a sense of community," she added. "By partnering with others we make up for the lack of time, talent and public knowledge we have in some things."

Becker said they love having kids out to the farm where they can pet the animals. They also transport some of their animals for birthday parties and church events.

"It's just a small petting zoo but people love it," she said. "Our animals love being pet and loved on."

Their plans for the farm include the addition of a larger animal petting area for kids and a fresh flower garden.

"We plan on doing this for a long time," Becker said. "I imagine it will continue to expand and grow. I would love to do classes and tutorials at some point in the future."

Additional information about Fireridge Farmstand can be found on Facebook and Instagram. Specific questions can be texted to 573-434-9669.

Make holiday crafting a family affair

HTTPS://RECRATEDDESIGNS.COM/PRODUCTS/WINE-CORK-REINDEER-ORNAMENT

Families gather frequently during the holiday season as everyone enjoys the feasts and festivities that are synonymous with this time of year. Families often bake and decorate together, as these activities are inclusive of people of all ages. This time of year also is one for dabbling in creative pursuits. Now is a prime opportunity to bond with children over a table full of paint, glue, beads, and other crafty supplies. The crafts made during the holidays often become cherished mementos that will be regarded fondly for years to come. Here are some ideas to inspire holiday creativity.

SNOWMAN FAMILY

Handprint crafts are popular among children. Adults and children can dip their hands into washable white paint and make a handprint stamp on a small canvas, wooden palette or even a terracotta flowerpot. Decorate the white fingerprints with black dots to look like the faces of the snowmen and paint on top hats and scarves. In the years to come, artists can marvel at how small their hand prints once were.

WINE CORK REINDEER

Repurpose wine corks by crafting adorable little reindeer. Two corks make up the head and the body, and four vertically will comprise the feet. Stick on googly eyes, and add a small red or black bead for the nose. Pipe cleaners can be bent to form the reindeer's antlers.

FAMILY GARLANDS

This craft also makes use of handprints. Ask all family members to trace their handprints on different colors of construction paper or card stock. Cut out all of the paper hands, punch holes in the tops and then string a ribbon through. Decorate the Christmas tree or a mantle with this garland.

MINIATURE CHRISTMAS TREES

Paint the tips of gathered pine cones with green paint and allow to dry. Add white glitter or paint as "snow." Glue the pine cones to wine corks that will serve as the tree trunks, and attach a small wooden star to the top of the trees for the finishing touch.

DECOUPAGE ORNAMENTS

Purchase wooden or plastic ball ornaments. Cover with small scraps of cut fabric or paper dipped in craft glue or Mod Podge®, and attach to the ornament in an overlapping fashion. Remember to add a string from which the ornament can be hung on the tree. Allow to dry completely before use.

PAPER CHAIN ADVENT CALENDAR

Cut strips of paper to make a link for every day of Advent. Advent begins on Sunday, December 1, 2024, and lasts until Christmas. The top link can be any design artists prefer, but those who need a little inspiration can consider a religious symbol, the face of a reindeer, a snowman, or a Christmas tree. Hang the chain and then children can take turns ripping off a link from the bottom each day as they count down to the holiday.

POPSICLE STICK SNOWFLAKES

Paint four popsicle sticks per snowflake in desired colors. Decorate with glue, pompoms, beads, or other trinkets. Add small looped strings to hang the ornaments.

We provide comprehensive, personalized instruction!
